A. There is a great deal of fine material available for the parents of deaf children. A very useful booklet is the one entitled "If You Have a Deaf Child," a collection of hints and useful information for parents of pre-school-age deaf children. It is published by the Illinois Annual School for Mothers of Deaf Children by the University of Illinois Press, Urbana. Information about the Annual School can be obtained from the Division of Special Education, Office of the State Superintendent of Public Education, Springfield, Ill. Parents faced with this problem may secure additional information concerning available material by writing to Science Editors, P. O. Box 396, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y.

Q. I have had four children—all boys. What are my chances of having a girl the next time?

A. At each pregnancy there is a 50-50 chance of having a child of either sex, regardless of the sex of the preceding children. After four children of the same sex, the chances are still 50-50 that a child of the opposite sex will be born the next time. It's like flipping a coin. One side may come up repeatedly but with each toss of the coin there is a 50-50 chance of the opposite side showing up.

Q. Is there as much vitamin B and C in canned and in frozen foods as in fresh foods?

A. So far as is known there is little loss of vitamin B and C in the canning of fruits, vegetables, and fruit juices. From the nutritional standpoint, canned, frozen, and fresh vegetables are usually considered interchangeable.

Forest Camp Youths To Be Tried Monday

[illegible] escapees from the [illegible] Garrett Forestry camp [illegible] who were arrested January [illegible] on several charges, are to [illegible] trial in the Circuit court in Oakland on Monday. The trial will be before Associate Judge Neil C. Fisher.

Both youths, Donald Charles Mackery, Frederick, and Robert McFadden, Cumberland, waived their right to indictment by the Grand Jury and asked for an immediate trial.

They are charged with escape from the forestry camp, larceny of an automobile and receiving stolen goods.

At the hearing on January 13 the court waived juvenile jurisdiction and both youths were placed in the county jail for action of the March Term grand jury. They were recaptured by Pennsylvania authorities who notified Maryland State police.

The youths were alleged to have stolen a pick-up truck from Henry J. Hummell, star route, Frostburg. While attempting to elude capture the young pair forced one Pennsylvania trooper's car off the highway. Their flight was halted only after several warning shots were fired by another trooper into the cab of the stolen vehicle they were operating.

The U. S. Hockey team rallied to beat Russia and then went on to defeat Czechoslovakia to win a gold medal in Olympics.

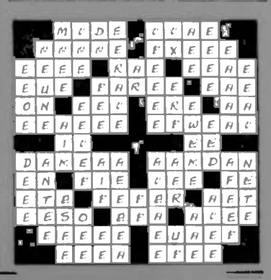
Art of Living To Be Subject of Talk

A talk on "The Art of Living," will be given at a meeting of the American Association of University Women in Oakland next Tuesday evening by two ladies who had experience in the subject which they will discuss.

They are Miss Ruth Hoover, shown at the left, and Miss Vera Stemple, now residents of Aurora, W. Va., and who until last November had been dietitians in the Baltimore schools for the past thirty-five years.

These two ladies have admitted that they retired at the earliest possible date in order to do the interesting things they have always wanted to do such as crafts, weaving, traveling and entertaining. One of their hobbies throughout the years has been to entertain foreign guests in their home, and they always have taken a personal interest in one or more college students while in school.

Since retirement they have become an important part of the community in which they reside. A few years ago they acquired a mountain with 300 acres of land just at the top of Cheat mountain, along route 50 where they built a stone cottage, paneled in chestnut. They sold this last year and have built a stone ranch-type retreat near to the Aurora community.



Miss Hoover, a native of Nebraska, was dietitian at Baltimore Polytechnique institute for 32 years. Miss Stemple, native of Aurora, once served as dietitian at Sheppard and Enoch Pratt hospital in Towson and for 24 years was dietitian at Patterson Park school in Baltimore. Both received master's degrees in 1937.

In addition to their discussion on "The Art of Living," they will also have on display some of their handicrafts, peasant aprons, luncheon pieces, jewelry and ceramics.

The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Frederick Thayer, Sr., at 8 o'clock. The club is changing off from the study of great paintings to another type of art for this meeting.

ART OF LIVING—A talk on "The Art of Living," will be given at a meeting of the American Association of University Women in Oakland next Tuesday evening by these two ladies who have had experience in their subject. Retired dietitians from Baltimore schools, they are now residing in their new home recently completed just west of Aurora. Miss Ruth Hoover is shown on the left and Miss Vera Stemple on the right. The accompanying story gives the details.

Forest and Parks Revenue Is Shared By Fifteen Counties

Garrett County which has four of Maryland's state forests and parks received over a third of a total of $14,519.50 being distributed to fifteen Maryland counties as their 15 percent share of state income from sales and use fees in state forests and parks during the July to December period last year.

The county share is $5,450.71, which represents a 15 percent share of the income from Savage River, Swallow Falls, Potomac State forests and Deep Creek State park.

Allegany county with two forest areas, received $110.21 of the profits. Washington county received $350.52. Frederick county's share is $659.45. The 15 percent is required by state law and represents a pro rata portion of the income derived from forestry operations and recreation use fees on improved and partially improved forest and park lands.

In recent years park income has become of increasing importance. Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of Forests and Parks, said there was reason to hope that the total returns to counties will reach close to $30,000 by June 30, end of the fiscal year, but forest sales and recreation uses fluctuate from year to year.

Principal income sources are sales of timber and other forest products, approximately one-third of the income and fees from camping, picnicking, swimming, boating and hunting campsites accounting for about two-thirds. Recreation use last year was only slightly under the record 5,160,642 use established in 1958 and there is no reason to believe that spring and early summer use of recreation areas will not be good again this year, Mr. Kaylor said.

21 Marriage Permits Granted For Week

Twenty-one marriage licenses were issued during the past week ending Monday night from the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. This brought the total for February to 83, one of the small months of the year. This was due to the several storms which caused hazardous travel for quite a few days.

One license issued during the week was marked "don't publish."

Announcement!

I am again submitting my name to the voters of Oakland as a candidate for another two year term as Mayor. I am taking this action as I am honestly interested in bringing to a successful conclusion the following projects, already initiated and in which projects I feel the great majority of our citizens are vitally interested:

1—We must assure ourselves for our present day living, fire protection and future growth, an adequate supply of good water.

2—We must make sure that the floods which have occurred in the past and the threat of future floods to the town are forever removed by bringing to a successful conclusion the Flood Control Project known as the Little Youghiogheny Watershed Project. This project has now reached the vital stage where immediate action is required and necessary.

3—There are still many questions to be resolved with the State Roads Commission and the Contractor on additional work to be done along Oak Street and the streets leading to and from this highway before the residents and property owners affected are properly protected.

I have no personal "axe" to grind. During my two terms as Mayor I have not received nor will I in the future expect or ask for any special favors because of my holding the office of Mayor. I am interested only in a financially sound and progressive town with more job opportunities for our citizens.

If you feel my four year record as Mayor warrants another two year term, I most respectfully ask your vote and cooperation.

Sincerely,
RUSSELL L. SMITH

Pictures Out Of The Past

Readers Identify Two Ball Players

Last week's photo of a Crellin baseball team brought two identifications and some speculation among various readers to whom the scene brought back somewhat sketchy memories.

Originally believed to have been taken some 25 or 30 years ago, the date was placed considerably earlier by Mrs. Lillian Mersing, who said she had a copy of the picture and was quite sure it was 42 or 44 years old.

She identified two of the players. The first on the left, standing, she said was Dorsey Ashby, and beside him on his right, Jesse Ashby.

Still not definitely identified are most of the other players and the crew of the company railroad locomotive.

Today's Photo

And speaking of locomotives, here's a railroad station without a sign of a train. The scene is the Oakland Baltimore and Ohio railroad depot, but in making the photographic print the photographer "flipped" his negative, thus making what should be on the left appear on the right, and what's on the right is really left. So the picture is not actually facing east, as it would appear, but points west.

The picture's age has been estimated at about 60 years or so. Two of the young boys in the center are identified as, on the left, present State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, and the youngster on the right is Stuart F. Hamill, Sr.

The mature boys don't remember what they were waiting for at the time.

Women Will Observe World Day of Prayer

The United Church Women of the Oakland community will observe World Day of Prayer on Friday, March 4, at 2 p. m., in the Episcopal church in Oakland.

The program chairmen are Mrs. Ernest Spoerlein and Mrs. Vernie Smouse. Leaders will be Mrs. M. E. Tucker, Mrs. W. W. Grant, Mrs. Earl Roth, Mrs. Allen Paugh and Mrs. Albert Sisk. Women from thirteen churches will participate.

The 1960 World Day of Prayer will begin at dawn, just west of the International Date line, in the Tonga islands and will circle the globe until final prayers are said on St. Lawrence island in the Bering Sea.

The observance dates back to 1887 when a group of Presbyterian women designated the first day of Lent as a day of prayer for home missions. Since then it has grown to encompass 145 countries on six continents and neighboring islands to "unite all Christians in a band of prayer. United Church women have sponsored the day since 1941. Women of different countries choose the theme and prepare the worship service each year. This year's theme is "Laborers Together with God," and is composed by Canadian women of various faiths.

The offering this year will go to help build better Christian broadcasting facilities in Africa, literacy training in underdeveloped countries and in the United States, continued support for the migrant ministry and training of Indian lay leaders; also chaplaincy service in government hospitals in Alaska.

Church women of all faiths are invited to participate.

The number of unemployed persons in U. S. now is larger than total population of Norway—1,150,000 persons.

57 Farm Families In FFBL Program

Farming For Better Living books for 1960 are being distributed this week to the fifty seven farm families already enrolled in this year's farm contest in Garrett county, L. Bush Swisher, project director for the program announced. This begins the thirteenth year of operation of the program in the county, he said.

Sponsored at the top level is by the agricultural extension service of West Virginia University college of agriculture and the Monongahela Power Company. The program was initiated in 1910 in the ten Upper Monongahela Valley counties, but it has since expanded to a total of twenty-four West Virginia counties and Garrett county. The main purposes of the contest are to encourage better use of the good farming practices advocated by the College of Agriculture, and to promote a better understanding of mutual problems between business and agriculture. The Garrett county Farming For Better Living Council, headed by Lowell Loomis, and made up of representatives of business and agriculture in the county, sponsors the program in the county.

Farmers wishing to enroll may do so between now and the first of April, Mr. Loomis said, by seeing any member of the Council. Enrollment forms are available at the extension service office in the basement of the post office, the local banks, any of the other agricultural workers in the county, or at the West Maryland Power company office.

Eight Freight Cars Derail at Swanton

Eight cars of a Baltimore and Ohio freight train jumped the tracks on the 17-mile grade near Swanton last Thursday afternoon in the fourth railroad accident in the area in the past two weeks.

A string of cars were derailed as a B. and O. freight train descended the steep grade between Altamont, and Piedmont, W. Va.

Railroad officials said the eight cars jumped the tracks but were tipped over and were not badly damaged. The non-perishable merchandise carried in the freight cars was not hurt.

The accident occurred about two miles east of Swanton as the four diesel units hauled a train of 90 loaded cars and seven empties. The east and westbound main lines were blocked by the derailment but a second westbound track remained open. The diesel apparently was traveling about 15 miles per hour as it descended the grade. Approximately $2,000 worth of damage was done to the cars and tracks. No injuries were reported.

All tracks at the site of the derailment were cleared and traffic was back to normal by Friday evening.

LUTHERANS AND LENT

The following churches and parishes are participating in Wednesday night services emphasizing the Augsburg Confession:

Accident Parish; St. Paul's, Aurora; Bittinger Parish; Christ, Grantsville; Trinity, Keyser; St. Mark's, Oakland; St. John's, Red House.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Corinthians	6	19-20
Monday	Romans	12	3-8
Tuesday	Luke	12	22-30
Wednesday	Psalms	77	11-15
Thursday	Ecclesiastes	3	11-15
Friday	Mark	4	14-25
Saturday	I Corinthians	16	1-2 13-14

It's a good idea to have a check up every so often. And the idea ought to be extended to our spiritual as well as our physical health.

For instance, how much are we thinking about the truths our churches teach us? Do we understand God . . . His love for men . . . the sacrifice of Christ for our sins . . . the way of Christian living?

And how much are we doing for God and our own souls? Are we worshipping every Sunday . . . rearing our children in the Faith . . . serving the Church and fellowmen according to our talents and physical strength?

And how much are we giving for God to use? Do we promise Him a fair proportion of our income . . . do we set it aside regularly as a sum that belongs to God and to those who need our help . . . do we have the courage and faith to strengthen our Church by more generous support?

Providence

Lesson for March 6, 1960

"GOD WILL take care of you" is the name of a popular song, and is a popular idea. But some of the bitterest experiences of life come when a person discovers that this sentence does not mean quite, or perhaps at all, what he thought it did. The name given in the church to the truth that God watches over us and all things and all men, is "Providence." In fact all that God does, in relation to mankind and to his universe, is summed up in two words, Creation and Providence.

Dr. Foreman

But the current lesson from the Bible, part of the story of Paul, may help to untangle the truth about Providence, God's care for his creatures, from some wrong ideas about it.

Will God Keep Me From All Harm?

We sometimes say that God will keep us from all harm; but if we stop to think about it, if we see how God has acted in times past and what the experiences of Christians have been, we shall realize that to say that God will keep me from all harm is saying more than the facts will support.

God will not keep you from dying. He has not kept many of his children from death. Even his only Son Jesus Christ actually died on Calvary. We sometimes think a man is peculiar if he keeps a coffin in his house for future use; but while it may be unusual to do that, it isn't crazy. Unless you die at sea, or get vaporized by an H-bomb, or something extraordinary like that, you may as well buy your casket now. What is left of you will need a coffin of some kind. This is true no matter how good you are.

God will probably not keep you from all suffering. Even if you never have an ache or a pain in your body, even if you die at 80 with all your teeth as good as new, even if your friends all outlive you so that you never have to mourn their deaths; if you have a heart at all if you share the mind of Christ, you will be born with compassion, as he was, by the tears of the millions without a shepherd. The more Christian you are, the more the sorrows of the world will weigh on you.

From Final Evil

What God will keep you from, is what we might call final evil. If we think over the lives of great Christians and saints, we can see what God's Providence meant in their lives. Take Paul as a fine example. There at Jerusalem God did not save him from being half-killed, though he did save him from being killed. He saved him from being scourged, but he did not save him from being a prisoner. There is always a worse something from which God spares us.

And what is the worst? It surely is this: that a man be separated hopelessly and finally from God his Creator and Father. Sorrow and suffering may keep us from seeing God, but no darkness need keep us from knowing that he is there. The Christian may have to walk in the valley of the shadow of death and what greater darkness is there? There is one greater darkness than this, the black night in which man has lost God forever. But this does not come to the man of faith. Paul more than once thought he was going to die, and finally was killed; but he never lost God.

Is God My Bodyguard?

When the President of the United States goes on a trip, even for a few blocks, he does not worry about his personal safety. The Secret Service men do the worrying for him. As his bodyguard it is their responsibility to see that no harm comes to him. He carries no gun, but he is surrounded by guns on all sides.

Is God my bodyguard? Does he take all responsibility for my personal safety? Can I leave all the worrying to him? We can leave the worrying to him, yes; but we have a personal responsibility too. We can say that God kept Paul from the agony and danger of a Roman scourging; but how? If Paul had not spoken up when he did, and told the officer that he was a Roman citizen, he would have been scourged anyway. God's care of us works best when we act in partnership with him.

Commissioners Hear Of State Highways

County Commissioners from four Western Maryland counties were told Monday in Washington the government is as much interested in secondary as in new interstate highways.

Frances C. Turner, deputy commissioner and chief engineer of the Bureau of Public roads, said the federal aid secondary system is just as important as the highly publicized interstate roads.

The interstate system, he said, is a johnny-come-lately which because of its cost is attracting attention and criticism.

Turner told commissioners from Garrett and the three other western Maryland counties that unless the present ceiling of 41,000 miles of interstate highways is lifted, Maryland could hope for no additional mileage.

The commissioners attended a luncheon in Washington given by Rep. John R. Foley, congressman from this district.

Bernard F. Hillenbrand, executive director of the National Association of County Officials, told the group the association is opposed to a proposal that the federal government move into the general welfare area.

The association, he said, is backing proposed government payments in lieu of taxes on those highways where government installations have cut down on taxable property. Regarding highway appropriations, Hillenbrand said the association is urging completion of a balanced highway program. It is opposed, he said, to any arrangement which would lead to freeze regular primary, secondary or urban highway appropriations or interrupt the federal highways program.

Sermon Explains Stand on Trinity

This is the second of a series of Lenten sermon emphasis on the Augsburg confession, provided by Lutheran pastors of the Mt. Top area.

The Trinity

When Jesus commanded His disciples in the 28th chapter of Matthew to go into all the world and baptize He said that this was to be done "in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." These words have become the invocation and also sometimes part of the benediction of our worship services. They also represent the most brief confession of faith. When used as an invocation these words announce to all present that the purpose of the worship service is to worship in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. The question comes to our mind: What is meant by this expression? Sometimes it appears that we are worshipping three gods and yet the same scripture tells us that we must worship only one God.

In our efforts to explain this situation we use the term "Trinity". The "Tri" of Trinity means three while the "unity" means one. Thus, three persons in one God. Three ways in which the scripture refers to God. We also call these the three Persons of God. Not only do we find these three Persons listed in the 28th chapter of Matthew but we find them each referred to separately many times throughout the scripture. In the first chapter of Genesis, God is referred to as the Creator and at other places such as in the Lord's Prayer as the Heavenly Father. Thus, when we call Him Father we include the term "Creator."

Both at the Baptism and the Transfiguration of Jesus the voice from heaven said "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." Also, in the first chapter of the Gospel of John we read "And the word became flesh and dwelt among us." Thus, the expression "Son" refers to Jesus, the person of God coming to earth in the person and life of a man, but also having the person and quality of God. We know the Son as the True God begotten of the Father from eternity and also true man born of the Virgin Mary. The real confession of the Christian faith comes in our ability to honestly and sincerely acknowledge Jesus to be our Lord and Saviour.

The term "Holy Spirit" or Holy Ghost" is the hardest to understand. Our ability to understand depends upon our willingness to accept the Holy Spirit. Scripture references to the Holy Spirit are found throughout the scripture and are heightened by Jesus's promise to His disciples in John 14 to send the Holy Spirit and by the record in Acts 2 of the definite appearing of the Holy Spirit to the disciples who were assembled in Jerusalem after the Ascension on the day of Pentecost. The Holy Spirit is thus the Person of God who comes into the lives of those who will accept Him. He is the motivating force of a Christian's decision and actions. As the Holy Spirit brings hope and assurance to us He is called the Comforter.

The Trinity is thus a way of expressing and also explaining the fact that the scripture reveals God to us in three Persons and yet the messages and actions of these Three Persons are the messages and actions of one God.

Seek Outstanding Homemaker of State

The annual search for the state's most outstanding homemaker—Mrs. Maryland—is now being conducted in this area by Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

Local homemakers will be interviewed and a baked product sampled. A detailed screening process will then determine the candidate to represent the western portion of the state, area manager R. H. Brown said.

Applications are available at G & A. offices, gas appliance dealers and from Parents magazine, the official said. Application deadline is March 11. Selection will take place in the following two weeks, he added.

Contestants must be married, have children and perform the major part of the homemaking in their home.

Mrs. Maryland will be chosen in Baltimore, March 28-30, at a Home Show in the Fifth Regiment Armory.

The state titlist will win a cash wardrobe allowance, a gas range, numerous cooking utensils and equipment and an expense-paid two week June vacation for her and her husband in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she will compete for the national Mrs. America title.

The present Mrs. Maryland is Mrs. Colleen Nelson, of Pinto.

Mr. Brown pointed out that the homemaking contest places a great deal of emphasis on cooking, but other homemaking qualities also are weighed in determining the state and national winners.

LIP SERVICE CAN BE GREAT SERVICE

Rev. Charles Godwin

Text II cor. 4:13 "We too believe and so we speak."

There are very few phrases which are used with greater contempt than the common phrase, "lip service." We do right to condemn it. We have a high authority for that disdain. We read in Isaiah 29.13 words quoted with approval by Jesus: "This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me." Jesus said that the people accepted by God were "not those who say 'Lord, Lord' but those who do what I say." We are to be judged not by our fine words, not by the service of the lips, but by the fruit of our lives.

However, it is also true that lip service can be great service. If we give a true witness to our faith by our unashamed words, that can be real service. Remember the lines of Frances Ridley Havergall's hymn: "Take my lips and let them be Filled with messages from Thee."

We read: "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." And when they do say so, courageously and forcefully, there is a strong witness to God. That is the last offering that many people will make. Many are willing to sing, with sincerity: "Take my silver and even my gold, but do not ask me to stand up and be counted, to say anything about my devotion to God and His church." It is easier to keep it a secret.

Often, amid one's business associates and fellow workers, there is a deplorable absence of "lip service" of the right sort; there is no skopen word that indicates that one's faith is the greatest and most joyful thing in one's life. If a person has found a cure for a cold, for instance, he tells all his friends. He is ready to babble about it necessarily. He wants to share the good news. But, if he has found, as a Christian can find, a cure for sin or for fear, in Christ, he does not tell it. Oh no! Also, when there is need for one to arise and say "No!" to a popular kind of evil, that kind of service, of opening the lips against wrong, is great service. Remember the words of the New Testament: "We too believe and so we speak." II Cor. 4.13.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"THE UNWORLDLY WORLD COURT"

In a red brick palace in the Netherlands, fifteen men are occasionally persuaded, for $20,000 a year, to come together to settle disputes between members of the United Nations. These agreeable arbiters are the variegated judges of the International Court of Justice, which has, however, handed down decisions in only 17 major cases during the 14 years of its existence.

Certain indefatigable internationalists in this country, after studying this lamentable situation, arrived at a predictable conclusion: The United States is at fault. Back in 1946, this country accepted "compulsory Jurisdiction" of the Court with the reservation, inserted by Senator Tom Connally of Texas, that the United States would not accept rulings in "matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States as determined by the United States of America." These last eight words, called the Connally Reservation, must go, the internationalists cry, and so a repeal in the form of Senate Resolution 94 was introduced last year.

Since then a great many doctors, lawyers and New Delhi Indian chiefs have come forth to support the repeal, urging the United States to take the lead in a crusade for world peace through world law. Such urgings are not only visionary but misdirected. Even if this Nation were to eliminate its reservation, there would still be 46 members of the United Nations, representing approximately 1.2 billions of the world's population, who have refused to accept the jurisdiction of the Court. This group comprises all of the Communist countries, including Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union, which are not noted for following an American lead.

In 1946 the Senate approved the Connally Reservation by a vote of 51-12, and little has happened in the ensuing fourteen years, filled with hot, cold and lukewarm wars, to persuade any Senator or American to be more optismistic about committing, without reservation, the interest of the United States to a tribunal composed of jurists, among them, citizens of the U. S. S. R., Poland and the United Arab Republic, often reared on a code of law that varies from regime to regime. An advocate for repeal of the Connally Reservation has stated that the reservation is supported by individuals who "confuse nationalism with patriotism." Such distorted logic indicates that S. Res. 94 is supported by individuals, unconcerned about American sovereignty, who confuse reality with illusion.

Budget Is Enacted By General Assembly

The Maryland Legislature on Monday finished the main job of its 30-day session, the approval of the governor's budget.

The House agreed without dissent to restoration of $11,042 the Senate made in its cuts and the budget became law without further action.

It totals $177,680,196, which means the Legislature cut it by less than $60,000 from the recommendations, made by Gov. Tawes. It emphasized the rule of a Democratic governor and 142 out of 152 members of his party in the Legislature.

Atomic research officials claimed America could put a two-man expedition on the moon within this decade if it would get serious about developing atomic rockets.

A Message from "Your Pharmacist"

ARE ALL VITAMINS THE SAME?
The food and drug laws require each manufacturer to state the ingredients and potency on the label. This does not guarantee the contents are correctly stated.

WE DO NOT HAVE ENOUGH GOVERNMENT INSPECTORS
Many inferior vitamins are sold for years before they are detected. More than one-third of all condemned health remedies, seized by the government were defective vitamins and food supplements.

THE VITAMINS WE SUPPLY MUST—
1. Be made by reliable pharmaceutical firms whose integrity is unquestioned.
2. They are standardized and assayed for purity and accuracy. Each bottle is code-dated. Then, after packaging, they can be re-tested and recalled if potency lessens.

HOW ARE CHEAP VITAMINS MADE?
When low price is the chief objective, many important tests are eliminated. Expensive controls during manufacture cannot be used. The amount of vitamins finally absorbed is questionable.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON VITAMINS WE SUPPLY.
They are fairly priced and absolutely dependable. Do not gamble with your health. Let our knowledge and reputation protect you.

Making Best Better - - - -

It is refreshing in this day, while we hear so much talk of delinquency, and the drop in our moral fiber, to contemplate the tremendous influence of youth organizations such as Boy and Girl Scouts and Four-H and F. F. A. organizations.

Boy scouts had their anniversary in February. Girl Scouts and 4-H are having their anniversaries this week. All are making a vital contribution in giving youth the incentive to "make the best better," as is definitely stated in the 4-H goals.

The 4-H values were outlined this week by Tom Magruder, of near Barton, president of the county 4-H council. He explained the program thus:

"Four-H work is the youth phase of Cooperative Extension work in Agriculture and Home Economics that affords opportunity for rural boys and girls to attain richer lives and more satisfactory living. It provides a program of activities which helps them to know and to use better practices in home and farm work and also enriches home and community life and their own personal development.

"The official emblem is a four-leaf clover with letter 'H' on each leaflet, meaning development of head, heart, hands and health. The colors are green and white, the green emblematic of springtime, life, youth and growth; the white symbolizing purity and high ideals. The motto; 'To make the best better.'

"Four-H club work is built around the principle of 'learning by doing.' " Project work, accepting responsibility, making decisions, developing skills, developing citizenship responsibility, enlarging of cultural experiences, building qualities of leadership, are just a few of the benefits listed by the county 4-H head.

He concluded that 4-H members proudly say "I pledge my Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hands to larger service, and my Health to better living for my club, my community and my country."

Membership in these groups is voluntary. The job at hand is to spread their principles far and wide. But with youth organizations such as these in every section of the county America should have no fears about the future.

First Head-on Collision Involving Horses Is Told

Probably the first head-on collision in the history of the county where horses were involved took place a few days ago on the country lane on the farm of Joni J. Miller, in Pleasant Valley.

Mr. Miller related the event in this manner:

Two of his younger boys were returning home with horse and sleigh after dark. They turned into the lane too quickly, turning over the sleigh and throwing the boys out on the snow. The mishap frightened the horse and he sped up the lane toward the barn.

About this time another son and two daughters started out from the home with horse and buggy, with lights and other necessary equipment. The buggy was enclosed with a glass windshield.

The horses met in the lane. The impact pushed one horse into the buggy with the glass, cutting the horse's rump which required ten stitches to close. The other horse received the shafts in his front legs. Both required anti-tetanus shots.

The event also was probably the cheapest head-on collision on record. The whole affair cost Mr. Miller 25 bucks and a couple of stiff horses for several days. None of the children was injured.

To Seek Bids For Work on Route 40

Bids will be received March 29 for the initial State Roads commission roads building project in Western Maryland under the new five-year accelerated construction program, just approved by the General Assembly.

John B. Funk, SRC chairman-director said this job will call for the relocation of Route 40 from the top of Martin's mountain to a point 3.59 miles westward.

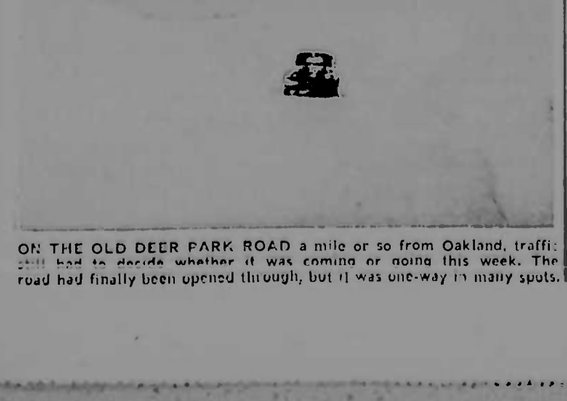
This is the first of two projects scheduled to be under contract this summer for the six and one-half mile streteb between Cumberland and the top of Martin's mountain.

There was no definite commitment as to when contracts for work on U. S. route 40 in Garrett county would get under way.

Gets Two Years For Breaking Into Home

Melvin Gene Carder, of Lonaconing, who was arrested last October 23 after breaking into the lake dwelling of Jesse Miller, Jr., and taking from the residence a quantity of furniture and other material valued at $375.00, was sentenced to serve two years in the Maryland House of Correction when brought before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley for trial Monday afternoon.

Two sentences of two years in the House of Correction were meted out, one for burglary and one for larceny, but both sentences will run concurrently.



Carder was arrested the day following the theft. Mr. Miller happened to arrive at the cabin one night during a rain storm and found a truck in front of his place completely loaded with furniture and ready to depart. Two persons took off into the woods. Sheriff James F. Frantz and state police were notified and made a quick trip to the scene. The automobile was identified by license number as being owned by Carder.

The following day at LaVale state police barracks, police were notified by Mr. Carder that his automobile had been stolen. They told him to come and register proof of ownership, at which time he was placed under arrest. He was held on $1,000 bond after a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney.

At the hearing before Judge Fraley on Monday Carder pleaded guilty to the charges.

Hospitalized Monday

Wayne Baker was hospitalized Monday for a brief time after he collapsed on Second street as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning. He had parked his automobile along Second street and had remained in his car while allowing the motor to run. There was a break in the exhaust pipe and the fumes made him unsteady. When he emerged from the car he collapsed on the roadway.

ON THE OLD DEER PARK ROAD a mile or so from Oakland, traffic still had to decide whether it was coming or going this week. The road had finally been opened through, but it was one-way in many spots.

Court Docket Is Due To Be Light

The docket is expected to be fairly light when the March term of court gets under way next Monday, it has been indicated by court officials.

The March Term grand jury will convene on Monday morning, March 14, at 10 o'clock with Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley delivering the charge.

Both the petit and grand jurors will line up with at least ten changes since they were first selected several weeks ago. At that time seventeen women were chosen for jury duty, and since that date five women and four men have been excused from serving.

The law doesn't actually compel a woman to serve on a jury but after being selected, if she doesn't want to serve she must go through a stretch of "red tape". She must present her objection in writing to the clerk of the Circuit court within a certain period after being notified that she has been called to duty.

Those excused from serving include Ruth Hoye, Daniel B. Wilson and Clark V. Durst, for the grand jury, and Wilda J. Fahey, Mabel C. Bender, Sadie Roth, Marie F. Schmidt, Ross Sowers and Carl Richter, for the petit jury.

Three women were named when new jurors were selected. Called to serve were Joe Resh, Lawrence L. Friend and Fred Otto, for the grand jury. Fred A. Bell, Nelle W. Stemple, John E. Lilley, Joseph C. DeWitt, Vonda McIntire and Audrey E. Naylor, for the petit jury.

The complete lineup for the grand jury as of the present date include George F. Stuck, foreman.

New Snow Reaches Six to Eight Inches

Garrett county got from six to eight inches of new snow last evening as a portion of the vast new snowstorm which swept across Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia dropping up to twenty inches of that white stuff.

The county's only salvation was that there was no wind along with it to cause additional drifting, at least for the time being. The snow was light and fluffy and fell most of the night in varying degrees. By 10 o'clock Thursday morning, however, the sun was shining and there was a possibility that the worst was over.

Providing the sun gets to the new snow long enough to cause some melting the danger of drifting will be passed for this particular storm.

School buses ran as usual Thursday morning with no difficulties reported. However, highways were snow covered and slippery.

All highway crews kept on working through the night. Yesterday they were involved in widening roads and removing old snow which still clogged both sides of the right of ways. The State roads crews were using 15 or more pieces of equipment including the big snow blower.

Some kind of a record was established for below zero readings during March. Since last Tuesday, March 1, when 15 below was recorded, there have been recordings of 11 below, 7 below, 8 below, 15 below. The high reading yesterday was 21 degrees although there was some melting in the sun. The mercury had dropped to 17 degrees' by 5 p. m.

Father Delivers Infant as Crews Battle Big Drifts

Mrs. Charles Falkenstein, of Cranesville, gave birth to a baby last Saturday in the snowbound town as two snow blowers attempted to cut a path to the house. The blowers with a doctor not far behind, did not arrive until Sunday night.

In the meantime Mr. Falkenstein, aided by Mrs. Foster Cuppett, a neighbor, delivered the baby. The first medical attention was administered Sunday night.

Roads crews, fighting the snow and drifts ranged from 1 to 25 feet was "something you see in a lifetime."

The Falkenstein home is located two miles east of Cranesville just beyond the Garrett County border. Mother and baby—and father—all were reported doing fine.

Oakland Election Is Set For Next Monday

One more candidate for member of the Oakland City Council filed before the deadline last Thursday afternoon, making a slate of five candidates for three offices. Filing prior to the deadline was Donald M. Browning, Oakland postmaster.

The completed ticket includes two candidates for mayor, five candidates for city council and one candidate for city treasurer. They are:

For mayor, Henry W. McComas, and Russell L. Smith.

For Council, William F. Naylor, Wilbur W. Close, Emory W. Adams, Sr., Harold H. Harned, and Donald M. Browning. John Wolf, incumbent, whose term expires, did not file for re-election. Smith is a candidate to succeed himself as mayor, while McComas served the past two years as a member of the council. Adams is seeking re-election, having been named to fill the unexpired term of Robert M. Maroney, who resigned to accept the position of trial magistrate. Mrs. Berylldine Stanton is unopposed in her candidacy for city treasurer.

The annual election will be held on Monday, March 14. Polls will be open at the City Hall, Third street, between the hours of 9 to 6. Mrs. Joseph M. Gonder and Mrs. A. G. Hesen will be register judges. Mrs. Francis R. Shaffer and Miss Floss Shaffer will be machine judges.

Councilmen who have another year to serve are Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Howard J. White and Dr. H. R. Gibson.

Garrett Authorizes Increase In Capital Stock to $150,000

At a special meeting of shareholders of the Garrett National Bank in Oakland on Tuesday afternoon, a resolution was passed authorizing the increase of its capital stock in the bank from $100,000 to $150,000, the increase to come by the sale of $50,000 of additional capital stock.

The present shareholders will have pre-emptive rights to the purchase of some of the additional stock, Wesley Schaible, cashier, stated, but he said that additional stock would be available to persons who did not at present own shares.

In March, 1959, the bank increased its capital stock from $50,000 to $100,000 by the issuance of $50,000 stock dividend. This went to shareholders at that time, one share of new stock for each share held by the individual.

Mr. Schaible said the book value of the new stock would be $42.71 per share.

Harco Lumber Is Organizing Here

That the Harco Lumber company was setting up its organization in Oakland in preparation to opening for business the latter part of the month was learned this week from officials of the organization.

A meeting will be held next Monday by officials of the company along with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of furthering negotiations.

Already in the area are John M. Martin, Max Messenger, and Carl E. Marsh, besides E. C. Grimm, of Terra Alta, who is president of the new concern.

Mr. Martin is general manager, and presently resides in Indiana. He plans to move here as soon as housing is available.

Mr. Messenger will be a lumber inspector. He now resides at Terra Alta. Mr. Marsh will be in charge of all office work. At present he is accountant with offices in Kingwood, W. Va.

Plan Parents' Night

The Boy Scout troop committee of Oakland troop No. 31, is planning a Parents' Night program for Thursday evening, March 24, in Fellowship hall, Methodist church.

The 1960 Charter will be officially presented to Guy William Hinebaugh, president of the sponsoring institution the Oakland Mt. Lake Park Lion club who in turn will present it to the acting scoutmaster, Jerry Walsh.

The Rev. Charles Godwin will speak to the group, and awards will be presented by George H. Hanst, district advancement chairman.

TIRED OF THE SNOW?—So is The Republican's photographer, who was out again this week recording what is hoped was the wind-up of the past two weeks' snow. This view is looking toward Oakland from the Bennett road school. Along with other schools in the county, it opened this week after losing a number of days due to the bad weather. An additional snowfall of several inches was recorded last night.

Two Are Killed In Rt. 40 Mishap

Joseph Riley And Earl Caton Victims Late Saturday Night

Two men were killed late Saturday night, March 5, in a two-car collision on U. S. route 40 on the east slope of Meadow mountain. The highway was covered with ice and snow.

Victims were identified as Earl Caton, Finzel road; and Joseph J. Riley, Jr., Greenpoint, LaVale. Riley died in Miners hospital. Caton was killed instantly.

State Police said the Riley car was heading eastward down Meadow Mountain when the machine went out of control after hitting a patch of ice.

The Riley auto rammed sideways into the oncoming car driven by William Elwood Kettler, a sailor stationed at Norfolk, Va., enroute to his former residence in Wheeling with his wife and infant daughter.

Patrick Wayne McKenzie, Finzel road, the third occupant of the Riley car, was apparently not hurt, as was the little girl, Caton was an occupant of the Riley car.

Mrs. Kettler was admitted shortly before midnight to Memorial hospital in Cumberland and is in serious condition. Kettler was a patient in Miners hospital, Frostburg with lacerations and facial injuries.

Police said Riley was descending the mountain "at a speed too great for existing conditions." Kettler had stopped on the north berm prior to the accident. Both cars were demolished.

One Candidate For Mayor Barred

One of three candidates who filed for mayor of Oakland is not qualified to serve, according to action taken at the monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council on Monday evening. He is James A. Rice, who was the first one to file.

The Mayor and Council ordered Lewis R. Jones, city attorney, to notify Rice that his filing fee would be refunded and to tell him why he was not eligible.

The letter to Mr. Rice quoted Section 450 of Article 12 of the Public local laws of Maryland which said "No person shall be eligible to the office of mayor unless he shall be a freeholder in the town of Oakland."

The letter continued: "Inasmuch as you do not own any interest in real estate in the town you are thus disqualified for the office for which you have filed. Since only those who fulfill the qualifications for office can be placed on the ballot, your name will not appear thereon."

Other Business Conducted

The possibility of better lighting for the city streets was under discussion at Monday night's meeting. Allen Babcock and Henry Hipp of the West Maryland Power company participated with the council in the discussion. They will return at another date with a suggested improvement program along with cost estimates and other information. Mayor Russell L. Smith said the council wished also to consider the possibility of some

Meeting To Discuss Aging Problems Set

The Civic Club of Oakland is sponsoring a meeting to study the problems of the aging, which will be held at the fire hall in Oakland on Friday, March 18, at 8 p. m. This is one of a series of county and regional meetings leading to a state-wide conference on aging in Maryland.

Mrs. Margaret C. Schweinhart, of Montgomery, appointed as chairman of a Maryland Coordinating commission by Governor Tawes, will be the principal speaker at this meeting.

Matters to be discussed will include housing, employment, income, welfare services, medical care, nursing homes, recreation and education, taxes and other items.

Letters have been sent out to a number of organizations and individuals in the county inviting them to participate in the meeting. The letters come from Mrs. Henry McComas, president of the Civic club, and Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, member of the steering committee for the Western Maryland conference of the aging.

The planning committee for the meeting met at the home of Mrs. Baumgartner Tuesday afternoon. Also attending were Mrs. O. T. Graser, Mrs. Paul Riley, Mrs. Charles Pangh, Jr., Mrs. Grover Stemple, Mrs. McComas, Mrs. William R. Browning, Mrs. Hervey Bittner, Mrs. Prentice DeBerry, Mrs. W. E. Hesen.

Dr. Hanson to Speak At Rotary Program

Dr. Royce Hanson, associate professor of government, from the school of government and public administration, The American University, Washington, D. C., will be the speaker at the Ladies' Night program of the Oakland Rotary club tomorrow evening at the William-James hotel. Attending will be the fifty or more Rotary members, their wives and guests.

Arranging for the affair were members of the Ladies' night committee including Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Russell Brown, Willard Elliott, William Hesen and C. Melvin Knight. Dr. Baumgartner will introduce the speaker.

Group singing will be directed by Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Brown and the Southern High senior trio composed of Charlotte Beer, Carolyn Spoerlein, and Margaret Yoder will sing several numbers, accompanied at the piano by Marilyn Bechtle.

Dr. Hanson's talk will be on "The State of the Party System 1960."

Richard L. Neuberger, Oregon senator, died March 9 of cerebral hemorrhage. He was 47.

Third Major Storm In 4 Weeks Gives County Headaches

Garrett County appeared today to be fairly well back to normal after battling three major storms within the space of four weeks, but there were still mountainous piles of snow to remind the people of what they had recently combatted.

Some fifteen inches of snow had fallen since last Wednesday night, making a total of 90 inches for the year and 57 of them during February and the first week of March.

Two more days of school were lost over the week-end, making a total of eight for the year. Only three days are allowed for inclement weather, and the balance must be made up prior to the closing of school in June. Providing there are no additional days lost, the schools will close on June 14th, Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, announced.

The latest snowfall began moderately enough with a fine covering coming from the east. By morning some twelve inches had fallen and a shift of the wind to the west quickly closed all secondary roads and made it a two day battle with the State roads crews, closing several highways.

The fall for the three days amounted to 13 inches while another inch or two has fallen at various times during Monday and Tuesday.

The temperature almost reached the 15 below zero reading of last Tuesday with a sudden drop on Monday morning to 11 below. Sunday registered 7 above while Tuesday morning the theremeter dropped to about 7 below.

It actually dropped to 15 below again on Wednesday morning.

Sunday was clear for most of the day with little or no melting. Again on Monday there was some clearing but snow continued to flurry and no melting occurred. This was changed some on Tuesday with the storm moderating considerably.

One-way traffic was still prevalent in some sections of the county roads. Some secondary roads were still blocked on Monday which prevented school buses from operating.

Over two hundred students were absent at Northern High school.

Fair Board Plans Two Feature Parades

A minor change in the program for the annual Garrett County Fair was announced by the Board of Directors this week. The parade usually held during Farmers' day will be split into two groups this year.

A commercial parade is scheduled for Thursday evening and the farm parade will be held on Friday evening. The fair will officially open on Tuesday evening, August 9, at 7 o'clock with Farm Bureau night, at which time the farm queen is selected by the Associated Women of the Farm Bureau. Exhibits are to be in place by 5 o'clock on that evening.

At the last meeting of the board of directors the importance of local entertainment whenever possible was stressed. Another meeting of the board is set for Monday evening, March 11 at 8 o'clock at the tenant house of Gerald Glotfelty.

Appropriate Funds For Local Airport

Plan Is To Use Portion Of White Face Farm, Already Owned By County

Federal and State Funds have been appropriated toward the construction of an airport in Garrett county, it was learned through two announcements within the past ten days.

It was announced from Washington that Federal funds would go to three Maryland airports in the year starting July 1 under the Federal aid airport program.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall said he had been advised by the Federal Aviation Agency of the distribution of $138,390 for a Garrett county airport.

Governor Tawes announced also that he had placed $37,500 in the capital improvements program of the state as a part of the state's share in the airport program. The two other federal appropriations mentioned were $370,750 for Friendship International airport, and $22,500 for the Crisfield-Somerset county airport at Crisfield.

Under the federal program it was announced that $15,000 would be to acquire land, airport site and clearing zones; $140,130 for construction of an east-west run-way, 2500 by 75 feet, with an apron of 225 by 225, with connecting taxi-way, including necessary approach clearing; and $2,870 for construction of an access road.

The money would become available July 1, 1960. It would be necessary for the project application and other related documents to be in the hands of the Federal

Woman Shoots Seif In Abdomen Early Today

Efforts were made early this morning to save the life of Mrs. Harry Craver, of Swanton, who was wounded in the abdomen by a self-inflicted blast from a 4-10 shotgun carrying a pumpkin ball load. No reason was given for the shooting.

Mrs. Craver underwent surgery about 8 o'clock this morning in Garrett County Memorial hospital. She is in critical condition.

Mrs. Craver's husband is an employe of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company. They have several children. Mrs. Craver was said to be about 30 years of age.

Sheriff James E. Frantz was called about 6 o'clock this morning and he rushed to the scene along with the Minnich ambulance. The Sheriff said he did not spend too much time in preliminary investigation since it was imperative that the woman be brought to the hospital immediately.

He said the woman was conscious but gave no reason for the shooting. The sheriff said, however, that the wound was self-inflicted.

Hearing Scheduled To Form Watershed Group, March 22nd

A meeting for the purpose of forming a Wilson Run Public Watershed association, has been called by the County Commissioners for Tuesday, March 22, at 3 p. m. in the court room in the courthouse at Oakland.

Carl Schell, president, said owners of property lying within the boundaries of approximately 150 acres, would be affected by the petition and report.

The proposed association area would include lands lying along Wilson Run and Cherry Glade Run, from the mouth of Wilson Run at the Little Youghiogheny river, upstream to the proposed dam No. 2 of the Little Youghiogheny watershed project on Cherry Glade run and to proposed dam No. 3 of the same project on Wilson Run, and also all the land involved in the embankments, spillways, backslopes, borrow pit, outlet channels and impoundment areas for proposed dams 1, 2 and 3, of the same project.

The hearing is to consider organization and group under provisions of Section 109.218 of Article 25 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 1957 edition effective June 1, 1959.

An advertisement announcing the public hearing is published in today's issue.

Siege In The Senate—The only sleep I have had for several days has been catnaps on a sofa in my office or on a cot just off the Senate floor. A change of clothes is sent to me each day from our Washington apartment. I must shower and shave within earshot of the debate in the Senate. Multiply this by 100, and you will have the picture of the present way of life of the 100 United States Senators. The reason? The talkathon on civil rights. Those taking part call it "extended debate." Some call it "filibuster."

This year it's different. In order to get the debate over with, the Senate leaders of the two political parties persuaded the members to impose upon themselves round-the-clock sessions. Southern Senators opposing civil rights action have attacked the round-the-clock sessions as a "strategy of exhaustion." Continuous sessions put pressure on everyone. Pages, stenographers, clerks, and officials of the Senate must organize to maintain a 24-hour vigil on the Senate floor. Relays of speakers must be enlisted to keep the talk going. All Senate business is tied up. No committee hearings can be held. A quorum must be available night and day. Each side is determined to wear down the other to the point of surrender. A filibuster can be ended by cloture, requiring a two-thirds vote, but members are reluctant about invoking cloture as they feel it violates a Senate tradition: unlimited debate. During the past 40 years, a motion for cloture has failed 8 times in 8 tries in connection with civil rights filibusters.

Unhappily, public attention is centered more on the maneuverings than on the legislation to be enacted or blocked.

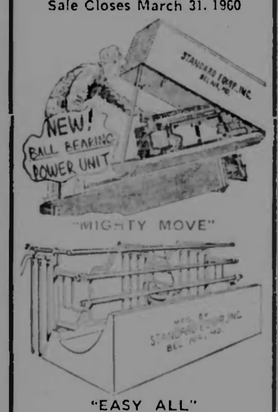
Features Of Substitute Measure—Senate Minority Leader Dirksen introduced a substitute civil rights measure which would—(a) Make it a Federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases; (b) Make it a Federal crime to flee from one State to another to avoid prosecution for bombing schools or churches; (c) Preserve Federal election records; (d) Authorize the Federal government to provide schools for children of military and other Federal personnel in areas where regular schools are closed by desegregation; (e) Provide for court appointed United States voting referees; (f) Establish a Commission on Equal Job Opportunities under Federal government contracts; (g) Provide grants, matched by States or communities for a 2-year program to help provide non-teaching professional services required by desegregation cases.

Restlessness, Discontent, And Fear—In a recent Senate Cloakroom, I ended an article with the thought that if we do not hold to the idea that right will prevail, then life would have no meaning. Your responsiveness is an invitation to me to carry this thought a step further. Restlessness, discontent, and fear abound. On the international level, conferences with praiseworthy objects proceed with external piety and inward distrust. On the national level, ambitious men belittle each other in a quest for political gains. Social or political blocs exploit advantages regardless of what is right. Evidences of broken ethics in advertising are brushed aside as unimportant. People criticize high taxes while crying out for more subsidies for this or that. The need for self-reliance is too easily forgotten.

The answer, I believe, is to be found in a return to basic principles—a return to respect for human dignity, to the idea that only as men can stand straight and work out their own salvation, can they become strong. As men become strong, restlessness, discontent, and fear, with their myriad by-products, will be eased.

Where Does The Welfare Money Go?—In the budget for the fiscal year, beginning Jan. 1, 1960, there is earmarked a total of over 20 billion dollars for "welfare." The estimate for the various items are as follows:

Direct Relief payments $2,087,000,000; Unemployment benefits, direct $1,973,000,000; Grants for State employment services $311,600,000; Old-age-insurance pensions $11,248,000,000; Civil Service pensions $986,000,000; Railroad workers' pensions $979,000,000; Disability pensions, $611,000,000; Grants and loans to students, colleges, and school districts $565,000,000; School lunch program $150,000,000; Hospitals and health services $904,000,000; Other welfare costs $468,000,000; Total.....$20,281,000,000.



Good Will Toward U. S. A.—President Eisenhower's travels—in Asia, in Europe, and now in Latin America—show once more that there is a tremendous reservoir of good will for this country just about everywhere in the world. The striking contrast between Eisenhower's reception and Khrushchev's reception is not being lost on the world.

"Where'd All Those Charges Come From?"—Our Senate Committee on Banking and Currency will start hearings March 15th on a bill (S. 2755) requiring full disclosure of all finance charges on loans.

To Identify Outstanding Students—The United States Commissioner of Education has approved contracts for Federal participation in State testing programs designed to identify school students with outstanding aptitudes and abilities. The National Defense Education Act provides for Federal financial participation in the costs of State testing programs to identify outstanding public school students. It also authorizes the United States Commissioner to enter into contracts to pay one-half of the cost of testing students in approved non-public schools. Two non-public schools in the District of Columbia and 13 in Maryland have been approved. From the 2 D. C. schools 110 selected students will be tested; from the 13 Maryland schools, 989 selected students will be tested. The University of Maryland, College Park, is the testing agency for both Maryland and District of Columbia students.

Representative Government"—A teen-age girl no doubt a leader of no mean stature—recently circulated an open letter in her State's legislature suggesting the establishment of a youth council to help teen-agers out of trouble. Her letter concluded with the observation that "the juvenile delinquent of today is the senator or representative of tomorrow."

WEEKLY SERMON

SINS OF OMISSION

Some good living, moral, people do not feel their need of a Saviour because they do not commit certain sins. They do not get drunk, gamble, swear or commit adultery. They are good neighbors and do a good job at keeping the golden rule. They usually are quite irritated when a Gospel preacher suggests that they are really no better in God's sight than the basest of sinners. Yet this is exactly where the charges in Romans 3:10-23 places them. He says there is no difference. It is true that some of God's commandments deal with negative things; it is also true that God expects us to do certain things. If we leave them undone, then we are sinners just as well as if we violated one of the negative commandments. Every now and then we find someone being jailed because they didn't pay their income tax. They may never have robbed a bank, or murdered, or run off with someone's wife, but they did not do something that was their responsibility. I John 3:23 gives us His chief commandment when it says, "And this is His commandment, that we should believe on the name of His Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as He gave us commandment. Have you omitted this requirement?

Legislature Enacts Boating Safety Bill

The Maryland legislature, prior to adjournment passed to law to bring boats under state regulation.

The boat act passed Thursday is designed to make Maryland waterways safer for a steady increasing volume of waterborne traffic.

All boats will be subject to safety regulations to be issued by the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and the Game and Inland Fish commission, charged jointly with administering the law.

But only boats with motors over 7½ horsepower and sailboats over 25 feet in length will have to obtain a license and number from the Tidewater Fisheries Commission. Licenses will be issued for a three-year period at a cost of $6 each, except for owners of fleets of for-hire boats, who may obtain special licenses on an annual basis.

The law also carries a safeguard against water skiing accidents. It requires that any boat towing a skier have a second person in the boat at least 12 years old. The Senate had wanted to substitute a rear-view mirror for the second person requirement but the House refused.

Funds derived from the act will be earmarked for administration and enforcement and for State improvement of boating facilities.

In the field of darving, everybody is striving for lower production costs. One way to achieve this is through higher-producing cows. Some of the individual high records in the state recently include a "Della" daughter that finished with over 900 pounds fat on twice a day milking and is owned by Filbert Farms.

OPERATION WINTER...
But it was warm indoors, thanks to GAS

Despite a deep blanket of snow and sub-freezing weather last month, thousands of homes like this were warm and comfortable, thanks to GAS.

And gas had a lot of help in doing this heating job. It took people—thousands of men and women—to put that gas at your fingertips, day and night.

This task force started in the Southwest. It ended here in the Appalachian area.

Here are some of the people—the Louisiana helicopter pilot, the Texas driller, the pipeliner from Oklahoma, a welder from Tennessee, clerks and typists in Kentucky and other states.

Then in this area—West Virginia compressor station engineers, Pennsylvania storage field personnel, pipeliners and servicemen from various states, meter readers and clerks throughout this part of the country. All helped relay that gas to you.

Gas, a fabulous story of people—putting to use new and improved tools and equipment—operating millions of dollars of recently built pipelines, compressor stations and storage field facilities to give you dependable, round-the-clock gas service.

Preserving Pharaoh's Treasures

The Great Temple of Abu-Sembul, one of five carved into solid granite rock formations during the reign of Ramses II, is considered to be the greatest achievement of an Egyptian architect. The UAR government has earmarked $25 million for a small dam to protect the structure.

Early in January construction work was started on the world's largest dam, the High Dam at Aswan, UAR. Although UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser has hailed the project as more important to Egypt than the great pyramids, Egypt is not forgetting the treasures of the past in the excitement over this vast engineering development.

When plans were being made for the construction of the High Dam, builders realized that the dam's reservoir would flood a number of Nubian temples south of Aswan. Realizing the importance of preserving these valuable antiquities, the Egyptian government, in cooperation with UNESCO, has appealed to the archaeological world for help in saving them from destruction.

It is estimated that about $120 million will be required to build protective dams around the major structures and to remove the smaller ones to higher ground. All nations have been asked to contribute financial and technical assistance for the preservation of the many priceless relics of world history that abound in this area.

The American Way

EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peed is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.

Too many Americans entertain the erroneous belief that no threat to our American Capitalistic System, which for no good reason [illegible] have come to call the Free Enterprise System, is only a threat to the businessman.

It is a threat to the businessman, but at the same time the abolition of our Capitalistic System would also take away the cherished liberties of every man, woman and child in the nation, irrespective of creed, race, color or station in life.

If we ever reach the point where private property can be confiscated by government, where the Congress no longer controls the purse strings of the United States Treasury, out the window will go the Bill of Rights and our heralded Constitution will be a mere scrap of paper.

A very far-seeing, wise Senator, once defined our Capitalistic System as follows:

"It gives the right to every American in peace-time to strike out for himself, to build his own home and business, to take risks that are necessary and reap the rewards from his enterprise."

The "Emotional Liberals," with the help of certain of the bureaucrats at Washington wage continuous warfare on our Capitalistic System. They have not learned the basic concepts that have made America great and which, if we continue to adhere to those fundamental concepts will make America an even greater nation.

Many years ago, a very sagacious American uttered ten great truths. Many individuals, including Abranam Lincoln, are credited with first having uttered these ten great truths. We have not been able definitely to establish the identity of their author, but we would like to pass them on here. They are as follows:

1. You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift;
2. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong;
3. You cannot help small men by tearing down big men;
4. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
5. You cannot lift the wage-earner by pulling the wage-payer down.
6. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income;
7. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred;
8. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money;
9. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence;
10. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

All of the foregoing ten great truths are important. They are the key to our Capitalistic System of Free Enterprise. In men realizing and observing them, lies the safety of our system of free production, competitive business and the beneficent incentive of private profits.

It is up to us to safeguard our Capitalists. Practically all of us are capitalists, either through the direct ownership of stock or bonds of the nation's industries and other businesses, or through equities in life insurance and bank savings. Therefore, in protecting our Capitalistic System from the vandals who would destroy it, we are protecting ourselves.

Today with the Communists boasting that they will "bury" us, that they will force Communism upon us, our one and only hope of forestalling such a catastrophe is to keep our powder dry.

Keeping our powder dry consists in nothing more nor less than maintaining our Capitalistic System, resisting every attempt to weaken it and putting forth our best efforts to strengthen it.

Only by preserving and strengthening our Capitalistic System can we have a stronger America only by having a stronger America can this nation maintain its world leadership in the bloodless battle for the maintenance of Peace on Earth.

Solution . . .

I saw a guy in Oakland the other day. He had a pretty good idea—he said if you cannot absolutely refrain from drinking, start a saloon in your own home. Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license. Give your wife $12 to start business with a gallon of whiskey. There are 128 snorts to a gallon. Buy all your drinks from your wife at forty cents a snort and in four days, when the gallon is gone, your wife will have $39.20 to put in the bank and she will have $12 to start business again. Now, if you live ten years and continue to buy all your booze from your wife and then die with the snakes in your boots, your widow will have $35,075.40 on deposit, enough to bury you respectably, bring up your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man, and forget that she ever knew you.

Third Major Storm

and a similar number at Southern on Monday but by Tuesday morning the number of absentees had decreased considerably. Attendance at Southern on Monday was about 80 percent. It was back to normal Tuesday.

The Dennett road was not opened until late Sunday night, allowing Elementary pupils to attend the Dennett road school Monday. But it was only one-way traffic.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad was using its snow plow during the week to clear the tracks of drifts.

The big problem for the county roads department was the drifting of the fresh snow. There was just no place for any additional snow to be pushed. The blowers were in use but they do not travel any great distances when clearing drifts ten to twelve feet high.

There were some 32 plows, eight graders, four bulldozers, two snow blowers and four additional bulldozers obtained from the Department of Forests and Parks being used.

There was less than two weeks to go before spring officially arrives in Oakland but the area looks like anything but spring.

By Tuesday morning all of the main routes in the county were open to traffic but still only 50 percent of the secondary roads. Many of those open at that time had one-way traffic.

Many access roads in the county are closed with some farm areas cut off. There were no cases of acute need but in many places farmers had not been able to get to town for a week to ten days.

The storm caused no damage to utility lines and communications are normal.

Apaches Win Match

The Apaches downed the Scouts 1122 to 1097 in the Western Maryland League's fourteenth winter rifle match held Sunday afternoon at Bowman's Addition and Oakland ranges. The Pioneers clobbered the Sentries 1124 to 1093.

George Porter of Oakland had 290 to lead the Apache smallboremen in their ninth win of the season. Carroll Miller, Sr., of Oakland, topped the losing Sentries with 284.

Porter and Miller were the only two from this area listed on the four teams.

underground cable for a portion of the downtown lighting.

There was also discussion on the need for additional water supply and on the flood control program. In regard to the former Mr. Smith said that a public meeting would be announced at some future date where every interested person would have an opportunity to be heard.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the borrowing of $5,000 from the First National Bank in Oakland. It was pointed out that there had been unusually heavy expenses during the past year. Three items mentioned were the Oak street improvements, the hauling of water last fall, and the snow removal during the past month.

Receipts for the month amounted to $4,172.78 with $563.60 from water, $454.72 from taxes, and $3,154.46 from miscellaneous. Expenditures totaled $7,696.15.

The Episcopal church asked for permission to hold the Beeres-Barnes circus in Oakland in May, at one end of the town parking lot. The matter was referred to W. W. Dawson, attorney for the B. and O. railroad, as the lot is owned by that company.

Sunday movie tax for February totaled $41.20.

The audit report by George McLaughlin was ordered accepted as well as the report for the fiscal research bureau. Mr. McLaughlin's report showed revenues of $119,222.51 for the year with expenditures of $120,648.65.

Appropriate Funds

government by April 1, 1961.

Under plans submitted by Airways Engineering Corporation of Washington, D. C., the county was to provide $79,150, and the State a similar amount.

In talking with Carl Schell, president of the County Commissioners yesterday, it was indicated that there had been some slight misunderstanding with the state officials, since only about half of the amount expected from the state had been set aside in the capital improvements program.

The Commissioners are now trying to arrange a meeting with the State Aviation Commission the latter part of this month and also one with Governor Tawes, in an effort to get the appropriation increased to the amount originally intended.

The original plans call for a runway of 2,500 feet but with excavation work completed, enough to extend the runway for an additional 2,500 feet with very little additional work. The appropriation by the state apparently did not take this additional excavation work into account and it is this misunderstanding the Commissioners hope to correct when they have their hearings later this month.

The total estimated cost was $316,600. The land now owned by the county at the White Face farm, would be included in the county's share of the cost. The land is valued at $31,000. Rental of county equipment would also be considered in the county's share of the construction expense.

In the original plans also is a landing strip 400 by 2,900 feet adjacent to the paved runway.

The White Face farm was acquired several years ago, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. "Fritz" White of Cleveland. Mr. White, a native of Oakland, had a summer home there for a number of years. It is located a few miles from McHenry. A portion of the 640 acres is reserved by Mr. and Mrs. White, should they ever decide to resume their summer living here.

It was given to the Commissioners with the understanding that the revenue from it would be for use of the Garrett County Memorial hospital. This will be worked out with annual appropriations to the hospital such as are already in effect.

The Commissioners were hoping to get work started by July 1, when federal and state funds would become available.

The strip, if completed, would be under supervision of the County Roads department. Operation of the air strip would be under private lease with the county receiving the tax on gasoline sold at the airport.

The Commissioners and the Development commission pointed out at various times that an airport would be a definite drawing card for industry in this section. They said that invariably when industrial persons are approached about possibility of bringing in an industry to the county one of the first questions asked is "where's your nearest airport?"

The Commissioners cited also that the White Face farm is about midway in the county, only fifteen miles from Oakland, adjacent to Deep Creek Lake and is very favorably located for all the people of the area.

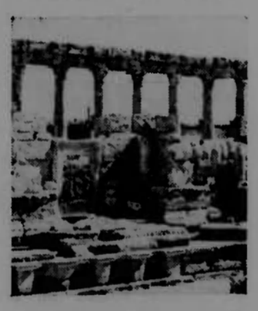
West Virginia legislators passed a record operating budget of $113,703,380.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

The Reader's Digest, for February exposes a frightening hole in our national defense structure to protect us against the international Communist conspiracy to conquer the world. The title of the article is "No Passports for Our Enemies." The title expresses a prayerful hope. Actually the article tells how decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court and the strange inaction of Congress now make it possible for our enemies to obtain passports and help advance the Communist plan to take over the world.

No loyal American citizen could read this article without feeling a deep uneasiness about the security of our nation. The situation described by the Reader's Digest began when the Supreme Court rendered a decision on June 16, 1958, one of a long series each of which strengthened the international Communist apparatus and endangered the freedom of every American. This decision held that the Secretary has no authority to deny passports to people because they are Communists. Until then, passport authorities could withhold passports from Communists.



The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, one of the watch-dog agencies of our Congress, issued a formal report declaring: "Plainly speaking, this country has, at the behest of the Supreme Court, authorized a small army of disloyal citizens to go abroad and travel about under the protection of the United States. Naked logic tells us that at least some of this number will be in a position to damage this nation in a substantial manner."

Here's an excerpt from the Reader's Digest article: "Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Able, the highest Soviet intelligence officer ever apprehended in the United States, was convicted a little over two years ago. Members of the cells he organized, some probably still on the job, effectively smuggled defense and atomic secrets to Russia by messengers who returned with instructions and U. S. currency to finance further operations. Able and the couriers were able to stay in business because they used U. S. passports."

Another excerpt: "Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, a Negro writer from Brooklyn with a long Communist-front record, and his wife obtained new passports (after the Supreme Court decision). Mrs. DuBois hurried to the All-African People's Conference in Ghana to read a speech that her husband wrote attacking the Western powers and praising Red China and the Soviet Union. Meanwhile, DuBois was received in Moscow by Premiem Khrushchev. The Soviet boss indicated his appreciation of DuBois' efforts by awarding him the $35,000 Lenin Peace Prize. Although our Government forbade American travel to Communist China, DuBois went from Moscow to Peiping—bearing an American passport. There he made hate-America speeches which were beamed to Asian and African people . . . he was regarded as a representative American citizen."

In a matter of a few days, Congress could block this damaging loophole in our security structure, opened by the Supreme Court. Congress could give the Passport authorities the power to deny passports to known Communist agents, to the enemies of our country. But for two years now, Congress has not acted. Citizens should demand to know "WHY?"

UAR Unearths Ancient Theater

The unearthing of the world's most ancient theater was completed recently in the Basra El Sham area of the Syrian Region of the UAR.

Dr. Selim Adel, Director of the Antiquities Department, said that an additional six months will be required to fully reconstruct and prepare the site for display.

However, tourists and camera enthusiasts will be welcome at the site and many are expected to take advantage of the invitation to inspect this unusual relic of an ancient civilization.

Camp Escapees Get 3-Year Sentences

The two 16-year-old escapees from the New Germany Forestry camp for Boys who were tried in the Circuit court Monday morning were sentenced to serve three years in the Reformatory for Males for a period not exceeding three years, on two separate charges. The three-year sentences in each case were to run concurrently.

The youths were listed as Donald Charles Hackery, Frederick and Robert McFadden, Cumberland. Arrested January 7 they had waived their right to indictment by the grand jury and had asked for an immediate trial.

The two were charged with escape from the forestry camp, larceny of an automobile and receiving stolen goods.

The youths stole a pick up truck from Henry J. Hummell, star route, Frostburg, while attempting to elude capture the young pair forced one Pennsylvania trooper's car off the highway. Their flight was halted only after several warning shots were fired by another trooper into the cab of the stolen vehicle.

Both young men pleaded guilty to the first count of the two indictments when taken before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on Monday morning.

Another One Sentenced

Another forestry camp youth also was sentenced Monday at a hearing before the court.

George Lomp, Jr., who escaped from the forestry camp and stole a 1951 Chevrolet car belonging to Rebecca Grace Yoder, entered a plea of guilty to the first count of the indictment and was sentenced to the Maryland Reformatory for Males for a period of one year. The sentence was to run consecutively with a sentence of three years he is now serving in the Maryland Reformatory, meted out by the Circuit Court of Frederick county. His year will be tacked on to the end of the three-year sentence.

Rehearsals Begin For Benefit Minstrel

Rehearsals for the Southern High School Athletic Boosters' Club forthcoming minstrel got under way this past week, Marvin Jones, chairman of the Steering Committee, announced.

Proceeds from this production, scheduled to perform at the Dennett Road school on April 7 and 8, are to be applied towards the funds for lights for the football field at Southern.

Marvin Jones, president of the club, indicated that local citizens were contributing their time and talents toward this enterprise. He also indicted that if there were individuals in the community who had not been personally contacted, but who wanted to perform in the minstrel, they should see him as soon as possible.

Plans to produce the minstrel came about following a decision by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions' Club not to present their annual minstrel this year. The Boosters' Club show will include women as part of the chorus.

The general show chairman is Foster Riggs. Directing the music will be Mrs. Ruth Brown, Southern High music teacher. Accompanying the group on the piano is Mrs. Merritt Feather, also a Southern High teacher.

Other committee chairmen are: Advertising and Program, Deb Gnegy; Finance, Whitey Adolfson; Costume, Emil Germain; Ushers, Sara Wine; Tickets, Bob Stanton; Stage, Carl Schoonover; Lighting, Fred Tichnell; Publicity, Ken Johns; Concessions, Mrs. Lucile Kerins.

Interlocutor for the show will be Rev. Charles Godwin. End men are Foster Riggs, Marvin Jones, Willis Shaffer, Darrell Malone, Robert Lohr and Harvey Winters.

Display Arranged For Girl Scout Week

Using "An Arithmetic Lesson in Citizenship" as a theme, Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 3 has arranged a display in the window of the H-P Store in honor of Girl Scout Week. The exhibit is built around a large blackboard on which the following statements are set up as a problem in mathematics: that after 48 years of Girl Scouting in the United States we now have 3 million Girl Scouts, or one out of every seven girls. Two life-sized manikins are dressed in the uniforms of a troop member and a Girl Scout leader. Featured in the display are a number of enlarged newspaper articles reprinted from The Republican and taken from the pages of Troop 3's scrapbook.

On Sunday, March 13th, all four Oakland Girl Scout troops will join in attending a service of worship at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, the Rev. W. Shelby Walthall officiating. Special church program covers have been provided for the occasion by the members of Troop 3.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

Giving Proper Credit

How often prayer receives the credit which is due God. Many times people praise their prayers and forget all about the Lord who answers prayer. "How wonderful prayer is!" "Prayer helped me when in trouble." "Prayer does great things." What a welcome relief to read this week of a man when rescued from death said, "The Lord helped me." Our reluctance to praise the Lord for answered prayer is but a sample of our failure to honor Him. In days gone by, our grandfathers were more in the habit of praising God for the benefits they received in this life. They saw the providential hand of God and were ready to openly profess that God was the benefactor. Now days, we are prone to contribute such blessings to secondary causes. It is our "good luck" or "arrangement of circumstances" that brought us what our hearts desired. Over and over again the Psalmist urges us to "praise the Lord" and "honor the Lord." We have so many occasions to do so. This public testimony of God's help is pleasing to the Lord. He delights in true praise and honor. So the next time you have an answer to your prayer, give God the credit instead of talking of the merits of your prayer.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT...

Better Health Through Knowledge

Armchair for Bad Heart

● Lemon Juice ● Gold Injections ● Counter Glasses

Q. A member of my family recently had a heart attack. Much to everyone's surprise the doctor allowed the patient to sit in a chair the very next day. I have always heard that a heart victim needs complete rest. Am I right or wrong?

A. You are partly right but a little bit behind the times. Recently there has been considerable interest in the armchair treatment of patients who have certain types of heart attacks. Some of the top heart specialists let some patients sit in a chair at intervals beginning the first day or so after the attack. Certain patients allowed this privilege seem to get along better than those kept flat on their backs. Doctors have found that, generally speaking, the heart works harder when we are lying down than when we sit up. This does not mean that all heart patients should jump out of bed. It is for the doctor to decide which treatment method is best.

Q. Is it harmful to drink the juice of a lemon daily?

A. Yes, according to some medical investigators. It is reported that steady use of lemon juice has a tendency to cause tooth damage. An adequate amount of vitamin C can be had without resorting to the daily use of lemon juice.

Q. Please discuss gold injections for arthritis. Is such treatment expensive?—Mrs. M.

A. In general, the conservative treatment of arthritis includes rest, drugs, and physical measures prescribed by the physician. If these fail the doctor may try gold injections. Treatment for several months is often required before results are obtained. There is no sure cure for arthritis and gold therapy is no exception. Medical costs should be discussed with your doctor.

Q. Can the eyes be ruined by improperly fitted glasses? I know of several people who have almost gone blind because of this.

A. Many people believe this but there is no truth to it. The worst fitted glasses can not damage the eye although they will produce discomfort, fatigue, headache, and great annoyance. What makes such stories seem true is the many cases of serious eye disease and the fact that early symptoms of such conditions are hard to distinguish from visual conditions which require glasses for correction. Because of the frequency of eye disease, everyone with eye complaints should seek a complete eye examination, not simply an examination for glasses.

NUCLEAR ATTACK on the United States would result in a flood of refugees moving from target cities to rural areas. This would overtax all living facilities, such as those for cooking. The probable loss of electricity would make the situation even worse. To meet this problem, rural civil defense organizations conduct exercises in improvised outdoor cooking, using oil drums for ovens, tin cans made into cooking utensils, and other materials likely to be available after attack.

W. Md. Ski Club Is Winner of Tourney

The Western Maryland Ski club earned a leg on the Blue Ridge Trophy by winning the two-day meet for junior members held Saturday and Sunday at Deep Creek Lake before a good sized audience.

Saturday's events were staged under adverse weather conditions on the Marsh Mountain slopes, but Sunday's weather was considered ideal.

In the giant slalom events held Sunday the Western Marylanders copped six first places, one second and three thirds. The Washington Ski club finished second with two firsts, two seconds and a like number of thirds. Only the two clubs competed. Clubs from Morgantown, Pittsburgh and Baltimore were unable to get here because of traveling conditions.

Eight racing events were held in four different classes on Sunday with twenty-nine participating.

The Western Maryland Ski club junior racing team, coached by Howard Naylor, Oakland, received a large silver trophy which must be won three times by the same club to become a permanent possession.

Sunday's first place winners:

Class 1: boys, Guy Hinebaugh, Oakland; Girls, Mari Rasmussen, Arlington, Va.

Class 2: boys, Harley Winer, Cumberland; Girls, Nancy Young, Washington, D. C.

Class 3: boys, Jimmy Gibson, Oakland; girls, Janna Naylor, Oakland.

Class 4: boys, Joseph Alvarez, Oakland; girls, Beth Naylor, Oakland.

In Saturday's events Western Maryland Ski club took six firsts and two seconds in slalom events. Washington club had two first places, a second and one third place finish.

Skiers were hampered Saturday by 10-degree temperatures and wind gusts up to 40 miles per hour. Snow conditions were excellent with depths varying from 3 to 15 feet.

Team members giving the Western Maryland club first places Saturday, all of whom reside in Oakland, were Guy Hinebaugh, class 1 for boys; David Nordeck, class 2 boys; Bobby Lohr, class 3 boys; Janna Naylor, class 3 girls; Beth Naylor, class 4 girls; and Joseph Alvarez, class 4 boys.

Copping first places for Washington were Nancy Young, class 2 girls and Mari Rasmussen, Arlington, Va., class 1 girls.

Harley Winer, Cumberland, took a second class for boys in class 2, as did Jim Gibson, Oakland, in class 3.

Races were delayed Saturday as officials preparing the slalom course were battled by large drifts and wind. A small avalanche occurred when skiers ventured onto a snow ledge 70 feet long to clear the obstacle. They tumbled when the snow gave way and were partially buried. They were not injured.

Few Injuries This Year At Marsh Mt. Ski Area

Few injuries have been reported this winter at the Marsh Mountain Ski area. A woman from Accident sustained a broken leg on the slopes on Sunday.

Over the weekend Dave Nordeck, Oakland, suffered a sprained ankle and Johnny Kerns broke his toe in an unusual manner. He stepped on his toe with one of his skis, as he broke.

There were large crowds on the slopes last weekend, some forty-five came to the area by train and an additional 5 by bus. Many local persons were taking advantage of the excellent skiing weather.

Highlanders Reach 1304 Point Total For 18 Contests

The high stepping "Highlander" basketball team soared past the thirteen hundred mark when it defeated Frederick in the first round of tournament play last week.

Is Your Name Georg or George?

Georg and George have been used as personal names and surnames for a number of centuries. George, on the whole, is the more popular of the two, but Georg has been used extensively in Germany and some neighboring countries. They are obtained from the Greek word meaning "farmer" or "tiller of the soil," and their principal use has occurred since the 14th century. It should be noted that St. George is regarded as the patron saint of England and that more than 125 churches are dedicated to him in that country.

Thomas George (1742-1812) and John George (1751-1820) served as lieutenants of Massachusetts troops during the Revolutionary War.

According to the Fifth Series of the Pennsylvania Archives, Conrott, Heinrich and John Georg were privates in the Pennsylvania militia at the time of the Revolutionary War.

Among the earliest settlers of this country were three brothers,—James George who came to Haverhill, Mass., in 1632, Richard George who settled in Boston, Mass., in 1635 and John George who settled in Charlestown, Mass., in 1637. All came from England.

The first circuit court held in Garrett County convened on May 19, 1873. W. E. George was a member of the grand jury at that time.

Harold Coulter George (1881-1937) served successively as director of the School of Petroleum Engineering, University of Oklahoma and as professor and head of the department of Oil and Gas Production, University of Pittsburgh.

Johann Michael Georg (1740-1796) was a distinguished German scholar and educational administrator.

Charles P. George (1886-1946) was major general, U. S. Army.

Albert Joseph George is professor and chairman of the department of Romance Languages, Syracuse University.

Dr. Lucille Katherine Georg, scientist of note, is mycologist, Communicable Disease Center, U. S. Public Health Service, Chamblee, Georgia.

John J. George is professor of political science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Northern Students Take Qualifying Test

Nineteen students, members of the eleventh grade at Northern High school, took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test, Tuesday, March 8, at Northern High school.

The test is a measure of educational development and college aptitude. Emphasis is on broad intellectual skills, and on understanding and ability to use what can be learned, rather than on sheer knowledge of facts.

The test is a first step in the annual competition for merit scholarships provided by 100 corporations, foundations, professional societies and individuals, as well as by the Merit Scholarship corporation.

Some 10,000 semi-finalists, those making high scores on the first test, will take a second examination to determine the finalists in the Merit program.

Four - year scholarships are awarded to the winners with stipends of $100 to $1,500 yearly. The average stipend is $743.

The test was administered by Darrell A. Malone, guidance counselor.

POLITICS AND PROSPERITY"

Over ten months, $260,000, testimony from over 160 expert witnesses and the preparation of 23 study papers by outside consultants, the Democratic majority of the Joint Economic Committee concluded in a just-published report to the United States, in the past six years "has failed to realize" a high and stable rate of employment, growth in the national output and productive capacity, and stability in the general level of prices.

There are so many half-truths, misinterpretations and basic economic fallacies in the Majority report that as a minority member of the Joint Economic Committee, I felt it imperative to rebut and refute its findings in a 41-page individual opinion.

In the field of employment, there are six million more people employed today than there were back in 1952. Second, in the field of national production, the country's income has increased $106.5 billion in the past seven years. Third, in the field of prices, the consumer price index has risen only 11 percent in the past seven years as contrasted with the 43 percent rise during the seven years of the Truman Administration. If all this be "failure," the American people, it would seem, have made the most of it to their advantage and benefit.

Furthermore, the report neglects certain very important economic yardsticks. For instance, per capita disposable income, that is, income after taxes and in constant dollars rose from $1,529 in 1952 to $1,891 in 1959, an increase of 24.4 percent which is more than 3 percent compounded annually, a higher rate of growth than was previously accepted as normal in President Truman's 1950 Economic Report. Time and again, the Majority bewails the sluggish performance of the last seven years, a performance that was not dreamed of as possible under the previous Democratic Administration.

The Majority report is also guilty of limiting its analysis to the last six years when the Committee was directed by resolution to conduct an "historical" study of unemployment, production and prices. Contrary to the implication of the partisan authors of the Majority's report, America's economic history did not begin in 1951.

There are many more facts and figures which could be cited, but the several mentioned have demonstrated, I believe, that the Democratic majority of the Joint Economic Committee selected politics rather than prosperity as its main theme and struck almost nothing but false notes.

Approves Purchase Of Material For Schools of County

Approval of a list of instructional materials for a number of schools of the county was given at a meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday. The list includes additional textbooks, maps, globes and other aids in the amount of approximately $5,000.

Several other items were approved by the board, in regular session

Requesting bids for materials needed for summer improvement

Awarding contract for new automobile to low bidder, Sharps Motor company. Other bids were submitted by Casselman Motor, Teets Garage, Ralph Pritts and Sons, Shafer Ford.

Purchase of curtains for Southern High cafeteria to replace worn out shades, and purchase of blackout curtains for several Southern High classrooms; purchase of new camera for use of office staff and schools of the county;

The hiring of equipment to remove snow drifts around Dennett Road and route 40 schools;

A better salary scale for full-time school custodians, effective July 1. Money for this purpose comes from the state and is tied in with the improved state salary scale for teachers, recently provided under the James Bill.

The provisions of the James Salary bill were discussed. The bill provides for $300 for all teachers in their eleventh year or more, but nothing for teachers for less than eleven Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, said all teachers would receive a county increment of $100

The salary scale established by the Board for next year will range from $3,600 for beginners to $5,700 for teachers with eleven years or more experience, plus $200 for those with a Master's degree.

Hawkins explained that while still one of the lowest scales in the state, it marked substantial increase over that paid five years ago when beginning salary was $2,500.

Anticipate Small Turnover

Survey sheets to determine the extent of teacher turnover has been sent to all teachers, Mr. Hawkins told the Board. He said no unusual turnover is anticipated but four or five teachers would retire due to age and a few married women teachers planned to leave since their husbands have accepted positions elsewhere.

Robert Martin will give up teaching in June to become full time Transportation supervisor. His position has been offered to a June graduate of Fairmont Teachers college, fully certified in industrial education.

Improvements Planned

Three improvement projects were discussed.

The route 40 school basement project has been held up due to weather conditions. The contractor, Lawrence Hardesty, is ready to start as soon as the weather is fit. The area is to be converted into a cafeteria by September, thus freeing the all-purpose room for general education use.

The natural gas tax money for schools in excess of the $75,000 collected in 1959 by the County Commissioners, is being requested to apply toward construction of a library room at Kitzmiller. The amount collected was $5,595.38. The project has the approval of the State Superintendent of Schools, as required by law.

Approval of a request to add an additional classroom to the Red House school by the County Commissioners, was expected, Mr. Hawkins said. A delegation from the Red House P-TA was scheduled to appear before the Commissioners this afternoon. The $32,000 requested for this purpose is available from the State School Construction fund and is to be repaid over a fifteen year period.

School bus inspection was postpoued due to weather conditions. The final inspection will be held when weather conditions permit.

New buses, purchased by Aaron Bittinger and Ernest Durst arrived and are ready to be placed in service.

The April meeting of the Education Council, will study school accident insurance, and discuss health and physical education for all versus athletics for the few. Purpose of the council is to study aspects of the school program.

The board decided to adhere to recommendations of the architects in regard to replacing floor in Northern High school gymnasium this summer.

Readers Identify Additional Players

The picture published two weeks ago of a Crellin baseball team is still bringing response from readers, and thanks to several, all of the players in the foreground have been named. However, the boys on the engine in the background still present a problem.

Mrs. Edith Sadler, of Falls Church, writes:

"The picture is familiar to me I remember about the time it was taken, about 47 or 48 years ago on a Sunday in Crellin.

"The boys on the engine I cannot identify except the boy in the white blouse is Bob Spedden son of Ed Spedden and brother of Edward T. Spedden and Mary Spedden Friend. The boys standing on the engine, I believe, are Carlton Dent and Edmund Dent and Ray Sanders. I always enjoy the old pictures you publish from time to time."

Writing from Hagerstown, Mrs. Anna M. Witter agrees with the identification of the players, and adds of the boys

"In the cab of the engine door is my brother, William Wilburn, and the boy standing at the left of the cab window is my brother, Carl Wilburn. This picture was taken in 1926, and I remember when it was taken 10 years ago."

Also supplying identification was Mrs. Rachel Sue Evans, a daughter of Dorsey Ashby, who said two of the boys on the engine were Ray Sanders and Jim Trichler. She put the date at 1913 or 1914.

The Picture Today

Older residents of the Friendsville section might find today's photo of more than passing interest. The picture was taken about 1909 and shows a logging operation of the Kendall Lumber Company, one of several large timbering concerns which did a thriving business until fairly recent years.

The Friendsville area experienced probably its biggest "boom" before and just after the turn of the century, with much activity in the timber business and the construction of the Confluence and Oakland Railroad, which arrived in the town on the Yough in 1889. Plans for its extension to Oakland, to connect the Confluence and Oakland terminals of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, however, did not materialize and the road was abandoned and its tracks removed a number of years ago.

Today's picture was furnished by Mrs. E. H. Dilley, of Route 1, Oakland, who identified the man on the right, with the cant hook, as Simon Myers, mill operator.

Wedemeyer Enters Congressional Race

General Albert Wedemeyer, who retired to Maryland after an active army career, on Monday filed for the Republican nomination to Congress, from the state's 6th district.

The retired four-star general, commander of American forces in China during World War II, was among four candidates who had entered the GOP race from Western Maryland district before Monday night's filing deadline. He lives on a farm near Boyds, Montgomery county.

Rep. John R. Foley, Democrat, of Kensington, now holds the seat and is a candidate for re-nomination. Opposing him in the May 17 primary will be Claude A. Taylor, Chevy Chase.

Wedemeyer's opponents include Charles Mathias, Republican member of the House of Delegates from Frederick county; James A. Buchanan IV, of Rockville; and R. Byng Duvall, Montgomery county.

Gen. Wedemeyer took over command of American forces in China in 1944, relieving Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell. He was the youngest theater commander of U. S. armed forces, being 18 at the time. In 1947 he made a survey of China for President Truman and his report urging large military and economic aid for the Nationalists was suppressed for two years.

Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat, also filed against Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat for the state's 24 votes for a presidential candidate at the Democratic National convention. Lar Daly, of Chicago, also filed for the Democratic presidential race. There was no Republican candidate to enter the preferential primary.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there! nothing like snow to post plans. Last week I told you was going to Pittsburgh to hear and sign some talent. Well, by gosh, I did and I am really glad that I did. I have never, (and I don't use the term loosely) heard a better singing group for the years of the Marvells. They have a style comparable (amazingly so) to a group that I thought no one could touch, and they are the Platers. The Marvells are wonderfully similar in style and harmony, they really have a sound and a beat.

The Marvells all hail from Pittsburgh and have been singing together for about six months. And to this I might add that only six months seems highly impossible once you hear them.

The group is composed of five boys and a girl, all with more than the usual mere smattering of talent that usually composes a singing group. They are accompanied by one very talented guitarist, and the complete harmony of the group, this is all the accompaniment necessary.

The Marvells are not yet under contract but I don't think it will be long before they are. This is the first appearance for the Marvells outside of Pittsburgh where they are well received.

I also received definite word that Billy Rice of Onda Records would be with us. He will do his "Foolish Love," which is the theme song for W E A M, the longest and most popular rock'n roll radio station in the Washington area. His agent also told me that he may be able to sing his latest for you. Billy Rice is one of the most popular singers in the south and has appeared all over the south east.

I had the pleasure of having heard his soon to be released platter before it was cut for the master. It really has something.

Bob Oliverio will also contribute to our gala entertainment Bob, a former resident, will do a few numbers that have been the favorites of many record hops and dances where he performed. One of the highlights will be when Bob does "One Night, One Night", the former Skyliner hit, backed up by the Marvells.

Remember, this is for our big King and Queen Hop to be held March 25th, at the armory. I'm sure that no one will want to miss this highlight of the special year.

I would really like to see the whole community turn out for this entertainment and to applaud our King, Queen and best athlete. All parents should want to attend whether or not your son or daughter is one of the nominees for an award.

It would be swell if all the college kids could manage to get home for this affair. I really think it will be worth it. Also, I wouldn't want anyone from anywhere teenagers in the county to miss the chance to see these future stars perform. I am very proud of the way things are falling into place without too much trimble.

Tomorrow night, someone will call from Cumberland the minute the game is over and tell us the score. So y'all come. We'll have a good hop and a fine time. There will be a couple of car loads from Northern and I would like to see many more. Remember, 8:00 P. M. in the Armory.

Voting for our King and Queen will start tomorrow evening. See you then.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness following the death of our beloved husband and father, the late Harold D. Friend.

We want to thank Rev. Hiram Short and the choir and all who sent cards and flowers. We also wish to extend our appreciation to the County Roads department for its prompt and excellent service in keeping the roads open during the severe snow storm.

4-H Leader Termed Typical of Workers

Along with the observance of national 4-H Week, assistant extension agents in the county have named Miss Ivadine Matthews of Underwood as the person who best lives up to the 4-H theme for 1960. Miss Matthews has been a local leader of 4-H club work for eight years.

"Learn, Live, Serve through 4-H" is the theme of the Week which exemplifies the role of Miss Matthews in county 4-H work, according to Mrs. Johanna Stull, assistant home demonstration agent.

A former 4-H member who saw the value in club work and the need in her community for a youth organization, Miss Matthews organized the Underwood Girls club in 1958. During May of 1959 she assisted with the organizational meetings of the Underwood Boys, or Co-Oriole club.

During her eight years as an Underwood club member she carried clothing, foods, canning, poultry, dairy and gardening projects. She attended 4-H camp, 4-H club week and was a dining hall girl at Homemakers' Short course for two years. Clothing, canning and baked products were exhibited at the County rally days and project shows. Miss Matthews was a member of the county dairy judging team in 1950. She held the offices of president and secretary in her local club and also served on various committees.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews she has lived in the Underwood area all her life. In addition to serving as a 4-H leader she is counselor of the Swallow Fall CBYF.

As a 4-H leader she assists local members with project work, guides club activities, assists with county 4-H activities such as campfires, camps, fair and leader training meetings. The major joint club project at present is the renovation of the Sunnyside Grange hall as a 4-H meeting place.

Mrs. Stull declared that Miss Matthews in practicing the 4-H pledge in her everyday life by pledging her head to clearer thinking, heart to greater loyalty, hands to larger service and health to better living is helping build 4-H youth work in this county.

Did you ever notice that small children talk about God with a faith so simple, so beautiful that you cannot question its sincerity? Ask them why they like the rain, for instance, and they may answer, "Because God made it, so the flowers will grow."

Unlike grown-ups, children accept God's order without a doubt. They believe in his love for them as naturally as they get up with the daylight and go to bed with the dark.

In God's eyes, we are all children . . . His children. And what we adults have lost in the way of vision, in the way of faith, must be renewed and replenished with each day and advancing year. We, too, can find God again—and, often, ourselves as well—by going to church, by praying, and by accepting the love He stands so ready to give us.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Acts 24 through 26.
Devotional Reading: Matthew 10:16-25.

A Day In Court

Lesson for March 13, 1960

WHEN a prisoner appears in court heavily handcuffed and with a chain attached to him, it is a sign he is known as an escape artist. Maybe his nickname is Slippery Sam. Now Saint Paul was no Slippery Sam, but he was forced to wear chains all the same. Furthermore, he was accused chiefly of being a rabble-rouser. Even a real rabble-rouser doesn't like to be called that; and Paul was anything else but that. Yet there he was in court, first before Governor Felix, later on before Governor Festus and King Agrippa. The charges were flimsy, but the chains were solid.

Dr. Foreman

What could Paul do about it? Two things he would not do. He would not complain that he was there at all. He could have kept his mouth stubbornly shut, he could have said that an Apostle cannot rightfully be tried by a civil court. On the contrary, he recognized the legal right of the court to pass judgment on his case. Again, he could have "fixed" the court. We know that Governor Felix hoped for a bribe. Paul had wealthy friends and they could have arranged it. But Paul did not do that.

The Church In Court

Paul's situation may cast some light on the relation between the Christian church and the civil courts, or the civil government in general, in our day. This is a very tricky subject and the churches which we will be studying this lesson are not all agreed on the solution. But we can venture a few general thoughts. The church certainly can rule out what Paul ruled out. The church has no right to say, "The civil courts and the civil government have no jurisdiction over the Church of God." If any body of people anywhere has a high duty to comply with law and to submit to proper authorities, it is the church. Of course the church's beliefs, and its mode of operation, the appointment of its ministers, are its own affairs.

If the church must refuse temptations to stand outside the law, it must also be scrupulous not to influence law and law-makers by illegal means. This goes all the way from preachers who try to get their traffic-violation tickets "fixed", up to a great church that tries to get illegal tax reductions or exemptions.

What then can the church do? If it should not stay aloof from law and government, and if it cannot try to please the Felixes around the capital with bribes, direct or indirect, what can the Christian church do as it confronts the evil state?

Again it might take a leaf from Paul. He did try to influence the court; but it was open and aboveboard. He put his case truthfully, quietly, but persuasively. In all these trials the court was prejudiced against him at the start; but he always won a verdict of Not Guilty. What he had on his side were facts, and he presented those facts so that even skeptical judges were convinced.

Getting the Christian Case Heard

Here is something the church can do, or several things all combined. First, the Christian church needs to have, more than it sometimes does have, a clear understanding of what "Christian social ethics" means and is; that is to say, the church ought to have a clear and clearer understanding of what the Christian faith implies for social, business, educational and all other realms of life in modern society. Second, the church should be more aware than it is, of the moral side of proposed legislation; which is to say in simpler words,—the church should always be alert to ask, What is this law, this situation, going to do to people? The church that is not interested in persons and what affects them, is a long way removed from its Master. And third, the church, through as many of its members as are really interested, should keep governors, congressmen, senators, mayors and official boards aware of the Christian viewpoint. Like Paul, the church needs to state the Christian position, to persuade by the highest method—the presentation of the truth.

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE MEMPHIS BLUES

By George Peck

EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.

Remember the Dixon-Yates fiasco? If so you will recall that it was a project sponsored by two Southern investor-owned public utilities; and that it was headed by Edgar Dixon of the one company and Eugene Yates of the other (from which two parties it drew its name). It was designed to take care of the expanding power needs of the Tennessee Valley Authority, without calling for the expenditure of further tax-money.

After a bitter squabble on Capitol Hill between the put-the-government-in-business zealots and the proponents to private enterprise power, Dixon-Yates lost its contract with the United States Government. The pretext used in an attempt to justify this contract cancellation was "conflict of interest" arising from the fact that the government consultant in drawing up the contract, was also a vice-president of Dixon-Yates' financing agent, the First Boston Corp.

But the U. S. Court of Claims ruled in July of 1959 that Uncle Sam really broke the contract, because he no longer needed privately-produced power. The city of Memphis upset the apple-cart in 1955 by deciding to build its own power plant which would help ease the TVA shortage of power. The court awarded Dixon-Yates the sum of $1.9 million.

That would seem to have ended the controversy, but Memphis completed its power plant and only got it into operation in the summer of 1959. Already the good citizens of Memphis have learned that they made a sad mistake in messing into the power business. They regret having spent $163 million to build their municipal plant.

Why? Well, here's the pitch. Memphis has found that its TVA-scaled rates are too low to meet the costs of producing the power. This is, in spite of the fact, that Memphis pays no federal income tax, which amounts to 13 cents out of the power dollar which investor-owned companies throughout the nation are forced to pay.

And so customers of the socialistic, municipal power plant in Memphis, Tenn., have seen their power bills increased—11 percent for industrial consumers and 39 percent for residential users. This rate increase was necessary to prevent the city-owned plant going $6,800,000 into the red in 1960.

What Memphis overlooked was a most important fact that the glib proponents of public power failed to divulge. Memphis, unlike TVA which pays no federal taxes, no interest on bonds, in fact, pays nothing had to sell $163 million worth of bonds to build her generating plants and has to pay from four to five percent interest on those bonds.

The famous, or rather we should say, infamous highly-touted TVA "yard-stick" has once again proven to be a dud. The Crossett (Ark.) News-Observer, in its January 14, 1960 issue had this to say on this particular point:

"One thing at least the Memphis experience and the Dixon-Yates fiasco have made crystal clear. That vaunted TVA yardstick is no yardstick at all. In omitting the measurement of federal taxes and the cost of using other people's capital, it is more of a foot-rule for the use of politicians in cracking knuckles, or perhaps a sorcerer's wand that we can hope may be running out of magic."

Once again the proponents of private enterprise have been proven to be right in their contention that rates of such socialistic projects as TVA are unrealistic and that these rates are low only because losses are made up by millions of dollars furnished by sorely-burdened taxpayers across the nation.

But there's a ray of sunshine for the rest of the nation in this dark Memphis picture. Memphis has learned by bitter experience that someone has to make up the deficits when power is sold below cost. But this time it is the disillusioned citizens of Memphis who are taking it "on the chin," instead of the taxpayers of the entire nation being called upon to make up the deficit. That's just too bad for Memphis, but it's just dandy for the rest of us.

At any rate the whole nation has been watching these developments at Memphis. The implications of this discovery by the City Fathers of this Tennessee City that power cannot be sold below cost, affect every public power project. The perennial question of favored tax position, interest rates, fiscal policy and TVA's methods of allocating funds for power activities, re-examined in the light of this electric rate hike at Memphis.

Who knows but that Memphis will steal TVA's thunder by itself becoming a YARDSTICK?

Unemployment in Maryland last fiscal year averaged 74,500 or 6.8 percent of the labor force.

An atomic clock has been perfected. It will lose one second in 1,000 years.

H. R. 1805, my Antietam Battlefield Bill, on February 15th unanimously passed the House of Representatives. On February 26th, the Senate Public Lands Subcommittee reported the Antietam Bill favorably without hearings. It is expected that the full Senate Interior Committee will act favorably by mid-March and the bill will pass the Senate by early April.

We now await a breakthrough on my C & O Canal Bill. On February 24th hearings were held by the House Rules Committee. Judge Howard Smith (D-Va.), Chairman of that Committee said that my bill will receive a rule the week of March 7th and go to the floor of the House shortly after for debate.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen John Marshall Butler

"WHAT MAKES TV RUN?

While there is no denying that such reprehensible practices as quiz fixes and record payola have been uncovered in broadcasting, viewers and listeners may take heart in the speedy police job done by many radio-television stations. Of particular interest to Marylanders is the fact that to date not one Maryland station has been the subject of criticism. Indeed, the record of the Free State's four TV stations, WMAR-TV, WBAL-TV, and WJZ-TV, all in Baltimore, and WBOC-TV in Salisbury, is one that any channel in the country might well emulate.

But serious imperfections do exist in television. The public should concern itself not only with "criminal" practices but with programming practices, particularly children's programs. American children, on the average, watch TV 21 hours a week, making network policy in this area every parent's concern and business. And even a casual examination persuades a viewer that too great a measure of television for child and adult is commonplace with occasional dollops of excellence to placate the ravenous reviewer.

The excuse given by the New York-based networks for this failure to "reach for the stars" is twoheaded: One, that the American public is not intelligent enough for better programming; and two, that the advertisers who pay for programs are concerned with sponsor identification rather than content. Both statements are based on what Madison Avenue prefers to believe rather than what it should believe.

First, as to intelligence, there is little dispute that viewers are becoming increasingly disenchanted with the planned mediocrity of TV. In addition, the renaissance of the movies, the resurgence of radio, the many new literary publications and endeavors, all suggest that Americans do not feel compelled to watch television. As for the necessity of dinning the name of the product into the viewer's consciousness, a poll has revealed that one out of five viewers could not identify the sponsor of GE Theater while one out of three could not name the sponsor of Alcoa Presents.

Basically, if more money were spent on what a show says rather than how it says it, more programs would enjoy better critic-viewers response. The broadcasting industry, having begun to purge itself of fixes and payola, should also apply the same integrity to its programming. Profits and prestige await sponsors all over America if they and the TV networks realize that contents, not commercials, make TV run.

Washington to Hawaii radio signals were sent by way of the moon by U. S. Navy. Distance was 480,000 miles, reaching completion in 2½ seconds.

Gauges showed that Bathyscaph reached bottom in Pacific at about 35,800 feet, 2000 less than first reported.

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Oh So Charitable Mr. K

News was made last week when, after 15 years, a mother was reunited with her husband and two sons through the intercession of that great humanitarian, Nikita S. Khrushchev. Mrs. John Danyluk of Landover Knolls, Md., stepped off a plane in New York into the arms of her family after efforts since 1945 to bring her to the United States were successfully capped by a letter to Mr. K. The letter was delivered by the Iowa farmer-millionaire, Roswell Garst, to the Soviet Premier when he toured Mr. Garst's farm last fall during his visit to the United States.

While an initial reaction might be, My, isn't that wonderful for Mrs. Danyluk and her family, which it most surely is, reflection uncovers the cruel and callous hypocrisy of Khrushchev, who will permit one woman her freedom, because it will make a warm little story, while he condones the slavery of millions of people who live in what are so rightly called "the captive nations." This most inhuman of stories he either ignores or distorts for propaganda purposes.

For example, in 1956 Khrushchev blamed "capitalist" intervention for the Hungarian Revolution and ordered Russian troops and tanks into Budapest to annihilate the Freedom Fighters. But in 1959, he asserted that the "external forces of imperialism do not constitute any danger to the Socialist camp today . . . Our strength is greater than theirs. Our armaments are better than those of the imperialists." If all this is so, why doesn't Mr. K withdraw his troops from Hungary, Poland, Lithuania and the other nations? Why doesn't he allow the Communist Party of Hungary, which he declares to have won "the profound confidence and affection of the Hungarian people," to govern without the presence of Soviet forces? Why doesn't Mr. K stop rattling his atomic bombs and hydrogen warheads? It is quite simple why he does not: Because Communism can only exist in an atmosphere of oppression, fear and hatred.

Mrs. Danyluk came home last week, and we sincerely welcome her after so many empty, sorrowful years. But how much better for the world if Mrs. Danyluk's reunion were not so unique a story that it merited attention. And, it must be concluded realistically that Khruschev pays only lip service to humanity, while he cynically exploits human hopes and dreams.

Sermon Explains Sin - Justification

This is the third of a series of sermons on [illegible] by the Lutheran churches of the Mt. Top area.

SIN AND JUSTIFICATION
The Rev. William E. Carlson
St. Paul's Lutheran Church
Accident, Md.

The sick man as he enters the doctor's office is sure of his ailments—fever, pain and discomfort. However, it doesn't take the doctor long to discover that his troubles come from a common cause: an infection deep within the body. Fever, aches and pains are symptoms of his real illness.

The sinful man in his remorse is sure of his sins—theft, adultery, covetousness or some other act of sin. But, God knows that this sinful behaviour is but the symptom of an infection deep within the soul of man.

What is sin? Too many people fool themselves by thinking of sin in terms of criminal and civil laws. But, sin is a religous concept. It is not a term to be used in court or in relation to criminal justice. In these areas it is a question of crime and the transgression of law. All sin is sin against God. The Psalmist put it this way, "Against thee, thee only have I sinned." (Ps. 51:4.)

In order to understand the full seriousness of sin, we must first realize that in Christianity, faith is a fundamental relationship of fellowship with God. In faith, an individual is subdued and dominated by the love of God. God's will is supreme. This is the only right life in a Christian sense.

We can approach the problem of sin from a number of different directions, but we will arrive at the same basic answer. If faith is fellowship with God, sin is anything that destroys that fellowshp and causes a separation between God and man.

In the beginning God created man perfect and yet with the freedom of choice between good and evil. Man forgot his Creator and made a wrong choice. He put his own desire and will before the will of God. This is sin.

We can put this in another way. The first commandment is, "I am the Lord thy God, thou shalt have no other gods before me." In this commandment God made it clear to man that his highest allegiance must be to his Creator, the one true God. When a person thinks more highly of himself than he does of God, or, when he gives his first allegiance to anyone or anything other than God, he breaks his fellowship with God. This is sin.

The Ten Commandments are condensed in both the Old and New Testaments into the commandments of love. "The Lord our God, the Lord is one, and you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength . . . you shall love your neighbor as yourself." (Mk. 12:29-31.) In other words, God's love must dominate me, my life, and all my relationships with others. If this divine love does not control me, or if my love is on a lowel level, I am not living in the way in which my Creator planned or willed for me to live. This is sin.

From this sin, from this infection of the soul, come all of the sinful thoughts, words, and deeds which plague all of mankind.

Can anyone claim to be free from sin? The answer is clear when one carefully and seriously examines his day-to-day relationship with God. You and I, we are all sinners. By divided allegiances, self love, and wilfulness we have continually broken our fellowship with God.

The words of Paul should shock us and bring us to our knees in repentance. "The wages of sin is death." (Rm. 6:23.)

What can we do? Certainly we cannot save ourselves. The Apostle Paul as he wrested with his own sin found this answer. "For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not of your own doing, it is the gift of God." (Eph. 2:8.) "Therefore, since we are justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." (Rm. 5:1.)

The great battles which have been fought around these verses must certainly have saddened God's heart. In its deepest sense Justification means "forgiveness of sins." In simple terms, "Justification is the act of God by which, for the sake of the sufferings, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, He graciously and freely forgives the sinner who believes in Christ as his personal Saviour. For Christ's sake, God forgives all the sins of the believer and treats him as a righteous person. Fellowship with God is restored through Christ.

The Parable of the Prodigal Son is Christ's illustration of this renewed fellowship. When his lost son returns home in repentance, the father receives him with open arms and treats him as though he had never left home.

One of the most familiar passages of Scripture is John 3:16. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life." This is God's constant offer of forgiveness.

God loves each one of us so perfectly that if we accept Christ as our personal Saviour He will freely forgive us our sins, and accept us as His own—as co-heirs with Christ of the treasures of eternal life.

WEEKLY SERMON

PROOF From the Bible

"Oh you can prove anything from the Bible" said one man to another. "You can twist it, and arrange it so that it says what you want it to say." I suppose that is partly correct since we have many who handle God's Word deceitfully. They might be compared to crooked lawyers who make the law say some things that it doesn't say. However, an honest handling of the Word will lead you to the answer to many of your questions. You see the Bible was written under the supervision and control of the Holy Spirit. It is meant to be God's revelation of Himself, of His will, and many facts of interest to man. The Bible never contradicts itself, though at first it might seem so in some translations. The Bible is meant to be our text book on Truth. It is regrettable that few people have taken the time to learn how to use their Bible. There are laws which govern the understanding of the Bible, without which it remains very much a sealed book. Choosing a Church where the preacher not only reads the Bible but teaches from the Bible is the first step. Many fine courses are available from sound fundamental schools for those who desire to learn how to use their Bibles.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my late husband, Evangelist Elmer D. Ayres, who passed away March 13, 1958, in Beaumont, Texas.

My Spikenard
By Carrie Judd Montgomery

I had a tiny box, a precious box
Of human love—my spikenard of great price;
I kept it close within my heart of hearts
And scarce would lift the lid lest it should waste
Its perfume on the air. One day a strange
Deep sorrow came with crushing weight, and fell
Upon my cost'ly treasure, sweet and rare,
And brake the box to atoms. All my heart
Rose in dismay and sorrow at this waste;
But as I mourned—behold a miracle
Of grace divine. My human love was changed
To Heaven's own, and poured in its healing streams
On other broken hearts, while soft and clear
A voice above me whispered, "Child of Mine,
With comfort wherewith thou are comforted,
From this time forth, go comfort others,
And thou shalt know blest fellowship with me,
Whose broken heart of love hath healed the world."

Announcement!

I am again submitting my name to the voters of Oakland as a candidate for another two year term as Mayor. I am taking this action as I am honestly interested in bringing to a successful conclusion the following projects, already initiated and in which projects I feel the great majority of our citizens are vitally interested:

1—We must assure ourselves for our present day living, fire protection and future growth, an adequate supply of good water.

2—We must make sure that the floods which have occurred in the past and the threat of future floods to the town are forever removed by bringing to a successful conclusion the Flood Control Project known as the Little Youghiogheny Watershed Project. This project has now reached the vital stage where immediate action is required and necessary.

3—There are still many questions to be resolved with the State Roads Commission and the Contractor on additional work to be done along Oak Street and the streets leading to and from this highway before the residents and property owners affected are properly protected.

I have no personal "axe" to grind. During my two terms as Mayor I have not received nor will I in the future expect or ask for any special favors because of my holding the office of Mayor. I am interested only in a financially sound and progressive town with more job opportunities for our citizens.

If you feel my four year record as Mayor warrants another two year term, I most respectfully ask your vote and cooperation.

Sincerely,
RUSSELL L. SMITH

Security A "Right"? - - - -

Those "liberals" in the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) declare that, along with the rights of free speech, free press, freedom of worship, etc., every citizen has the "right" to public protection from personal catastrophe resulting from disability, sickness, unemployment, and old age. For good measure, they now add proper housing. They mean, of course, that if I can't take care of these needs myself, you should be required to help—"from each according to ability, to each according to need."

Usually sounds fair enough, but suppose that, along with me, a million others decide to climb aboard the same gravy train? You keep working and paying taxes, and if I and my fellow sufferers enjoy a free ride, we are only claiming our "rights," aren't we?

But after a while, you get tired of paying for "protection" of our "rights," and decide to get on the gravy train, too. Why shouldn't you? Don't you have the same "rights?" Just conveniently get sick, grow old, decide not to work, and move into a "substandard" house!

And so, finally, everybody gets on the gravy train. And who will pay the bill? Why, the "liberals," I suppose. Aren't they the ones who insist we all have the "right" to this cradle-to-grave security?

Or do they mean we should be "liberal" only so long as other people still have money to be liberal with?

So many of our laws and policies these days are tarred from the same stick of the "liberals." And there are those who would like to get in high up places in government and start a spending spree with YOUR money, the likes of which we have never seen.

There has to be an end, or we'll have a completely socialistic government, even though we may call it by another name.

Freak Snow Storm Maroons Pupils; Closes Schools

A freak snow storm striking from the east with fury seldom experienced, stranded some 225 students at Northern High school and 70 students at the Accident Elementary school last evening.

The storm completely closed U. S. route 219, from the Cove to Keyser Ridge and route 495, from Bittinger to Grantsville, and made hazardous driving conditions in other areas. County roads remained completely open until after the school buses were scheduled to complete their trips and then the county roads crews were kept busy for several hours keeping them open to traffic. Some roads were one-way.

The students became stranded because the school buses couldn't get through to take them to their homes. Other schools were dismissed at 1:30 when it was learned that the storm was acting in a most unusual manner.

Paul Mnha, principal at Northern, described the students as "comfortable, warm, well fed and in good spirits." The students at Accident spent the night in private homes. The Northern students all lived in the Grantsville area and couldn't make it through the two mile stretch from the Cove to the Ridge. Bus drivers had left all but one bus at the school yesterday morning and had used the one remaining to ride home. When they tried to return to school they found the road blocked.

They hiked a mile and a half through drifts before finding a stranded motorist who turned around and took them to the school. They arrived about 5:30. There were 31 teachers and cafeteria workers stranded with the students.

They organized for an overnight siege. Pupils played games, danced, saw a movie in the school cafeteria. Ten girls went to the home economics room to sew. Other groups tumbled or wrestled in the gymnasium. All were assigned to small groups of about 20 with a teacher in charge of the group.

After dinner in the cafeteria they pitched their beds on classroom floors and spent the night. Girls used first floor classrooms, boys were on the second floor. All students returned to their homes

Grand Jury Ends Labor; 4 Indicted

Investigating Body Questions 15 Witnesses; Makes Many Recommendations

Two indictments for statutory rape, one for breaking and entering and one for bastardy constituted the indictments returned by the March Term grand jury, following a two-day deliberation.

The report of the grand jurors signified that they had 15 witnesses before them and found indictments in four cases. They also reported one instance where no indictment was returned.

Dayton Albert Pritts and Edmund J. Bittinger are the two charged with statutory rape. They are free on bond. The individual charged with bastardy has not yet been apprehended.

The fourth indictment is against James Edward Crowe, for breaking and entering and larceny. Crowe was arrested on a charge of breaking into the Mt. Top Esso station owned by Robert Watkins and Harold L. Miller, in June of 1959. Sheriff James F. Frantz said that Crowe, who was tried in Allegany county last week on similar charges, received a five-year sentence in the penitentiary.

Make Recommendations

The jurors, prior to their dismissal, made a number of recommendations. In addition to various suggestions about improving the appearance of the court house and jail they asked the County Commissioners to consider storing the voting machines some other place besides the basement of the court house, to consider installation of a self-service elevator in the Court House and asked investigation into the court house as a fire hazard. They suggested possibility of fire escapes and an outside entrance to the basement.

They commended the County Roads department for snow removal work during recent storms.

They also said present salary scales were insufficient and recommended increase in salary for the State's Attorney, for the cook at the jail and also asked for legislation that would authorize the appointment of two deputies for

Two Are Sentenced

Two persons, Paul Edgar Wilhelm and Arnold Wilson Miller, were tried before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley Friday and Monday on charges of breaking and entering and larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Both entered pleas of guilty. Wilhelm, tried last Friday, was sentenced to serve 18 months in the House of Correction on the first count of the indictment.

Miller was tried Monday and sentenced to serve two years in the Maryland House of Correction but the sentence was suspended for a period of two years and he was placed n charge of the parole officer. He was ordered to abide by the rules of the parole officer and to dispose of his automobile.

The charges arose out of a breaking and entering of the Davies Service Center, operated by John Edward Davies, at the intersection of U. S. 219 with U. S. 40, east of Grantsville. The pair were arrested on January 29, and had been under bond for their appearance.

Lumber Industry Plan Is Outlined At Local Meeting

Details of the plan which would bring a half million dollar industry to Oakland were outlined at a dinner meeting of some 35 business men at the William-James hotel last evening.

Backing the plan was the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce which is endeavoring to organize a trust to raise $40,000, in the hopes that loans in the amount of $50,000 can be arranged through banks, to complete the raising of the amount of money desired.

The Harco Lumber company, recently organized, has advised of its intention to come into the community on a small scale regardless of the response to the money-raising plan, but that expansion would depend on the extent of the subscription for stock, and success of the amount desired would speed expansion.

Frank Peters, president of the Chamber of Commerce, traced the history of the company and its arrival into the community and told of the negotiations that had been held prior to the announcement in the newspaper in the middle of February.

Northern Huskies' Win Puts Them In State Court Finals

Patton And Lowry Big Reasons For Upset Of Hancock 68 To 53, But Entire Team Plays Inspired Ball

Northern High School's Huskies put Garrett County in the State tournament for the first time in history by upsetting a favored Hancock High school quint by the score of 68 to 53 in the Class B. final held last Saturday evening in the Allegany High school gymnasium.

Coach Alvin Jones' team will play Surrattsville in the state class B. semi-final on Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

The Northern Huskies were sparked in their offense by George Patton and Jim Lowry. They had a large delegation of both Northern and Southern High fans cheering them on. The Huskies broke out of a 27-27 halftime deadlock with a display of shooting power that belied their lowly 4-12 season record. A 23-point barrage in the third quarter inspired the pepped-up team and the game could have ended right there as Hancock was no longer in it.

Here is George Patton, high-scoring center for the Northern High Huskies, who will attempt to add 25 or 30 points more to his total in a state semi-finals match tomorrow evening at College Park.

Hancock which got the finals of the district event with an upset victory over the Bruce Bulldogs from Westernport, started out as if it was going to be a red-hot tournament club. The Panthers shot like a bunch of demons in the first quarter, making ten of 14 tries from the field, and held a 20-15 advantage when the stanza drew to a close.

The Huskies, in spite of this phenomenal shooting, featured by the bullseye gunning of Ray Keefer, were not outclassed. They trailed by nine points late in the period but Patton and Lowry closed the gap to five, the former canning a pair of free throws and the latter connecting from the floor.

The Northern - Surrattsville game will be re-broadcast from radio station WKYR, Keyser, on Saturday morning at 7:45, it was announced this week. If Northern wins, the finals will be re-broadcast Sunday morning at the same time.

Northern got the lead on Bud Long's jumper, first shot of the game, but Kenny Shives bit on a long one for Hancock and the Washington County Panthers rode the top from that pont until Dick McCurdy dropped in a pair of penalty pitches shortly after the second quarter started to give Northern a 21-20 lead. The figures were locked three times in this period. Patton pushed the Huskies to the fore with 50 seconds to go but Kenny Shives ripped in a desperation shot from mid-court as the buzzer sounded the end of the first half to make it 27-all.

When the third quarter opened, Patton, a 6-3½ junior who tips the scales at 195 pounds, sank a free throw to break the tie and Northern was never headed after that. Jim McKenzie and Lowry each bombed the baskets for three buckets in as many tries to feature the onslaught. When the period ended Northern was leading by 11 points. In addition to their accurate firing, the Huskies also dominated the banking board play, hauling in 14 rebounds to only four for the Panthers.

Any hopes entertained by the Hancock team of pulling the game out of the fire went down the drain early in the fourth period with Lowry, Patton and McCurdy supplying the offensive punch. The Huskies reeled off 13 straight points before Keefer finally broke the ice. By that time the Panthers' tongues were out and their chances were out the window.

Patton was the game's top bomber with 23 points on nine baskets, most of them from close range. Both he and Lowry battled relent-

"But Can It Be Found In The Bible?"

People often indignantly demand that Catholics prove their teaching from the Bible.

The Bible is their "rule of faith" ...and they argue that every man has the right and ability to discover for himself, by his interpretation of the Bible, what he must believe and do in order to be saved.

We do not question the sincerity of these people and we applaud all who strive earnestly to understand and observe the Scriptures. But—are they right in calling the Bible, privately interpreted, the sole source of Christian teaching?

Hold the teachings that you have learned,' wrote St. Paul, "whether by word or by letter of ours" (2 Thess. 2:15). He refers to Christian teachings, some oral, some written ...and demands that all be received.

Christianity did not begin with the Bible. It began with the coming of Christ. The Lord instructed His Apostles to "go forth ...teach all nations"—and to insure that His truths would always be maintained, Christ established His Church, "...the pillar and mainstay of the truth" (1 Timothy 3:15).

The last part of the Bible ... written by St. John ... was not completed until 60 years after the Crucifixion of Christ. There was no Bible in anything resembling its present form until nearly 400 years after Jesus had died on the Cross. And the widespread distribution of the Bible as we know it today was impossible until the invention of printing, some 1400 years after the Savior's death.

By what 'rule of faith' did the millions of Christians live during those 1500 years?

The answer is, of course, that the teaching of the Church was the rule of faith for the Christian world. And St. Paul reminds us that Christianity consists of "one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism" (Eph. 4:5). "God is a God of peace, not of disorder," St. Paul said further (1 Cor. 14:33).

Yet today we have nearly 300 different religious denominations, all calling themselves Christian ...all professing the Bible as their rule of faith...and all differing to some extent or another in their understanding of what the Bible means. Could Christ have left a "rule of faith' that would permit such confusion? Would He have left the interpretation of His Word to the fallible and changing judgments of men—when our very souls depend on a correct understanding and observance of the things Christ has taught us?

Because it certainly does matter what a man believes, we invite you to examine the rule of faith of the first Christians—a rule that is still maintained by the Catholic Church. Because the Bible is God's Word, and because He gave it to us for a purpose, we invite you to see what this purpose is. An interesting pamphlet on the correct use of the Bible, will be sent to you free, in a plain wrapper. And nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-13.

Grand Jury

Clerk of the Circuit Office, The State Attorney and costs $2,900.00.

George F. Stuck served as foreman of the grand jury. Helen T. Baumgartner and Carlton E. Bowser served as clerks and Stanley E. Callis was door keeper.

The complete report of the jurors follows:

To The Honorable,
The Judges of The Circuit Court
For Garrett County, Maryland:

The Grand Jury for Garrett County, in session for the March Term, 1960, respectfully submits the following report:

We were in session for two days, beginning Monday, March 14th, and concluded our deliberations on Tuesday, March 15th.

We have examined 15 witnesses and have returned True Bills of Indictment in 4 cases and no True Bills of Indictment in 1 case.

In accordance with the Charge delivered to the March Term, 1960, Grand Jury, by His Honor, Judge Neil C. Fraley, and after our retirement to the Grand Jury room we organized our body with the appointments of Mrs. Helen T. Baumgartner and Mr. Carlton E. Bowser as Clerks, and Mr. Stanley E. Callis as door-keeper. We have listened attentively to the witnesses and carefully considered the evidence and have in all cases voted for presentment and indictment when felt it justified by the evidence produced.

This Grand Jury has very carefully reviewed the report of the September Term, 1959, Grand Jury and we are pleased to report that the proper officials have complied with many of the recommendations contained therein. We intend to make a number of recommendations and we are hopeful that the proper officials will also give the recommendations of our body their utmost consideration. To that end, we suggest that the next Grand Jury be given a copy of our report to determine whether our recommendations have received attention.

A committee from our body inspected the books of the County Treasurer and the Court House while the balance of the Grand Jury inspected the County Jail, Sheriff's residence, the Garrett County Memorial hospital and the Garrett County Roads garage.

Books of the County Treasurer

We found the office of the County Treasurer and his books to be in excellent condition and well kept.

Court House

Generally, we found the Court House to be in good condition and to present a pleasing appearance. However, we do find a few exceptions and wish to list them herein with the recommendation that these exceptions be given prompt attention.

1. Repair the leak in the west corner of the Grand Jury room and paint the galvanized pipe in the Jury Room.

2. The two pipes in the Bar library appear to be leaking from the ceiling, and are in need of repair. The Bar library room is in need of complete refurbishment.

3. We have made a study of the basement and the problem presented with regard to the storage of voting machines and handling of same. We do not believe the voting machines can be adequately stored in the basement (and handled) with the present existing facilities. Therefore, we recommend that the County Commissioners make a thorough study with the thought in mind to moving the voting machines elsewhere where facilities would be available to more adequately handle the storage and handling problem that exists.

4. We also suggest that the old ballot boxes be removed or destroyed.

5. The furnace and coal room be tidied and extraneous materials be removed.

6. That a survey be made for the installation of a self-service elevator in the Court House and estimates be obtained of the costs, the same to be submitted to the September Term Grand Jury for their recommendations.

7. We feel that the Court House may present a fire hazard. For that reason we recommend that the Board of County Commissioners and the State Fire Marshal make a survey of same for the purpose of determining the need of an outside entrance of the basement, the installation of fire (outside) escapes, additional fire extinguishers and overhead sprinkler system.

Sheriff's Residence and Jail

We find these buildings to be clean and that a great many improvements have been made in recent months. Yet we find that a need exists for many more improvements and we recommend the following:

1. The toilets in the jail appear to be leaking which has resulted in rusting of the steel sub-floor and ceiling of the basement. This may present a safety hazard in the near future and some measures should be taken to improve this situation.

2. The first floor and walls of the county jail, the second floor and walls of the county jail and one room of the women's quarters need a complete refurbishment. And we will make the same recommendation in regard to the sheriff's residence.

3. We renew the recommendation that steel window frames be installed in the jail.

4. The heavy wooden front door of the sheriff's residence should be replaced with workable doors.

5. We did not find an cabinet in the kitchen of the sheriff's residence nor a table for the prisoners. Cabinets should be installed as quickly as possible and we believe that a table may be purchased very reasonably from government surpluses.

6. That the roof be repaired wherever necessary.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital

We found the Garrett County Memorial hospital to be in excellent condition and to have a progressive administration program which we believe to be an asset to this county. We wish to thank Mr. Henry W. McComas and his staff for their courtesy to us during our inspection.

Garrett County Roads Department

The Garrett County Roads garage is in very good condition and the facilities are in good shape. We wish to commend the Garrett County Roads department and the employees for their efficient work in the snow removal and opening of the county roads during and following the recent snow storms.

We recommend that the Board of County Commissioners consider the feasibility of building a shed for the storage of off-season equipment.

During our deliberations we became aware of certain other conditions existing in our county which we feel deserve consideration. Since these conditions and their correction will require the attention of our State Senator and members of the House of Delegates from this county we request that they each be given a copy of this report. Our recommendations in this regard are as follows:

1. We feel the following salaries are insufficient for the duties that are performed and we recommend very strongly an increase in salary for the following officials:

a. The State's Attorney for Garrett County.

b. The cook for the county jail, substantial.

2. Also, that the law be changed to authorize the appointment of two deputies to the sheriff for Garrett County.

We desire to express to His Honor Neil C. Fraley, our thanks and appreciation for his courtesy extended us during our term.

We also wish to thank Sheriff James Frantz, Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Court; the State Police and the constables for Garrett County, Maryland, for their cooperation and assistance to us during our deliberations. It is our opinion that the law enforcement officers have performed their duties in a very commendable manner.

And we lastly wish to express our thanks to Mr. W. Dwight Stover, State's Attorney for Garrett County, for his advice and cooperation as an adviser to the Grand Jury and his able manner in conducting his affairs before us is greatly appreciated, and also we wish to thank Lester White, deputy clerk, and William O. Bitzer, bailiff, for their able assistance during our deliberations.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE F. STUCK, Foreman
Helen T. Baumgartner,
Carlton E. Bowser,
Clerks.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness following the sudden death of our husband and father, the late John T. Fike.

We also want to thank all who gave flowers and helped in any way at this time when friends mean so much.

Northern Huskies

[illegible] ready under the board, the last of them seconds for 29 points. Lonnie Parton collected 11 and Larry D. Lowry was a close second in scoring with 29 tallies. McCarty also led in the double figures, getting 11.

Keefer paced Hancock with 16 points. Four of his baskets came in the fourth quarter when Northern reserves.

Other Northern scoring came from Long 5, McKenzie 8, Unland 1. Non-scoring were Georg, Thomas, Smith Specher and Rush.

Hancock had won 16 of 20 games during the regular season but lacked the guns to cope with the inspired Huskies. The record of the Huskies was in reverse winning only four of 12 games. But the game Saturday night was the one that counted most and they played flawless ball to win.

Senior Chorus Works On "Love Pirates of Hawaii" for March 24

"Love pirates of Hawaii", a two-act comedy by Otis Carrington, will be presented by Southern High's Senior Chorus on Thursday, March 24. The musical was selected as a tribute to the newest state of the union, Hawaii.

Setting: Girls' School

The setting for the operetta calls for a girls' school for Americans and Hawaiians on the Islands. The principal of the school, portrayed by Jane Hanst, is a stern old maid by the name of Miss Primer.

Plot: Turmoil

The school is invaded by a band of pirates who help create a great deal of excitement, harassing confusion and fun. Miss Primer is found to be equal to the occasion, however, much to the admiration of the Pirate chief, Ronald Colaw.

Finally after amusing episodes, the school is rescued from the hands of the pirates by first Lieutenant, Billy Wood, (Fred Bell) of the United States Navy.

The songs and dances of the operetta are typically Hawaiian interspersed with modern American.

Admission will be seventy-five cents for adults and thirty-five for students and children.

After operatic tryout, Ron Colaw was chosen for the part of the Pirate chief; Fred Bell, Lieutenant Billy Woods; Sonny Riggs, Scary; Dorothy, Charlotte Biser; Miss Primer, Jane Hanst; Hawaiian girls are Kathryn Blizzard, Barbara Jo Rice, Marilyn Bucklew and Susan Gibson.

The music committee is headed by Edward Umstot. Carolyn Spoerlein and Marilyn Bucklew are assistants.

Drama directors are Earline Wise, Michael Cook, David Gonder, and Sue Martin. Dance directors are Ann Lee Lohr, Willard Ann Glotfelty and Marilyn Sue Bucklew.

Publicity and advertising was turned over to Wilma Warnick and Fred Bell.

Eleanor Vetter was named Business Manager. Her assistants are Kathryn Blizzard, Jo Ann Jenkins, Loretta Yoder and Carolyn Miller.

Costume planning is being done by Magaret Vetter, Linda Teets and Marilyn Bucklew.

Make-up will be by Willard Ann Glotfelty, Delia Wolfe, Ann Lee Lohr and Margaret Vetter.

The operetta will be under he direction of Mrs. Ruth Brown.

Second Production

"Love Pirates of Hawaii" was presented to the public by the Oakland High Glee Club in 1953 in the Old High School auditorium. Taking the leading parts in the operetta were Ida Moon as Miss Primer, Dale Schlossnagle as Lieutenant Wood; Nadara Rodeheaver as Dorothy; pirate chief, Eugene Williams; and Bud Savage, Scarey.

Social Acts

Intermission offered such special acts as: "The Hungry Five," tumbling, Alexander's Ragtime Band, ant several vocal and dance numbers.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Nellie Holtschneider Johnson, who departed this life March 16, 1950.

Within the silent grave she sleeps
The flowers bloom o'er her head
I well remember that sad day
When our Nellie passed away.
But though ten years have come and gone
Like tides that lash the shore,
My heart still feels the bitter grief
As when we found she was no more.
'Til mortal life upon this sphere
Shall pass and cease to be
But time so far has only proven
How much we miss her here.
Where earthly sorrows are no more
And hearts don't bleed or break
Among the throngs where angels sing
There will be no sorrow there.
'Til ceaseless ages roll around
And we dwell with Jesus face to face
In heavenly realms our souls shall dwell
For there will be no sorrow there.

Mrs. Fred Holtschenider

Sleep, A Luxury To Cherish—I believe that by the time you read this the filibuster in the Senate will have ended definitely, and we will be able to proceed with pressing matters in orderly fashion. The filibuster has not been a total loss. For one thing, a considerable portion of the debate has been informative. Then, too, the night-hour schedule afforded thousands of our people the opportunity to visit their United States Senate—thousands who, though working in or near Washington, go year after year without an opportunity to see the Senate in action. A worthwhile by-product of the 24-hours-per-day sessions is the discovery on the part of many Senators that a good night's sleep is not an absolute necessity, but a luxury, albeit a luxury to cherish.

Another Bureau Maybe—There is talk in the cloakrooms of the establishment of a new bureau to promote travel in the United States. This seems prompted by the fact that Americans spend 2500 million dollars a year overseas, while foreigners spend only 400 million to tour the United States. It is believed that a tourist bureau would pay for itself many times over.

Bainbridge: "To Be Or Not To Be—"—in my conversations with the Pentagon, I was given assurance that there would be no "desertion" of the Bainbridge Naval installation. I had heard of the incredible slogan, 'Use Bainbridge or Get Out,' and almost simultaneously I had been informed by friends in Cecil County that the people were not in sympathy with any such slogan, that the persons indicating that they wanted the Navy to "get out" were not speaking for Cecil County residents.

The repudiation of the slogan made sense. The business men of Cecil County know of the many benefits which the U. S. Navy has given the county—and is still giving. There are 4,991 personnel at the Bainbridge installation now—4,512 military and 479 civilian. The payroll is approximately 12 million dollars anmually, and the greater portion of this is spent with business people in Cecil County. I understand that the local taxes from the military and civilian personnel and families, plus the Federal subsidy granted to the county for school children of "Federally-connected" parents, plus the lump sum grant in lieu of real estate taxes, amounts to about one-half million dollars annually in county revenue. Besides this, the Navy spends thousands of dollars locally for utilities, fuels, and other materials used on the base—all helping the county's economy.

In view of this, on behalf of Cecil County residents I asked that the Navy not give up any of its Bainbridge activities. I made it clear that I did not join with those who were supporting the abortive "Get Out" move.

Under Secretary of the Navy Fred Bantz and Admiral Robert Wilson, Chief of Naval Personnel for Logistics, personnally inspected the Bainbridge installations, and afterwards reported that from the Navy's standpoint it was best to continue the activities there about as they are now. I was given assurance that, while under present streamlined logistics there could be no immediate build-up at Bainbridge, there would be no retrenchment of activities or personnel.

Maryland To Share In Airport Program — Aviation Administrator Quesada has apportioned the funds for Federal participation in the Airport Program for Fiscal Year 1961. Maryland is to receive financial aid for three projects; Friendship International Airport, $370,750, to acquire land and construct approach lights; Crisfield-Somerset County Airport $22,500, to acquire land for clear zones; Garrett County Airport, $158,300, to acquire land for an airport site, construct runways, apron and taxiway, and construct access road.

Sharing Atomic Weapons—The people do not get very excited nowadays over the idea of our sharing atomic information and atomic weapons with our allies; our enemies now have the information and the weapons (thanks partly to the American traitors, Anna and Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell, over whom some crocodile tears were shed when they were caught). About the present-day lack of excitement, the Baltimore Evening Sun had this to say, editorially:

"The remarkable feature of President Eisenhower's suggestion that we ought to share atomic weapons with some of our allies is the relatively small stir it has caused in this country. There are dissidents, no doubt, but they seem not nearly so vocal as they would have been a year ago. This reaction reflects two things—a degree of sophistication in international affairs that didn't exist widely ten years ago and an awareness of the basic logic in the President's proposal."

"U. S. Defenses Have No Equal"—Claims that Russia could wipe out U. S. defenses with 300 missiles are disputed by the top officer of the Navy, Admiral Burke, Chief of Naval Operations, says that such "exercises in one-weapon arithmetic" distract attention from the real might of this nation. The U. S. is much stronger than Russia, he says, and has an array of weapons that " no one has yet equaled". He cited an example: The Navy has more atomic-capable planes afloat on five aircraft carriers than Russia has in its entire heavy-bomber fleet.

Democracies versus Dictatorships—Here's the scoreboard on the world's population living in democracies as compared with those living under dictatorships:

Western Hemisphere: Democracies 376,000,000—97%, (19 countries); Dictatorships: 11,000,000—3%, (3 countries).

Europe & Africa: Democracies 460,000,000—51%, (29 countries); Dictatorships 449,000,000—49%, (20 countries).

Asia & Australia: Democracies 780,000,000—52%, (16 countries); Dictatorships 675,000,000—48%, (5 countries).

World As Whole: Democracies 1,600,000,000—57%, (61 countries); Dictatorships 1,200,000,000—43%, (28 countries).

New Vocabulary Launched—For good or ill, the space age is bringing new words and word usages into the English language. Military men from the Pentagon, in testifying before our Senate Armed Services Committee, have coined such words as "overkill" and "survivability." Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of NASA, the Space agency, has referred to the expended pieces of rockets which circle the world today—extinct third stages of satellite-launching rockets, for instance—as "celestial garbage". Meanwhile, that "dark" satellite discovered to be circling the North Pole is "dark" not because it is black, which it isn't, but because it emits no radio signals. A "dark" satellite is a silent one.

Looking For A Little Torture?—I understand that a new exercising contraption is on the market. With its help, you can bend and twist yourself into shape, it is claimed. With the new device, which resembles a set of steel ski poles set into a ball-and-socket swivel base and propped against the wall, you can "lean, dip, twist, and stretch" into fanatastic positions. Just thinking about this has tired me out. Think I'll lie down a few minutes.

ART FINDERS KEEPERS? . . .

We have been hoping to hear the good news that the purse that was lost last week has been returned to the owner. But as yet the finder has failed to do so. That puts him or her in the odious category of being a thief, because the owner's name was inscribed on the bill fold and there was plenty of identification on the inside to leave no doubt in the finder's mind to whom the object belonged.

The loss of the money in itself, is great, but the fact that the husband has been an invalid for several years and unable to work has greatly magnified the hardship which this loss has imposed on those concerned.

We would ask anyone who knows the person who found the purse to appeal to his better nature and see that the money and other contents (so difficult to replace) are returned to the rightful owner.

Letter to The Editor

Editor,
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

I think it's high time the record is set straight. Mr. Editor your newspaper is guilty of printing fraudulent statements. After hearing my story I'm sure you'll agree to print a retraction of this story which you or one of your associates printed in the February 4th issue of The Republican. The shameful story in question is supposedly an interview with one Mr. Groundhog.

Now, first of all there is only one Mr G. Hog, who is authorized to predict weather for Garrett County. Me!

The interview which was published in your paper was supposed to have taken place at high noon on Tuesday, February 2nd. The truth of the matter is I felt a little rundown last fall and decided to retire a little early. As it happened we were still on Daylight Saving time, and in my rundown condition I completely forgot to set my 8-year alarm clock back to Eastern Standard time. Now it's only natural to assume that I was one hour early—or is it late?—for my appointment with the newspaper, radio, and TV reporters.

This should be a warning of the extreme danger involved in Daylight Saving time!

Anyway some publicity seeking skunk . . . er . . . groundhog took advantage of my mistake to announce to the world that winter was practically over. Due to this unfortunate episode Garrett County was caught with its p. . . nh. . . snow blows down. Had your reporter taken the precaution of insisting on seeing the credentials of the one interviewed, they would have known that we were in for at least six weeks of terrible weather.

Had the good people of Garrett County been properly informed coal bins would have been full, groceries stocked and the County Commissioners would have bought six or eight new snow blowers, instead of just one.

Having been the direct cause of so much anguish and suffering, I feel that it is only fair that The Republican reimburse all those who claim to have been caught unprepared due to the fraudulent reporting in the February 4th issue of The Republican. However, I think we should leave it up to Judge Fraley to decide what legal action, if any, should be taken.

I feel sure that you have learned your lesson this winter and hereafter will make every effort to avoid dealing with imposters. (It has been rumored in groundhog circles that the one you interviewed was one "Mr. K". Not being too well acquainted with the skunk family I can't very well verify this.

Well, anyway I hope that this has made you realize what a terrible thing you've done by printing the predictions of just any one who happens to stick his head out of a hole at high noon on Groundhog's Day. I'll see you all next month and—oh, yes—please, next summer when you take that new .22 rifle with the scope sight out and draw a bead on a ground hog, before you pull the trigger, remember "the life you take may be mine."

Sincerely yours,
MR. G. HOG

(Editor's Note: When shown the above letter, our groundhog reporter commented: "Obviously a fraud. The circumstances of this year's interview were exactly the same as previous ones, which have resulted in predictions more accurate than forecasts of the United States Weather Bureau. The very fact that this groundhog admits his carelessness in forgetting to set his clock proves his unreliability. A careful re-reading of the original interview will reveal that Mr. Groundhog warned Leap Year could throw off his calculations which it obviously did. It is not difficult to predict at the end of the season; it's what's up front that counts. Besides, whoever heard of a groundhog who could write? It took me years to find one who could talk!")

Demonstrations Given At Four-H Meeting

Garland Steyer and Carolyn Harvey gave a demonstration on tractor maintenance and safety at the regular meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4-H club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Riley, Sr., last week. Carolyn Harvey, president, presided.

A group discussion led by the demonstrators, followed. Five parents were guests for observation of National 4-H club week. They were Mr. and Mrs. Maxie Nice, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Harvey, James White, Mr. and Mrs. Riley. Recreation was led by Janet Nice.

Participants in the Hoard Dairy Judging contest turned in entry blanks to Mr. Riley. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Riley.

Listen Americans!

... by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Many recent actions of our governmental leadership would seem to indicate that we are so frightened of the Russian Goliath that we dare not offend the Communists. The free world appeases and Communist prestige mounts.

What is the truth about the USSR and its widely advertised scientific and productive achievements? Some Americans with some qualifications for measuring her might are not frightened of Russia. Their gravest concern is over the growing atmosphere of fear in America. Fear could possibly create an atmosphere of "surrender to survive."

At our Freedom Forum in Oklahoma City last month a feature speaker was Donald S. Kennedy, president of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company. In 1958 and again in 1959, Mr. Kennedy, one of America's foremost authorities on electric power production, served as president of the Edison Institute, the national research and educational organization for America's privately-owned utilities companies. As Edison Institute president, he made two extensive trips through the USSR, traveling 21,000 miles examining their electric power installations, their industries, their cities and towns, their standard of living. With him were some of our nation's top electric-power and nuclear technicians.

Mr. Kennedy, in his Freedom Forum report, said: "I'm not an expert on the Soviet Union." But he said he has seen enough of its productive capacity and way of life to disbelieve the reports of amazing scientific and productive achievement. "We look at alleged space accomplishments and think the Russians are super men, 10 feet tall." He said, "I don't go along with all this—on the basis of what I saw in Russia."

The United States has three times more hydro-electric power than the Soviet Union. The factories of Russia, the products, the stores, the cities, and towns, and dwellings, and roads, and farms—all these were so inferior to their counterpart in the U. S. there was hardly any basis for comparison.

Electric power is one yard-stick of industrial productive capacity. It is a factor in armament production, in missile development, in space conquest. Although reports have been circulated in America that Russia is ahead of the U. S. in the rate of electric power expansion, Mr. Kennedy's statistics challenge this:

1959 electric power capability: U. S., 183 million Kw; USSR, 59 million Kw.

1959 per capita use: U. S., 4,481 Kwh; USSR, 1,161 Kwh.

Miles of transmission line: U. S., 240,000; USSR, 62,000.

Estimates, per capita: U. S., 6,000 Kwh; USSR, 2,100 Kwh.

Thus the U. S. is far ahead in capacity, in use, and in plans for expansion. The U. S. has 16 atomic electricity plants (very expensive per Kw production), the USSR 5. In Russia's best electric power plant, 6.5 employees were employed for every megawatt produced. American plants produce a megawatt for every .3 employee.

We must not let down our guard. We must use our full resources to build up our defensive and striking might. But meanwhile we should quit appeasing Russia, for this is the real danger to our survival.

Freak Storm

about 9 o'clock this morning after breakfast.

The Oakland National Guard unit sent in 200 blankets and a number of cots. People from Accident and Friendsville sent more blankets.

Schools all over the county were called off for Thursday, but the storm had worn itself thin and the sun was beginning to shine this morning.

State Roads officials said all roads were open today but there was still one-way traffic on route 219, from Cove to Keyser Ridge.

The fury of the storm seemed to center in just one general area. The rest of the county was experiencing some four inches of snow and a normal amount of wind and appeared astonished that schools would be closed.

Yesterday's storm was the culmination of about a week of below zero mornings and moderate days.

The thermometer dropped to 20 below zero on Friday morning for the coldest mark of the winter. Ralph Weber, veteran weather man, said it had been 15 below one time during March but 20 below was the lowest on record. During the first 15 days of March eight of them had below zero readings. There were flakes of snow both Sunday and Monday but melting during the day.

Official spring is due to arrive on Monday, and according to veteran gardeners and farmers, those planting peas should have them in the ground by the middle of March. This is one year when that job will have to be postponed.

There were numerous stories of people being stranded. Dave Marple, returning to Oakland on 219 yesterday afternoon became hung-up near the Cove at 1 p. m. He went to the home of William Oester. Before night was over Mr. Oester had 25 people who remained there until the roads were opened this morning. It was the same story in a number of homes along the route.

Chicago Paper Relates Wedding "Troubles"

A column from a Chicago newspaper presented by Pierre Dac of Ottawa, Ill., formerly of Oakland, relate of the weddin "troubles" which confronted Indie Sue Thompason prior to her marriage several weeks ago. Indie Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thompason III, summer residents of this area for many years, who reside in Barrington Ill.

The difficulties started when the Siamese cat got hold of the mellowed rosepoint lace wedding veil of the bride's mother and tore the net sections to shreds. Another upset was word from the East that one of the bridesmaids was sick and unable to participate. An obliging friend took her place. Then finally the roofs in their home were falling down.

The home was at one time a cowbarn. The restoration process included a fireplace in the kitchen, five bedrooms, four baths. They call the place "Valley Vista."

Notwithstanding the frailties of old lace, old friends and new roofs, India Sue and Thomas A. Grant, Jr., said their vows at St. Chrysostem's church with a reception following at the Portnightly.

The groom is from Staunton, Va., where the young couple will reside. India Sue bowed at the Cotillion in December but bypassed plans for a special party because romance intervened.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lohr have returned to their home after having spent six weeks with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Swilt, in Silver Spring.

John F. Ruff, A. M.-3 and Mrs. Ruff left Sunday for Jacksonville, Fla., where the former will be stationed. Mrs. Ruff will be employed by the Baptist Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James DeWitt and daughter, of Pittsburgh, Pa., left here today after spending a few days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeWitt. Mrs. Mabel High and children, Bernard and Kathleen, of Cumberland, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt.

Mrs. M. L. Groves, who had spent several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Kahl, in Mt. Lake Park, returned to her home in Jessups today. Mrs. Kahl returned to her home in the Park yesterday after having been a patient in the Garrett County Memorial hospital for over a week.

Mrs. Edward H. Sincell, who underwent surgery last week in a hospital at Harrisburg, Pa., is in a critical condition, relatives here were informed yesterday. Mrs. Sincell was a resident in Oakland for many years, going to Harrisburg several years ago to reside with her granddaughter, Mrs. Keith Kilon, the former Lois Sincell.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT... Better Health Through Knowledge

Shock Treatment

- Gout
- Hormone Shots

Q. A member of my family has had several shock treatments for a nervous disorder. He refuses additional treatment. Why would anyone not want to get well?

A. Simply stated, "shock treatment" (electro-convulsive therapy) is the passage of a very small current of electricity through the brain for one or two seconds. If the patient has not been given a drug to put him to sleep the current itself will induce unconsciousness. Since no discomfort is experienced, many patients who dread further shock treatment are hard-pressed for a reason. It may be the aftereffects. When the patient awakens, recall of past events and the ability to think ahead are dulled. This temporary source of being "out of contact" causes anxiety. The result may be a strong and increasing fear of further treatment. The situation is a delicate one so don't be too harsh on your relative. The apparent indifference may be due to the mental condition itself. Not many of us look forward to a trip to the dentist to have a tooth filled. We know, however, that sometimes we must undergo temporary discomfort or pain in order to be relieved of the original trouble.

Q. A friend who says he never touches alcohol recently developed a tell-tale case of gout. I'll give him the benefit of the doubt but isn't gout always the result of high living?

A. Go easy on your friend. Medical men of the past century accepted without question the statement that gout is caused by intemperance in food and drink. Today, the relationship between the consumption of alcoholic beverages and gout is foggy at best and there may be no connection whatsoever. One recent medical study showed that the average alcoholic intake of patients with gout was not unlike that of persons without gout. However, during an acute attack of gout the drinking of alcoholic beverages might make matters worse.

Q. I have been taking hormone shots for menopausal symptoms but now the doctor wants to taper off. Why? I feel terrible unless I get a shot every week.

A. At the menopause, ovarian secretions become deranged, which temporarily disturbs the delicate balance between various hormone-secreting glands of the body. A certain period of time is needed for rebalance. During the period of adjustment some women, but by no means all of them, have symptoms which are severe enough to require treatment. Hormones, if used, tend to ease the patient over the rough spots. However, every woman must eventually make the adjustment and hormones are used only as a crutch. To continue hormone treatment indefinitely interferes with nature and delays the onset of the inevitable readjustment. There are other very good medical reasons why doctors prefer to limit the period of treatment with hormones.

Tournament Twists

The district basketball tournament provided a number of twists.

Nobody expected Northern to go to the State finals in class B—but the Huskies are going.

Many people expected Southern to go all the way in the class A district finals—but the Highlanders will be staying at home.

That's the way the ball sometimes bounces.

Northern had a season record of four wins against 12 defeats. Southern had a record for the regular season of 14 victories and three defeats.

Northern played mediocre ball on Friday night in defeating an unimpressive Middletown High. Southern on the other hand played heads-up ball Friday night and pulled the game out of the fire against Howard County High of Ellicott City.

Allegany High played uninspired ball against North Hagerstown High on Friday night winning only in the last few seconds. People expected the Campers to take a trimming in the finals.

But then came Saturday. The Northern Huskies would have won from almost any team in the neighborhood on Saturday night. They bounced in the air and dominated the rebounds. They shot well and played aggressive ball all the way to down a confident Hancock High which had pulled an upset over Frost High of Westernport in the eliminations of two weeks ago. They were determined to win and take a Garrett county team into the state finals for the first time in history—and they did.

But it was just the reverse for Southern. Leading 15 to 13 at the quarter, in spite of getting very few rebounds, the Highlanders were down 8 points at the half. This in itself was not disheartening as they had been down ten points the previous night and had come out on top by 11 points.

But something went haywire in that final half and no amount of explaining will bring up the real answer. They hadn't played that kind of ball all season. But there was Allegany, with a slip-shod performance on Friday night, doing everything just right. They bunched under the basket and got most of the rebounds, and outran the Highlanders in the fast breaks department.

They got under the basket for many an easy shot, while Southern dribbled, and shot—and missed.

The twist certainly doesn't take any of the glory away from Northern. The Huskies put up an effective and inspiring game and completely out-classed the favored Hancock team. And may they go all the way in the class B tournament this week-end.

And we hope there'll be another time in the near future for the Southern Highlanders. They're a great bunch of boys.

—G. H., II.

12 Freight Cars Are Derailed on Grade

Twelve cars of a freight train descending the 17-mile grade derailed Monday morning and blocked the main lines of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, for twelve to fourteen hours.

The derailment occurred at 11:45 a. m. at Frankville, between Swanton and Bloomington as the 12 cars of High Car 96, traveling from Grafton to Cumberland, left the tracks.

Officials said no one was injured. Only two of the cars turned over. L. F. Durst, Valley road, was conductor, and R. P. Brickett, Wiley Ford, was engineer.

Relief trains were dispatched from Cumberland, Keyser and Grafton to clear the tracks. Passenger trains were re-routed by way of the Pittsburgh division.

It was the fifth area B. and O. wreck since February 12.

Another tieup was reported on the Cranberry grade at Terra Alta but railroad officials blamed it on a buckled freight car which was quickly removed from the scene without serious damage or delay of traffic.

Chiang Kai-Shek was nominated for a third term as president of Nationalist China.

Allegany Defeats Southern In Final

Highlanders Break In Second Half and Take 78 To 49 Lacing

The Allegany High school Campers ran over Southern High High lasses Last Saturday night in the finals of the Maryland's class A district I tournament, in an unbelievably, upset score of 78 to 49.

Many loyal followers of the Allegany High team were ready to throw in the towel after they were steamrollered by city rival LaSalle in their final game of the regular season and in the process lost one of their rebounding stars when Bob Gaffney suffered a severe ankle sprain.

That put Gaffney out for the rest of the year and lifted Lazier from the bench. Lazier responded to his big opportunity by turning in a phenomenal performance along with Pope to easily take the contest.

Southern had gone to the tournament with the best basketball record ever compiled by an Oakland team the Highlanders of Carl Schoonover winning 14 and losing 3. They knocked over Frederick with comparative ease to qualify for district play, then Friday night in a brilliant display of courage, hustle and shooting, they fought from 15 points behind to hand Howard County High of Ellicott City a lacing.

The time was ripe, many observers believed, for the Highlanders to give Garrett county two teams in next weekend state tournament at College Park. The ragged play of Allegany on the previous evening when it barely defeated North Hagerstown to gain the final, made things look bright for the Garrett county contingent.

Bob Lazier and Pope completely dominated the banking boards on rebound play. These two scrappy Campers shared in 54 rebounds, many of the 27 loose balls that each turned in resulting in Allegany field goals.

And to the surprise of many, the Campers beat the Highlanders at their own game of running. They raced up and down the court with more enthusiasm and ball hawking than they showed at any time this season, applying the pressure with such determination that the Highlanders couldn't seem to get their breath, especially in the final half. Lazier dumped in 22 points to lead the Allegany attack while Pentony accounted for 20 and Pope 18.

The story of the first half was Allegany's board wiping act, the Campers outrebounding Southern 37 to 17. Fifteen of those rebounds were credited to Lazier who also set the scoring tempo with 16 points. Pope collected a dozen rebounds and ten points, while Ron Colaw, a bright spot in a disappointing Southern performance, caged 12 points. Dick Stuck, shooting star in the Howard County game, had eight the first half.

The figures were knotted five times in the opening half and the lead switched five times. Lazier broke the last deadlock with a brace of penalties early in the second quarter and the Campers rode high the rest of the way.

Southern led 15 to 13 at the end of the first quarter on Terry Colaw's basket from close range but Allegany carried a 37-28 advantage into the dressing room at half time. It continued to roll up the points when play resumed.

The Campers were 20 points to the good when the third quarter ended, 60 to 40. The Highlanders were a disgusted, disorganized group at this stage and it was just a matter of how large the final margin would be. They missed passes, and completely forgot their passing attack.

Altogether Allegany cleared 70 rebounds from the boards with Southern accounting for just 38. Ron Colaw stood out in defeat, ripping the cords for 23 points and high scoring honors for the game.

James had 4 points, Wine 2, Stuck 11, T. Colaw 4., Stemple 2, Bolyard 2 and Prince 1. Allegany had a total of 33 field goals to 20 for Southern and 13 of 22 fouls compared to 9 to 24 for The Highlanders..

Allegany will meet Bladensburg in the semi-finals on Friday.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

A champion is strong, confident, alert and ever ready to meet a challenger on any battleground. In the past the United States has demonstrated in war and in peace its possession of all these qualities. But now grave doubts have been raised about this Nation, doubts engendered to a great extent by the improprieties of a young university professor, the greed of a few disc jockeys, the distant orbit of several pieces of metal in the sky and the highly inflammable speeches of two or three persistent politicians.

Already many have expressed their concern and assuredly many more will stop to consider where America is going and how long it will be before she arrives there. All this is to the good, for this country like any other needs constant intelligent self-examination. But taking stock is one thing, taking a whip to oneself is quite another. For example, consider the shrill cry that the Soviet Union is growing so rapidly that it will surpass the United States in many important economic areas within a few years.

The facts are to the contrary. In 1959, this country's total output or gross national product was $484 billion while Russia's was $200 billion. Projecting these figures at a reasonable rate of growth, Russia's production in 1970 will still be only 60% of ours. Again last year, Soviet electric power output was ½ of ours, her exports ¼ of ours; the list is not endless but long enough to establish this country's unquestionable superiority in production.

The 20th century has been America's century from the very beginning and will be until its end if this Nation draws upon its heritage. Additionally, Americans must stop acting like hop-scotching hypochondriacs who check their pulse, temperature and heart beat before they step outside. It must be understood that no matter what the United States does or says, she will upset somebody in the world. Currently this country appears to me more concerned about foreign reaction to our decisions rather than the soundness of those decisions. This timidity should cease.

America is healty, strong and capable of maintaining its position as the greatest nation in the world. But to remain champion, this Nation must not dwell as it presently appears to be doing, upon the evil, the weak and the indifferent, but on the good, the strong and the aware who have brought America to its present pinnacle.

to the group the formal proposal of the lumber interests. He pointed out that if the community by loan and subscription would provide $80,000 that they would organize the company with an invested capital of $65,000 plus improvements to land for truck and railroad siding facilities. It was proposed to pay the money back through 30 year lease at 5 percent with no return on the principal the first year, but amortized so that in 20 years the indebtedness would be paid. The company would have the option to buy at 10 years, another at 15, and another in 20.

S. R. Pagenhardt, counsel for the trustees, explained the operation of the trust in which Irvin Feld, Earl Zepp and Frank McDaniel had agreed to serve as trustees. Trust moneys would be submitted to the court annually for accounting and those subscribing at least $100 would receive 5 percent return on their investment. Certificates would be redeemed at the discretion of the trustees, or when the company exercised its option to purchase.

The money raised would be spent as follows: $25,000 for land, $65,000 for improvement. The improvements would include a large mill and warehouse building 60 by 320, plus a building to house dry kiln as second building.

At the conclusion of the meeting ten persons volunteered to assist in the sale of subscriptions and $4,000 was subscribed at the session as a substantial beginning.

Mr. Peters said a number of questions were asked to determine the protection afforded public subscribers in the event the company did not continue to operate. It was pointed out that the lease to be negotiated contained liens on machinery to secure payments.

Those talking favorably for the corporation were Fred Glotfelty, county commisioner, Thomas Thayer, district forester, and Senator B. I. Gonder, Sr. Dwight Stover, attorney for the lumber company, also spoke briefly.

The lumber interests indicated that from 5 to 8 men were to be employed here immediately, and that if the needed amount was subscribed that the payroll would increase to 30 within a reasonable time. They said that except for technical management personnel, they planned to hire local people. They also stressed the benefits to small mill operators in the operation.

It was announced last week that the organization is already being set up here with John M. Martin as general manager; Max Messenger, lumber inspector; and Carl E. Marsh in charge of office work.

Northern Defeats Middletown, 48-40

Northern High school's Huskies made their way into the finals of the class B district one tournament last Friday night by downing Middletown High school 48 to 40.

There was never any serious doubt as to the outcome. Northern led 24 to 7 at the quarter, 26 to 12 at the half and 31 to 19 at the end of the third period. Middletown put on a spurt in the final period which closed the gap at one time to four points.

George Patton was the "big gun" in Northern's assault. The 6'3" center racked up 22 points and took complete control of the rebounding situation.

Middletown found the target on only 14 of 60 field goal tries and proved to be pitifully weak under the boards which Northern dominated.

Also scoring for Northern were McKenzie with 10, Long 2, Lowry 5, McCurdy 8 and Thomas 1. George was non-scoring.

Northern made 14 of 23 fouls and led 17 to 14 in field goals.

The highest two-teacher school was North Glade with 31 pupils attending, with a percentage of 91. Northern high school had a percentage of 92.4.

There are now in the county four two teacher schools, twelve graded schools and two high schools, with 1,739 students enrolled.

Two similar old photographs have been submitted by David L. Lind, of Cleveland, Ohio, the older of which is reproduced today.

Dated 1888, the picture shows the exterior of the former Sturgiss Pharmacy on Alder street in Oakland. Mr. Lind supplies the following information, written on the back of the original:

"Oakland, Maryland, August 16, 1888. Our home. Wife on porch with our 10 year old daughter Nellie, William, our 16 year old boy leaning on his bicycle, with myself in store door. This constitutes our family." The notation is signed "Alfred," apparently written by A. G. Sturgiss.

Of interest is the street lamp in front of the building, resembling an old-fashioned gas lamp. Since the picture was taken before the lighting of streets by electricity, and since it is not believed that Oakland streets were ever served by gas fuel, it is surmised the lamp to be of the kerosene variety, perhaps erected by Mr. Sturgiss himself for the benefit of himself and his customers.

William Sturgiss, one of the boys shown with the bicycles, later continued the business until his death a few years ago. The structure then changed hands, was remodeled and today serves as offices for the Maryland Department of Employment Security.

Mr. Lind, who supplied the photograph, married the former Miss Dorothea Sturgiss. He is now art director of the McCann-Erickson Advertising Agency in Cleveland.

Recognizes Engineer In Crellin Locomotive

The engineer in the old photo taken in Crellin some 40 or more years ago, and published here last month, has been identified by Lee L. Ashby of Waynesburg, Ohio, as his uncle.

Mr. Ashby writes:

"Since the baseball picture is still bringing response, nobody has identified the man in the cab window of the engine. I have one of these pictures, as five of these men are uncles of mine. The man in the cab window is Roy Ashby.

"Roy Ashby and the Jesse Ashby holding the bat are brothers of my father, Cleveland Ashby. The other Jesse Ashby and Cecil Elliott married sisters of my mother, Mrs. Ethel Edwards Ashby. They are all the sisters of William Edwards."

Others in the picture were previously identified.

World Day Of Prayer Service Is Re-Scheduled

The World Day of Prayer service which was cancelled several weeks ago at the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, south of Grantsville, has been rescheduled for Friday, March 18, at 7:45 p. m.

"Laborers with God" will be the theme. The service is sponsored jointly by women of the Meadow Mountain and Jennings Methodist churches, Glade Mennonite church and Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, and others. Mrs. Clarence Winkler, Bloomington, will be guest speaker. Music will be provided by the Maple Grove church choir.

The program is directed by Mrs. Walter Youngkin, Grantsville, with Mrs. Guy Frickey and Mrs. Jonas Beachy in charge of children in the church basement. The public is invited.

Adenauer of West Germany will get firm pledge from U. S. leaders against any concessions to Russia during summit talks.

Recalls Dunking At Old Mill Pond

As was expected, last week's old photo of the sawmill operation near Friendsville brought memories to at least one reader.

"I recognize the picture," writes A. J. Thomas, of McHenry. "We called it the big mill at Kendall. (A small town up-river from Friendsville.) What looks like a lot of logs scattered over the ground is the pond, or dam, where the logs were dumped from flat cars hauled in on the narrow gauge track by 'dinkie' engines. The logs were washed in the pond and then taken up to the mill by way of a drag or shoot which had an endless chain running from the high point down under the water.

"This chain had sharp spikes attached to catch in the logs, as they were guided to the shoot by a man with a pike pole. This was a long light pole with a sharp spike on one end.

"We had a boom which was made out of two light poles with strips across them and boards nailed on lengthwise. These made it easy to get to logs farther out in the pond.

"I worked a couple of days with the regular man to learn the tricks. The first day I worked by myself, being pretty young and somewhat excited, I suppose I was too anxious to keep plenty of logs up on the skid way.

"I jabbed the pike in the end of a large red oak log and started towing towards the shoot, when all at once the pike pulled out of the log. So, in I went, head first off the boom in that black and muddy pond. Everyone was busy and no one saw me take my dive into the water. I can't give the exact date, but it must have been close to the time this picture was taken. I feel sure there are a few men left who worked at the big mill at that time. If there are, I would be glad to hear from them or have them stop at McHenry and we'll have a chat."

Southern Winner Over Howard Co. School, 77 To 66

Comes From Half-Time Deficit Of 10 Points To Win By 11-Point Spread

Southern High school came from behind in dramatic fashion last Friday night to reach the finals in the district one class A basketball tournament by defeating Howard County High school of Ellicott City 77 to 66.

Trailing 28 to 38 at halftime, Coach Carl Schoonover's boys came back in the second half with a 49-point spurt while holding their opponents to 28 to end the fray with a margin of 11 points. James put in a basket just as the final whistle sounded.

Cumberland sportswriters gave a major share of the credit to Dick Stuck, termed "5' 9" fireball", who led his teammates with 25 points on 11 field goals and three out of five fouls. Stuck attempted 19 shots. Wine got five field goals in ten attempts and three fouls for 13 points. Terry Colaw, who appeared to be off on his shots from the field, made only three out of twelve attempts but got 8 of 10 at the foul line for 14 points. James, substitute guard, also made six field goals in 14 attempts and two fouls for a total of 14 points. Ron Colaw got 10 points on three field goals in 10 tries and four out of six at the foul line. Stemple made a foul to complete the scoring. Non-scoring were Bolyard and Prince.

Skip Wharton flipped in 21 points for Howard county in the first two quarters but scored only four after intermission, and his mates were unable to take up the scoring slack. The Howard county quint could hardly miss in the first half and couldn't buy a basket in the final two periods. The team got only six field goals in the second half after clocking on 14 of 34 first half attempts. Howard county kept in the running however on its foul shooting, making 25 to 36 tries.

Stuck scored the first five points of the game, then after Howard county began to pile up a lead, it was Stuck who led the charge that pulled the high-flying Highlanders from behind. Wharton's layup gave Howard a lead 16-15 that it held until Stuck scored on the run after taking a long downcourt pass from Jerry Wine with 5:30 remaining in the third period.

In the final two minutes of the game Stuck was dazed when two Ellicott City players converged on him, and sustained a bruise inside his mouth. The blow also loosened one of his teeth. He finished the game, however and was prepared to return Saturday night for the final district game against Allegany High.

The Howard county school last year defeated North Hagerstown for the district championship but lost out in the final round at College Park. This year Allegany High school of Cumberland, twice defeated by North Hagerstown in the regular season, came from behind in the closing seconds and defeated the Washington county team 48 to 45.

In last Friday night's contest Ron Colaw was eliminated from the fray in the third period with five personal fouls, and Jerry Wine made his exit in the fourth period. Howard county also had two eliminated by personal fouls.

Busy mother keeps tab on phone calls

Diary shows phone saved days of time, 156 miles of travel and $11.70 in two weeks

Mrs. Harris of La Vale, Maryland, talks over Choral Society plans with a friend—while 4-year-old Carolyn keeps tabs on Mother.

Mrs. Harris is the mother of two small boys, ages 6 and 8, and a pre-school daughter. Her husband is a teacher. With youngsters this age, and a husband whose profession calls for continual contact with parents, a phone often seems like a necessity.

Mrs. Harris decided she'd find out for sure, so for two weeks she kept tabs on her phone calls with a telephone diary. The diary spelled out the value of phone service in hours saved – fewer miles of errand running – and resultant savings in dollars and cents that virtually cut the cost of phone service to nothing.

Probably you don't keep a telephone diary. But if you did, we think you'd be pleasantly surprised at the many ways your telephone pays for itself.

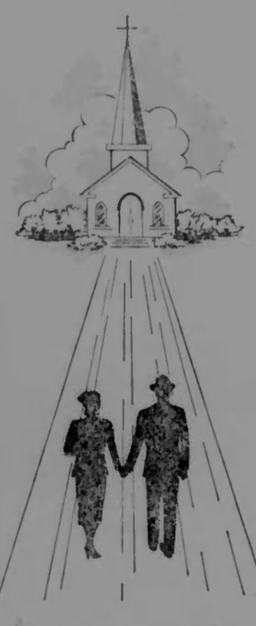
The Golden Time

When Mom and I got married, golden weddings seemed just as remote to us as they probably do to you. Matter of fact, folks celebrating them seemed like museum pieces!



Now here we are, posing for our fiftieth anniversary picture! Funny part of it is that we don't feel a bit like "old folks!"

Still, a couple can't be married for half a century without putting in a lot of living. Mom and I have. There were times when we were so happy we thought we'd burst . . . other times when it didn't seem as if we could find the strength to keep going another minute.

Through it all, we've had our church. It's hard to put into words how important that's been. Maybe you'll get an idea when I tell you this. When Mom asked me what I'd like to do to celebrate our anniversary, I said, "First of all, let's go to Church. I want to say a little prayer of thanks."

Mom smiled at me. "So do I," she told me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Shipwreck

Lesson for March 20, 1960

"ALL these things are against me," said a down-hearted old man once. Even the young and strong get the feeling that certain kinds of things are against them. We all do, more or less. When bad weather sets in; when people won't take our advice; when we see trouble coming and have no way to stop it; when we are alone in the midst of strangers; when we've been in jail for two years; when we are the "low man on the totem pole;"—we feel these things are against us. We seldom think of them as open doors to opportunity.

Dr. Foreman

Situation Out Of Hand

When we are riding the situation, so to speak, when we are in the driver's seat and have everything well in hand; when things are happening because we ordered and arranged things that way; then we sing that everything's coming our way. But when the situation is not in hand, when every thing about the situation is either unexpected or unwanted and nothing good can be said about it, then we groan that everything is against us. Nothing is more depressing than a situation out of hand.

However, there was a remarkable Christian whose story is told in the book of Acts, who never would admit that everything was against him. He always knew God was for him, and that was the main point. Situations might get out of his hands but not out of God's hand. Consider Paul, one of a batch of prisoners aboard a grain-ship on a grey November day, bound across the Mediterranean to the empire's capital.

When he stepped on board he was already at the bottom of the heap. He had been two years in jail, he was then actually shackled with a chain, he was probably not in good health, he had only one or two friends with him, the rest were all prisoners, soldiers and sailors, a pretty rough crowd for a preacher. Not only that, but he had given good advice (Don't sail the stormy season is starting) but had been turned down. Paul was an old Mediterranean hand, he knew the weather signs. But nobody paid him any mind. Then came the storm and the shipwreck. Read all about it in Acts. It was a narrow squeak.

Little Man to Big Man

The point is, Paul never spent a minute wishing he were in a better situation. He never put in a complaint that all these things were against him. He used the opportunity all these disasters gave him. But he did not use it for himself, he used it for others. To be sure, he could not resist saying in effect "I told you so." But he did not stop with that. He became the most useful and most respected man on the ship. When they started he was just another prisoner, a little man in every sense; when the crash came he was the big man. For one thing, he brought courage to the others by his own faith. He talked language they could not understand. Get something to eat, he said. And don't let anybody steal the life-boat.

Always A Witness

Paul did preach, though. He was not a man to let a chance go by. He preached by his very attitude, but he also gave witness in words. He said just why it was that he was so confident. His faith was not in himself nor in the ship's captain, it was in God. Now it is no news that men pray in hurricanes. But it is news when men in hurricanes do not pray mostly for themselves. There is a lovely touch in what Paul said to the other seasick men on the stormy deck. The angel of his dream had said to him: "God has granted you all those who sail with you." Paul thinks of his fellow-passengers—even of the soldiers who had him in charge, the crew, everybody—thinks of them as his own because God had given them to Him. A man who does not ask special favors for himself, a man who, if he is going to be saved, wants others to be rescued with him—a man like that will get a hearing when he speaks a good word for the God to whom he belongs and whom he serves.

LONGVIEW INTENSIVE ENVIOUS A half interest in the above Angus bull was purchased recently by Wayne Brooks Hamilton, Jr., of Red House, from the Longview Angus Herd of Burlington. This proven young sire of superior cattle is a grandson of Envious Emulous, that in turn was a grandson of Envious Blackcap B 6th, the 1939 International Grand Champion. This latter bull leads directly to Earl Marshall and of the 32 animals in the sixth generation pedigree 20 of these lead directly to Earl Marshall known throughout the breed as the "King of Sires."

Establishes Cattle Business

This is a story of what may prove, as time goes on, to be the establishment of an excellent herd for pure bred and registered Angus cattle in the Appalachian Plateau on U. S. Route 50, immediately west of the crossroads at Red House, just south of Oakland.

In early November, 1958, a young lad and his father, along with a friend, visited the Longview Angus herd at Burlington. The father was Wayne Brooks Hamilton; the 15-year-old son was Brooks, Jr., a sophomore in high school and his vo-ag teacher, Richard Bishoff of Southern High school.

In simple terms the lad expressed a desire to become the owner of a few Angus heifers stating that he would like about six. He had earned during the past summer $800, raising cauliflower and other green vegetables, could borrow an additional $700 on his own signature and wished many spots superior to this on to start in the Angus business on his father's farm.

After a conference of some two hours, six open heifers were selected, including a Kalamia Pride, two Blackcaps, Jeanna and Blackcap Empress. It was agreed at that time, when the heifers became of breeding age a young bull would be sent to the Hampton farm for mating purposes, this was done in early spring of 1959. Five of the heifers were exhibited to breed and all five of them calved producing two heifers and three bulls.

One of the calves died, apparently shortly after birth, as Mr. Hamilton expressed a decided opinion "had I been here at the time I am convinced that I could have saved the calf." The sixth heifer is with calf at the present time.

The Hamiltons were so pleased with the calves from this young bull, whose registration name is Longview Intensive Envious, they started negotiations for the purchase and ownership of a half-interest in this young bull, and the negotiations were recently completed. Many people who are interested in farming and are familiar with U. S. 50 from the Atlantic Coast to the West have expressed great admiration for the beauty and possible potential of this 700 acre farm and experienced observers feel that there are not many spots superior to this on U. S. Route 50.

During the past eight years quite a bit of this acreage on U. S. Route 50 has been devoted to the producing of green vegetables, one wonders what a hay crop on a part of the rock free loam soil, a portion of the green vegetables and as time permits turning same into grass land farming with black Aberdeen Angus cattle along the highway.

Liming Soils Ups Returns on Crops

Liming acid soils on the basis of soil tests can return $5.00 to $10.00 in increased crop returns over a ten-year period for every dollar invested according to Barry Carr, assistant County Agent.

Lime helps to balance the soil nutrient diet for crops by correcting soil acidity. Lower acidity makes phosphorus and molybdenum more available to crops.

Lime supplies calcium and magnesium. It aids in encouraging the development of nitrogen - fixing bacteria in legume roots. Lime helps these soil bacteria that make plant nutrients available and keep the soil in good physical condition.

Soils should be tested every three or four years to tell when to lime each field. The need for such tests is indicated by the fact that at least one-third of the cropland has never received a speck of lime.

All residents of Garrett County may have farm soil tested free of charge by the Agronomy Department of the University of Maryland. Information and soil boxes may be obtained from the County Agricultural Extension Office in Oakland.

A Pittsburgh teacher who took the paddle to 30 boys was suspended.

Population Changes in States Are Shown

Ten years of population change in Maryland will be measured by the Bureau of the Census, United States Department of Commerce. The new statistics will bring forward the information last collected in the 1950 Census.

Maryland was sixth in population just behind Ohio-ranked New York state, in the first population count made in the early United States.

1790. The census takers in that year counted 319,728 persons in the Free States and 5,740 in New York.

In 1950, one hundred and sixty years later with New York long the Nation's population leader, Maryland ranked 27th with 2,343,000 inhabitants.

Maryland had 237.1 persons on the average for each of its 9,881 square miles in 1959. In 1940 its 1,-21,211 inhabitants represented 184.2 persons to the square mile.

Maryland was one of the Thirteen Original States. In 1791 its area was reduced by the formation of the District of Columbia. In 1950 it ranked 41st in land area among the States.

The 1900 population of 1,188,011 was more than three times as large as the State's population in 1790. Its population practically doubled between 1940 and 1950, with 15 percent of the increase for the 9-year period coming in the decade 1940 to 1950. The 1950 population represented an increase of 521,737, or 28.6 percent, over the figure for 1940. Both the numerical increase and rate of growth for the decade were the largest in the history of the State.

In the first 110 years of its history, the intercensal rates of growth for Maryland were below those of the Nation as a whole. In the following two decades, however, the rate of growth for Maryland exceeded those for the Nation.

The 1950 urban population of Maryland comprised 1,615,902 persons, or 69.0 percent of the population of the State. Of the urban places in the State and in the urban fringe of the Baltimore area and the Maryland part of the urban fringe of the District of Columbia in the 23 urban places in the State and in the urban fringe areas, 1,465,902 persons, or 90.7 percent, were living in 25 incorporated and 13 unincorporated places of 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants.

There are 23 counties and one independent city, Baltimore city. The counties ranged in size from Calvert with a population of 12,100 to Baltimore with a population of 270,273. Between 1940 and 1950, 20 of the counties and Baltimore city increased in population. Sixteen of the counties which gained were among the 18 counties which had had increases in the previous decade. The rates of change for the counties ranged from a decline of 3.3 percent for Garrett County to an increase of 117.0 percent for Prince Georges County. The largest numerical increase was experienced in Baltimore County, which had a gain of 144,448. Well over four-fifths of the population gain for the State was accounted for by Baltimore city and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Prince Georges, and Montgomery Counties.

In 1950 there were 119 places in Maryland incorporated as cities, towns, and villages. There were also 15 unincorporated places of 1,-000 inhabitants or more. There were 1,310,869 persons living in the incorporated places, 95,611 of whom were in the 118 places of fewer than 2,500 inhabitants. Of the 28,-762 inhabitants of the unincorporated places 20,801 were in the 13 places of 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants. The incorporated places ranged in size from Highland Beach town with a population of 75 to Baltimore city with a population of 949,708.

There was one urbanized area entirely within Maryland and one partially within the State. The Baltimore urbanized area had a population of 1,167,852, and the Maryland part of the Washington, D. C. urbanized area had a population of 253,423. Of the 1,465,925 persons in the State in the urbanized areas, 969,008 were in Baltimore, the only central city in Maryland, and 465,567 were in the urban fringe areas. The urban-fringe areas had 96,049 persons living in 27 incorporated places and 369,518 in the unincorporated parts.

Although census figures were gathered in 1790, it was not until 1850 that the first census was taken of Garrett county. Persons in that time had been a part of Allegany county.

The first census report showed 12,175 persons, and the figures since that time: 1890, 14,213; 1900, 17,701; 1910, 23,165; 1920, 19,678; 1930, 19,998; 1940, 21,981; 1950, 21,259.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

The Rev. W. Shelby Walthall
Rector, St. Matthew's Episcopal Church

Once each year for a period of six weeks Christians on all continents of the globe set aside this time we call Lent for special meditation. They do this in commemoration of the long days our blessed Lord spent in the wilderness. It is not that we can hope to come up to the hours of fasting which Jesus underwent but rather to make us more conscious of our complete dependence on Him and His mercy. Our attention is focused at this time upon the Cross on which He died.

We become so engrossed with the luxuries of life that oftentimes we neglect the absolute necessities. We must have just one more thing than our next door neighbor. Some people deny themselves something which they could well do without in the first place. They 'give up' sweets, movies, social activities, and the like during the forty days of Lent. But what do they replace those things with? Fasting is highly desired if we can make a special exercise to bring the soul closer to God. If we can pray a little more fervently, or labor a bit more diligently to bring men into closer union with God and His purpose, or live an exemplary life as set for us by Christ Himself then Lent has meaning. We have been able to fill the void left by the world.

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there. Only a week or two more 'on the calendar' until spring arrives. Spring, this year will be filled with activity after activity. Here are just a few. The Southern Sr. Chorus' annual operetta "Love Pirates of Hawaii" will be presented March 24. Then there will be the Rotary Club's "Gymkana." Following that (or maybe before) The Athletic Boosters Club Minstrel. Also around that time will be a very promisingly funny play "Nut and Bolts" presented by the Sr. High Dramatics Club of Southern. I would like to follow all these activities along. If the publicity people want to give me any added information "I'm ready and waitin' ". I would very much like to have a bit of information about anything going on in the Northern area. I could help a little bit with some publicity.

Anyone wanting to appear in the annual Terra Alta Talent Show, can do so by contacting me. If you sing, dance, play, tell jokes or just stand on your head, you are welcome to appear in this talent show.

Here are the candidates for Queen of The Coronation-Spring Hop to be held on March 25th in the armory. They are PATTY CLARY, CINDY WHITE, JOYCE HUMBERSON, MARGY WHITE, JANICE WHETSELL, JEANNIE ROLF and SHERRY COLAW. Each girl equipped herself with a campaign manager and set out to cop as many votes as she could. We followed the system used by Southerns FFA-FHA to select their sweetheart queen. That is, one penny a vote or thirty votes for a quarter. These votes will help defray the expense of the hop. We want to make sure that the queen and her escort (the king) will have the most royal of gifts. Don't forget, the same night an award will be presented to the best athlete. These boys were nominated by the cheerleaders and will be picked by the coaches. We at Teen Club will not even know the choice until the coaches present the trophy. The whole Southern Basketball team will be guests of Teen Club that night.

Admission that night will be seventy five cents. We would like to have everyone in the community out in full force to honor the athletes and the king and queen. If any civic group would like to present an award of some kind for teen citizenship or anything, we really welcome it. We want March 25th to be a night to remember.

You will be able to purchase advance tickets from any member of the ticket committee.

We want to pack the armory with people from all over Garrett County and our friends in West Virginia.

Our tremendous stage show would be worth an admission price of two dollars in a city. We have some of the best young, rising talent that there is in the whole east. The stage show is comprised of Billy Rice from DC records, one of the south's favorite recording stars. Also The Marvels, five guys and a gal giving out some of the sweetest and swingingest music this side of anywhere, and as a very special added attraction, Bob Oliverio. All the entertainment has been "imported" from Pittsburgh and Washington.

Don't forget Teen Age Club tomorrow night in the armory. We love to have you and when you come we have more fun. I should like to see some more from Northern High this week. We had one car load last week and they really seemed to enjoy themselves.

See you then and don't forget to vote for your favorite candidate we want to see your favorite candidate elected but only you can do that.

For young or old
ELECTRICITY is your better way

to Dry Clothes

For young married couples . . . or for older couples who would like to take things easier . . . an Electric Dryer answers their needs better.

Clothes are dried easily . . . night or day. And as they come from the dryer, many will need no ironing at all. From diapers to lingerie and bedspreads to clothing, all come out soft, sweet, and fluffy as a cloud.

An electric dryer brings no worries — no flames . . . no fumes. Fewer parts to get out of order. And they cost less, too!

The money you save by buying an electric dryer will, in many cases, pay for enough electricity to operate it longer than some other type dryers will last, so in effect it costs you not even a "penny a load" to use an electric dryer.

Yes, ELECTRICITY is your better way to dry clothes . . . cleaner, safer, and economical. And another advantage: The needed wiring is FREE.

Faith and New Life Is Fourth In Series of Services

A Lenten meditation on Articles 1, 6, 16 and 20 of The Augsburg Confession. Fourth in a series of Lenten sermons.

Faith And The New Life
By The Rev. Wm. Ernest Fox
St. Mark's Lutheran, Oakland

According to St. John 15:5 our Lord says to His Believers "Apart from Me, you can do nothing." This clearly means that, as Christians, we are absolutely helpless except for our union with Him. He prefaced His statement with the teaching that we are but branches, and He the Vine, and that only as we draw nourishment from Him can we produce fruit. In a word then, any fruitfulness, new life, good works, new obedience on our part is altogether dependent upon our abiding in Christ. Good works result from relying upon Him. He, and not man, is the source. We must therefore look to Him only, to Christ alone, for the new life in God, for Christian living, for the good works of obedience to God's revealed Holy Will.

In the 16th Century God opened His Word to freely give a Christian the peace he had vainly sought in his own power. As a leader amid fermenting tide of Faith of his day, he was asked what characterized his emphasis. He answered that the distinguishing mark of the Church of God's Word is that it gives all the glory to God where it belongs, and keeps man in his place! That is to say, it absolutely, entirely and only looks to God's Grace, to Christ's work and merit. Its recognizes that every good and perfect gift must come down from above.

In an age victimized by slogans we often hear that beliefs do not matter, that it is deeds which count! But the deed is only the fruit. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Only as we believe will we finally act. So, all good works, right living, fulfilling the duties of our varied stations in life, carrying out God's Commandments doing what He tells in the holy Scripture, must look to God in trust, must rely upon, believe in, Christ.

And of course, whoever genuinely trusts in God, will, of necessity, do What He commands. When the branch really abides in the Vine through faith, and receives nourishment, the branch must produce fruit.

And further, this primary trust, faith, abiding-in-Christ, is itself the work of God, Whose alone is the glory! Faith is not our doing. It begins with God. The Holy Ghost uses the Means of Grace, God's revealed Word and Jesus' instituted Sacraments to begin the process of creating faith in our poor human hearts. The Lenten season is a time of emphasis upon these Means of God's Grace. And so, this Lent of 1960 calls on Christ's followers, through their more fervent use of these Means, to more closely walk with Him. As we then, during these holy days, more deeply abide in The-Lamb-Slain-From-The-Foundation-Of-The-World, the nourishment we receive, and our gratitude for His love unto death, and our growing trust in Him, will produce in us the fruits of faith - new life, new obedience, all good Christian works.

California legislators halted a bill to abolish the death penalty.

Judge Fraley Gives Grand Jury Charge

March Term grand jurors began their deliberations Monday morning after they had heard the charge to the members by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the court room.

The charge carried the usual instruction to the jurors as to their duties and responsibilities and explained the ancient origin of the investigating body.

The complete charge to the jurors is given below:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Grand Jury —

You have been selected by the Court in the manner prescribed by law to serve as Grand Jurors for the March Term of Court which begins today.

I am sure that some of you have previously served as a Grand Juror. For some this will be the first time for such service.

It is customary for the presiding Judge to charge you briefly with reference to your duties and the procedure you are to follow in the performance of your duties.

The Grand Jury is of ancient origin and comes down to us from early days in England. Although the institution has been abolished in England and many of the States of this Country, here in Maryland it stands as an important part of the administration of criminal justice.

Your membership consists of twenty three persons, twelve or more of your number constituting a quorum, and no presentment or indictment can be found by you unless at least twelve of your members should concur therein. A mere majority of members present at any session will not suffice.

A Grand Jury is an investigating body and has very broad power and authority to investigate and inquire into alleged violations of the criminal laws of this State. Most of the cases that will be brought to your attention will have been investigated by the law enforcement officers of the County. The State's attorney will present these cases to you and you will hear the testimony of the witnesses that the State intends to produce against the accused. It is your duty to decide if the charge is supported by sufficient evidence to warrant the finding of an indictment and that the accused shall stand trial before a petit jury or the Court. Indeed, the oath which you have just taken requires that you "shall diligently inquire and true presentment make of all such matters which may come before you and that you shall present no person through envy, hatred or malice nor leave anyone unpresented through love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise of reward".

There is a double duty cast upon you as Grand Jurors, a duty to society to see that parties against whom there is a just ground to charge the commission of crime shall be held to answer the charge, and a duty to the citizen to see that he is not subjected to prosecution upon accusations that are not well founded. Whether or not an accused is brought to trial on any charge requiring your attention depends solely upon your determination, and no one may even suggest to you what your decision shall be.

Your proceedings must be absolutely secret. No disclosures of any kind are to be made concerning your deliberations or how individual members of the jury voted with respect to any charge considered by your body, unless you are directed by the Court to make any such disclosures.

While testimony is being produced before you, the only persons allowed in the Grand Jury room besides your own members, are the State's Attorney and the witness testifying before you.

If an individual juror has knowledge of the commission of a criminal offense that is not brought to your attention by the enforcement officers, it is the duty of such juror or jurors to disclose such information. Enforcement of the criminal laws is extremely important and it is incumbent upon the enforcement officers to ever be alert in bringing to justice those guilty of violating our criminal statutes and your body plays an important part in maintaining law and order in the community.

Happily, our County seems to be free of organized vice and crime that is frequently found in more populous counties and large cities.

I am unaware of any serious matters that should be particularly brought to your attention. By recent enactments of the Legislature, a person charged with the commission of a criminal offense, may waive indictment by the Grand Jury and also waive his right to a trial by jury and ask that the charge against him be heard promptly by the Court. In such cases, the State's Attorney prepares an information against him and the accused is brought before the Court and his case disposed of promptly. This procedure has materially reduced the number of cases presented to the Grand Jury and has also resulted in considerable savings to the County.

It is the duty and responsibility of the County Commissioners of the County to see that the public buildings owned by the County are properly maintained and kept in repair. It is the custom for the Grand Jury to inspect these properties and make such recommendations relating thereto as seem proper and desirable. You will be furnished with a copy of the September Term Grand Jury report and you should investigate to learn whether or not its recommendations have been carried out.

The State's Attorney, Sheriff and other officers will be available to you at all times during your sessions to assist you in the performance of your duties.

The Clerk will now swear the bailiff, who will conduct you to the Grand Jury room where you will begin the performance of your duties.

Hugh enjoys golf, hunting, and collecting pictures.

Women's Clubs Help In CARE Program

The Oakland Civic club and the Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland are cooperating with the Maryland Federation of Women's clubs in working on a project for CARE. All fifteen clubs in the district are helping.

The project is to provide self help equipment to rural villages in Mexico. Books, plows, carpentry tools, sewing machines, recreation kits, midwifery kits, agricultural hand tools have been presented to 16 Mexican villages through the Maryland club women.

The March meeting of the Junior Woman's club, cancelled because of inclement weather, was to have featured a "count your blessings" program. The members had hoped to receive a freewill offering of at least $15 which would be the club's share in the purchase of a CARE village development kit by the first district MFWC. The kit costs $230. Club members are being asked to send contributions to Mrs. I. R. Rudy, Jr. club treasurer, by March 25.

At the national convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs in Washington, D. C., in June awards will be presented to state federations having 100 per-cent club participation and to the one contributing the largest sum in the campaign. By the end of June, 1959, the first year of the two-year program, the people of a dozen countries in Asia, Europe, Latin America and the Middle East were sharing $81,500 worth of CARE self help tools and equipment provided by American club women, it was stated.

There's a limit to what a Valiant wagon can carry. Not more than 72 cu. ft. of the things you need around the house. Things like kids' bicycles, a freezerful of groceries or enough do-it-yourself supplies to build a small Taj Mahal in your back yard. Or other things, like you, your wife and up to seven kids (not necessarily all of them yours, because you'll be pestered for rides by every kid in the block). And that's the size of it. Only 72 cu. ft. of room.

Valiant's inclined engine doesn't run on diesel fuel, either. Just plain old regular gasoline—and not very much of it. Another thing. Valiant has a rattle-proofed, rust-proofed unitized body—pound for pound, as tough as you can get. But to say that Valiant's a heavyweight would be stretching your imagination just a bit.

On the other hand, you must admit that Valiant does have advantages. It fits lots easier into your garage and into small parking spaces. Plus, it almost runs on carfare. And it looks quite a bit better standing in your driveway—and every other place, too.

But you decide. We think we know which you'll pick, once you see your nearest Valiant dealer (you'll find his name and address at the bottom of this ad). And by the way—if you want to call Valiant "our family bus", it won't mind a bit. And we won't, either. Because you'll call it that with lots of respect—and even more affection.

Tired of Snow? - - - -

When the County Commissioners solemnly announced this week they had passed a resolution taking the bounty off foxes and putting it on groundhogs I almost believed them. But then, who wouldn't be put out with the action of those cussed animals that called for six more weeks of winter weather following February 2.

It wasn't just six weeks of ordinary winter weather. To say the least it has been overdone. Even the skiers are more than satisfied with the results of the last seven weeks.

For years I have maintained that Garrett county has an unusual climate and experiences unusual weather. I am sure nobody will want to dispute that statement.

And since nobody seems to be able to do anything about the weather to improve it, we might just as well relax and wait calmly for spring. It's bound to come some time. Just hold onto your onion sets for another ten days or so. This year's crop may be the biggest ever.

NO CROWD HERE—A late afternoon sun shows the tables outside the Swallow Falls picnic pavilion piled high—but not with the delicacies usually associated with outdoor eating. As the year shifted from winter to spring this week, the area was still fighting a series of stubborn snow storms which Shakespeare probably had in mind when he wrote "This is the winter of our discontent."

Plan Full Scale Move For Nursing Home Patients

People are conversant with "operation airlift," but a similar event in Oakland will be known as "operation car and ambulance lift," is now taking place.

Participating are members of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club. And what are they lifting? The thirty-six or more patients from the Cuppett Nursing home to the new home for aged at 7th and Alder streets, and the fifteen or more patients from the Weber Nursing home in Mt. Lake Park, to the same location. Some of necessity will be transported by ambulances furnished by the Minnich and Leighton funeral homes. Others will travel via station wagon, while a few will be moved by automobile.

Bob Stanton heads the lift program. He will have assisting him in addition to members of the club Mrs. Irvin Feld, Mrs. Richard Welch and Mrs. Irvin Rudy, Jr., nurses; The Rev. Wm. Ernest Fox, The Rev. Charles Godwin, The Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, and The Rev. Fr. Gerald LaPorta, ministers, Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officers, and employes of the town.

The patients from the Cuppett home were moved yesterday and the move from the Weber Nursing home is scheduled for next week.

The second floor of the new nursing home was completed last week, with eleven rooms and three baths, plus a reception room, and the first floor with an additional four rooms and one bath, is expected to be completed early in April. Several of the rooms are large enough to be used as ward[illegible] five cots and a cot will be there.

Schools To Operate On Three Saturdays

For the first time in many years, and perhaps for the first time in history, public schools of the county will operate on three Saturdays in an effort to make up for some of the time lost due to the severe winter storms.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said that he had received requests from many teachers and parents to operate schools on Saturday so as not to prolong classes at the end of school beyond the middle of June.

He announced yesterday that there would be school on Saturday, March 26, and that if this proved satisfactory there would also be school on Saturday, April 9, and Saturday, April 23, in order to comply with the school law that classes be in session for no less than 180 days.

Including the two days lost this week there have now been eleven days lost due to snow and inclement weather. It will be necessary, Mr. Hawkins said, to make up eight of those days. With the three Saturdays, it will be necessary to run the sessions five days in addition to the time set earlier, which will mean that the last day for classes will be on Monday, June 13.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out that there will be an all day teachers' meeting on Friday, April 1, which cannot be changed. The speaker for this meeting has been under contract for six months and it would be impossible to make another date for this session. He also pointed out that it was against school regulations to have school on Good Friday or Easter Monday.

Mr. Hawkins said that schools would still be dismissed in good time as there are a number of other counties which run as late or even later than the date now set for the closing day, June 13.

It is planned to have schools in session today and tomorrow, even though there may be a few county roads still closed to traffic on account of the drifting of Monday's storm.

Coronation Hop Is Ready for Tomorrow

A special spring coronation hop will be held tomorrow night, March 25, at the Teen-age club at the National Guard armory. A queen will be crowned and an award presented to the best athlete of the year.

Aside from the regular teen age records played there will be a few standard ones for the adults. On stage will be entertainers from Washington and Pittsburgh. Bill Rice, recorder for D. C., and Onda records will do numbers he has recorded in the past including "Foolish Love," and will introduce a new one sung for the first time. Bob Oliverio, a former resident who has appeared on record, stage, radio and TV and the Mar-[illegible] vocal group [illegible] will be there.

Noted Lecturer To Speak Before County Teachers

The annual meeting of the Garrett County teachers, sponsored by the Board of Education, will be held at Southern High school Friday, April 1, beginning at 5:30 A. M.

The opening speaker will be Dr. Willis White, Director of Curriculum, Maryland State Department of Education. Dr. White will trace the development of the history of the criteria of the public schools.

Following Dr. White's address, Albert Ringer, instructor of math at Southern High school, will discuss "Better Program in Mathematics, Grades 1-12." Mr. Ringer has been instrumental in developing an outstanding math department at Southern and has done graduate study and research in the field of mathematics. He is presently heading a committee of some thirty or forty county teachers and supervisors in preparation of an accelerated program in math for children of the county in all grade levels.

The third speaker on the program will be Howard Naylor, who will present his challenging address on the subject of, "Changes that science will bring about in our lives within the next two or three decades and what these changes mean to our program of education."

Following this address the teachers present will then break up into three groups where they will study with their respective supervisors the results of studies that have been conducted during the year on how to deal effectively with slow learning groups. This the teachers

Union Good Friday Service Is Planned

Definite plans for the annual Good Friday service in Oakland were made at the meeting of the Mountain Top Ministerial association at the William-James hotel on Monday. The service will be held at St. Paul's Methodist church on April 15, from 12 o'clock noon to 3 p. m.

The service will feature the seven words of Jesus from the cross, running continuously with brief interludes for the convenience of the congregation.

Speaking will be Dr. C. P. Anderson, Deep Creek Baptist, on the word of forgiveness; the Rev. Wm. Ernest Fox, St. Mark's Lutheran, on pardon; the Rev. Ralph Jacks, Sang Run United Pentecostal, on love; the Rev. Luther Seibert, St. John's Lutheran, Red House, on loneliness; the Rev. Shelby Walthall, St. Matthew's Episcopal, on human need; the Rev. Luke Walters, Mt. Lake Park Baptist, on triumph, the Rev. Edward Wenger, Oak Park Church of the Brethren, on reunion. The Rev. Charles Godwin, St. Paul's Methodist, will preside. A scriptural phrase provides the text for each word in order. Music leadership will be supplied by the choir of St. Paul's church.

Nine members of the association attended the meeting which culminated with lunch, and heard Mr. Seibert lead a discussion on "What do the Lutherans mean by Justification by Faith." The group plans to have an association member speak on some denominational emphasis at each meeting according to the Rev. Bryan Blair, pastor of the Mt. Lake Park United Brethren church vice president, in charge of the programs.

Hospital chaplains were assigned by Rev. Irvin Steidtmann, chairman of the hospital chaplaincy. Sam Moore, ministerial [illegible] College was a guest.

Jimmy Gibson placed third in junior boys' downhill. Mary K. Alvarez won second place in the slalom for junior girls, while Robert Lohr won third in the slalom for junior boys.

32 Foreign Students To Be Entertained Here This Week-end

Thirty-two foreign students, studying this year at West Virginia university in Morgantown, will be guests of the Oakland Rotary club Friday evening and week-end guests of the members and friends in a program of international brotherhood.

The affair is a part of International Understanding week. The plan was outlined by the International Service committee of the Rotary club which includes Prentice DeBerry, Shelby Walthall and John Wolf.

The students will be guests of Rotary club members at dinner on Friday evening at the William-James hotel. They will then be entertained in various homes of the community until Sunday afternoon. A tour has been arranged for Saturday afternoon. Many of the students will attend churches of the community on Sunday.

The thirty-two students represent ten different countries and they are scheduled to arrive in Oakland by bus Friday in time for the Rotary dinner. Dr. Warren Francis Manning, chairman of the department of Romance Languages and faculty adviser to the foreign students at the University, will be the speaker at the Rotary meeting. He will tell about the foreign student program in West Virginia university and other universities throughout the country.

Countries represented include Indonesia, India, Argentina, China, Turkey, France, Lebanon, Korea, Greece and Iran. Various religions are represented and a few are listed as having no religion.

Problems of Aging Discussed at Meet

Problems facing the older population were outlined last Friday evening by Mrs. Margaret C. Schweinhaut, at a meeting on the care of the aging held in the fire hall in Oakland under sponsorship of the Oakland Civic club. Some sixty persons attended.

Mrs. Schweinhaut, author of the legislative commission on problems of the aging, is a member of the House of Delegates from Montgomery county.

She listed seven problems that the older population of today faces: How to keep working when able and willing to work; what to do with leisure time when it is forced upon them; how to live on reduced income without injuring health; how to pay for an illness should it occur; how to find good nursing care at a price a person can afford to pay; where to live if impossible to stay in their homes; and where in the community to turn for help on these problems. She urged that a county advisory council on problems of the aging be set up in the county.

She was introduced by Dr. E. L. Baumgartner, member of the state council of medical care. People attended from various areas of the county.

A conference for this area will be held in Hagerstown April 22 and Mrs. Schweinhaut urged organizations and churches to send delegates.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Baumgartner, member of the Steering committee of the Western Maryland Conference on the aging. Mrs. Henry W. McComas, president of the Oakland civic club, extended greetings.

At a social hour which followed a committee served coffee, tea and cookies, and included Mrs. Charles Paugh, Sr., Mrs. Hervey Bittner, Mrs. A. G. Hesen, Mrs. William R. Browning, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. Prentice DeBerry, Mrs. O. T. Crayton, Mrs. H. W. Moses, Mrs. Baumgartner.

Blizzard Disrupts Area; Schools Are Closed Two Days

Latest Storm Dumps Nine Inches Or More Over Entire Area

Did someone mention spring? Calendars varied on the date, but apparently at 9:43 Sunday morning, March 20, the phenomenon of the vernal equinox occurred, but Old Man Winter was still very much in evidence.

What was hoped to be winter's parting shot struck the area Monday night and Tuesday with winter's full punch, bringing winds with gusts up to 45 miles per hour, combined with a snowfall of at least nine inches.

The storm plagued most of the tri-state area with a full scale blizzard. The high winds caused drifting that blocked many highways in the county and closed schools for two additional days that brought to 11 the number of days lost this year due to inclement weather.

State Roads commission and Garrett county road crews were out in force with all available equipment, fighting the drifting waves of snow which were whipped into blinding fog by the wind.

Three inches of new snow fell on each of three days for a total of nine inches, but the storm began to abate about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening. Temperature in the county ranged from a low of 18 to a high of 24 degrees on Tuesday. At nightfall it dropped to 22 degrees and continued until it hit about 8 above.

The snowstorm dumped up to eight inches on Preston and Tucker counties in adjoining West Virginia with many secondary roads closed. Conditions were bad on U. S. 50 on Allegheny Front.

Edward P. Kahl, State Roads engineer, reported Wednesday morning that all state roads had remained open throughout this latest storm. He said there had been some difficulty with automobiles stranded along some of the roads which prevented the plows temporarily in clearing the snow, but highways had been passable at all times.

Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor, who was still at his desk Wednesday after being on duty for more than twenty-four hours, said that by Wednesday evening, barring additional snow, that 95 percent of the county roads would be open. They were 75 percent open Wednesday morning. He said that all available equipment was in use during the entire period except for several hours Tuesday when visibility was zero, and it was considered hazardous for traffic that was moving in spite of the danger.

Snow has fallen on five days of the past week, with the present storm beginning Sunday and continuing through Wednesday.

Total snowfall for the year now measures more than 105 inches, R. E. Weber, veteran weather man, stated yesterday. Thus far in March the snowfall totaled 30 inches, five inches below an all-time high of 35 inches set in 1958 and 1926.

Oakland had a low of 13 degrees Wednesday.

Area Forester Is Given Promotion

William H. Johnson, district forester for Western Maryland, has been promoted to the position of assistant state forester in charge of fire protection. The appointment was announced last night by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks.

Mr. Johnson has been in Cumberland since 1935, coming there as a forester in the CCC program. He was assigned as district forester in 1942 to replace H. C. Buckingham, present state forester. He has served in his present position since that time except for a period 1947-49 when he was district forester at Bel Air.

The State Forest department has cited Mr. Johnson's work in the expansion and development of tree planting, and management plans for state parks in this area. He has conducted state schools for training of new employes in latest fire fighting techniques and has done research and study in fire fighting and fire prevention.

His new headquarters will be in Annapolis where he plans to move his family in July.

SAMPLE ROOM—Here is a picture of one of the private rooms in the new section of the Cuppett and Weeks Nursing home which was opened for inspection by the public last Saturday and Sunday. The second floor of the new addition has eleven rooms and three baths with a reception room at the south end. The first floor is expected to be completed early in April and will add four more wards and a bath. Several of the rooms on the second floor are also wards. It will have a capacity of more than forty persons. The new building is fire resistant with each room protected by a fire detector. The patients from the Cuppett Nursing home on Old Deer Park road, and from the Weber Nursing home in Mt. Lake Park, will be moved into these new quarters within the next few days.

Broiler Production Contest For Juniors Will Begin April 1

"Don't let the cat out of the bag because it's baby chick time again" says E. Rankin Lusby, Assistant County Agent, in material distributed concerning the Maryland Junior Broiler Production Project which will begin on April 1.

Any 4-H or F.F.A. member is eligible to participate if he is at least 10 years old but not more than 20 years old as of January 1.

Lusby said an entry consists of one hundred straight-run wing-banded chicks which must be the property of and cared for by the individual. A record book is supplied to each participant to keep all costs and receipts for this eight-week project.

May 28 is the exhibit day on which each participant will deliver to be judged six winghanded cockerels which he has selected from his entry along with his record books. The highest scoring entry in each region will be retained for the State contest.

The project objectives are: To teach 4-H Club members the economical production of high quality poultry; to teach the fundamentals of good brooding practices; to stimulate and develop an interest in continuing broiler production throughout the year; to develop sportsmanship and the ability to cooperate and express ideas through discussions, method demonstrations, and exhibits; and to acquire knowledge in the marketing and merchandising of poultry.

Any 4-H or F.F.A. member interested in participating in the Broiler Production Project is urged to contact the Garrett County Agent's office or his Vo-Ag instructor.

Senior Chorus Play Is Set for Saturday

The Southern High senior chorus will present its two act comedy, "Love Pirates of Hawaii," on Saturday evening, March 26, it was announced yesterday by W. Kenneth Johns, principal, and Mrs. Ruth Brown, director.

The play was to have been given this evening, but schools were closed for two days this week which prevented practice sessions and the full dress rehearsal which had been scheduled for Wednesday night. The dress rehearsal is now set for Friday evening.

The musical was selected as a tribute to the newest state of the union.

Participating are Ronald Colaw, Jane Hanst, Fred Bell, Sonny Riggs, Charlotte Biser, Kathryn Blizzard, Barbara Jo Rice, Marilyn Bucklew, Susan Gibson, and a number of dancers and members of the chorus.

The songs and dances of the operetta are typically Hawaiian interspersed with modern American. Admission is 35 and 75 cents.

Parents' Night Set

Members of Boy Scout Troop 31 will have its parents' night program this evening in Fellowship hall, Methodist church.

The 1959 charter will be officially presented to Guy William Hinebaugh, president of the sponsoring institution, the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, who in turn will present it to the acting scoutmaster, Jerry Walsh. The Rev. Charles Godwin will speak to the group and awards will be presented.

Receives Award

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bittinger, of Oakland, were guests at a ceremony held in Governor Tawes' office in Annapolis on Wednesday, March 2. As a state employe, Mr. Bittinger was presented with a gold watch and certificate by the governor for completing forty years of faithful service with the State Roads commission.

Watershed Group Is Established After Hearing on Tuesday

The establishment of an organization to be known as Wilson Run Public Watershed association, composed of owners of all the lands within the boundaries of the association was declared by the County Commissioners following a public hearing at the Court House on Tuesday afternoon.

The action followed a discussion of the authority the association would have, its purpose and the benefits to be derived. The purpose of the association as explained by Carl Schell, president of the County Commissioners, who presided, was to implement the carrying out of the flood protection program on Wilson Run.

Authority for the organization is given through a Maryland Senate Bill 366. The hearing was held to allow people who are or may be affected by the organization to familiarize themselves with the type of association that was proposed, its purposes and powers and to hear opinions of persons there.

A number of persons attending spoke favorably and some opposition was noted. Paul Galbreath, soil conservationist, University of Maryland, who has made a study of the public watershed association law, and who has helped with the organization of a watershed association for a section of Charles county explained the law and the procedures available under the law. Answers to a number of questions were provided by Mr. Galbreath, W. W. Nace, district soil conservationist, and Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., attorney to the commissioners.

Following the discussion a vote of the approximately forty people present was taken which showed 21 in favor of the organization and five against. After declaring the establishment of the organization as of March 22 the Commissioners announced a meeting of land owners within the boundaries to be held Tuesday, April 5, to elect a board of directors. The meeting will be held in the court room in the court house, Oakland.

Opinion Favors First Wife Of R. S. Browning

Judge Fraley Rules Marriage Of 1912 Was Legal At Time Of His Death

The first Mrs. Richard S. Browning is the legal widow of the late Mr. Browning, it was declared in an opinion handed down by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Circuit court here yesterday.

A suit to determine this question was brought to the court through the Orphans' Court where a son of the deceased has qualified as administrator of the estate and the second Mrs. Browning attempted to have the letters revoked and herself appointed.

Two persons had claimed to be the widow of Mr. Browning. One was Helen Pratt Shafer Browning, whom he married January 14, 1959; and Margaret E. Browning, also known as Margaret E. Brown, of White Plains, N. Y., whom he married November 28, 1912, in Spokane, Washington.

The suit was sent over to the Circuit court from the Orphans' court in June, 1959, after argument developed as to which person was entitled to be the rightful administrator of the estate, estimated at $15,000 to $20,000.

The question, according to Judge Fraley was "Was Richard Stabler Browning, decedent, legally and lawfully married on the 14th day of January, 1959 to the petitioner, Helen Elizabeth Browning, and was said marriage to Helen Elizabeth Browning existing at the time of his death as a legal and lawful marriage so that the petitioner at the time of death became his surviving widow." The Judge said his answer to that question would be "No."

At the hearing it was established that Helen Elizabeth Browning and Richard S. Browning were married January 14, 1959. It was also established that Mr. Browning had married Margaret Lewis on November 28, 1912 in Spokane, Wash., and that baptism of three children took place the same day that the marriage ceremony was performed. The couple had been married previously in a civil ceremony and the ceremony performed in 1912 was to make it legal according to the rules of the Catholic church.

When the couple returned east it also appeared from testimony that they lived together as husband and wife in Cumberland and other places in Allegany county before he became a deputy game warden for this county.

Evidence also was offered to show that when the decedent executed a number of deeds for real estate in recent years, they had also been acknowledged by Margaret Browning, his wife. It was testified that for economic reasons his wife had gone to White Plains to live with a married daughter after 1942. It was further

Hay And Seed Lift Provides Food For Birds And Animals

Sportsmen, farmers and others provided a hay and seed airlift last Friday for hungry animals and birds in snow-covered Western Maryland. About 250 bales of hay and 35 sacks of grain were dropped from two aircraft loaned by Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation of Hagerstown.

A twin-engine F27 turbojet and a four-engine C119 "flying boxcar" were used on the sweep over four counties. About two dozen men carried out the mission for wildlife under direction of Stanley Alexander, field supervisor of wildlife for the Game and Inland Fish commission.

The haydrops were made in this county at Piney mountain, Bald Knob, Little Bear Creek, Buffalo Run, Swallow Falls, Marsh Hill, Mt. Zion, Youghiogheny, Mt. Nebo, Dry Run, Savage Run.

The sacks of grain to feed pheasant quail and other birds were slashed with a six to eight inch opening so the feed would spill out on top of the snow.

Oakland Explorer scouts deposited corn in feeders in the Mt. Nebo state forest north of Oakland one day this week so that deer would have food. Among the boys were Robert Nordeck, Carroll Miller, Jr. and Thomas Miller, of Post 31. The boys made the trip from their jeeps to the center of the forest on skis and snowshoes.

Gifts of books and periodical have been received from the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, the Mens Bible Class of St. Paul's Methodist church, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jones and John Adams, Jr.

New novels by several favorite authors are now ready for circulation. Richard Llewellyn's "Up Into the Singing Mountain" is a sequel to "How Green Was My Valley." In this novel Huw Morgan leaves the Valley in Wales and goes to a Welsh community in Argentina.

Howard Spring's new novel, "All the Day Long" is a family chronicle which will appeal to the many readers who enjoyed "The Houses in Between."

Nevil Shute's last book, "Trustee from the Toolroom," is an exciting story with characters of unusual warmth and integrity.

In "Storm the Last Rampart" David Taylor gives us another story of the American Revolution as fast moving and historically accurate as his earlier books. Cid Sumner's "Tammy, Tell Me True" will please the many readers young and old who enjoyed "Tammy Out of Time" and Elizabeth Seifert's "Doctor on Trial" will also be popular with many library patrons.

Triple Crash Occurs At Allegheny Front

A car, tractor-trailer, panel truck and a house trailer figured in an unusual mishap on U. S. route 50, at the intersection of route 31 at Allegheny Front on Monday morning.

State Trooper R. L. Noeschel, of the Keyser detachment, said the mishap occurred at 6:30 a. m. and was triggered by George Edward Sweitzer, 41, of Kitzmiller.

The officer said Sweitzer going north on rute 42 pulled onto route 550 into the path of a tracor-trailer operated by Paul Kirk Kenney, 32, Hayfield, Va. Kenney was unable to stop due to the snow-covered road and the suddenness of the car shooting in front of him.

But, Trooper Neoschel said, he veered to the side of the road and missed the car. In doing so the big rig hit a panel truck that was attached to a house trailer.

The house trailer and panel were parked off the road. The house trailer was missed but $600 damage was done the truck. It was knocked about 25 yards, the trooper said.

The only person injured was an occupant of the trailer, who was hit in the head by a falling skillet that was jarred from a shelf in the kitchen. She was Anna Belle Simmons. She was not admitted to any hospital.

After hitting the panel truck the tractor-trailer jackknifed on the road. Trooper Noeschel said he charged Sweitzer with failing to come to a halt at a stop sign.

Mrs. Dorothy H. McKenty, Cumberland, has been appointed executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis association, Inc. She began tuberculosis control service in Cumberland five years ago as a volunteer worker.

stated that none of the children had visited here and always regarded Mr. Browning as their father. A deed recorded in 1957 included Margaret Browning as a participant.

There was nothing on record concerning a divorce of Mrs. Margaret Lewis Browning and Richard S. Brownlee.

Mr. of Md. DeEmony was recounted in Judge Fraley's opinion to bring him to his decision.

Judge Fraley concluded that he was of the opinion that there had been a valid marriage between Richard Stabler Browning and Margaret Lewis that had not been dissolved at the time of the marriage to Helen Elizabeth Browning, and that at the time of his death Margaret Lewis Browning was his wife.

At the luncheon meeting the Southern High Senior Glee Club will present twenty minutes of favorite songs.

Dr. John H. Furbay, internationally known traveler, lecturer, author and humanitarian will speak following the luncheon. Dr. Furbay holds the record of having spoken sixty-six times in sixty-five days in twenty-five different countries. Willard L. Loans Available For Farming Operations

This is the time of year when Garrett County farm families plan the steps they need to increase the efficiency of their farming operations during the coming farm season, reports B. Beeson Snyder, FHA County Supervisor.

Operating loans are made for the purchase of machinery, livestock, equipment, fertilizer, seed, tractor fuel and other farm and home operating expense needed to carry out efficient farming operations, he said. In some instances, a loan may be made for the refinancing of existing debts. Mr. Snyder said the bulk of the operating loan money in this area is being used for equipment and livestock. Many of the changes in farming systems are resulting in better dairy herds, more dependable pasture, and better equipped dairy barns, he pointed out.

He explained that new legislation has increased the number of farm families eligible to obtain operating loans from the FHA. The new law increases the maximum amount that can be advanced. Loans are now available to applicants who have part-time employment off the farm, provided they are established farmers conducting substantial farming operations and possess the major portion of their time farming. Such operators must have dependable sources of outside income.

Operating loans are repayable over periods of 1 to 7 years, with the interest rate at 5 percent. The amount that can be loaned is based on the needs and the ability of the borrower to repay. The loan must be sound, he stipulated.

Applications may be made at Mr. Snyder's office in Oakland.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT
Better Health Through Knowledge

Allergy to Work

- Cancer Spread
- Bloodshot Eyes
- Crib Tragedies

Q. People sometimes say that a lazy person is "allergic to work." Could this be possible from a medical standpoint?

A. Yes, in a way. Allergy to effort is a kind of physical allergy. Army doctors recently reported such a condition in a Fort Knox, Ky., soldier. The man broke out in welts after indulging in any strenuous activity. Symptoms were first noted when he was 14 years old. An eminent specialist confirmed the diagnosis of an exercise-type reaction. Although the man was otherwise healthy he was released from military service. True allergy to effort is rare. For most of us it's just laziness.

Q. How does cancer spread?

A. Cancer cells may grow from one tissue directly into another. They may break through the walls of blood vessels and be carried by the blood stream to other parts of the body. The cancer cells may also enter the lymphatics, which serve as a drainage system, and be carried to one or more lymph glands.

Q. My eyes become bloodshot on the slightest provocation. I have tried various eye drops and have worn dark glasses but this doesn't help. Would it help to have my regular glasses changed?

A. This sort of eye condition may be due to a wide variety of causes. There may be some local infection or mechanical irritation caused by dust, chemical fumes, strong wind, or extreme heat or cold. The first thing to do is pinpoint the cause and this can be done by a physician. New glasses might be suggested but eye symptoms of this kind are not often due to glasses that need changing.

Q. I have heard of two cases where perfectly healthy babies smothered to death in their cribs. Isn't this due to carelessness on the part of the parents?

A. Not necessarily. It has been known since biblical times that seemingly healthy infants may die suddenly for no obvious reason. It is usually assumed that death is due to accidental suffocation. A Canadian physician investigated twelve such deaths and arrived at a different conclusion. It is entirely possible, he said, that many such youngsters develop an unrecognized infection of the upper breathing tract. The infection could then cause spasm of the larynx (the voice-box), with fatal outcome. Under such circumstances, there would be no justification for implying that the parents were negligent.

Injured When Car Skids on Icy Road

A Baltimore youth was slightly injured on icy route 40 in this county early Sunday when the car in which he was riding hit a State Roads commission snow plow.

He is John James McKulka, 19, who was treated for minor injuries in Miners hospital, Frostburg.

Trooper first class Donald Wade, who investigated, said the accident occurred at 6 a. m., eight miles west of Frostburg. It was snowing when the car skidded on the icy road and ran against the rear of the plow. The driver of the car Robert W. Laporowski, and a passenger sitting in the rear seat, escaped injury.

We, the Rolf family, wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our most wonderful friends, neighbors and minister for their kindness and thoughtfulness during the sudden death of Harmon C. Rolf.

We extend a special thank you to the persons who worked so diligently opening the roads, those who gave flowers, donations and food.

Bowman's Marina

Charles H. Bowman, Owner

Mr. and Mrs. Gas User:

On March 18, 1960, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company applied for an $833,000 rate increase from its 21,000 Maryland customers.

Gas costs will go up about 4c a day for the average non-heating customer, about $4.00 a month for the average residential heating customer.

Unquestionably, that's a substantial increase. Just why is this increase necessary? Let's look at a statement of our financial position as of August 31, 1959, shown in the box on the right.

For one year our sales totalled	$8,448,000
From this revenue, our current costs are:
For Gas	$3,566,000
For Wages and Benefits	1,721,000
For Supplies	1,183,000
For Wear and Tear	732,000
For Taxes, except Income	514,000
For Federal Income Tax	201,000
These expenses total	$7,917,000
That leaves us with a return of	$ 531,000

This is equal to slightly more than a 2.5% return on our plant value of $20,547,000.

The Public Service Commission and its staff will examine these figures and other company records very carefully. By comparing their analysis of the basic costs of providing service with ours, the Commission will determine whether the revenue remaining is a reasonable return on our investment. This return must provide money to pay interest on our debt and dividends to our stockholders.

We have asked that we be allowed a return of 6.8% on the value of the plant used to serve our customers in this state. This compares with the return of slightly more than 2½% our company earned on overall operations in both Maryland and West Virginia.

The fundamental reasons for asking higher rates are:

—to provide for the purchase of higher cost materials and supplies and to pay the higher operating costs necessary to continue giving our customers today's high quality gas service, built up over decades of successful operations.

—to provide our stockholders a fair return on the money they invested in our business.

Despite inflated prices in the 1951-1959 period, C.&A.'s gas service improved continually. Gas shortages which often prevailed in cold weather were eliminated, thanks to our buildup of Southwest and pipeline gas.

Through a continuing construction and improvement program our plant was built up to move these greater volumes of gas to our customers any time they needed it—day or night, 365 days a year. This improvement program has increased our plant value more than 50% since 1951.

Today there are no waiting lists for gas heat in our Maryland territory . . . no outages in West Virginia. More important is the fact that customers in both states are assured continued good gas service.

We realize a rate increase isn't pleasant. No one likes higher prices. Like you, we have had to pay higher prices for practically everything we buy. Unlike public utility rates, prices on these items rise often and with little publicity. These price increases greatly exceed many economies we've made by utilizing more modern equipment and more economical operating methods.

Yet, even under our new rates natural gas will still be the best bargain in automatic fuels. Electricity and oil—the only comparable automatic fuels—still cost substantially more than natural gas for all household purposes: cooking . . . water heating . . . cooling . . . house heating . . . refrigerating . . . clothes drying and incinerating. This economical edge is another reason why today natural gas is the preferred fuel of home and industry.

He was a son of the late John Nelson and Mary Catherine Ross Derham. He had resided in Morgantown for 30 years or more and was a retired printer.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ida Ginevaugh Derham, a son, Rev. Herbert Derham; two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Kight Westernport, Mrs. Viola McDaniel, Keyser; a half-brother, David Loar, New Haven, Conn.; two brothers, John Derham, Cross, W. Va.; and Robert Derham, Westernport; four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at Morgantown on Friday afternoon and interment was in the Deer Park cemetery about 3 o'clock.

MRS. EDW. H. SINCELL

Mrs. Sallie Button Sincell, aged 93, widow of Edward Hood Sincell, and a former resident of Oakland, died Saturday, March 19, in a Harrisburg, Pa., hospital, where she had been a patient two weeks and where she had undergone surgery.

Mrs. Sincell was born December 17, 1851, a daughter of Dr. Elijah J. M. Button and Elizabeth Lee Phelps Button. Her father was the pharmacist at the U. S. Naval Academy and Mrs. Sincell was born in Newport, R. I., after the academy had taken temporary quarters in that city because of the Civil War.

She was married in 1886 to Mr. Sincell, an Oakland attorney. Two sons, Charles Milton Sincell, and Edward Hood Sincell, Jr., preceded her in death; also her only sister, Mrs. Edward Mitchell.

The deceased lived in Oakland for seventy years, and several years ago moved to Harrisburg to live with her only grandchild, Mrs. Kelly Kilton.

Mrs. Sincell was a member of St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland, a charter member of the Oakland Civic club and its second president. Her interests were varied and she was considered by many an authority on the history of Oakland.

She is survived by one grandchild, Lois Sincell Kilton, of Harrisburg, and three grand-nieces.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Leighton Funeral home with the Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor, officiating. Interment was delayed pending an improvement in weather conditions.

MRS. MARY SUSAN SCHELL

Mrs. Mary Susan Schell, aged 91 years, died Tuesday, March 22, in Akron, O., where she had been living with her daughter for the past six months. Her home was in Bayard, W. Va., where she had resided for some 50 years.

Her husband, Ernest Schell, preceded her in death several years ago. She is survived by four daughters and one son, Mrs. Stella McNemar, Mrs. Pearl Brown, Mrs. Beulah Lutes, Mrs. Anna Abernathy, all of Akron; and Frank Schell, Duncden, Fla.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Bayard Methodist church with Rev. G. M. Ford, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Bayard cemetery. The body will remain at the Leighton Funeral home in Oakland until Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

Legislators Among Writers Of State Property Insurance

At least thirteen members of the General Assembly and other political figures were listed Saturday among the 488 agents who have written $277,561,000 worth of insurance on state property.

The report was prepared by the deputy state treasurer. State policies are written under a three-year contract at a premium rate of about $540 for each $100,000 of coverage. The agent receives about 20 percent as his commission.

Perry O. Wilkinson, Prince Georges, retained greatest volume of insurance among members of legislature. He was listed as agent for $5,625,000. Senator Bernard L. Gonder of Oakland was listed as agent for $893,000. Former Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr. has written $3,814,000 in state insurance. The insurance and realty company of Senator J. Glenn Beall, also wrote $1,705,000. The insurance firm with which a son of Governor Tawes is associated was reported to have written $2,485,000.

Senator Gonder pointed out that by far the greatest amount of this insurance had been in his hands for a number of years. He said that years ago he had a percentage of the business, then purchased the insurance businesses of the late George A. Fraley and the late H. A. Loraditch, and acquired additional state insurance in this manner, and that he had taken care of the business since that time.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there! What's week. First snow, now school on Saturday. Cheer! Well, I hope you all are as excited about tomorrow night's Spring Coronation Hop as I am. I'll tell you I'm as nervous as a cat. There is a great deal of suspense involved in this whole affair.

Tomorrow night, along with the presentation of the best athlete award and the crowning of the queen, we will bring one of the best stage shows ever in this area. We'll have for your pleasure, Billy Rice, The Marvells and Bob Olivero.

I want to again invite everyone in the community as well as Accident, Friendsville and everywhere in the area. This goes for adults and pre-teens especially. We will have a bit of music for the adults by The Dorseys and others. For the pre-teens this will give them a view of Teen Club at work.

Our candidates for queen are Joyce Humberson, Jeannie Rolf, Janice Whetsell, Cindy White, Sherry Colaw, Margy White and Patty Clary. No one will know who is queen until the very last minute. The escort of the queen will be the king.

Please, all parents and friends of Teen Club, come up and see just what's going on, you're sure to enjoy yourself.

WILLARD AND CALLIS

Attention Dog Owners!

I quote below Section 9 of a Town Ordinance, commonly referred to as "The Dog Ordinance":

"It shall be unlawful for the owner or owners having charge of any dog or bitch to allow such dog or bitch to be loose or run at large upon the streets or alleys or elsewhere in the town of Oakland when not under the immediate control of some person while on any of the streets, alleys or elsewhere within the corporate limits of the town of Oakland."

After repeated warnings we are still receiving at City Hall numerous complaints of violations of this ordinance. Citizens are being harassed and annoyed, and the safety of school children endangered, garbage cans upset and the contents scattered by dogs running at large.

This ordinance further provides, and I again quote from the ordinance:

"Any person or persons owning or having in charge any dog or bitch who shall violate the provisions of this ordinance by permitting the same to be loose or to run at large as aforesaid, or who shall obstruct or interfere with the said police officials or other authorized or designated dog catchers while carrying out the provisions of this section, in the performance of their duties, shall, upon conviction therefor before the Police Magistrate, be fined not less than One Dollar ($1.00) nor more than Twenty-Five Dollars ($25.00), and in default of payment thereof may be confined in the County Jail for not more than thirty days."

Since voluntary compliance with the provisions of this ordinance has not been forthcoming from dog owners, it becomes my duty as Mayor to enforce compliance, and this I shall do.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Present Site Of H-P Stores Shown

Pictured today is another Oakland landmark which has disappeared with the years. The Dixon and Kelso store building, located at the corner of Second and Green streets is pictured as it appeared in 1905 according to Sam Aronhalt who supplied the photograph.

Mr. Aronhalt identified those standing in the doorway as King DeSawder bookkeeper, Carl White, on the ladder, a clerk, Abbie Chaney and Mrs. Cleston Brown-ing, and himself, who at the time was also employed by the company as a clerk.

In later years, the business became known as the D. M. Dixon and Son Company. Still later, the structure was occupied by the H-P Stores here until several years ago when that firm's present building was erected on the site.

Skiers Organize To Feed Animals, Birds

Some fifty or more skiers, sportsmen and others organized into wildlife feeding teams yesterday which covered a portion of the county and distributed corn to the animals.

Yesterday a group went out the east course road until they were blocked by drifts, and then took off on skis to dump sacks of corn at various spots. Some they placed in tree crotches not too high from the ground where the feed would be available to the animals.

The State Game and Inland Fish commission reported that farmers who usually feed the animals but couldn't get out without skis, donated feed. Some teams emptied a half-ton pickup truck of corn twice.

Gas Company Seeks Increase For Rates

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company has filed an application with the Maryland Public Service commission for an $833,000 annual rate increase from its 21,000 Maryland gas users, effective April 19.

The new rates would mean about 4 cents a day more for the average non-heating customer and about $1 per month for heating customers.

The company also requested a rate increase from its 16,100 West Virginia customers.

Out of the proposal the company would get $114,000 as return from its Maryland operations, $395,000 would go for Federal income taxes and the remainder, about $24,000 would be used to pay additional state gross receipts tax. The company is asking a return of 6.8 percent on the value of its plant used to serve its customers in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Russell H. Brown, area manager, said the company earned 3.4 percent on its Maryland operations for the period ending August 31, 1959. Present rates were designed to give the company a 6.5 percent return but increased operating costs and larger plant investment caused the return to drop to the 3.4 percent level.

Brown said in the two years between the test period in the last case and the current one the company invested more than $3,800,000 to replace and improve plant facilities.

There would be a minimum monthly charge of $2.60 for the first 500 cubic feet with $3.80 for heating customers. The next 9,500 cubic feet would cost $1.20 per 1,000, the next 290,000, 84 cents per 1,000, the next 700,000, 78 cents per thousand, the next 4 million, 73 cents per thousand, the next 5 million, 59 cents per thousand; the next 10 million, 51 cents per thousand, and all over 20 million, 52 cents per thousand.

Huskies Fade Out In State Tourney; Defeated 80 To 40

Lose To Surrattsville In "Dull" Contest Last Friday Evening

Garrett and Allegany county standard bearers in the Maryland State basketball tournament did a quick fadeout last Friday evening. Northern High school Huskies were routed by the margin of 40 points by Surrattsville High school, 80 to 40 in class B competition, while Allegany High's Campers suffered a 24-point licking at the hands of Bladensburg's Mustangs of Prince Georges county 83 to 59, in a class A semi-final, at College Park.

Winners of both games Friday took the state championship in their class by being victorious on Saturday night. Bladensburg won over Milford High 75 to 54, while Surrattsville won over Francis Scott Key high 47 to 41.

Surrattsville disposed of Northern High in what was termed a "dull" game. It was the first appearance of a Garrett county team in the state tournament.

Northern was limited to 15 field goals and George Patton and Jim Lowry accounted for 26 of the Huskies' 40 tallies. Surrattsville led 15 to 8, 33-18 and 58-30 at the quarters. Padgett paced the winners in scoring with 24 points. O'Connell garnered 21 and McLain got 13. Patton and Lowry scored 14 and 12 respectively for Northern. Also scoring were Long 4, McKenzie 2, McCurdy 6 and Umbel 2. Non-scoring were Georg, Rush, Thomas and Smith.

Surrattsville scored 30 field goals in 68 tries for a 44 percent average and sank 20 of 29 foul shots. Northern made only 15 of 57 shots from the field for 26 percent and converted 10 of 18 shots at the free throw line. Patton and McCurdy of the Huskies fouled out in the final period.

Allegany which dumped Southern out of the state tournament by a surprise victory 78 to 49, ran into a team of youthful giants with four first stringers ranging from 6-10 to 6-3 in height. Bladensburg outscored the Campers 33 to 18 from the field. The victors had a shooting average of 48 percent hooping 53 of 68 shots. Allegany's 18 field goals came on 81 attempts.

Romney was the only area school to come through in the finals. It defeated Oceana 76 to 53 at Morgantown Saturday to win the class AA championship after squeaking by Clendennin 56 to 55 the day before. Piedmont lost to Paden City in the class A tourney in the semi-finals Friday 59-44.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

"Repentance and Confession of Sins"

by Pastor Luther Seibert
St. John's Church, Red House

When was the last time you performed a big, fat sin and admitted it to yourself, to another person, or to God? If you are a Protestant, chances are you either can't remember or else it was at one of those "rare" Holy Communion services. The reason is simple. Protestants do not use private confession in their churches. To make things worse, we do not often use "private confession" (which means just the opposite of private in the ears of God) in our homes, in our work, or even in our conscience. Soon our sins become top secret or closed drawer affairs, even we ourselves lose sight of them. We try to hide them and to hide from them unsuccessfully. Lutherans in the U. S. A. do not use private confessions, although Articles 11 and 25 of the Augsburg Confession suggest they should!

James 5:16 "Therefore confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another, that you may be healed."

John 20:21-23 "Jesus said to the disciples again, 'Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, even so I send you.' And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and said to them, 'Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained.' "

To perform our sins is unfortunately easy, to confess them is always difficult. It is helpful to confess our sins to another person, for if we do we are more likely to make ourselves believe that we have sinned. Otherwise we tend to think that such sinning is only our imagination, because we are too easy on ourselves as Christian sinners. Too often we judge ourselves to be innocent when we are guilty.

A Christian sinner should be the most honest kind of sinner there is. He should be a person who can feel the very real cutting pain of his sin which cuts him off from God. When this pain is greatest, he should then feel the healing comfort of his faith in Christ which offers him the cure of forgiveness from the sickness of sin. This odd combination of great pain and great comfort is repeated often by the Christian patient, day in and day out. The Christian Church calls this diagnosis Repentance. The pain is called Contrition and the healing is called Absolution. Sound difficult? It is!

To Be Guests At Lenten Services At St. Matthews

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, will be host to the Rev. William J. Cox, priest in charge of Holy Cross and St. Philip's churches, Cumberland, on Tuesday, March 29, in a special Lenten service beginning at 7:30 p. m. Each Tuesday morning at 7:30 during Lent there is a celebration of the Holy Communion especially designed for working people and students.

Tuesday, April 5, the Rev. Leslee Schwandt, vicar of St. Peter's church, Lonaconing, will occupy the pulpit at the local Episcopal church, and will assist the rector, the Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, in the Evening Prayer service.

Sunday, March 27, St. Matthew's will assist the Oakland Rotary club in observing International Understanding week by entertaining a number of foreign students from the University of West Virginia.

Report Forms For 1960 Census Are Mailed This Week

Advance report forms for the 1960 census of population and housing were mailed from post offices this week to all households in this area, according to George R. Hughes, Jr., district supervisor. Postmaster Donald M. Browning, at the Oakland office, said 2,100 forms were mailed from the local post office on Wednesday.

This is designed to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics. This gives each family an opportunity to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit. Residents are being urged to fill out the form and have it ready for the census takers when they start their rounds on April 1.

The report form contains seven questions about every person in the household and six questions about the household's dwelling. The government wants the name, address, sex, color or race, month and year of birth, whether married or single and relationship to head of the household. The information required about the dwelling is the number of rooms, cooking facilities, plumbing and whether rented or owned.

At every fourth household the census taker will leave a Census Household questionnaire, containing questions covering population and housing characteristics. It is to be mailed within three days. A postage free envelope is provided.

Information about individuals and their homes furnished to the census bureau is kept confidential under federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published.

Sponsors Performance

The junior class of Aurora High school is sponsoring a benefit performance at Aurora High school on Tuesday, March 29, at 8 o'clock. The Sunshine boys will present the show.

Tickets may be had in advance for 40 and 75 cents. Tickets sold at the door will be 50c and $1. A baked goods sale also is scheduled, it was announced by Susie Parks, secretary of the class.

To Take Training

Census takers of the county who were named this week, are to take part in a training session starting next week. The session is to be conducted by the crew leader, Carl W. Frazee, of Oakland, on March 28, 29 and 30 at the Accident school, it was believed.

Each census taker will receive approximately nine hours of instruction. Training will cover proper manner of asking questions, use of census questionnaire, census definitions and map reading. Some 250,000 maps have been prepared for the census.

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying the census takers. Each one is provided with a red, white and blue identification card, to be worn on the lapel. The card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce. Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. It will be brown and bear the legend "1960 Census of the United States" printed in green ink.

The Spell of a Story

Think back, grown-up! There haven't been many joys in life that compare to the thrill of being read to. Remember—we came to know most of those stories by heart—and we loved them more each time we heard them.

Robin Hood and Little John—King Arthur and Sir Launcelot—they became old friends. And the heroes of our Bible stories—David and Daniel and the Boy Jesus in the Temple—they lived before our eyes as though the centuries had melted away.

Those stories helped to mold our lives. They taught us courage and faith. We sought to be like the heroes we loved.

Today, grown-up, your child needs the right stories. Are you taking advantage of the Church's program of religious education for youth? Are you giving your youngster the best start in life by making yours a worshipping, a church-supporting home?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

KRAFT SYSTEM RECAPPING A GENERAL TIRE SERVICE

SEE OUR KRAFT RECAPPING DEPARTMENT

WE USE . . .

- FACTORY-APPROVED EQUIPMENT
- FACTORY-CONTROLLED METHODS
- FACTORY-TRAINED MEN
- and GENERAL TRUCK TIRE RUBBER

Here's What We Do . . .

We carefully inspect every tire both inside and out to check for injuries and hidden bruises to be sure the carcass is sound for recapping. Only a tire that passes this inspection is accepted for Kraft System Recapping. Our factory-trained Kraftsmen use precision buffing to accurately buff the tire to the proper contour.

Every tire is scientifically balanced by factory methods to give new tire performance.

Our Time Temperature and Pressure Curing is constantly accurate.

The end result is a tire, recapped with General Tire rubber, that will give you thousands of safe, extra miles at lower cost per mile . . . because saving your tires is our business.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Door For The World

Lesson for March 27, 1960

ADS ON billboards, in buses, in newspapers, tell us to Go to Church. A fleet of taxicabs will, if paid enough, carry posters telling the world that "The family that prays together, stays together." Some of this advice must be taken, to judge from the crowds one sees coming out of churches of all kinds. Our country may not be a matinely Christian country, but at least the church is respectable, and popular besides.

Dr. Foreman

This is not true all over the world. There are more places where this is not true, than where it is true. In East Germany today a boy or girl comes near losing all chance of a job if he or she does not leave the church and join the youth organization sponsored by the Party. In Japan, India, and other countries, to be a Christian is to be thought of as unpatriotic.

We Have Always Had Rivals

America is one of the few places now where Christianity is both popular and respectable. These other places where it is not are more like the situation when the Christian faith was new. Many American Christians have the curious idea that if the going is rough we should not send missionaries; that if there are lots of religions in a country like India, for instance, we should not upset their theological apple-cart and confuse them with a new religion. The real New Testament Christians would have thought such notions rather ridiculous. It cannot be said too often: The Christian religion did not get its start in a religious vacuum. Everybody had religion—of some kind. Only, most of the kinds were bad, and the good kinds were not good enough. Christians did not propose to merge with other religions, they urged men to "turn from dead idols to the Living God." The "Gospel truth" has never had to [illegible]

A Door for the Word

Christianity, in other words, is exclusive. But it had amazing success in that world so crowded with religions. And this was because Christians like Paul never failed to take advantage of any door for the Word that stood open. Paul, while a prisoner at Rome, had what most modern preachers would consider a bad situation. He was drawing no salary, he "had no church" as the saying is, he could not look forward to promotion, he could not do any organizing, his only "parish" was a jail and jails don't offer much in the way of a future. And what a congregation! Criminals and prison guards—not much hope there. Yet Paul could write to his friends at Colossae about a "door for the word." He did not expect a door for himself, but he did pray for one for the Word of God.

His prayer was answered, too. One of the doors for the Word was the conversion of a runaway slave called Onesimus. Through this man the religion of Jesus spread where Paul himself could not go. Then at the end of Paul's letter to the Philippians, written from a Roman prison, he speaks of the "saints in Caesar's household,"—palace servants no doubt. Paul would never have been invited to the royal palace; but these humble Christian men and women, whom Paul had probably converted in prison, since he had no chance to go anywhere else—these would take the Word where Paul could not hope to go.

And If No Door?

There must have been times when even for the Word there was no door that Paul could find. So it is in many parts of the world today. Nobody is expecting any great outbreak of Christianity in East Germany or Japan or Yemen or some places on the Amazon. When all doors are closed, as they are now in China, what do we do next? Do we write off missions as a lost cause? Paul did not. He wrote to his friends at Colossae to pray that God would open to him a door for the Word. You do not pray for what you already have. So now, when doors are shutting in many lands, we are poor Christians if we just accept this as final. For Japan, for Russia, Abyssinia—yes for Suburbia, that often pagan land, we must pray for the open door.

Eyes of the World - - - -

The eyes of some six hundred million persons were on the people of Oakland over the week-end. Not literally, of course, but figuratively. Thirty-two foreign exchange students attending West Virginia university, were guests of Rotarians and others Friday evening until Sunday afternoon.

They represented ten countries, with a total population of the number mentioned above. They were here to get a picture of how people in the United States live, how friendly and warm they are, how kind and considerate. As one of them remarked, "We aren't here particularly for an advanced degree. We can get that in our own country. But we want to know what the United States and its people are really like."

Their reaction to their welcome here over the week-end will be reflected in the attitude of their countrymen when they return and tell them about us. So it is not too difficult to visualize how the eyes of many people were upon us.

As far as we could determine, all were most enthusiastic about their reception and the hospitality of their hosts. Even though a number of them were of Muslim, Hindu and other religions, they were eager to attend the various churches of the community for new experiences. One Hindu sang a prayer song for a special number in St. Paul's church.

The occasion happened to be during International Brotherhood week, but such occasions would not have to be limited to just one period a year. It is a most effective way of letting these people of other countries know how we stand in regard to peace, equality, justice, freedom, and what is really in our minds.

Yes, we were on display this past week-end. The students were not on display. We were the ones being judged. We hope these students got a favorable picture. It could mean a boost in international good will and understanding, that no amount of communistic propaganda could change.

TO SCHOOL ON SKIS—These two second and third graders, along with an older sister who goes to Dermett Road school, have been using skis to get to the main road where they board a school bus to come to the Center street school in Oakland. For the umpth time this winter they used their skis on Saturday to come from their home on the Beckman peninsula, Deep Creek Lake, to catch the Arthur Fitzwater bus, a distance of some two miles. They are left to right, Jimmy Laskey, third grader, and Diane Laskey, second grader, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Laskey. Actually they leave their skis atop the school bus stop, so in order to make it more realistic Robert Rodebeaver, principal of the school, borrowed two pairs of skis for the picture.

Succeeds William H. Johnson In Forestry Post At Cumberland

The appointment of R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., assistant district forester for Garrett county, to succeed William H. Johnson as district forester for Western Maryland, was announced at Annapolis today by Director Joseph F. Kaylor of the Department of Forests and Parks. Mr. Thayer will transfer to the Cumberland office at an early date.

Mr. Johnson, former district forester, is being promoted to chief of Forest Protection in the Annapolis office.

Mr. Thayer is a native of this county. He was born in Oakland where his family has resided for many years. His grandfather was one of the early local advisers to the State Forest Service on forest conditions in Western Maryland.

Mr. Thayer, who served in World War II, is a graduate of the School of Forestry, University of West Virginia, and was first appointed by the Department of Forests and Parks on August 14, 1950, as a ranger for forest fire control. On January 1, 1951, he was promoted to the position of assistant district forester doing forest management work in the Westminster area.

Thayer later was transferred to Oakland to supervise the state-private cooperative forestry programs in Garrett county. His close cooperation with the landowners and his effectiveness in inducing private participation in state sponsored planting and forest management programs have evoked favorable local comment. Within a five year period landowners raised their planting of new forest stock from a few thousand to nearly a million seedlings annually.

In taking over as district forester for the four western counties, Thayer will undertake a widely expanded field of responsibilities, including the administrative management and development of state forest and park lands, roadside tree administration, forest fire protection for the four-county area, and the administration of state-private cooperative programs in the area.

Mr. Thayer's transfer and promotion is administratively effective immediately. Full transfer of duties, however, will not take place until about mid-June in order to give both Thayer and Mr. Johnson, his predecessor, opportunities for familiarizing themselves, step by step, with their new duties.

Mr. Thayer is married and has three children. His present residence is along the Golf Course road at the west edge of town.

Snow Plow Damaged

The snow blower of the State Roads commission was damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars last Wednesday night when it was struck by a tractor trailer of General Delivery, Inc., of Fairmont, W. Va., on U. S. route 50.

The blower was engaged in widening the through highway at the time the accident occurred. The truck on which the blower was mounted was only slightly damaged.

There was one other minor mishap during the recent storm. A state road plow, driven by Col Bittinger, scraped the side of the automobile of Eugene Nordeck, at the corner of Third and Green streets, last Saturday morning. Mr. Nordeck was rounding the corner from Third street, and the plow was traveling east on Green. The plow caught a portion of the frame back of the rear door.

Burns Are Fatal To Rowlesburg Girl

A six-year-old Rowlesburg girl died Tuesday, March 29, in Garrett County Memorial hospital from burns she received when her clothing caught fire Sunday morning at her home.

She was Barbara Dianne Lewis, daughter of Harley M. and Elouise Youker Lewis.

The girl was critically burned when she apparently got too close to a small gas stove. She was taken to the hospital and admitted.

The victim was born in Terra Alta, January 20, 1954. Besides her parents she is survived by seven brothers, and one sister, at home; her maternal grandfather of Sabraton, W. Va., and paternal grandparents of Terra Alta.

To Teach Math At Bridgewater College

John E. White of Hutton, has been appointed an assistant professor of mathematics at Bridgewater College. He is replacing Dr. Levi S. Shively who is retiring in June. Dr. Shively plans to move to La Verne, California, following his retirement.

Mr. White was graduated with honors from Bridgewater in June, 1958, where he majored in mathematics. Since then he has been doing graduate work in statistics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute on a fellowship. He will receive the Master of Science degree there in June.

Mr. White is a graduate of Southern High school, Oakland. He is married to the former Gene Ridder of Oakland. They have one child, a daughter.

Reminders Given To Prospective Voters

Persons were particularly reminded this week that the deadline for registering as a voter was Saturday, April 16. Persons not registered at that time will not be eligible to vote in the coming primary election on May 17th.

According to the election laws of the state the voter registration books are closed for a period of 30 days before a primary election, Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk, said. "The most important thing to remember is that if you do not register you cannot vote."

To be able to vote in this county a person must be a resident of the county for at least one year and be at least 21 years old at the time of the November 8th general election. Anyone eligible to vote in the general election also may vote in the primary.

Miss Rowan said that postal cards were mailed some time ago to 680 inactive voters, telling them that in order to vote they must register prior to the deadline. The office of the Board of Supervisors of Election is located in the basement of the Court House in Oakland. Hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, and on Saturdays, from 9 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon, except on state and national holidays.

Miss Rowan announced a number of outside registration dates as follows: April 1, Friendsville, fire hall, 3 to 7 p. m.; April 4, Grantsville, Harry Edwards building, 3 to 7 p. m.; April 5, Bloomington, fire hall, 2 to 7 p. m.; April 7, Kitzmiller, community center, 3 to 7 p. m.

150 Will Hear Dr. John Furbay Speak

The Inter-Club, Inter-City dinner meeting sponsored by the Oakland Rotary Club to be held at the Dennett Road School Friday evening will be attended by 150 or more Rotarians and Lions and their ladies. Members of the local Women's Civic and Business and Professional Women's Clubs, have also been invited and a number of acceptances have been received.

The internationally known Dr. John H. Furbay will be the speaker. Music will be furnished by the Senior Glee Club of Southern High School. The meeting will begin at 6:30 P. M.

Dr. Furbay comes to the community to address the county teachers association at a luncheon meeting April 1, and the Rotary Club secured his services for the special meeting on the evening of the same day. Dr. Furbay leaves Oakland after the meeting Friday night to fly to Purdue University, Indiana, for an afternoon speech Saturday, April 2. He holds the record of making 66 speeches in 65 days in 25 different countries of the world.

Deeper Look Into Watershed Law Is Taken This Week

Opposition Voiced Because Of Uncertainty As To Cost To Landowners

A deeper look into the law sanctioning the establishment of the Wilson Run Public Watershed association was undertaken this week after four persons last week had indicated their opposition.

Among those opposed to the organization which was established by the County Commissioners after a 21 to 5 vote last Tuesday are A. D. Naylor, Mrs. Homer L. Bennett, members of the Mitchell family and Clayton Winters.

Chief among the criticisms are these points: There is no indication as to what the ultimate cost might be; the law gives the County Commissioners the power to levy a tax that could be collected with the same force now used in collection of state and county taxes; and that the association would have the power of condemnation of property.

The law involved is Chapter 588 of the public local laws, growing out of Senate Bill 366, an act to provide for planning and carrying out of works of improvement for flood prevention or the conservation, development, utilization and disposal of water in watershed areas, and for cooperating with local, county, state and federal

Name Enumerators For 1960 Census

Appointment of census enumerators for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing in this area was announced by George R. Hughes, Jr., supervisor of the district office in Frederick.

Mr. Hughes said only those who had passed the qualifying tests had been appointed. The list of qualified applicants in each county far exceeded the number of jobs available.

Enumerator training took place March 28, 29 and 30 in Accident. Topics covered included canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the explanation of enumeration procedures to insure a complete and accurate count.

The names of the enumerators for the county include the following:

Carl Frazee, crew leader, route 2, Oakland.

Lucille M. Glass, star route, Frostburg; Floyd W. Baker, Grantsville; Harry C. Edwards, Grantsville; Leila G. Speicher, Accident; Fern Lininger, Friendsville; Irene C. Rodeheaver, Accident; Martha G. Glotfelty, Accident; Charles W. Harvey, route 1, Swanton.

Marie M. Smith, Kitzmiller; Jerry Paugh, Deer Park; Arsella T. Parsons, Mt. Lake Park; Raymond R Welch, Oakland; Mrs. Bessie Lohr, Gormania; Mary E. Martin, Alder street, Oakland; Sue Frazee, route 2, Oakland; Mrs. Ralph Humberson, Third street, Oakland; Alice S. Frederick, Oakland.

Mr. Frazee said the census would start on April 1st.

Threat of Flood Is Easing This Morning

Streams in this area, which had overflowed their banks in low areas yesterday began to recede this morning, relieving the anxiety of business men of Oakland.

The Little Youghiogheny river had reached its crest by early evening and Wilson Run which had been flowing freely, was about a foot from filling the available space in the tunnel under Second street and the Garrett National Bank building. A portion of this water was retarded by a partial dam on Fourth street.

Some of the merchants had moved their merchandise to higher places to minimize their loss should the waters get into the buildings.

When it began to rain about 10:30 last evening, the anxiety mounted and a number of persons kept an all-night watch on the streams. They had receded by morning and there were signs that skies were clearing.

Darrell Wolring, county roads supervisor, said several culverts in the Savage river area, had been unable to take care of all the water and had been washed out.

MORE BOOKS AVAILABLE—More books will be available to the school children and adults of the community beginning this Saturday as the result of the purchase of a new bookmobile by the Ruth Enlow library. The bookmobile is now on display for National Library Week and will start its regular visits to many places in the county within the next few weeks, as soon as the snow disappears. The unit has twice the capacity of the former bookmobile which has been in use over the past fifteen years. It has a Gerstenslager body with a Ford chassis, has power steering, power brakes and an automatic transmission. The color is green. Funds for its purchase came from a portion of a sum of money left to the library by the late Mrs. M. C. Clayton. Miss Edith Brock, librarian, tries to visit all schools weekly and biweekly and during the summer months makes 25 stops weekly where persons may pick up the latest in reading matter. During the winter snows she confined her visits to Kitzmiller, Accident and Deer Park communities.

Another Storm Hits Area But Spring Appears Sunday

At 6 o'clock last Thursday evening the sun was shining and it was all quiet and serene. At 6:45 a sudden snowstorm struck the area and before it was over it had dumped an additional three to four inches of snow on the county.

Accompanied by 45-mile wind gusts and dropping temperatures, the storm caused difficulty on U. S. route 40, west of Frostburg and sent beleaguered road crews back on a round-the-clock work schedule for what workers hoped would be the last one of the season.

The high winds whipped the swirling snow into a heavy fog which made visibility nearly zero and closed many secondary roads in the county for about the 10th time this year. Many termed it the "worst storm of the year" as far as intensity, although it was comparatively short-lived.

Snow continued to fall however, on Friday and Saturday with the temperature around the freezing mark. Schools were held on those days but Saturday's snow caused some anxiety about getting the school children home, so schools were called off at 1 p. m.

But a semblance of spring finally hit the area on Sunday. Bright, warming sunshine sent thermometers soaring and made the snow melt rapidly. The mercury rose to 55 on Sunday after an early morning low of 2 above, and went ten degrees higher on Monday to 65.

Huge snowbanks decreased materially in size over the two-day period and melting continued on Tuesday. Streams began to rise but there was little danger of flooding, although some streams were out of their banks.

Civil Defense Film To Be Shown April 3

"Alas, Babylon," story of survival in a small Florida town isolated after a fictionized H-bomb attack on the United States, will be televised on the "Playhouse 90" program Sunday, April 3, from 5 to 6:30. This is under the Civil Defense program.

The broadcast will be filled with information on such post-explosion subjects as the necessity for boiling water, worthlessness of money, how to locate a salt lick, how to perform an operation with a steak knife and the best way to make a sail out of a porch awning. When the H-bomb hits nearby towns and isolates the small village the townspeople are thrown back on their own primitive ingenuity for survival.

Speaking Workshop Planned Saturday

"Sharpen Up On Your Speaking" is the theme for the 4-H Speaking Workshop on April 2 at 1:15 p. m. in the County Extension Office, Post Office Building, Oakland.

This workshop is designed to help youth who are interested in learning about speaking, whether it is in conversation with friends or before a group. Individuals participating will have the choice of selecting a beginner's or advanced class.

The Assistant Agents—Mrs. Johanna Sgrignoli and P. Rankin Lusby will conduct the program.

OUTSTANDING ATHLETE—Terry Colaw, basketball and football star, was voted the outstanding athlete of the year at Southern High school and was presented a trophy last Friday night at the Teen Age Center celebration. Presenting the award is Fred Tichnell, manager of the club.

Fined For Attempt To Wreck Tavern

Five young men were apprehended Tuesday morning for attempting to wreck the Maple View Tavern along the Deer Park road on Monday night.

They were specifically charged with being drunk and disorderly at the tavern, knocking down a stove pipe, upsetting a table, breaking glasses and bottles and punching a hole through the plasterboard on the wall.

They were listed on the docket of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney as James Dale Sharpless, Robert Lewis Sharpless, Nathan Estel Tasker, Milford George Tasker and Roy Francis Sharpless, all of Vindex.

They pleaded guilty before Magistrate Maroney on Tuesday morning and each fined $25 and costs, or 25 days in the county jail. Two of the young men, James Sharpless and Roy Sharpless paid their fines and were released. The others were expected to also raise their fines.

Carlton Lee Mark Shillingburg, of near Steyer, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery against his wife and at a hearing before Magistrate Maroney on March 25, was sentenced to serve 11 months in the House of Correction. On a drunk and disorderly charge he also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail but this sentence was suspended.

Grantsville Blood Donors Top Quota

Blood donors in the Grantsville area topped the quota of 85 pints by 33 when the Red Cross bloodmobile unit from Johnstown came to that community on Monday. They contributed a total of 118 pints, and among the donors were nine who reached the Gallon Club.

The complete report was given by Mrs. C. G. Bradley, chairman, as follows: 163 persons scheduled, 104 kept appointment, 34 walk-ins, 16 rejections, 11 first time donors, 15 donors were given as definite replacements.

The nine members of the gallon club were Edgar Allen Bender, Dale Kinsinger, Harry I. Benwick, Ralph Buckel, Rev. Harry Drontz, Mrs. Evelyn Shawley, Guy Livengood, Ed Bartholomew and Paul Marin.

Assisting Mr. Bradley as vice-chairman was Mrs. C. O. Bender.

Criminal Court Takes One Day

Two Plead Guilty To Statutory Rape But Sentence Is Deferred For Study

The March Term of the Garrett County Court was concluded on the same day it began. In fact it took less than one hour to dispose of most of the cases set for trial.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley explained to the petit jurors who had been ordered to report for duty that the number of cases and resultant action was not due to the county being so clean or law enforcement officers lax. He said that a number of criminal cases had been disposed of through the right of a person to waive his right to indictment by a grand jury and the right to ask for an immediate trial.

A number of traversers had availed themselves of this opportunity during the past six months.

Two Plead Guilty

Dayton Albert Pritts and Edmund Junior Bittinger both entered pleas of guilty to the first count of indictments of statutory rape. Judge Fraley deferred sentencing until he has made an investigation of the two men from information furnished by the state parole and probation officer.

A case against Charles Pomraning for non-support of minor child, was marked "stet" by the state's attorney. It was learned the points in the case were being tried in a divorce case in Annapolis.

Another trial against Jack Hardesty for assault was continued. Hardesty was tried at the last term of court and the jury was unable to agree. Another case against Virginia M. Bowman for non-support of minor child, was nolle prossed.

Among the appeal cases some were continued because of the inability of Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., Oakland attorney, to represent the defendants.

He fell on the ice and broke his ankle some few days ago and was not able to appear in court. The disposition of the appeal cases:

Donald Eugene Moran, appeal case from Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., for exceeding 50 miles per hour, nolle prossed.

Cecil William Welch, Oakland, appeal from Sanders on conviction of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, nolle prossed.

Superintendent Says Saturday School Is Highly Successful

Even though faced with an additional day of bad weather conditions, the first attempt of making up a few lost school days on Saturdays proved highly successful according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. Attendance increased considerably Saturday over that of the day before. A number of school buses were still snowbound and portions of many bus routes were still closed, thus making it impossible for some of the children along the routes closed by drifts to get to school.

Mr. Hawkins said the vast majority of parents gave full cooperation to the school authorities in the project, and expressed their choice in favor of making up three days on Saturdays rather than running three days longer in June. It was solely due to requests of parents not to run school late in June that the school board decided to experiment with the only alternative.

The only week when there will be six days of school will be that of April 4th when school will be held Saturday, April 9. The other Saturday scheduled for make up is April 23. However, Easter Monday falls during this week and the law requires Easter Monday to be a holiday, so there will be only five days of school.

Making up three lost days on Saturdays will permit schools to close Monday, June 13. This is approximately the same time of the month that schools closed two years ago when nine days were lost due to bad weather. This year eleven days have been lost. Closing of schools on June 13 will places Garrett County's closing date ahead of a number of other county school systems in the state, some of which will run through the third week in June. The school laws makes it mandatory to keep schools in session not less than 180 days each year.

Act Now To Control Dutch Elm Disease

The American elm is a valuable shade tree as well as a street tree in Maryland. There are many beautiful elms within the State. Preventive measures and a program of control must be followed to keep elm trees healthy and reduce losses to Dutch elm disease, according to Dr. L. D. Weaver, University of Maryland state plant pathologist. A good control program should include pruning, fertilizing and spraying, he adds.

Infected elm trees may suddenly wilt in midsummer or may decline over a period of years. In diseased trees brown streaks appear on the wood under the bark. This condition may be found in the twigs.

Sanitation or pruning is an essential part of the control program. Elm bark beetles are attracted to weak and dying trees. If Dutch elm disease is in the area, the chances are that beetles entering the tree will carry the fungus with them. Any elm tree with bark beetles present is a hazard. Therefore, remove elm trees that are weak or low in vigor. Also, prune dying limbs that have been damaged by icy storms or wind. Removal of diseased trees, particularly those that have Dutch elm disease and the pruning of damaged or weak limbs is very important for conservation of elms in a community, he says.

Fertilizing elms to maintain growth and vigor tends to reduce the number of bark beetles. On average soils along streets or in lawns, fertilize elms with a 5-10-5 mixture applied at the rate of 2 pounds for each 1 inch of trunk diameter, measured about 4 feet from the ground.

Either broadcast the fertilizer under the spread of the limbs or place the fertilizer in holes 2 feet apart over the area covering the feeding roots. Holes about 15 inches deep may be made with a crowbar and the total fertilizer distributed in the holes. In dry weather, water may be added to dissolve the fertilizer. Greatest benefit is from an early spring application about the time the buds are breaking, or just before growth, Dr. Weaver says.

Bark beetles start emerging from old elm wood and fly to other trees the last of April. However, trees can be sprayed more effectively before the leaves come out; hence the spray is applied at this time of year, points out Ted Bissell, University of Maryland Extension entomologist.

Application of DDT spray just before the buds open will help to ward off the disease and save the trees. A power spray machine, either a mist blower or a hydraulic sprayer is required for the job.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there!

Well, spring has finally set in and so has spring fever. It seems so dog-gone strange to see the earth again. Here's a question: Why is spring fever?

I hope you all enjoyed yourselves as much as I did last Friday night. I really had a ball. The preparations for the Hop were difficult and many but with fine, hard working committees, how could it fail?

There have been inquiries as to whether Billy Rice was really Billy Rice. Yes, ma'm and sir. That was Billy Rice. Recording artists do not sing the songs that they have recorded. They lip sync or synchronize their lips to their recordings. I felt bad because you all seemed to think it was faked. At any hop Billy Rice goes to he does exactly what he did up here, lip sync.

The Marvells were at a slight disadvantage because they had but one mike. But really, they were great and if they ever come back I hope we can have two mikes.

We will try to have talent from Pittsburgh or somewhere else about once every six weeks or a month. This will help keep the monotony of plain record hops to a minimum.

Bob Oliverio went over very well with the two numbers he did. "To the Aisle" was the best one. Everyone was quiet and listened to the words. This is good.

Don't forget Teen club tomorrow night in the armory. I'll have all the top tunes and we'll have a ball. See you then.

Letters to the Editor

Accident, Maryland
March 22, 1960

The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Mr. Editor:

On behalf of parents of pupils stranded in Accident during last week's freak snowstorm, I wish to express through the columns of your newspaper our sincere appreciation to those who so promptly and generously took the children into their homes. We feel that the hospitality of the townspeople, together with the able decisions of Mr. Garrett, the school bus drivers, and the men of the County Roads Department, turned what might have become a disastrous experience on snow-blocked roads into a pleasant and enjoyable overnight visit with friends. For this we are deeply grateful.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. James H. Glotfelty

Accident, Maryland

Letter to the Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

In regard to the recent misfortune of having students stranded at Accident Elementary School, I wish to express my thanks to Mr. Garrett, principal, and some of his staff of teachers, who handled the situation in such a fine and efficient way. On the second attempt to bring these children to their homes behind snow plows, Mr. Garrett accompanied the buses to see that the children were returned safely to their homes, however, they had to turn back and return to the school due to the closed road.

Also to be commended are the fine people of Accident who opened their homes and took these children in for the night. The thoughts and comforts of these children were considered above all else.

It is at times like this when we can appreciate the friendliness and kindness of the people of Garrett County who in times of unfortunate circumstances such as this are ready to be of service.

Having two children stranded at Accident, I feel that they are "none the worse" for their experience, and perhaps benefited in many ways.

Again thanks to all those who helped in any way to see to the comfort and safety of these marooned children.

Mrs. Robert O. Glotfelty

Watershed Law

agencies in carrying out the provisions of the act by establishing associations and prescribing duties and functions of the associations.

A meeting was held last Tuesday to give people an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the type of association proposed. Following a vote by those present the County Commissioners authorized the establishment of the organization with the next step being a meeting on Tuesday, April 5, to elect a board of directors composed of three property owners.

Persons familiar with the bill have pointed out that it advances step by step, with nothing being done unless by a majority of the property owners involved, who are local taxpayers. The first step was a petition and a report of the need for the association. The next step is to name the board of directors. The third step is the formation of a work plan of the watershed with recommendations for impoundments for flood control purposes. This was previously done by the Soil Conservation Service, and this will be presented to the organization for approval or disapproval. If the work plan is not acceptable it can be voted down.

The work plan would detail any costs of the project. The acquisition of any land needed would be an associatea expense as well as any maintenance. Construction of the dams is to be borne by the Federal government. It was pointed out that when the discussion of flood control dams first came up, the County Commissioners and the Town of Oakland agreed to contribute $40,000 as their share in the project. The Federal government later absorbed this cost, leaving no original outlay by these two bodies. Carl Schell, president of the County Commissioners, indicated last Tuesday that his group would share in any expense for easements and other costs, since it was obvious that any lessening of damage from flood would be of benefit to the county as well as to the town involved.

Another step explained following the naming of the board of directors and the formulation of a work plan was the appointment of three or more viewers whose job it would be to assess the danger of floods to the land and to assess the benefits. Here again, it was pointed out, the landowners in the association would either accept or reject.

While it was admitted that it would be impossible to estimate the exact cost to a landowner, it was stressed that the responsibility was strictly local and that no group of citizens would vote to tax themselves unreasonably. It was this uncertainty, apparently, that caused most of the opposition, other than the ever constant danger of what could happen when an association is empowered to condemn property and the Commissioners are empowered to levy a special tax.

The law gives any person in the association the right to appeal to the courts if they feel they have been wronged. The stress was solely on the fact that local people administer the act and that at any time they care to they can "throw the whole thing out the window."

The bill is a lengthy one but is available in the office of the County Commissioners to interested persons. It is also printed in the latest record of the proceedures of the legislature.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Many Americans who have been watching the relentless expansion of Communist power throughout the world are gravely concerned for the future of our nation—and mankind's freedom. They are aware that in 40 years of extraordinary success the Communists have already achieved most of Lenin's blueprint for conquest, which has been summarized and paraphrased as follows: "First, we will take eastern Europe; next the masses of Asia; then we shall encircle that last bastion of capitalism, the United States of America. We shall not have to attack; it will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands."

With infiltration, control of propaganda outlets, and cunning political maneuvering—while our nation looked on with only mild interest—the Communists gobbled up eastern Europe; then most of the masses of Asia, including China's 500 million. And now we witness Cuba, 90 miles from Florida, being converted into a Communist stronghold, the base for widespread Latin American activities. Thus Lenin's blueprint for expansion, no matter how fantastic it may have sounded through the years, has become a reality. The U. S. A. is encircled, and within our borders the Communists are undermining our will to resist.

Last week a group of 12 people met one evening in this town of Searcy, Arkansas, population 8,000. In the group was a business man, a college professor, a school executive, the vice-president of a corporation, a preacher, the wife of an industrialist, two women office workers, a college student, a housewife. . .people drawn from various walks of life. They were meeting to plan a month's work on behalf of their nation. They are dedicated to the cause of freedom. They know that freedom isn't free. They are making personal sacrifices in work to pay for freedom—for themselves and for their children.

At the meeting a film on Communism was screened. A book review was given. The group's circulating library was discussed. Prospective recruits were listed. Each member of the group reported on his activities for February. Each had written a number of letters—to government leaders in Washington, pointing out, respectfully, things that might be done to strengthen our nation; to government leaders, complimenting an action; to the head of a nationwide organization, supporting a recent statement; to a corporation executive, making a suggestion; and so on.

This was the regular monthly meeting of the John Birch Society in Searcy. Across the nation, hundreds of similar small groups were meeting. The John Birch Society has one simple long-range purpose: to work for less government, more responsibility, and a better world. One of its shortrange objectives is to become a citizen force capable of defeating the aims of Communism.

It is a unique movement. Its founder is Robert Welch, nationally-known Massachusetts industrialist. Fifteen months ago, having already given up his business responsibilities to devote his full time to the movement, he invited eleven prominent American leaders to a meeting in Indianapolis. For two days he presented the shocking facts-of-life in our world today. Then he outlined the plan for the movement he was founding. His goal, he told them, was a working John Birch group in every American community. Only people, dedicated and working at the task could protect freedom and its blessings. He asked for their moral, financial and physical support. Whether he got it or not, he told the 11 prominent Americans, he was going forward with his plan.

He got their immediate and enthusiastic support. Today The John Birch Society chapters are active in 20 states and are being formed in all 50. The movement may be contacted by writing the John Birch Society, Belmont 78, Massachusetts.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Better Health Through Knowledge

To Sing or Not

- Hair Growth
- Fern Test
- Throat Lumps

Q. Should a boy whose voice has started to change be stopped from singing? Our chorus teacher says that this is not necessary.

A. This question has been debated for a long time. Most modern experts apparently agree that choir singing during the change is harmful. Schubert and Haydn are supposed to have lost their voices that way. Serious vocal training should not be begun by boys before age 18 or 19 and by girls before 17 years of age.

Q. I have thick, baby-fine hair. It has not been cut in two years and is just to my shoulders. Why won't it grow?

A. Hair length is an individual matter. One person's hair will grow shoulder-length and stop, while others can grow waist-length hair. Hair changes may suggest possible thyroid dysfunction although this may not apply in your case at all. You might consult a doctor if for no other reason than to rule out conditions that could affect hair growth.

Q. I recently discussed a personal problem with a doctor who mentioned performing a fern test. What in the world does this mean?

A. The doctor no doubt referred to a test which depends upon the "ferning" of cervical secretion. If this material, obtained during the middle week of the menstrual cycle, is spread on a glass slide and allowed to dry, it crystallizes in a fern-like pattern. The design is much like that seen on a frosted windowpane. Normally, cervical secretion obtained during the extremes of the menstrual cycle does not "fern." The test is used in dealing with the problem of sterility and other conditions.

Q. At times I seem to have a lump in my throat. The lump doesn't go away when I swallow unless I eat something. After an hour or so it's back. What causes this?

A. There are several possibilities. The sensation of a lump in the throat can be due to the presence of a growth, to throat irritation resulting from excessive smoking or drinking, or to emotional factors. The "emotional lump" is probably due to nervous spasm of the upper portion of the esophagus (the muscular tube leading from the mouth to the stomach). "Emotional lumps" very often go away for a time after eating but this is not a sure sign that the lump is just due to "nerves." A medical examination is certainly called for if the "lump" is persistent. The situation would be urgent if there was definite pain or difficulty in swallowing, with backflow of material.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

About The Questionnaires—The questionnaires are coming in by the hundreds, and we are tabulating the results as rapidly as our regular work permits. We should like to report the results before the end of the month. If you have not yet sent in your answers, I would suggest that you do so very soon.

A questionnaire like ours gives everyone the opportunity to make known his stand—and particularly to make known his number one peeves. Ours was not designed to force a "Yes" or "No" decision on questions about which one has given very little if any thought. If on some question your feelings are not strong enough to prompt you to give a definite "Yes" or a definite "No" without hesitation, then you should skip along to the next question.

In this connection, may I remind you that your Senator is constantly called on for either a "Yea or a "Nay"—never a "Maybe", never a qualified answer.

"Foreign Aid" Means Mutual Security—We the American people seek to defend ourselves and to assure our own security. This is one of the purposes of the "Foreign Aid" program. I believe that for every dollar we spend on "Foreign Aid" we save several dollars on "Defense". In the President's budget for the next fiscal year, there is earmarked $4,175,000,000 for the Mutual Security Program. This is only 5 per cent of the total budget. Nearly half of the Mutual Security allotment—$2,000,000,000, to be exact—is for Military Assistance, and $724,000,000 is for Defense Support.

In presenting the program to Congress, President Eisenhower listed certain fundamental propositions:

—To keep the peace, the free world must remain defensively strong;

—The achievement of a peace which is just depends upon promoting world economic progress, particularly among the people of the less developed nations;

—The maintenance of the defense strength of the free world, and help to the less developed but determined and hard working nations to achieve a reasonable rate of economic growth, are a common responsibility of the free world community.

Money For Space Exploration—The Senate has received from the House the bill authorizing the NASA, the Space agency, to spend $915,000,000 during the next fiscal year. The figure is exactly the sum the President requested. The NASA bill provides authority to spend $170,760,000 for salaries and administrative expenses, $122,787,000 for construction and equipment, and $621,453,000 for research and development. The latter includes $107,750,000 for manned space flights and $131,308,000 for work on the huge Saturn multi-stage space booster to be used on advanced space flight projects.

Pioneer V, our little satellite with a big mission, launched on March 11, is still going great guns. It was designed to circle the Sun in an orbit between the orbit of the Earth and that of Venus, roughly speaking. Its radio transmitter was designed to send back to Earth information gathered 50,000,000 miles away!

Two New Post Offices For Maryland—Postmaster General Summerfield tells me that the contract has been signed for the construction and lease to the Post Office Department of a New Post Office Building in Gaithersburg, to be located on the east side of Summit Avenue, between the B. & O. Station and the Deer Park Civic Center. Also a modern Post Office Building has been authorized for Berwyn; the Department is asking for competitive bids; the successful bidder will build a new structure according to specifications; and will rent it to the Department under a long-term lease

Re-Shuffle In Congress, Due To Census—The Census is going to change things. The number of U. S. Representatives for each State is governed by the State's population, while the total number of seats in the House of Representatives remains at 435. This means that States which have grown in population more than the average, generally speaking, will get more Representatives than at present, while States which have not kept up with the over-all average increase will have fewer Representatives than at present. Maryland is one of the States which has increased in population more than the average and it looked for a time as though we would get an additional Representative, but the addition of two new States, Alaska and Hawaii, with at least a Representative apiece, may spoil our chances—due to the 435 limitation on the total number regardless of general population increase.

Hot And Cold Running Pedestrians—Something's afoot! The pedestrian is making a comeback. Cities and towns across the nation are experimenting with downtown shoppers' malls—pleasant, car-free areas. In one city, black sidewalks have been installed along 40 blocks of the central business district. Result: the special absortive coating has cut down temperature above the sidewalks by 10 degrees. (Nothing is said about the resulting hot foot, but anyway it's a cool head you really need for shopping.) Now, if someone will just get going on those conveyor-belt sidewalks—.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"MORE JUSTICE IS FOR MARYLAND"

A ratio of one for very [illegible] million is most encouraging if the subject is disease but most discouraging if the subject under discussion is justice. Yet for the past 21 years the state of Maryland with its nearly three million inhabitants has been served by two federal district court judges. If it were not for the dedicated, conscientious Labor of Judges Thomsen and Waltins plus the unselfish contribution of retired Judge Chesnut, the median interval between the filing and the ultimate disposition of cases begun in the district of Maryland would be even longer than the inordinate period of 16.1 months for fiscal 1959.

And every day brings more cases before the over-worked judges whose task of lightening bulging dockets will surely become that of two men attempting to empty Chesapeake Bay all by themselves. As a lawyer long familiar with this distressing problem, I introduced legislation last year providing for a third district judge in Maryland. Shortly before the end of the last session, a bill similar in its provisions to mine was reported out and placed on the Senate calendar where it rests today. This year in the House on omnibus judgeship bill, including a district judge for the Free State, was reported recently to the full Judiciary Committee.

This burst of legislative action, however, is deceptive. Despite the obvious and admitted need for more judges in every district in the country, the majority of both Houses may prefer to delay remedial legislation until after November 8 in anticipation of judicial appointments more favorable to their political affiliation because of the new face in the White House. The American voter may well prove their optimism to be unfounded.

However, it has always been my belief that justice delayed is justice denied and rather than allow Congressional action to be deferred for another year, I intend to push with every means at my command for passage of a federal judgeship bill this year. On a more local level, the people of Baltimore will soon have an opportunity to affirm their trust and respect for the city's Supreme Bench and the "sitting judge" principle. It is my sincere, and earnest hope that Baltimoreans will demonstrate by their vote their recognition of a useful judicial principle and the excellent work done by such capable members as Judges Foster and Prendergast.

Heavy Snow Drains County Road Funds

Heavy snows of the past two months have depleted Garrett county's road funds, and the County Commissioners this week were seeking some badly needed assistance from Federal and State sources.

The county has had a total of some 115 inches of snow and in March the snowfall measured 33 inches. Snow removal costs for labor, equipment, supplies and incidental items totaled $81,000 up to the end of last week, and several thousand items have been added since that time.

The Commissioners conferred with Rep. John R. Foley, Saturday, and asked if he would contact officials of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads to ascertain if some help could be given the county on road projects. Any assistance obtained would go to aid the county in continuing its road program.

When the snow removal costs are so high the construction and repair work are curtailed during the ensuing summer.

Carl Schell, president of the Commissioners, also had a meeting scheduled Tuesday with Governor Tawes to discuss the possibility of emergency funds that might be available to alleviate the financial drain on the county. Schell said the commissioners had discussed the problem with U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall last week, at which time they also requested his assistance.

Attending the meeting with Foley were Elra F. Garletts and Fred B. Glotfelty. Foley said a number of Garrett county residents visited his office over the weekend to ascertain if any jobs were available.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived in U. S. for talks with President Eisenhower on Russia's nuclear test ban proposal.

A one-day rebellion of two convicts in Tennessee ended when they released nineteen hostages.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

MEN ON THE MOON

Director of the Franklin Institute's Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia said, "I believe it will be possible by 1980 to establish a community on the moon to explore outer space and to furnish tools for reconnaissance of the solar system. We who live in this space age no longer say, "It can't be done!" Authorities on space travel believe that within 20 years a community of earthmen will live in plastic domed villages, pioneering in space, extracting water from the rocks and energy from the sun and living on special foods scientifically prepared. If he does, rest assured he will ruin everything there just as he has down here. Man's heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked so that lust, greed, selfishness, hatred, and all sorts of crime make this present world of sin. A change of location will not effect a change in men's natures. Men need the transforming power of God that comes through the new birth (John 3:1-5) to become a new creature. (II Corinthians 5:17). That is why when God seeks out from among the peoples of this world, some to inhabit the planet called Heaven, He takes only those transformed through the new birth. Jesus said plainly, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God."

Here is shown a group which, in its day, was probably well known in this section, but which now poses another problem in identification.

Some fifteen members of the Horse Shoe Run Cornet Band turned out this day more than a half century ago to pose for the cameraman—but this is one of those cases where the event or the persons involved are not at the moment known.

Our readers have come through in the past with some ditlicult and accurate identifications of scenes and persons out of the past, and perhaps some one with a musical memory can shed light on the band and its musicians.

PHARMACIES ARE INSPECTED OFTEN

There are many local, state and federal laws regulating the practice of pharmacy. They are needed because we deal in health. The medicines we supply affect your very life.

INSPECTORS COME UNEXPECTEDLY

We never know when one will visit us to take sealed samples of our drugs to be analyzed for potency, freshness and quality. They check to see if our medicines are stored properly.

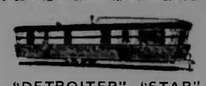
WE WELCOME INSPECTIONS

They remind us pharmacy is an important and serious profession. We appreciate the suggestions we get to help us operate a better pharmacy.

YOU ARE SAFER WHEN YOU GET ANY MEDICINE FROM A PHARMACIST

You can depend on our medicines and healthaids to always be potently fresh. We know how to protect them.

WHY GAMBLE WITH YOUR HEALTH?



Rely on us for your medicines and healthaids. There is no good reason why you should ever get them from anyone but a pharmacist.

SIX-PASSENGER CAR OR STATION SEDAN ...CORVAIR IS BOTH!

A wonderfully useful folding seat makes every Corvair two cars in one. Just one quick flip and you increase the luggage and parcel space to 28.9 cubic feet. And just as simply, you're back to comfortable six-passenger capacity. It's standard equipment ... and extraordinarily practical.

Corvair does car-pool duty with the biggest and best of them. Going to work or school or out for the evening, you've got a genuine six-seater. As for carting around piles of stuff instead of people, just look at Corvair's station-sedan load space with the rear seat folded. And when that's full you can start on the trunk.

Corvair, you see, is no ordinary compact car. No others are so versatile, so ingeniously engineered—with independent suspension at all four wheels, an air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or antifreeze. You just can't compare anything else coming out these days with a Corvair. Drive one ... soon.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	18	1-5
Monday	Psalms	141	1-3
Tuesday	I Peter	5	5-7
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	Psalms	119	54-56
Friday	Psalms	61	1-4
Saturday	Matthew	6	9-13

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

Master Teacher

Lesson for April 3, 1960

PEOPLE WHO knew Jesus of Nazareth thought of him as a teacher. Jesus thought of himself as a teacher. The title given him most often in the Gospels is Teacher. When he rose from the dead and Mary Magdalene recognized him, she called him Rabboni, My Teacher. Jesus said to his disciples (a word which itself means pupils), "You call me teacher and Lord, and you are right, for so I am." (John 13:13.) Jesus expected his teachings to be taken seriously. "Why do you call me 'Lord, Lord" and not do what I tell you?" he asked. (Luke 6:46) A man who hears Jesus' sayings and does not do them, is like a man building a house on sand. (Matt. 7:26). "The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life," he said. (John 6:63.) It is absurd, it is even wicked, for a man to claim to be a Christian, and by-pass the teachings of Jesus.

Dr. Foreman

Jesus' Theme

When we hear that some one is a teacher, the first thing we ask, if we are interested, is: What does he teach? Jesus' great theme, his subject, was a tremendous one: LIFE. One reason why he is called the Master Teacher is that his theme was the most important, the most all-inclusive, in the world. We can make this more definite. We can put this in three ways. 1. Jesus taught about Life in the Kingdom of God, or to put this another way, he taught what it means to be a citizen of the Kingdom of God, or—to say it still another way—he taught what kind of behavior God requires of those who want to live in his kingdom. 2. Jesus taught about Life as God wills it. Everybody lives somehow, or at least exists; and if you look about you, or if you will be square with yourself, you can see a great many people living to please themselves and never giving a thought to what God thinks of them and their doings. That is as stupid as pigs taking over a farm and running it to suit the pigs. One would think it only common sense to try to find what God's will is, and live by that light. The natural question is: Who can tell us what God's will is? The Christian answer is: Jesus has shown us the will of God. And if the next question is: How do we know that Jesus was right? we have Jesus' answer: "If any man's will is to do His [God's] will, he shall know whether the teaching is from God." In other words, try it and see! 3. Jesus taught about Life at its best. For that is precisely what it is to live by God's pattern, it is to discover what life can really be at its highest level.

Jesus' Methods

Jesus had various ways of teaching, but they can all be boiled down to two. One was a straightforward statement in plain language. More often, however, he taught by parables, or as we would say today, by story-illustrations. For this reason the next three months in this series are going to be devoted to the Sermon on the Mount, which is mostly the first method, and to the parables, or some typical parables. The first method is direct. Jesus will come up with a statement that surprises the ear, shocks the mind, wakes up the careless listener and sends him on his way (sometimes) wishing he could forget what the Teacher said, it makes him so uncomfortable. Some of these direct statements are very plain, others are very puzzling. "Woe unto you when all men speak well of you" is one of these. At first that sounds all wrong, and yet when you mull over it a while you can see how right it is.

Why Parables

Jesus' favorite method was the parable or story-form. He would tell some simple story, but his listeners — some of them — would understand that what the Teacher was aiming to get across was not the story itself but some truth or idea or warning wrapped up in the story. Mark tells us why Jesus used this method: is was not to make truth easier to understand, but harder! Does this make sense? It does indeed; but only the patient and persistent seekers for truth find it out.

Gains Recognition For 1959 Safety Record

Monongahela Power Company gained national recognition for its 1959 safety record, officials of the utility company have been informed by the National Safety Council.

Competing with 25 other electric companies of similar size in the Council's annual public utilities competition, Monongahela ran a close third with a record of 1.05 lost-time accidents per million man-hours of exposure.

The average for the entire group of 25 companies was 4.32. Dallas Power & Light Company, of Dallas, Texas, placed first with a record of .83. Second and barely nosing out Monongahela was Southwestern Electric Power, of Shreveport, La., with a mark of 1.01.

It is the fifth time in 10 years that Monongahela has placed among the first three in this competition. In 1952 they won second honors.

Earlier this year the electric company gained permanent possession of the Thompson safety trophy in competition with its sister companies in the West Penn Electric System, by virture of its best accident prevention record in the history of the company. For the calendar year 1959 only four lost-time accidents representing a total of 109 lost-time days, were recorded by the company's working force of nearly 1,800 people.

Happy Birthday, Maryland!—On Friday, March 25, we celebrated the birthday of our great State. It was exactly 327 years ago that colonists landed at a Potomac island just off where St. Mary's City now stands. Here they founded what subsequently became the State of Maryland, called the Free State. One of Lord Calvert's first edicts was that every person had the right to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience, and this became a basic principle and ideal. The Maryland Act of Toleration of 1649 was the first such document to espouse the idea of freedom of religion, and was the forerunner of the theme of freedom in the American Constitution. Maryland Day is important to all freedom-loving people of our Nation.

Captain John Smith explores coast of Maryland, June, 1608.

Seat of government moved from St. Mary's to Annapolis, 1694.

Baltimore-Town established, 1729.

Mason and Dixon begin survey of Maryland boundary, 1763.

Maryland declares her independence, June 3, 1776.

Washington College, Chestertown, chartered, 1782.

Annapolis becomes temporary National Capital, Nov. 26, 1783.

Washington resigns commission in Annapolis, Dec. 23, 1783.

Maryland cedes District of Columbia to United States, March 30, 1791.

Bombardment of Fort McHenry; Francis Scott Key, writes "The Star Spangled Banner," Sept 12, 1814.

Beginning of work on first railroad in America, (The Baltimore and Ohio), July 4, 1828.

First telegraph line in the world built between Baltimore and Washington, 1844.

Naval Academy opened at Annapolis, Oct. 10, 1845.

Stream Valley Parks and Flood Control—Following the deletion by a subcommittee from the Interior Appropriations Bill of funds for stream valley parks in Maryland, I scheduled hearings before our District Fiscal Affairs Subcommittee on my own bill which would increase the authorization for the necessary funds under the Capper-Cramton Act. In opening the hearings, I stressed the fact that the Capper-Cramton Program has been a successful partnership between Maryland and the Federal government, and offered as my considered opinion the statement that the failure on the part of the Congress to appropriate the necessary funds for the continuation of the program would be an abrogation of an agreement which Maryland entered into in good faith and has honored over the years. I had previously appealed to the full Senate Appropriations Committee to reverse the decision of its subcommittee. When the Capper-Cramton Program was inaugurated 30 years ago, it provided a partnership dedicated to preserving the beauty of the National Capital area and, at the same time, reducing the danger of soil erosion and floods.

"Where Does Your Charity Dollar Go?"—I have had inserted in the Congressional Record excerpts from an article in a recent issue of Look Magazine which exposes the rackets which victimize many people about this time every year—drives for all kinds of Causes, appeals for your charity dollars. The money you give goes for enormous salaries and enormous "expenses", and very little for research and charity.

Elaborate accounting techniques are employed by many "charities" to make their money-raising costs smaller than they are. The correct figures are closely guarded. However, investigators for Look uncovered three "local" budgets: 40% of the American Heart Association take, 55% of the American Cancer Society take, and 55% of the National Tuberculosis Association take went for salaries alone. Then, of course, there are "expenses". One year, the expense and travel account of one official of the National Foundation (polio) came to $72,000. You can travel quite a distance in one year for $72,000. Some of your money went to buy a new sports car for this same official—a birthday present from the Foundation. Some of your money for the National Foundation pays a high - priced and high - living "specialist" to travel abroad every year to look for photogenic children, and to pay another public relations expert $25,000 for putting on a one-evening affair, the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Concert.

The traditional split is: 40 per cent for the solicitor, 40 per cent for the promoter, 20 per cent for the charity, if any really exists. Too often, however, charity gets nothing. If you were one of the thousands who contributed to the National Cancer Hospital, you were duped, there is no such hospital, and no patients were ever treated.

We're Indepted To The Russians—If we didn't have the Russians, we wouldn't be able to say whether we were ahead or behind.

"Forgive Them! They Know Not—"—We note that 65 faculty members and graduate zoology students in a big American university have signed a pledge never to work on germ warfare projects, despite the well-known fact that both Soviet Russia and the United States are energetically conducting researches in this field. We hope that the students who signed this pledge are only young, impressionable idealists to whom time will teach the perilous folly of letting your avowed enemy get better armed than yourself. As for the professors, we could not say here in a newsletter read by the whole family what we think about them.

Questionnaire Correspondence—It is not possible for me to answer all the nice letters which accompany returned questionnaires. Many of you wrote in detail explaining or discussing more of your answers. I am carefully reading all comments, but I will not have time to answer you individually. I want you to know however, that I sincerely appreciate having the benefit of your views.

Bishop Walsh Sentenced To 20 Years By Reds—Last week I spoke in the Senate about the Red Chinese sentencing Bishop James E. Walsh to a 20-year prison term on the trumped-up charge of espionage. In the Peking dispatch about the sentence he was referred to as a "veteran United States imperialist spy." To those who know Bishop Walsh, such a charge is fantastic. He was in China as a missionary, a representative of Catholic Foreign Mission Society, concerned with the souls of the Chinese, not with politics. Bishop Walsh had been held under house arrest from 1951 to 1955 in a single guarded room in Shanghai. In 1956 the Reds released him, giving him permission to leave the country. He remained, feeling that his flock needed his moral support more than ever. However, like Mindszenty in Hungary and Stepinac in Yugoslavia, Walsh was a symbol of resistance. And so, in October 1958, the Reds arrested him again. That was the last anyone heard from him until the announcement of his sentence. The atrocity of the Reds is brought close to home with the imprisonment by the Chinese of this missionary whom we all loved, who never did anything worse to the Chinese than to comfort and console and counsel their people.

As I said in the Senate, I hope that those people in this country who have been soft on Communism and those who, while professing Christianity, have supported Communism will be unable to force from their minds the picture of this man of God suffering the torment of his dungeon.

Fire Levels Home, Damages Another In Elk Garden Mishap

Fire of undetermined origin leveled one home and gutted another early last Friday morning at Elk Garden, W. Va.

Three fire companies fought the blaze in freezing temperature during a blinding snowstorm. A fourth truck that started for the town from Keyser wrecked at the foot of Alleghany Front but no one was injured. The O.K. and department was called but the accelerator on the pumper was found to be broken. Kitzmiller and Deer Park companies answered the alarm, along with the company from Mc-Coole.

The firemen succeeded in halting the spread of the flames despite many handicaps. The house leveled by the fire was unoccupied at the time and is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joan Dewey Willis. The fire spread to the adjacent frame dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hickey.

Neighbors and volunteers saved all the furnishings on the first floor of the Hickey home but everything on the second floor was damaged by fire, smoke and water.

There was two to three feet of snow on the ground, a blinding snow storm in progress, and there was a lack of water.

The Willis family lost all possessions in the completely furnished house. They were in Elk Garden a week previous. They live in Baltimore where he is employed.

WEEKLY SERMON
by

HEADED RIGHT

If you were to visit a certain church in Kansas you probably would notice the imprint of two baby feet at the beginning of the walk leading from the street to the church.

Fourteen years ago when the walk was being laid, a Mother set her barefoot boy on the freshly poured concrete. She started the boy right, and now that she is dead, the heart of her boy is still going in the right direction. It makes a lot of difference whether the parents start them out right by setting an example in the attendance of Sunday School and Church. And still this is not enough, better yet the parents should set the example of a surrendered heart and life to Jesus Christ. Somewhere I gleaned this bit of information. "Where the parents are Christians, 7 out of 12 children become Christians too. Where the parents are not Christians, only 1 out of 12 become Christians." Whether this information is accurate I cannot say, but I do know that the example of Godly parents does make a difference. Parents, listen! God has given you a great responsibility for it is up to you to see that they are headed in the right direction.

Termite Troubles? Go Slow in Choosing Your Exterminator

When you find your home or other building must be treated for termites take time to engage a pest control operator or exterminator who has a reputation for honest and reliable work. Every year many property owners, because they allow themselves to be rushed into hasty action, are swindled by fly-by-night operators, warns Theodore L. Bissell, University of Maryland, Extension entomologist.

First it should be determined whether termites are actually present. Spring is the season for winged termites to swarm but ants and other harmless insects are on the wing too. Your county agricultural agent or the Department of Entomology, University of Maryland will identify specimens of insects or damage and will furnish a publication to help you decide if treatment is necessary. A reputable pest control operator will make examination without charge.

The termite is an old, old enemy that has attacked wooden structures probably ever since man began to build. Termites are capable of severe damage to wood and all cellulose products provided moisture is also available. This usually comes from the soil, with which termites keep in contact. Most infestations start through faulty construction, such as where grade stakes are left in concrete, where scraps of wood are put in fills, where cinder block walls are not properly sealed at top or sides, or where door sills are not properly insulated from the earth in stoops and porches. But termites do not infest and destroy so swiftly that immediate action must be taken, Bissell says.

In many cases the owner or a mechanic can apply an insecticide to the soil around an infestation, replace damaged wood, and point up masonry to close a termite entrance; but where concrete must be drilled or where crawl spaces must be entered, and much labor is involved, it may be better to get the services of a professional.

An established pest control operator is quite willing to allow a period of investigation. Ask for references. Have the operator make a sketch of the house showing where termites have been located and get a written statement of work that is to be done to eradicate the insects and protect the building. Have at least two operators make estimates and then choose the one you think best fits the situation, says Bissell.

Most reliable pest control operators belong to an association which aims toward high standards and honest dealing. Ask your operator about such membership. Ask the local chamber of commerce or better business bureau about a firm's reputation. Be cautious about men from out-of-state. Do not be rushed overnight into a costly extermination job that may be unnecessary.

Forage Is Still Cheapest Dairy Feed

Forage is still the cheapest dairy feed. The amount of forage a cow consumes will largely determine the amount of grain she needs as well as indicate the quality of the forage. Dr. J. H. Vandersall of the University of Maryland speaking at the Maryland Nutrition Conference pointed out that while the individuality of the cow and the management practices influence how much forage is eaten, the forage itself is probably the most important factor. The time the forage is harvested not only is important in determining the feed value of the forage but also largely determines how much of the forage the cow will eat. He also stated that some forages, notably direct-cut legume-grass silages, appear to contain factor (s) which depress appetite.

Early-cut forages not only contain more nutrients per pound but the cows eat more of them. For example, an average Holstein cow will consume 36 lbs. of early-cut forage and require only 8.7 lbs. of grain to produce 50 lbs. of milk, while one fed late-cut forage will eat only 17 lbs. of forage and require 21 lbs. of grain to produce the same amount of milk.

High moisture legume-grass silage seems to contain an appetite depressing factor (s). At first it was thought that the large amount of water the cow had to eat was responsible for the lower feed intake, but this has been disproved. While this factor (s) is still unknown there are studies underway in several states to determine what it is and how to prevent its occurance in the silage.

Congressional Viewpoint

BY

JOHN MARSHALL BUTLER

U. S. SENATOR, MARYLAND

"THE PARIAH OF THE EAST"

Washington was shocked by the following Red Communist news release. "Walsh, a long-time U. S. spy, committed serious crimes in plotting to subvert the Chinese people's democratic regime and personally directing the traitorous counter-revolutionary clique headed by Kung Pin-mei in carrying out counter-revolutionary activities." "Walsh" of course is Bishop James E. Walsh, M. M., former superior general of the Maryknoll Fathers and a native of Cumberland, Maryland. The release was from Communist China's New China News Agency, as a vicious and as unscrupulous a propaganda organ as exists in the world.

Bishop Walsh's "crime" was not espionage but his success as a symbol of resistance to the oppressive rule of Chinese Communist leaders. He was also "guilty" of being an American, a foreigner, a "foreign devil" to be brandished aloft by the Red leaders to distract the Chinese people from their misery, their poverty and their subjection. This trick has been practiced by dictators from Caesar to Castro.

And the fate of this religious leader suggests broader implications in the international struggle which continues between communism and democracy. Last year at the summit meeting between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev the imprisonment of Father Walsh was discussed. At a September 28 news conference President Eisenhower revealed that the Soviet premier had told him he "might find it possible" to intercede for the five Americans —including Bishop Walsh—then held by the Chinese Reds. Taking Khrushchev at his word, possibly worth a little more than one Chinese yen, it would seem that he has little influence with the Chinese Communist war-lords who may yet turn their eyes east toward Russia rather than west toward America.

Although one trial for Bishop Walsh has ended another has begun—the trial of a man dedicated to the truth and light of God in a land where unremitting if unsuccessful attempts are being made to extinguish that light. The bishop's cruel conviction is the latest and perhaps saddest reminder for Americans that Communism in Mainland China is not an economic theory but a living tyranny, and that the Chinese Reds deserve recognition and a seat in the United Nations as much as a pack of jackals deserves a place at the family table.

Admission to the U. N. is not an automatic process, and there is very little to be found in the abominable conduct of Communist China to warrant its entry into the world organization of nations.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of a dear husband and father, the late Harry J. Edwards, Sr., who passed away, March 29, 1959.

In sadness, do we all look back
Into a year that's gone.
When you left us, and your earthly home
For one far beyond.
There I your wife and children
Stood helpless by your bed
We wanted so much to help you
But God took over instead.
We try not to ask questions
God knows all things best
We miss you more, than we can say.
But hope to meet you in heaven some day
Together there to rest

The World View - - - -

If we believe the world traveler who was in our midst for an inspiring talk last week—we've got to widen our outlook and make it world-wide. And if we don't widen our outlook and pay serious attention to convincing people of the world that we love peace as fiercely as any nation, but that we want peace with freedom, then this century will see the triumph of communism over our democratic way of life. This he firmly believed.

The communists are always beating their gums about their peace loving ways, about their peace loving leaders. It's no wonder people believe them when there is not an equal amount of talk about the followers of their interpretation of peace from our side of the fence. Khrushchev has even intimated he should be eligible for the Nobel peace prize! What a miscarriage of justice that would be.

Many millions of people in this world through ignorance are on the fence concerning communism and democracy. Somehow we've got to get it across to these people that peace to the communists means peace such as one would have if he were behind bars. Russians are literally behind bars. Hungary is behind bars. Every Russian-controlled nation is behind bars. They are at peace, certainly in the sense that there is no actual fighting. But they have no freedom.

Dr. Furbay explained to some 2,000 university students in the far east some few months ago that students in this country, when free to discuss things, talk about the desire for peace above any other topic. But they want peace with freedom and will fight to the death to maintain it. He got the idea across to these foreign students, but his words were only a drop in the bucket. Communists distort the peace picture upon every occasion. And they are doing it twenty-four hours a day throughout every country in the world. Can we overcome the advantage they now hold? Only if the American people get world conscious, widen their point of view, and start telling the people of the world as intensely as the communists have been doing for the past several years.

Johnstown Man Is Fatally injured In U. S. 50 Crash

A Johnstown resident was killed and his wife and a friend hospitalized yesterday morning when the car in which they were traveling collided with a mail truck on U. S. route 50, about five miles west of Mt. Storm, W. Va., in Grant County.

The man was identified as William E. Weaver, aged 68, a retired transportation employe, who resided at Harrisonville, near Johnstown. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. The man died as the result of a fractured skull and a fractured neck, according to State police.

In serious condition at the hospital are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Weaver, and Mrs. Olivia Miller, Hyndman, Pa. Both women sustained fractured necks and head and facial lacerations.

O. C. Hayes, Elkins, driver of the mail truck, was uninjured, police said. The two-vehicle collision occurred about 10:30 a. m. on icy Difficult Curve. The highway had been cindered.

Cpl. G. H. Phillips of the West Virginia State police, Petersburg, is continuing his investigation of the fatal accident. He gave this account:

Weaver was driving his car downgrade westward when the vehicle went out of control and went into a skid. The mail truck driver was proceeding east and was at about the middle of the turn. The car slid along the highway and rammed into the left side of the truck, turned it over and sheared off the top of the car. The Weaver car was enroute to Parsons, W. Va.

Besides his wife, Mr. Weaver is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mary Deshong of Johnstown. The victim's body is at the Minnich Funeral home in Oakland and will be taken to Johnstown.

Two Others Hospitalized

Two other persons were hospitalized last night as the result of an accident on Cheat mountain, U. S. route 50, west of Aurora, W. Va.

Robert Taylor, Franklin Square, N. Y., and Robert Laper, Massapequa, Long Island, N. Y., were admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital after the tractor trailer in which they were riding wrecked and burned when it went out of control while descending the mountain. Their injuries had not yet been determined. X-rays were to be taken this morning.

Figures Revised On Airport Cost; To Be Much Less

A revision of figures by engineers of the State Aviation commission has reduced the contemplated cost of the proposed airport for the county, it was disclosed this week by the County Commissioners.

Originally estimated to cost $316,600, a recent letter from Charles B. Allen, chairman of the State Aviation commission declared the commission would agree to recommend to the state government that state participation in the project based upon estimated costs of engineers of the state aviation commission would be as follows:

Land, $30,000; site preparation, $5,000; earthwork, $50,000; pavement, $40,000; access road, $5,000; engineering, $10,000; and contingencies, $10,000, for a total of $150,000. The federal government would participate to the extend of $75,000 with the state providing $32,500 and the county $32,500. The land for the airport site would be included in the county's share of the outlay. The White Face farm property involved already is appraised at $31,000.

Carl Schell, president of the County Commissioners, said what

Point Out Need Of New Industry

The story that Garrett county is in need of industry was outlined to the Department of Economic Development in Annapolis last week by the County Commissioners and State Senator Bernard I. Gonder.

The group met with Messrs. Hubley and Pate, heads of the newly created department, and explained to them the labor survey that was underway and the plans for an airport to be constructed this year.

Both of the men felt that the acquisition of an airport would be a valuable asset in attracting industries since a number of industries demanded airport facilities before deciding to locate. They also felt an airport would be a great asset to the county.

Messrs. Hubley and Pate said they planned to start a survey of all counties of the state soon and would consider the first survey being in this county.

Mistaken Identity

Willard had applied for entrance into Wittenberg college and had been accepted.

Last week Willard got a letter. It was an invitation to a fraternity party. "We want you to get acquainted with all the boys," the letter said. "We know you will have a good time."

There was nothing too unusual about the letter—except that it was delivered to Willard Ann Gloeckler, the student who had been accepted in the Springfield, Ohio school.

Just a case of mistaken sex. Willard Ann thinks the would enjoy the get together too.

No Changes Noted In Reorganization Of City Council

New Members Sworn In; Committees Are Appointed

Reorganization of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland was effected at a regular meeting on Monday night with Dr. E. I. Baumgartner being re-elected president.

The first order of business was the swearing in of the three new members of council, Harold H. Harned, William E. Naylor and Emory W. Adams. He had served an unexpired term by appointment but this was the first time he was elected. Swearing in the new councilmen was Mayor Russell L. Smith. He had previously been sworn in as mayor in the office of the clerk of the Circuit court.

Committees were named as follows: street, H. J. White, chairman; Dr. H. R. Gibson, Dr. Baumgartner and Mayor Smith; water, E. W. Adams, chairman, Dr. Baumgartner, Harold H. Harned chairman, Naylor, Gibson and Adams. The latter committee is a new one.

In council action the deposit for water service application was increased from $5 to $10, if the applicant was not a property owner.

Mahlon Yost, Jonas Sines and Darwin Reckart, residents of Coolidge avenue in the Davis addition to the town, were before the council seeking improvement to their street. As no inspection had been made of city streets no promises were made.

The council agreed to continue the appropriation of $2,300 to the Oakland Fire department for another year.

Mayor Smith was authorized to advertise for low bidders for a new police car.

Under discussion were the contemplated raise in natural gas rates, the formation of the watershed association, but no action was taken.

Permits were granted to Ethel Ridder to place a trailer on the property of Helen Carlson. Water and First street, size 10 by 50, an improvement of approximately $5,495; and to Henry Hupp for West Maryland Power company to erect a plastic sign 4 by 6, in front of his place of business.

Collections for the month totaled $7,749.10, including a bank loan of $5,000, and expenditures amounted to $5,937. Parking meters came back into the picture with receipts of $494.94. This was the first report on parking meters since February, due to the snow. Street labor amounted to $907.98 with street supplies $378.34. The Sunday movie tax amounted to $49.30 for March.

Fire Destroys Barn

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the barn on the farm of Alvin Strawser near Dodge School house last Friday evening about 8:30 o'clock.

The Deer Park fire department was called and later a call was issued to the Oakland firemen. The latter department was stopped before it got off U. S. 219.

Neighbors succeeded in getting some stock out of the structure before it had gained too great headway, but the balance of the contents was destroyed.

Deer Park firemen also answered a call Tuesday, March 22, about 9:30 p. m., at the home of Harry Cox, near Sand Flat. Firemen said they bucked through six foot snow drifts for more than a mile to reach the residence. The fire, which resulted from an overheated flue, was quickly extinguished and damage was considered slight.

Two Are Injured in Wreck on Backbone

Two persons were injured in separate accidents yesterday, one on Backbone mountain, and another on U. S. route 40.

In a one-vehicle accident about noon yesterday on Backbone Mountain, Frank Slavin, 31, of Greencastle, Pa., was admitted to Potomac Valley hospital in Keyser. His condition was reported as "good". The accident occurred on State route 135 at the foot of Backbone mountain. Slavin was operating a milk truck down the steep grade when it apparently went out of control and rammed into an embankment.

Miss Betty Imogene Church, 22, of Newport News, Va., was admitted to Meyersdale community hospital yesterday with injuries sustained in a crash about 9:15 a. m. two miles west of Keyser Ridge. Police said she sustained facial lacerations, a dislocated shoulder and body bruises and was reported in "good" condition.

The accident occurred as Miss Church was traveling east on U. S. 40 which was icy. Her car went out of control and skidded broadside into one and a half ton truck which had been traveling west but which was parked along the shoulder at the time of the crash. Driver of the truck, Bryan E. Kimmel, Ellerslie, was not injured.

Managers Named

A new manager and assistant manager for Eastern States Farmers exchange were named recently, it has been announced.

They are David Shields, transferred from Butler, Pa., as manager, and Richard Kaufman of Bedford, Pa., as assistant. Mr. Shields assumes the position recently held by Batty Ridder, who resigned. Mr. Ridder is now working as a field man for the Grange Supply center in Mt. Lake Park. Mr. Shields and family are occupying an apartment over the Pritts Equipment garage along U. S. 219, north of Oakland. Mr. Kaufman has not yet moved his family to the area.

TAKING THE OATH—Three members of the Oakland Town Council and the town treasurer were sworn into office Monday evening by Mayor Russell Smith. He is shown on the extreme left administering the oath of office to Mrs. Robert Stanton, treasurer; Harold Harned, newly elected councilman; Emory W. Adams, returned to office in last month's election, and William E. Naylor, another newcomer to the position.

Boy Is "Satisfactory" Following Operation

Harold E. Shaffer, 12-year-old Bayard boy, was reported in "satisfactory" condition this week at Garrett County Memorial hospital following a major brain operation Sunday morning.

The youth, a son of Harold and Isabelle Shaffer, sustained a severe head injury early Sunday morning when he fell from the upper section of a bunk bed at his home.

Parents of the boy rushed him to the hospital where it was determined the fall had severed the main artery going to the brain in the vicinity of the ear.

An Oakland surgeon diagnosed the injury but a neurosurgeon was not immediately available to perform the operation.

A Cumberland surgeon was called and a request made for a Baltimore neurosurgeon. An immediate operation was considered necessary and the Oakland surgeon took the necessary steps to control bleeding. When the Cumberland surgeon arrived the bleeding had stopped and when the neurosurgeon got to Oakland the operation was completed.

State police in relays escorted the Baltimore surgeon to Oakland and city police in other cities along the way provided emergency routes.

The Red Cross was asked for blood and three pints of A-B positive type blood were obtained from volunteer donors in a short time which was instrumental in preserving life.

Winter Attempts Belated Comeback

Winter attempted to stage a comeback in Garrett county Tuesday, Tuesday night and early Wednesday, but outside of making it difficult for motorists to see clearly where they were driving, the results were negligible.

Roads were snow covered for most of Tuesday night but cleared quickly when the sun's rays reached them Wednesday morning.

Over an inch of snow fell in the county and blizzard-like conditions prevailed Tuesday night as winds were strong. The temperature dropped to 20 degrees after having been around the 30-degrees mark earlier in the evening.

Fields in the county are now pretty well cleared of snow due to the warming temperatures of the past week plus some rainfall. However, some drifts are still noticeable.

Again on Wednesday afternoon it appeared the county was right back in the very midst of winter. Snow to a depth of about two inches fell within a three hour period, making about 4 inches for the two days. The fields and trees were covered but the snow that fell on the highways melted about as fast as it fell.

The weather cleared toward evening and Wednesday night there was a bright moon. Thursday began clear and moderate.

For other days of the week there was rain and warming temperatures. There was a light drizzle last Thursday night and Friday morning, the weather clearing in the afternoon. Saturday remained fairly clear but rain fell on both Sunday and Monday in quantities that caused people to wonder if streams might not rise again to flood level. Streams did become high but for the most part remained within their banks.

Over one half inch of rain was noted in the Oakland area on Sunday. Savage river dam had its gates nearly wide open to allow excess water to run off.

New District Forester

R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., assistant district forester for this county, was chosen last week to succeed William H. Johnson as district forester for Western Maryland. Johnson moved up to chief of forest protection in the Annapolis office. Thayer will move to Cumberland sometime this summer. The transfer is effective immediately.

Choral-Instrumental Festivals Planned

Plans for the two county schools' music choral and instrumental festivals were made this week when choral and instrumental teachers and principals met at Southern High School.

One major change in this year's program was announced. Heretofore, the choral festival has been held at Southern while the instrumental program was held at Northern High School. The programs have been reversed for the 1960 program. The county instrumental program will be held at Southern on Friday, May 6, while the choral festival will take place at Northern High School on Friday, May 20.

The instrumental elementary teachers, Mary K. Eliason and Louis Michael also announced that all the elementary groups would perform together. In previous years, each school performed individually. More than 200 pupils will perform in the elementary concert. The junior and senior high bands will be composed of approximately 135 members and will be directed by Raymond Borrell of Southern High School and Melvin Schwing of Northern High School. The complete program will be announced later this month.

Last year slightly over 700 elementary and secondary pupils sang in the combined chorus numbers. This year's group will be approximately the same. Selected for the combined numbers are, America - One Heritage by Helen Steele, arranged by Hawley Ades, Climbin' Up The Mountain - Negro Spiritual Concert version by Noble Cain; Battle Hymn of the Republic by Howe and Stifle, arranged by Roy Ringwald.

To Induct Five

Five young men of the community will be inducted into the armed forces on Tuesday, April 12, at the induction station in Fairmont, W. Va., it was announced by Mrs. Helen Bittinger draft board clerk.

They are Edward Q. Hinebaugh, Crellin, Clyde S. Fike, Friendsville, Freddie W. Friend, Bolton, Marvin F. Wiley, Grantsville, John Carlo Helm, Oakland.

Mrs. Bittinger said that 31 persons would report to the Fairmont induction station on the same day for pre-induction physical examination.

2nd Saturday School Day Set for April 9

The second Saturday school make up day will be this week, April 9. The third and final one will be Saturday, April 23. Schools will then be dismissed for the year Monday, June 13.

Dr. Craig To Visit Schools

Dr. Gerald S. Craig, noted authority in the field of science and formerly of Columbia University, will visit the schools of the county Tuesday, April 12. Dr. Craig will be accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Sowers, Elementary Supervisor from the State Department of Education. Both visitors will help the supervisors and principals to appraise the science program in the schools, and also will evaluate the program for the implementation of the provisions of the NDEA.

Final Bus Inspection Completed

The final school bus inspection was completed during the week. Most buses were found in reasonably good condition, according to Officer Paugh of the Department of Motor Vehicles, Peter Miller, County Roads Department mechanic John Fitzwater, and Robert Martin, Supervisor of School Bus Transportation from the office of the Garrett County Board of Education, who did the inspecting.

operate next year if more than eleven years old or any year thereafter.

Under a new state ruling, no school buses will be allowed to after if more than ten years old.

Oakland To Observe Daylight Time Again

Although there is nothing official, the mayor and members of the town council seem to be in agreement that the town of Oakland will observe daylight saving time again this year, starting the last Sunday in April.

The subject failed to come up for discussion at the regular council meeting on Monday evening. In fact none seemed to think of the question until the next day.

In lieu of calling a special meeting, the clerk-collector got on the telephone and polled the various members of council and the mayor, Russell L. Smith. All those contacted said they would favor daylight time.

And so, even though it may not be made official by a duly authorized motion and vote until the regular meeting in May, by general agreement it was assumed that on Sunday, April 24, at 12:01 a. m., citizens of Oakland and surrounding area would turn their clocks ahead one hour.

Several other towns of the county will take similar action, judging by what has been done in previous years.

Plan For Convention

The Deer Park firemen are making preparations for the annual convention of the Allegany-Garrett county firemen's association, which will be held at Deer Park on June 9th.

During the past week letters were sent out to local business men requesting advertisements for the program book.

George E. Comp, Jr., secretary, said the convention would convene at 1 p. m. with a banquet at 5 p. m. to be followed by a parade at 7:30. Concessions, refreshments and rides will be featured as part of the one-day affair.

Prince Georges county set its tax rate up 12 cents to $2.12 per $100.

Friendsville Bank Assets Assumed By First National

Shareholders Agree To Consolidation At Meeting On March 29th

The purchase of the assets of the First National Bank of Friendsville by the First National Bank of Oakland has been officially consummated, effective April 2, and the latter institution took over the management on Monday, April 4, it was announced this week.

Upon approval of the shareholders the First National Bank of Friendsville was placed in voluntary liquidation. The plan was previously approved by the Board of Directors of both banks to purchase the assets and assume the liabilities of the Friendsville institution, subject to approval of the Comptroller of the Currency and the shareholders of the Friendsville bank.

It was announced that John Robinson, who had been serving as cashier of the bank for the past several weeks, would be retained as manager. Mr. Robinson, formerly with the Liberty Trust company, of Cumberland, had succeeded Charles Ross, Jr. Also planning to work there will be Richard G. Stanton, who has been an employe of the National Bank of Fairfax, Va., for the past two years.

The bank will continue to do business as the Friendsville office of the First National Bank of Oakland, and is located in the same building as formerly.

The Friendsville bank on December 31 had assets totaling $611,000, deposits of $511,000 and capital accounts totaling $99,000. It was chartered in 1902. The First National of Oakland will have assets well in excess of $7,000,000.

Naming of Board Delayed One Week

The naming of a board of directors for the Wilson Run Public Watershed association, scheduled to have been effected at a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the court room, was postponed until Monday afternoon, April 11, at 3 o'clock.

Monday afternoon's session will be a continuation of this past Tuesday's meeting.

Fourteen persons were nominated for board members, and five are to be selected. Nominees include Joseph Hinebaugh, Harold H. Harned, Mason J. Glotfelty, Irvin Feld, William E. Sharps, Mary Drake Bennett, Floyd Leighton, Wesley Schaible, Alva Gortner, Earl Shartzer, Russell Smith, A. D. Naylor, Clayton Winters, and Irvin R. Rudy, Jr.

There was discussion at Tuesday's meeting as to who would be considered eligible to vote, specifically how many would be considered as owner of certain pieces of property. The question is to be decided prior to next Monday's session.

The establishment of the organization was declared by the County County Commissioners following a public hearing. The action followed a discussion of the authority the association would have, its purpose and the possible benefits to be derived. The purpose is to implement the carrying out of the flood protection program on Wilson run. Over thirty property owners are involved, and each would be responsible for a portion of any expenses developing from activities of the organization.

There has been some opposition to the organization, arising from the uncertainty of the expense involved.

Kitzmiller Firemen Purchase New Truck

The Kitzmiller fire department has ordered the purchase of a new fire fighting truck it was announced by Carl Schell, president.

The group ordered a 1960 GMC truck chassis from the Ray Teets garage in Oakland with a 6-it cab. It is to be sent away to the General Fire Truck company of Mansfield, Mo., to have placed on it a 750 gallon pumper with a 500 gallon booster tank.

Delivery date was expected to be about the last of June. Mr. Schell said the company planned to convert the present pumper truck into a tank truck and that the new machine would be an additional piece of equipment.

THE AMERICAN WAY

By John T. Flynn

N OLD AND TYRANNICAL IDEA

ITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn noted author, lecturer and o commentator)

ome fine men and excellent s have come out of the oldest ege in the United States—Harvard University. But in recent rs, some very queer notions have emanated from that ust institution of learning. One them, put forth by a Harvard fessor of economics, has enced a few eminent columnists, usual batch of "intellectuals," e a number of politicians, and pposed to be causing a great ate in Washington.

ll these people think they have hed on to something "new and ar"—all except the politicians, know better but go along because this is right down their alley. nt as simply as possible, this called "new, great idea" is that —the American people—don't w what's good for us. The ne example cited by these ld-be remodelers of our soy is that we build beautiful omobiles, but we have terrible ns. What they mean is that ericans are devoting too much their energy and resources to r own material well-being, and enough to what are called blic services."

he solution proposed proves there is nothing "new" or at" about the idea. What these gooders would have us do is to allow the government, the politicians—to take even more of our money. Then we won't be able to spend it as we see fit for food and clothe and refrigerators and cars and charity and entertainment. Instead the politicians in Washington will spend it as they think best—on housing and health and education and so on.

There are three points to keep in mind whenever you are assailed by this latest scheme to "let the government decide" what's good for you:

(1) This is the oldest argument in the history of mankind. It is the eternal cleavage between the free man and the Tyrant State. For the first time, here in America, the founders of our Republic set up a system which guaranteed to each individual the right to make his own decisions. It brought us the greatest abundance and the greatest freedom on earth. Of course, we have bad spots in our society. But they are not to be compared with the bad spots in the old European societies in which the rulers, the monarchs, the governments had power over the energies and resources of the people. Then the people had neither material well-being nor freedom—and they still had slums!

(2) "Letting-the-government-do-it"—even assuming some of the things the do-gooders cry about need doing—is the most expensive possible method. Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia has pointed out that in this single year, the federal government is making so-called "matching" to the states of 9½ billion dollars. But before it can "give" the states that 9½ billion it had to take it away from the people in the states in the form of taxes. Then it gives it back to them—minus, according to Senator Byrd, a 30 percent charge for federal administration. Even more shocking is a fact pointed out by Mr. O. D. Pritchard of the National Association of Life Underwriters. When established private charity groups give away money, it costs them seven cents out of each dollar. But when the federal government "gives away" money, it costs three dollars for every dollar given away. In other words, every time the federal government takes a dollar from you to hand to a foreign nation, or a farmer, or a housing project, it takes another two dollars from you to enable it to give away your first dollar!

(3) This notion of "let-the-government-decide" what is the best way to spend your money is a paradise for the politicians. It enables the politicians to use the people's own money to enslave the people. According to the Tax Foundation, you — the average American — are already working 2¼ hours out of each and every eight-hour working day just for the politicians in Washington. Each day when you go to work—before you ever start earning a cent for yourself, your wife and your children — you spend 2¼ hours working in order to get enough money to pay taxes to the boys in Washington. Give the politicians the power to decide where and how they will spend more of your money—and you will work that much longer each day for them. Keep this up, and eventually you will reach the point where your whole working day will be spent earning money for the politicians. When that time comes, we will have reached the inevitable conclusion of "letting-the-government-do-it" — complete control of everything and everybody by the Tyrant State. If we listen to the siren song of these do-gooder professors, politicos and their followers, we will arrive at the logical end of their "new great idea" which can be seen in Communist Russia today. We will wind up without automobiles, without freedom — and with the worst slums on earth.

Three Bills Vetoed By Governor Tawes

Gov. Tawes vetoed three bills from the 1960 Legislature on Tuesday but delayed making a final decision on whether the state should adopt tighter controls over savings and loan associations.

The bills he vetoed would have exempted race track badges and passes issued to wives of horse owners and trainers from the state admissions tax; exempted reciprocal companies from having to file signed insurance applications, and duplicated a bill to advance distribution of income tax to Baltimore city.

Some decision on the savings and loan association bill was expected this week. The bill was a nub of controversy almost since it was introduced in the Legislature.

The governor has until Friday night to veto any bills. Otherwise they will become law without his signature.

The savings and loan bill attempts to curb so-called "fly-by-night" operators who want to set up shop in Maryland and offer high rates of interest. It carries strict resident requirement for officers of loan firms, requires them to file public annual financial statements, and limits the type of investments they can make to first mortgages on real estate, with certain exceptions.

It was opposed by small loan associations that argued it would force many of them out of business.

Ten Are Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Ten persons were apprehended in recent days for alleged violations of the motor vehicle laws. Cases were filed in the office of Robert E. Maroney, trial magistrate. They included the following:

Lawrence Edward Skipper, Deer Park, failing to drive to the right of the center of the highway, $10.

Woodrow Wirt Conrad, Fairmont, W. Va., speed greater than reasonable and proper, $10.

William Glenn Thickey, Natrona Heights, Pa., exceeding 50 miles per hour, $15.

Floyd Lee Cooper, Gormania, failing to drive to the right of the center of the highway, $10.

George James Friend, Friendsville, overload on registration of 3,000 pounds, $60.

Charles William Harvey, Swanton, failing to drive to the right of the center of the highway, entered a plea of not guilty but was found guilty by the magistrate and fined $5. Fine and costs were suspended.

Bessie Frances Cuppett, Mt. Lake Park, exceeding 30 miles per hour, $5.

Melvin Ellsworth Gillespie, Cresaptown, exceeding 40 miles per hour for truck, $10.

Albert Dorsey Cosner, Davis, W. Va., exceeding 30 miles per hour, $10.

Charles Kimble, Cabins, W. Va., expired temporary plates, $10.

Among the list of suspensions and revocations of driver's licenses, released by the Department of Motor Vehicles, was the revocation of the license of Karl Kyle, Oakland.

To Mail Applications

Application for the re-registration of drivers' licenses will be mailed on Monday, April 4, to persons whose last names begin with the letter "S", Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, John R. Jewell, has requested that the middle name in full, and not just the "initial," be given in the space provided on the application form. If the name is not spelled out in full, it will be necessary to return the application.

If the persons do not receive their application by April 11, they are asked to notify the department in writing, giving full name, correct mailing address and the number of present operator's license.

Mail Questionnaires To Senior Students

Questionnaires designed to provide the Maryland State Department of Education officials with information of high school graduates' philosophy regarding their educational experiences were mailed to Southern's ninty-two graduates of the class of 1958 this week, Kenneth Johns, principal, announced.

Shortly before graduation from high school in 1958 each senior participated in a State-wide Study of Seniors in Maryland Public High Schools. According to State department officials, these seniors helped supply valuable data for further improving the quality of education in our high schools. A compilation of this information has been published in a booklet entitled: A study of the Relationship Between Subjects Taken and Other Selected Factors for the Class of 1958, Maryland Public High Schools.

The Maryland State Department of Education is now asking these people to assist in a second phase of that study by giving them certain information based upon their experiences after leaving high school. All of these responses will be held confidential. These questions were developed under the auspices of the State Department of Education.

One of the principal items of information requested concerns the value these graduates place upon their high school education. In addition to listing specific subjects, graduates are requested to indicate how much help participation in student clubs, student council, athletics, and other activities have benefited them. In replying to this part of the questionnaire, students may use five responses, 1) a great deal, 2) somewhat, 3) little or none, 4) not certain, 5) not taken.

Graduates have been urged to fill in the forms and return them promptly to Mr. Johns. "Each of these people will again be making a worthy contribution to public education in Maryland," he said.

Less Engine Wear If Dust Is Kept Out

When overhauling a farm tractor or truck engine, it pays to watch details such as worn choke shaft bearings, as considerable dust and dirt can get into the manifold through such leaks. This reminder comes from Guy W. Gienger, Extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland.

He says the same holds for leaky intake manifold and carburetor gaskets. It costs a lot less to keep dirt out of an engine than to repair the damage done by abrasive wear. Dust entering through the carburetor and manifold intake, can cause fast wear of cylinders and crank bearings.

To keep dirt out, the engineer recommends cleaning the carburetor air filter often enough to keep it effective. The breather-pipe filter must be washed and cleaned occasionally. Oil filters are effective in removing gritty material which has found its way into the oiling system. Filters, he adds, should be changed or cleaned before they lose their filtering value.

Figures Revised

was needed now was a master plan which would be prepared by the Airways Engineering corporation, of Washington. This master plan is to include a location map, wind data, a layout of runway, taxiway apron, terminal area and buildings, soils testing, obstruction and approach plans, a real estate map showing boundaries of existing property and other incidental data.

He said it was planned to have everything in shape to break ground by July 1st, when the federal funds become available.

The original estimate showed a cost of $316,600 for the airport with the federal government contributing $158,300 and the county and state $79,150 each.

The Commissioners and State Senator Bernard I. Gonder met on March 28 with Col. Allen and Rudolph A. Drennan, of the State Aviation commission, and Ralph W. Schrieber, representing the Federal Aviation Agency.

Mr. Schell said that these gentlemen had given a detailed estimate at that time of the costs of the proposed airport to be located on the White Face farm near McHenry. The lower estimates were given at this time and they pointed out that the county's share would be for land which the county now owns.

The Commissioners, at this meeting, signed the necessary papers for the new airport in order to have the State and Federal funds available so the project could be started at an early date.

The project is classified by the Federal aviation agency as a "special airport." The airport would not involve more than 2,500 feet of runway, 75 feet in width, in the initial construction period.

The plans call for eventual extension of the runway to one mile.

GETTING YOUR DEGREE

As I write this morning, schools everywhere have opened for another year. Surely we ought to appreciate our educational system here in America. We truly went to encourage every young person to go to school and go as far as you can. This is an age for learning. You should never stop learning even after you get out of school. To be steemed in this world, we must learn of science, languages, mechanics, and many other things. However, there is a branch of learning that few have considered worth their effort. That is the learning about God, the Saviour, and the way of righteousness. Since Christian education is ruled out of our public schools there are thousands of children who never will learn about God and the Saviour. Yet the Bible says in Proverbs 1:7 "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fools despise wisdom and instruction." Again he says in Jeremieh 9:24. "Let him that glorieth glory in this, that he . . . . knoweth ME." Really, to be considered "well educated" you should not leave out a sincere study of the New Testament. Attend a Church that has a sound teaching ministry. What does a degree amount to if you lose your own soul because you neglected to get a Christian education as well?

● Asthma Cures
Q. Is it possible to revive an accident or drowning victim after the heart has ceased beating?
A. Even though you can not feel the pulse in the victim of an accident, drowning, electrocution or poisoning, it may not mean that death has taken place. Doctors have resuscitated or "brought back to life" many patients in whom the heart beat couldn't be detected. Heart action and breathing rarely cease at the same time. It is only after both breathing and heart beat cease that there are only about three or four minutes left in which successful resuscitation is possible. Even after this point every effort should be made to revive the victim by applying measures to restore breathing and heart action.
Q. Are doctors any closer to a cure for asthma than they were ten years ago?
A. The basic principles of cure are known but real cures are sometimes hard to come by. Asthma is due to inflammation of the breathing tubes, which tend to contract and become covered with a thick blanket of mucus. Medicines now available only reduce the symptoms of asthma; they cure nothing. Cure of asthma depends on finding whatever is causing the irritation and removing it, correcting complications that may have developed, and cooperating with nature in her efforts to heal the irritated tissue of the breathing system. It is only when the cause of the inflammation is removed that healing will occur. For example, the source of trouble may be some type of tree or grass pollen. Avoid the offending substance and the asthma clears up. It isn't always so simple but the same principle applies — first find the cause and then work out a "cure."

New Area Girl Scout Council Is Formed

A new area Girl Scout unit known as the Shawnee Council was chartered at an organizational meeting in Cresaptown on Wednesday evening, March 30th. The new council will serve scouts from 7 to 17 years of age in Garrett and Allegany Counties, Md., Mineral, Hampshire, Grant, and Hardy Counties, W. Va., and the portion of Bedford County, Pa., which lies south of the Turnpike.

The meeting was opened with a flag ceremony presented by the Senior Girl Scouts of Lake. The first order of business was the dissolution of the Cumberland Council for which Mrs. George J. Siller, last president of the council presided. The chair was then taken by Mrs. Aden Everstine, chairman of the area development committee. Representatives from seven counties ratified the by-laws and articles of incorporation of the new Shawnee Council, elected their officers and board of directors, reviewed the budget and first year's plan of work, and viewed a new film called "A Mile High—A World Wide", the story of the Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs. The meeting was closed with a joint reading of the Preamble to the Constitution and By-Laws of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America, and the returning of the flags by the Lake Senior Scouts.

Officers elected at the meeting are Mrs. Aden Everstine Ridgeley, president; Mrs. William Claus, La Vale, first vice-president; Mrs. Alton Fortney, Lake second vice-president; Mrs. Orval Kazlo, Westernport, recording secretary; Mrs. Earl Zepp, Oakland, corresponding secretary; and Arch H. Hutchison, Cumberland, treasurer. Robert B. Wooters, Oakland was among those elected to the board of directors and was also elected a delegate to the National Convention in St. Louis, Missouri, in November.

Two Derailments On B. and O. Occur

There were two derailments on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad during the week, one about 10 miles west of Keyser, and one about 45 miles east of Cumberland.

The one occurring last Saturday afternoon blocked the main line when an eastbound freight train wrecked at Round Top. Fourteen cars loaded with coal and merchandise were strewn over the three tracks. The cars were part of a 104-car train bound for Baltimore.

Passenger trains were rerouted over the Western Maryland railway and were running an hour or more behind schedule. Wreck trains from Cumberland and Brunswick cleared up the wreckage.

Four cars of an empty westbound freight train were derailed Monday morning west of Keyser. The cars blocked both lines for more than three hours. The tracks were cleared about 2 p. m., and traffic returned to normal. Passenger train No. 11, westbound, was delayed for about one and one-half hours. No cause for the derailment was established.

No one was injured in either derailment.

A series of derailments has plagued the railroad since late February, the most spectacular being the 66-car wreck just west of Oakland.

Wed in Hopwood Church

In a candlelight service Miss Joy Ann Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Savage, Hopwood, Pa., formerly of Garrett County and Sgt. Roland Ray Cully, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Cully, Wichita, Kan., were married in the Hopwood Free Methodist church on Saturday evening, March 12.

Officiating at the 6:30 o'clock ceremony was the Rev. E. E. Gunder before an altar setting of snapdragons and gladioli against a background of palms and ferns.

Mrs. Lurline Martin provided the nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Julius Kukuruzza who sang "Because", and "End of a Perfect Day." The Lord's Prayer was played while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of peau de soie, fashioned with fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and sequin trim, long sleeves tapered at the wrist and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a sequin trimmed hat and she carried a white Bible covered with Amazon lilies, a gift of her sister, Mrs. Thelma LaClair.

Mrs. Bonnie Rockwell, Hopwood, was her cousin's matron of honor. She appeared in a street-length aqua-blue dress with matching hat and carried a bouquet of bronze mums.

Linda Shaffer, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore a yellow dress with white accessories and carried a basket of rose petals.

Mr. Cully's best man was Kenneth Varndell, who formerly served with him in the U. S. Marine corps. Ushers were George Leasure and Jerry LaClair, cousins of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a two-piece black and white ensemble with white accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Bierer Wood Acres hall. Appointments at the bridal table were carried out in white, turquoise and silver with a three-tier wedding cake centering the table.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Ocean Side, Calif., the bride was wearing a two-piece turquoise blue ensemble and yellow rosebud corsage.

The couple will reside in Hopwood after May 1. The new Mrs. Cully is a junior student at Indiana State college, Indiana, Pa., and is employed during the summer vacations at Chautauqua, N. Y. She will be graduated from the college with a B. S. degree in education in June, 1961.

Sgt. Cully is a graduate of Wichita High school. He has served seven years of a nine-year term in the United States Marine corps, serving twice in Okinawa, and has been recently stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them. 2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre. 3 And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus. 4 And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments: 5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead? 6 He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee, 7 Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

THE WORDS OF ETERNAL LIFE

There was a day when some of the disciples of Jesus became discouraged and walked no more with Him.

But when the Master asked the twelve, "Will ye also go away?" Simon Peter answered, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."

Never underestimate spiritual intuition! Peter sensed long before the first Easter that Christ's mission was to lead men to eternal life!

As Easter approaches, millions of men and women realize a spiritual intuition. It calls them to their churches to worship the Risen Christ. It prompts them to embrace with new fervor convictions that sometimes have become casual.

Cherish that hunger for spiritual renewal. Fortify it as Peter did with an honest evaluation of man's helplessness apart from God. To Whom shall we go? Only Christ offers the Truth and Life which are eternal.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Love Thyself Last

Lesson for April 10, 1960

JESUS shocked his listeners then, and shocks his readers today, by many statements which are plain enough, so far as the language goes; but unbelieveable. That is, we can understand every word in the statement, or we think we can. What we find hard to take is the sentence as a whole. Take those three sentences with which the Sermon on the Mount begins:

Dr. Foreman

"Blessed are the poor in spirit . . . Blessed are the meek . . . Blessed are they that mourn . . ." "Blessed" means happy, or rather the Greek word translated "blessed" means happy. All the other words are commonly used, we have no trouble understanding what Jesus said. But could he have meant it? The thing sounds upside-down, backward, quite the opposite of real life.

What Jesus Is Driving At

Well, it is the opposite of the way most people do live. There is an old saying, "Look out for Number One." Who is Number One? Why, I am Number One. We have other proverbs much like that. "Self-preservation is the first law of life." "Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." Jesus means to say that these proverbs are clear out of line with God's will and his kingdom. Either they are right or "Blessed are the meek" is right; you can't have it both ways.

That word "meek" needs some explanation, to be sure. The word in the Greek language, in which the New Testament was first written, does not mean just the same as our word "meek" has come to suggest today. The word Jesus used did not mean humble-come-tumble, lacking self-respect and self-reliance, it did not mean a dishrag sort of character. What he meant by the word can be expressed by the words "not insisting on one's rights," "not demanding first place," the opposite of proud, conceited, demanding, aggressive. The old-fashioned word "gentle" as used in the words "gentleman" or "gentlefolk" comes closer to it than "meek." You might translate Jesus' sentence this way: Happy is the man who is not always insisting on his rights! Happy is the man who loves himself last!

Another word is "humble," and many scholars think that all these first three "beatitudes" are driving at the same point: Happy are the humble, those who really love themselves last. This is one of the many teachings of Jesus that are practical two ways, for this life and for the next, for everyday situations and for eternity too. Jesus himself has suggested how this works. He was once a guest at dinner, and he called the attention of those sitting next to him to the "polite" but persistent scrambling for the best places. In an oriental dining room as in our own, some places at the table are more "honorable" than others. Jesus gave the down-to-earth advice, in effect: If you must scramble, scramble for the lowest places, not the top ones. It is much better to be invited to take a better place than to be asked to get out of one! The man who is always insisting on his rights, standing on his dignity, is generally unhappy and envious, for he cannot take any pleasure in the success of others. It is the unselfish who really get the fun out of life.

Payoff In Eternity

Jesus' parable of the rich man and Lazarus has a good deal to do with all this. The rich man in that story, while he was living, seems to have seen nobody much but himself, thought of nobody's welfare but his own. If he ever saw the beggar, he made no move to help him. His brothers needed wise counsel, but he never thought about them either. He aimed to get his share of the big melon of the world . . . and he got it. He discovered his mistake too late. So we have another light on what Jesus meant. The man who is the opposite of meek—the selfish, greedy man—is a man who hardly even sees any one but himself. He cannot put himself in the other man's place. He learns at last what Dickens' character Mr. Marley learned, too late: "Humanity was my business." Only the meek know that without being told.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson

PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

Searcy, Arkansas

There is nothing inconsistent in Khrushchev's waging of cold war in south Asia and Latin America while at the same time pronouncing the Soviet Union's determination to have "peace." Dr. Fred Schwarz, the internationally-known authority on Communism, says it's simply a matter of understanding what the Communist means by "peace." And it isn't necessary to work hard for that understanding. The Communists have put it down in print.

Dr. Schwarz cites, among other publications the Communist pictorial magazine (similar to LIFE) The Soviet Union. It is published by the Russians in some 25 different languages — English, Chinese, Korean, Hindu, Arabic, Vietnamese, Hungarian, Serbo-Croat, French, German, Spanish, Finnish, and so on. Speaking at our Oklahoma City Freedom Forum, Dr. Schwarz held up the issue of The Soviet Union (this one printed in English) published shortly after the visit of Nikita Khrushchev to the United States.

"Khrushchev went to China to meet with his comrade dictator Mao-Tse-Tung," Dr. Schwarz reminded. Then he held up the magazine showing a double-page spread with big pictures, Khrushchev and Mao-Tse-Tung were photographed together. Here is the caption on the photograph: "Chairman Khrushchev says, 'The Soviet people regard the Chinese people as their brothers, friends and allies. The friendship between our two people has grown strong in our joint battle for the victory of Socialism — for peace in the world.' "

So what is peace? The victory of Socialism — Communist dictatorship. That is what Khrushchev is telling the world. On the next page of the magazine there is a photograph of Khrushchev and President Eisenhower at Camp David. The title on this photograph: "Meetings in America — Talks are a Way to Peace." And peace to them, is the victory of Communism. Khrushchev plainly says it.

So the Communists wish to consummate the war without the actual firing of atomic thermo-nuclear missiles, . . they want to conquer America intact. They can deal with the people later. Their program is a very simple one — encirclement plus demoralization equals surrender.

"The Communists wish to undermine the moral calibre of the American character, the conviction of the virtues of American economic and spiritual life, to weaken the will to resist, to distract from the real danger. North America, isolated, confused, demoralized, economically encircled, militarily encircled, confounded with the alternative of surrender or annihilation — they are convinced we will surrender. Their program is to reduce America to that condition of encirclement and demoralization, leaving no alternative but surrender. They think they will be able to do this, it is believed, by about 1973."

Dr. Schwarz doesn't believe they will be victorious. But he is convinced they have the upper-hand, the advantage now. "But as Dr. Schwarz says: "The battle against Communism is a total battle. It involves every aspect of our lives, every aspect of the world." Each citizen must ask himself: "Am I enlisted in this battle? Am I doing my part?"

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

BLOOD PRECIOUS ATONING

We who live in this present age have become acquainted with the value of blood transfusions. Thousands of people who are living today owe their lives to this remerkable discovery. When God sought to choose one substance in the world to convey the idea of redemption, He chose blood. From the very beginning God set blood aside as something precious. The Israelites were not to eat it, and if blood was spilled on the ground it was to be covered. God told Noah that the life of man was in the blood. Years later when Christ hung on the cross, one of the soldiers thrust a spear into His side and there came forth blood and water. The Apostle John in writing says in 1 John 1:7. " . . . and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." This healing serum for sin is one of the most important doctrines in the whole Bible but modern religion is strangely silent upon this score. Yet how important it is. Even as blood transfusions mean life to ailing bodies, so the blood of Christ means life to sin-sick souls who apply it by faith. For a very interesting study in the Bible take a Concordance and study what the Bible has to say about the atoning blood.

Spray Raspberries When Buds Green

To control anthracnose on black raspberries and spur blight on red varieties, apply fungicides to the raspberries when green leaves begin to show in the buds.

The green tip spray is applied to the fruiting canes to reduce anthracnose in the patch before new canes appear, says Dr. L. C. Weaver, state plant pathologist, University of Maryland, College of Agriculture.

Use lime sulfur 10 gallons in 100 gallons (4 pint in 5 gallons). Cover the canes from both sides.

Anthracnose stunts the canes and often kills the weakened shoots. The disease is found on fruiting canes as oval to round gray scars or spots.

The fungus lives from year to year on the canes. In the spring, spores are washed from fruiting canes to new growth. The spots on new canes appear as small purplish lesions. Later they become larger and tan, Dr. Weaver explains.

Infected canes may crack open or break at heavily diseased spots. All commercial varieties of black raspberry are susceptible.

Spur blight on red raspberry appears as brown or violet-brown discolored areas at the buds on the lower half of young canes. During the fall and winter the disease area becomes gray in color. The fungus lives over-winters on the canes and is easily spread to new growth, Dr. Weaver says.

The varieties Indian Summer, Taylor, Latham, and Milton are susceptible, he adds.

"Four-wheel independent suspension totally unlike any other U.S.-built car" . . . Other cars didn't even come close. The Motor Trend experts, who evaluated every make in the country, were unanimous in their decision, published in the April issue. Pictures Out Of The Past

Fishing Trip, Circa 1900, Appears Today

This week's picture shows a group of fishermen, resting from a day's outing along the Casselman river. It was taken at the abutment of the old Stone arch bridge over the Casselman river, just east of Grantsville, and the date was set at 1899 or 1900.

Last week's picture apparently caused more comment than other pictures of the past several weeks. Three of the live shown in the picture who are still alive reported on the event, and the widow of another one wrote from Parkersburg.

They were identified by Arnett Ganer, Elmer Shaffer and Tom Root, who were in the picture, and by Mrs. S. C. Winters, Parkersburg, whose husband was shown. Mr. Ganer identified them as follows: back row, left to right, Edward Sell, Arthur Rembolt, Elmer Shaffer and William Calcamp; next row, Charles Root, Julius Slaubaugh, Arnett Baner, Cam Winters, William Winters, William Slaubaugh; bottom row, the son of William Calcamp, Tom Root, Edward Remholt and David Remholt, with George Hauser kneeling by the drum.

The picture was taken at a picnic at Gnegy church but there is some discrepancy in the time of the event. Mr. Ganer placed it at 1903-1904. Mr. Shaffer said it was about 1906, while Mrs. Winters said it was in 1908.

Most of the people involved were Garrett county residents, although the band was known as the Horse Shoe Run cornet band.

Still living are Edward Sell, Arthur Rembolt, Tom Root, Arnett Ganer and Elmer Shaffer.

Unusual Graduation Exercises Are Held

There was an unusual graduation ceremony in Oakland last Thursday night. It was the ceremony marking the conclusion of the Dale Carnegie class in effective speaking which had been conducted over the previous sixteen weeks among thirty-four participants.

Each participant in the course was required to make a two-minute commencement address on a topic selected by the graduate, and in addition there were four special speech contests.

Winners in these categories were: Aza Stanton, prepared speech; R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., impromptu speech; Charles H. Friddle, of Petersburg, W. Va., humorous speech; and Milford Hardesty, Kingwood, W. Va., speech on "What I Got out of the Course."

Thirty-two of the thirty-four participants were present for the closing exercises at the William-James Hotel, along with their wives, husbands and friends. A dinner preceded the program. Lowell Loomis and Donald Friend were unavoidably absent. Attending were Robert L. Ault, Donald M. Browning, Thomas D. Browning, Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, Elbert Buckel, Mrs. Louise M. Currie, Mrs. Catherine Eggers, Clinton Englander, Irvin Feld, Charles H. Friddle, Milford Hardesty, Mary Louise Helbig, Bruce Hyre, Alfred F. Marucci, Frank L. McDaniel, William E. Naylor, Fred H. Onderdonk, Jr., Hoover Pelton, Victor W. Pritts, Mack J. Propst, Robert E. Proudfoot, Batty Ridder, Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., Wesley Schaible, Nordeck Shaffer, Twila B. Sprague, Aza Stanton, H. Rex Teagarden, R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., John H. Wolf, Mrs. John Wolf, Earl Zepp.

Awards for the two most interesting and convincing graduation speeches were made to Mary Louise Helbig, 1st, and Mrs. Louise Currie, second. Eight neutral persons served as judges.

The course was under direction of Arthur J. Forsyth, Baltimore, assisted by George Hollar, graduate assistant; and Raymond Nelson Stevenson and James H. Griffin, associate graduate assistants.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there Hope you all feel real fine. Seems like winter has made a final bid in Garrett County.

Garrett County is a very good subject to discuss just once from a teen view. You know, I am one of the very many who will be leaving Garrett County after graduation. Some will go on to college, some to the armed services and some to seek employment. I have one question. How many will ever be back permanently? Not so very many you can be sure. It's not that we don't love our hometown and home county. It's just that when we graduate from high school or college we are going to have to work. How many of us will be able to stay? Very few. We are, the majority anyhow, sorry to leave, but you could say we're being forced into it. There is no employment of much consequence, and this is not our fault. Who is at fault? Why aren't there more and better paying jobs? I'm sure that there are more like myself asking this same question. Maybe it is too late to do anything about this for us who are graduating in June, but there will be more next year and in the years to follow. Must they leave also? Something can be done, I'm sure of it. The question is, what and who is going to push the what as far as it can go? Again, we'd like to stay, but we can't.

Teen club will be held Saturday night instead of Friday.

In a few weeks I would like to bring a new singer down from Pittsburgh for you all to give the once over. I have it from someone, whom I consider a great judge, that this kid is really great. His name is Chuck Weis and he is only 16. He plays the guitar and sings up a storm.

I have it from this person, that Chuck is a really unique and contagious type of talent. I'm going to try to hear him first and then maybe you all will really get a treat.

Don't forget Saturday night, I'll see you all there, will have a real rockin' hop. Adios.

Arab World Impresses Steel City Twins

The Hickes family inspects the interior of the Citadel Mosque of Mohammed Ali in Cairo, UAR. (Courtesy of Christian Science Monitor)

The Arab world, normally a fascinating place for the tourist, has captivated the Hickes twins, Melissa and Rebecca.

The twelve-year old Pittsburgh girls and their parents have recently returned from a trip to the lands of the Bible. Melissa, whose prize-winning essay entitled "How the World's Famous Domes are Symbolic of Man's Progress," was sent to the Middle East along with her sister as a good-will emissary from Pittsburgh.

One of the inspirations for the essay was the bedomed Citadel Mosque of Mohammed Ali in Cairo, United Arab Republic. Melissa found intriguing contrast between the ornate domes and minarets of the Citadel and a functional, stainless steel dome she had seen on a new building in Pittsburgh.

In Bethlehem at Christmas time, the twins presented the mayor of the city with a stainless steel box symbolic of Pittsburgh, "the capital city of stainless steel."

TULIP TIME...
When GASmen Start "Building for You"

People, naturally, feel that tulips and gas have little in common. One you can see. The other you can't. You can feel tulips. You can't feel natural gas.

Nevertheless, when this early Spring flower bursts into bloom, it signals the start of the gas company's yearly service improvement program.

Each summer, miles and miles of new pipelines are laid . . . other lines are replaced with larger ones . . . pumping stations are increased in power . . . capacity of underground storage fields is enlarged. All this is undertaken to keep pace with our customers' gas requirements in cold weather.

This "building for you" program is costly, too...running into millions of dollars each year. Stepped-up over the last 15 years, this expansion program has assured customers dependable gas service day or night, summer or winter.

Certainly, tulip time is gas company construction time. Through expansion of facilities, more gas is available to customers. This dependability, combined with its economy, helps make natural gas today's preferred fuel—for home and industry.

20 Marriage Permits Granted Past Week

Twenty marriage licenses were issued during the past week ending Monday at noon from the office of Richard I. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. Thirteen of those were issued in March and brought the total for that month to 30. Seven were issued in April.

The first three months of the year have shown a marked decrease over previous years, mostly thought to be because of the inclement weather conditions. For the first three months of the year the total is 257, 84 for January, 83 for February, and 90 for March.

Is Your Name LANTZ?

Lantz, an old and honored surname, is principally of German origin. A search through a number of the leading works on nomenclature discloses only one direct reference to it wherein it is stated that it is the equivalent of Lanz and signifies "descendant of Lanzo or Lando". Lanzo and Lando were personal names of ancient and medieval times.

According to the Fifth Series of the Pennsylvania Archives, Andrew, Christian, George, Henry John, Martin, Nicholas, Palzer, Peter and Samuel Lanz served in the Pennsylvania militia at the time of the Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has listings of Jacob Lantz and John Lantz who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time. They lived respectively in Washington and Frederick Counties.

The progenitor or many of the present day members of the Lantz family was John Lantz who came from Germany in 1795 and settled in Perry County, Ohio. One of his grandsons was Charles Lantz, an attorney of note, who was born in Washington, D. C. in 1865 and later moved to Los Angeles where he founded the Los Angeles Abstract and Title Company.

Christian Lantz (1866-1955) of Salem, Mass., was an executive of the Young Men's Christian Association and was recognized as one of the founders of the playground system in the United States. At the request of President Wilson, he helped reorganize the U. S. Shipping Board during the First World War.

Harvey L. Lantz (1888-1958) was a distinguished horticulturist. He joined the faculty of Iowa State College in 1917 and advanced to the position of professor and head of the department of pomology.

Simon E. Lantz (1872-1952) of Peoria, Illinois was a member of the Illinois State Senate for thirty-six years. He served also as president, American Aberdeen Angus Breeders Association.

Midal Lantz of New York City is known nationally for his accomplishments as a sculptor.

Cyrus William Lantz is professor of biology at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Capital Comment

By JOHN R. FOLEY
Congressman, 6th District

A bill slowly moves through the House but not inexorably Its progress is marked by a push here and by a pull there. And so it has been with H. R. 2331, to establish the C & O Canal National Historical Park On March 23rd the strongest push occurred when the Rules Committee sent the bill to the floor by a 5 to 4 vote. Judges Smith of Virginia voted with the majority However, he and others on the Floor will attack the monetary provisions in the Bill One target will be the 25 mile Parkway in Allegany County. Its estimated cost is six million dollars The other major target will be the ten thousand additional acres provision with an estimated cost of one million dollars.

On Tuesday, March 29th, the House passed by a 362 to 10 vote the 1961 Appropriation Bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The Fogarty subcommittee had increased the administration's budget request for aid to impacted school areas under Public Laws 815 and 874 by $80 million. This means that Montgomery, Frederick, and Washington Counties will receive their full allowances in 1961.

This month the League of Women Voters of Montgomery County sent a questionnaire to Congressional Candidates. One of the questions posed by the League and my answer follows:

Q. Will you phrase give your reasons for your support or opposition to the present United States foreign economic aid program?

A. The new independent countries are underdeveloped. Their 700 million free people are the prime targets of Sovet political control by Soviet economic infiltration. The United States must in our own interest exercise stronger, more enlightened leadership to help these free nations help improve themselves economically.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with sincere appreciation we acknowledge the sympathy and kindness extended to us by our friends and neighbors at the death of our mother, Alice Friend Frazee. We especially thank Rev. Short, those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and to all who assisted in any manner.

Eisenhower Speaks At Maryland U. —Last Sunday night President Eisenhower delivered an address at the University of Maryland at the opening of the White House Conference on Children and Youth The President told the 7,000 delegates, from every part of the United States, that, from the play pen to the campus, children should grow up in a climate that encourages response to intellectual challenge, self-reliance, initiative and a healthy regard for hard work and the dignity of man". Young people today, the President said are heirs to the greatest fund of knowledge any generation has received, live more comfortably than did medieval royalty, and move about in an environment increasingly devoted to their convenience and enjoyment. Adults, he said, have the responsibility of showing children to live in such an environment without losing spiritual values exceedingly more important than material things.

Latest Report On Our Defense Program—Recent experiments lead scientists here to hope with some optimism that they'll be able to perfect a successful defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles by the late 1960s. If it works out, this defense will be based on a form of electromagnetic energy.

Rapidly changing military requirements are outdating some U. S. weapons before they are even completed. One victim is the Bomarc missile, designed to knock down enemy planes but useless against ballistic missiles. The Nike-Zeus antimissile missile also is under a cloud. We were told last week by the Pentagon that the Nike-Zeus, which can defend only a limited radius of land, may not be worth its cost. The B-70 bomber program may be completely scrapped because by the time the plane is operational the United States will have ballistic missiles in quantity.

The Polaris nuclear warhead rocket may emerge as one of the most-favored, best-funded weapon systems. The Polaris is designed to be launched from nuclear submarines either above or below the surface. Tests have been successful—including one last week when a Polaris darted down the Atlantic range and hit exactly on target.

Why Do We Make H-Bombs—War is hell. Always has been. War means killing, and there's no "nice" way to kill. The two atomic bombs dropped on Japan created an inferno of horrible death, dismemberment, disfigurement. Now, the Soviets and the U. S. A. both have the H-bomb, many times as destructive as the A-bomb.

War is stupid and futile, as the President said in his speech at College Park. A general war now or in the near future would annihilate millions of people, possibly wiping out the larger part of the world's population.

Why, then, do we prepare for such war? Why do we develop and manufacture H-bombs? There is only one answer: to deter the enemy. The enemy respects nothing except superior power. If he did not fear instant retaliation, the enemy would attack us today this is the unanimous opinion of our military, counterintelligence and diplomatic experts.

Many of our good people have advocated our giving up the H-bomb. Had the American Government heeded the voices that said the H-bomb couldn't or shouldn't be built, Soviet mastery of the world would be complete today.

On Behalf Of The Filibuster—I voted for cloture to end the filibuster in the Senate; I felt that enough time had been given to the "extended debate". Many people look upon the filibuster as a disgraceful spectacle of democracy breaking down. There's another side to the coin. In the process of bringing a new voting-rights bill to reality, Congress is slowly, painfully, but significantly carrying a human justice to a new frontier in the nation. Something immmense is happening: a political revolution is being carried out.. This "spectacle" is the American way of achieving r radical reform by ballot without resorting to extreme social violence.

No High Dams On The Potomac—U. S. Senator Jennings Randolph (W. Va.) and I invited General Welling, Engineer Commissioner for the District of Columbia, and General Lipscomb, of the Office of the Chief of Army Engineers, to meet with us to discuss future plans for Washington's water supply. The conference was held on Friday of last week. Also present were U. S. Senator Robert Byrd and Representative Harley O Staggers, both of West Virginia, members of the staffs of Senators John Marshall Butler, Harry Byrd and Willis Robertson. Accompanying Generals Welling and Lipscomb were members of their staffs. The main purpose of the meeting was to let the D. C. and Army engineers know that we knew how badly they would be needing water for the Nation's Capital, and at the same time to let them know that we did not propose to permit any high dams at River Bend on the Potomac or on the Shenandoah.

Alternative plans were discussed.

Senate Action, Accomplished And Proposed—My bill, S.77, providing for the establishment of a C. & O. Canal National Park, will be scheduled for consideration by the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs at an early date. As you know, I have led the fight for this legislation, and I will continue until we get it through.

Our Senate Committee on Banking and Currency has been holding hearings on the "Full Disclosure Bill", designed to disclose to the installment buyer just what he's paying in addition to the purchase price. Some disturbing facts have been revealed. Subterfuge and trickery have been resorted to by unscrupulous finance houses. The rank and file of reputable bankers and officials of other lending agencies—and the great majority are, of course, reputable—want to see the unscrupulous exposed and run out of business. In a few pitiful cases brought to our attention, the installment buyer or borrower had paid installments for years and still owned about as much as he did at the beginning. Possibly the bill we have before us is not the right bill, but we can surely find a way to protect the public against the "shark" without hurting the reputable banker.

Tolerance, Up To A Point—I think I'm about as tolerant as the next fellow—tolerant of most everything, but my tolerance does not extend to rattle snakes or traitors. I could never be tolerant toward anyone who espoused Communism or gave encouragement to any traitorous movement bent on undermining or subverting our great nation. Communism, the very antithesis of the basic principle of our American concept of liberty and justice, and the very antithesis of Christianity, is not be to tolerated

Cows, Too Like The Sound Of Crickets — An up-and-coming farmer says that he has found that piping the sound of crickets into his dairy barn increases milk production. But wait! This thing hasn't been tested out, production-wise, sampling-wise, and size-wise. It hasn't been adequately finalized and pasteurized. And, besides, the Agriculture Department hasn't issued any directives on it, and that Department issues directives. Just suppose the cricket chorus became too darned exuberam and brought about a milk surplus!

Maryland Banker Named for National 4-H Alumni Recognition Award

An agricultural banker has been selected as a winner of the national 4-H Club Alumni Recognition award for 1960.

Abram Z. Gottwals

He is Abram Z. Gottwals of Upper Marlboro, Md., agricultural and public relations representative of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland.

To Receive Gold Key

And he will be honored at the annual alumni banquet during the 39th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next December. There he will be given a gold alumni key which is presented each year to eight former 4-H'ers who have "continued to live by 4-H ideals." The announcement comes from the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

A native of Greenshoro, Md., Gottwals devoted eight years to 4-H Club work in Maryland's Caroline county. His main projects included dairy and gardening.

Was Vo-Ag Teacher

Gottwals went on to become a vocational and agricultural teacher in Arundel High school (1938-'41) and then secretary-treasurer of the Southern Maryland National Farm Loan Association and Southern Maryland Production Credit Association (1941-'52).

He served as president of the 4-H All Stars and organized the first Federation Boys 4-H Clubs in Caroline county.

Gottwals engages in extensive travels over Maryland to speak on careers in agriculture.

Among other offices he has filled are: director, Social Service League, Prince Georges county; director, Prince Georges County chapter, American Red Cross; chairman, agricultural committee, Prince Georges Chamber of Commerce. He also is on the board of directors of the Agricultural Alumni Association, University of Maryland; president, Alpha Gamma Rho Alumni Association, and director, Maryland Tobacco Improvement Association.

Gottwals organized the first 4-H Foundation campaign among Maryland bankers and then served as vice chairman of the campaign for two years. As chairman of the agricultural committee of the Maryland Bankers Association he was instrumental in getting a budget approved for 4-H work.

A member of the board of directors of the Maryland 4-H Club Foundation, Inc., he was one of the six original signers of the group. Meanwhile, he has served as chairman of the finances committee of the foundation.

Cited as Example

Observes Ella F. Smart, assistant home demonstration agent: "Mr. Gottwals' day-to-day life is an example in attitude and action of the ideals and high principles for which 4-H Club work stands and which he values so highly."

And she adds: "He is indeed dedicated to loyalty, service and a good life which he states is a tribute to his 4-H training."

Gottwals often has explained in appearances before groups around the state that in essence the inspiration he received in his early years of 4-H Club work undoubtedly gave him the incentive and drive necessary to carry out his active schedule of professional and civic duties as well as contributing to the 4-H program, however needed, on the local, state and national levels.

The 4-H Alumni program, conducted nationally by the Cooperative Extension Service, is supported by the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Plant Food Division, of Little Rock, Ark.

Gifts of God - - - -

Eternal life is the gift of God. Here is a statement which runs counter to the mood and the conviction of many people. Some moderns would say that eternal life is our inalienable right as human beings. Others would declare that eternal life is something we earned for ourselves. They would say we are self-made heirs of God.

Thus, to many, Eastertide carries no note of overwhelming joy or profound gratitude.

To the true Christian, however, the great experiences of life to which he responds are not rights or just rewards; they are gifts of God. The world of nature, the beauty of the rose, or of the sunset; life, natural endowment, family—to mention only a few; these are constant causes of Thanksgiving.

There is a sense of wonder and of humility. Especially is this true at Easter. Despite all our failure and weakness, in the Resurrection of Jesus Christ, God has opened unto us the gates of everlasting life. In humble gratitude we rededicate ourselves, as with joy we repeat the old but never new message, "The Lord is risen, He is risen indeed."

(Written in 1953 by the presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, and reprinted with special emphasis at this time.)

Harold E. Shaffer, Jr., aged 12, was reported "improved" at the Garrett County Memorial hospital where he underwent major surgery last week after falling from the upper bunk bed in his home at Bayard, W. Va.

Physicians said the youth severed the main artery going to the brain in the vicinity of his ear as a result of the fall.

After being unconscious for several days the youth has now regained consciousness, hospital officials said.

NEW TYPE MACHINE—Here's a new type machine that is not only a labor saver but actually performs a job that manual labor couldn't do. Known as a carry lift, it will handle 50,000 to 75,000 feet of lumber per day and in addition some 50,000 to 75,000 feet of logs. The machine cost in the neighborhood of $23,000 and weighs nine tons. It has an automatic transmission, a four-wheel drive and moves and stacks lumber in an amazingly short time. Its capacity is 2,000 feet of lumber at one "bite." The machine is one of those being moved into the area by the Harco Lumber company and is located at present at the C. C. Mason lumber yard. In the near future it will be on the new location of the Lumber company, along the railroad right-of-way near the old Weber crossing. Howard Adams was operating the machine when the picture was taken. Standing by is Jim Wolfe, representative for a mine supply house of Morgantown.

Wet Ground Is Factor In Disaster

Officials Probe Kitzmiller Tragedy Which Took Three Lives

Wet ground as a result of the spring thaw, failure to properly crib the opening, improper timbering and insufficient bracing of existing timbers appeared to be the causes of the mining disaster which took three lives at Kitzmiller Saturday.

Federal and state mine inspectors conducted an inquiry Monday afternoon, at the Community Building in Kitzmiller, in an effort to probe the causes of the mishap and take steps to prevent a similar tragedy in the future. While the inspectors did not make any formal statements and offered no comments except to indicate that reports will be filed in writing, witnesses were definite in their views.

The first witness called, Carl A. Schell of Kitzmiller, president of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and head of Kitzmiller's national championship mine rescue squad, testified that he helped remove the bodies of the dead miners.

Telephone Call

Mr. Schell told the board of inquiry that he received a telephone summons to the scene at 2:15 p. m. and with Chester Evans took the mine rescue truck to the scene.

"When we arrived", Mr. Schell said, "two young men, Joe Harvey and Lawrence Paugh were at the scene and were trying to remove debris and rock from the fall. Young Paugh had been injured. Using such tools as were available, we proceeded to break and cut through to the victims. Some 10 to 15 tons of rock and debris had come down. All the

Conference on Aging To Be Held Friday

The Western Maryland Regional conference on Aging will be held in Hagerstown on Friday, April 22. It is one of a series of four such to be held leading up to the statewide Governor's conference scheduled for College Park the first week of September.

The regional conference was preceded by a county meeting in Oakland a few weeks ago.

Purpose of the conference is to assemble all available information concerning the needs of senior citizens, which would constitute a basis for recommendations to be made to the Governor's conference.

Five workshops are scheduled. One, 11:30 to 11:45 will be conducted by Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland, who will speak on "Circulatory Problems of the Aging."

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer will speak on "Nursing Homes."

The conference is open to the general public.

Road Damage Heavy

Winter damage to the county roads has been particularly heavy this year, it was announced by Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor this week.

Work already has started on repairing the roads, but Wotring said it would be several weeks before the work is completed. Although the frost line did not penetrate the ground to more than a few inches, "the bottom seems to have dropped out" in many places.

Wotring estimated the total damage to county roads as a result of the winter storms would reach a possible $15,000.

Muha Resigns As School Principal At Northern High

Ten Teachers Retiring Or Moving Away—Four New Ones Appointed

The resignation of Paul Muha as principal of Northern High school after a four year administration, was chief among the ten resignations and retirments announced by the Board of Education following its regular meeting on Tuesday.

Mr. Muha will move with his family to Okinawa in July and take up a teaching position on that island in the Pacific. Mr. Muha has been a teacher in the county schools for a number of years. He was principal of Oakland Elementary school for one and one-half years before going to Northern High school in September, 1956. Prior to that time he had been an administrative assistant at Northern. No successor has been named.

At least four teachers will retire. They are Ervin S. Smith, commercial teacher at Southern; Miss Lucile Mitchell, first grade teacher at Center street; Miss Gladys Hamill, fourth grade teacher at Kitzmiller; Mrs. Kathryn S. Smith, teacher at Northern High school.

Five other teachers are resigning for various reasons.

Mrs. Lucile Kerins, physical education teacher at Southern, will move with her husband to Indiana. Mrs. Adrienne Carter, home economics teacher at Southern, will move to Virginia with her husband. Mrs. Mildred Nethken, junior high teacher at Kitzmiller, will move to Baltimore with her husband; Mrs. Edna Wonderly, primary teacher at Crellin, will move from the community with her husband, Mr. Russell Heyde, teacher in the Grantsville school, will teach in Frederick county next year.

Jail For Two Ends Armed Robbery Try

Two Garrett county young men attempted an armed robbery at McHenry last Saturday night and were behind bars within an hour.

The story was unfolded at a preliminary hearing held Monday morning in the office of Robert M. Maroney, trial magistrate.

Held for action of the September term grand jury are Arthur Edison Fazenbaker, 26, and Leroy Franklin Fazenbaker, 20, both of the Glendale road area on Deep Creek Lake.

They are charged with breaking and entering and also armed robbery, and both men pleaded guilty to both charges at the hearing and were committed to jail in default of $5,000 bond on each charge for each individual.

According to the information brought out at the hearing, the men hid in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coffey prior to the time of closing their store Saturday evening. The store is next door to the home. Mrs. Coffey had the day's receipts and as she entered the home she was met by the older member, brandishing a 12 gauge shotgun. Mrs. Coffey screamed. At this moment Mr. Coffey entered the house. The elder Fazenbaker sought to escape and as he went by Mr Coffey attempted to grab the man's gun. About this time the other man passed Mrs. Coffey, pushing her aside. Mr. Coffey also grappled with him. Both men wore stockings over their heads.

Mr. Coffey went outside and flagged a passing motorist. The motorist said he hadn't seen anyone running but noticed a parked car along the highway nearby. The man recognized the car. Corporal Sam Conrad, of the State Police, was notified and he picked up the two Fazenbakers. They admitted being in the area but said they had been at Boone Smouse's establishment. When this was found to be untrue they were brought to Oakland and placed in the county jail. They later confessed to county officers.

Leroy Fazenbaker admitted to State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover that he was under a suspended sentence for breaking into a lake cottage some time ago. The elder Fazenbaker has no previous record.

Open Meeting To Air New Water Supply Program

A public meeting to discuss the new water supply program for Oakland has been called by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for Friday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock, at the Oakland Fire hall.

Mayor Russell L. Smith said that a representative of the State Department of Health, the Chester Engineers and the Bond counsel would be on hand to discuss the problem and to answer any questions that the citizens may have.

The present plans call for the taking of the town's water supply from the Youghiogheny river, from a point above the mouth of the Little Youghiogheny river, and piping it to town through a filtration system. Estimated cost of the plan is in the neighborhood of one half million dollars.

Watershed Group Names Five Directors

Five directors were named Tuesday at a meeting of the Wilson Run Public Watershed association, held in the Court House.

Named in the order of their election were Floyd Leighton, with 65 votes, Joseph Hinebaugh with 57 votes, Irvin Feld with 56 votes, Russell L. Smith with 53 votes, and Harold H. Harned with 52 votes.

Others nominated at last week's meeting included Mason J. Glotfelty, William E. Sharps, Clayton Winters, Earl Shartzer, Mrs. Mary Drake Bennett, A. D. Naylor, and Wesley Schaible. Irvin R. Budy, Jr., and A. G. Gortner, withdrew before balloting began.

In the voting corporations were allowed one vote, tenants by entirety two votes, and tenants in common, one vote each. Some 75 votes were possible but thirteen property owners did not cast a ballot. Ballots were distributed by S. F. Hamill, Jr., attorney to the Board of County Commissioners.

Purpose of the association is to implement the carrying out of the flood protection program on Wilson Run. All property owners would be responsible for a portion of any expenses developing from activities of the organization. Establishment of the organization was ordered by the County Commissioners following a public hearing several weeks ago.

The next job on the agenda of the association is to formulate a complete work plan and then to approve it or disapprove it by a vote of the property owners involved.

Touch of Spring Follows Three Snows

After three days of snowfall, last Friday night, Saturday and Sunday, spring has descended upon Garrett county with four days of warm and drying air.

High winds on Monday aided in drying out the ground and farmers lost no time in getting to their plowing. They were already two or three weeks behind schedule.

Veteran weather man Ralph E. Weber was still not optomistic in spite of the spring weather of the past three days. He declared there would still be one more storm before settling for actual spring. He said this would occur sometime after Easter.

In the meantime people prepared to enjoy the present conditions which saw the thermometer going into the 60's and low 70's.

Most of the snow has disappeared, although there are scattered drifts here and there. There was a total of some four or five inches of snow fell during the three-day storm but it was difficult to measure. Most of it melted as soon as it hit. Some county snow plows were on duty, however, last Friday.

The May 2 deadline applies to applications for both shorn wool and lamb wool payments and to all sales made during the period from April 1, 1959 through March 31, 1960. Mr. Bittinger urged all wool growers who had not already filed their application to send or bring their bills of sale to the County ASC Office in Oakland before the deadline date.

Mine Rock Fall Fatal To Three Kitzmiller Men

Are Crushed To Death Last Saturday Afternoon; One Miner Rescued

Three men were crushed to death under ten to fifteen tons of rock and dirt last Saturday afternoon at the Paugh Coal Mine near Kitzmiller.

Victims of the disaster were John Leroy Paugh, 50, mine owner; his nephew, Charles Leo Paugh, 21, and Allen Harvey, 40, all of Kitzmiller. Paugh's son, Lawrence Paugh, 18, was also trapped in the mine entrance but was freed and suffered only minor leg injuries. He did not require hospitalization.

Another of Paugh's sons, Marvin Junior Paugh, 21, had been working in the mine but had stepped outside shortly before the cave-in occurred.

Joe Harvey, who went to the scene, succeeded in digging Lawrence Paugh free of the debris. The body of the dead were taken from the mine by members of the Kitzmiller Mine Rescue squad. The last body was removed about two and one-half hours after the rock fall.

The cave-in occurred about 2 o'clock while the men were working within sight of the mine opening.

Information about the tragedy was furnished by Harry B. Buckley, district mine inspector. He said the group had put in several shots which were put off and they all went to lunch at the nearby home of John L. Paugh. After lunch they returned to the mine where John, Charles and Allen loaded the mine car with rock that had come down from blasting. About 2 p. m. Marvin and Lawrence were out by the mine car, John and Allen were re-setting a timber and called to Marvin to get them a cap-piece. As Marvin left Charles also started out from the working face. They said, "we heard a noise and as we turned to look Lawrence was caught about the legs with debris and a heavy timber across one ankle. The others were all covered up."

Marvin tried to get Lawrence loose but could not and after calling to the others and receiving no answer he ran to his home nearby, got his car and started toward Kitzmiller. One half mile from the mine he saw Ray and Joe Harvey cutting timber and told them what had happened. Marvin continued

Program For Trout Stocking Under Way

The Game and Inland Fish commission employes are supervising the stocking of almost 26,000 trout in streams of Allegany and Garrett counties this week and next.

The Garrett county streams and the number of legal size trout being placed there include the following:

Laurel run 250, Jennings run 200, Savage river 2,000, Potomac river 250, Mill Run 200, Buffalo run 350, Puzzley run 200, Piney run 300, Bear creek 1,200, Muddy creek 400, April: Big Yough river 300, Little Yough river 300, New Germany 1,000, Salt Block 300, Wolfden run 150, Bear creek 500, Buffalo run 250, Savage river 1,000, New Germany 300, Salt block 250, Muddy creek 300, Bear creek 500, Big Yough river 200, Little Yough river 250, Puzzley run 200, Piney run 200, Savage river 1,000, May: Jennings run 200, New Germany 300, Savage river 500, Mill run 200, Wolfden run 150, Buffalo run 100, Laurel run 250, Bear Creek 500, Potomac river 200, Big Yough river 200, Little Yough river 200, Bear creek 400, Savage river 500, Bear creek 400.

A member of the Game commission said that Maryland waters would not naturally produce legal size trout and for this reason the commission stocks approximately 100,000 trout in over 50 streams with the desire that every one will be caught by an angler. He said stocking was strictly a "put an' take" procedure and every trout not taken is a $5 loss to the license paying anglers.

In Allegany county the fish are being stocked in Winebrenner run, Stumb run, Matthew run, Mill run, Little creek, Flintstone creek and Savage river.

High Dam Not Necessary—A Southerner in opposing a high dam at River Bend on the Potomac said he was not shutting the door on a water supply for the Nation's Capitol. On the contrary, he was in fact recommending the development of a reasonable and practicable solution to the problem. Already, the engineers are engaged in a new study, intended to help alleviate an adequate water supply, without destroying through flooding and submersion, possibly 100 fine farms and acres of beautiful, fertile agriculture land which calamity would have resulted from the construction of the high dam as proposed. Some of the people who favored the high-dam idea did not realize that it would result in the destruction of many fine farms and some of the most beautiful countryside in all the land.

For many years, as a member first of the House District Committee and then of the Senate District Committee, I have been deeply concerned with the problem of the future water supply for a growing Washington. I have fought against what I considered to be unworkable plans, and have advanced what I considered to be feasible plans.

Army engineers are now no longer thinking in terms of a 235-foot high dam at River Bend. They readily concede that it is not necessary. Consideration is now being given to a much lower structure storing only about one-third as much water as would the high dam. The lower dam would be supplemented by water-impounding structures at 11 other places along the Potomac and its tributaries. The new plan would become part of the "ultimate plan" suitable for a century hence.

Embassy Tour & International Bazaar—The annual Embassy Tour sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Davis Memorial Goodwill Industries will be held on Saturday, May 7, from 2 to 6 P. M. The Four will include the Embassies of Yugoslavia, Burma, The Philippines, The Netherlands, Japan, and Great Britain, and also the Islamic Center and Anderson House. A special feature will be an International Bazaar featuring interesting articles from many countries, especially those whose embassies are on the Tour. The Bazaar will be held at the Indonesian Chancery. All of the Embassies are within walking distance. Distinguished members of the Diplomatic Corps and official Washington, as well as socially prominent hostesses, will meet those visiting the interesting places. Mrs. Beall is Chairman for Maryland.

This is a great opportunity for our Maryland people to visit the Nation's Capital and see the interesting embassies not usually open to the public. Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Edward Foss Wilson, 4850 Rockwood Parkway, Washington, 16, D. C. Tickets are $4; special rate to students, $3.

Questionnaire Results—The tabulation of the answers to our 50 questions is almost complete. In next week's "Senate Cloakroom", we will give the results. You may be in for a few surprises.

A Word Aginst Creeping Socialism—The greatness of America lies in the faith of her people. From our beginning, Americans have been filled with such a hope as never caught the imaginations and the hearts of any nation on earth before—the hope of liberty, of justice—the hope of a land in which a man can stand straight, without fear, without resentment, in which every man can work out his own destiny. A system of ideas provided the dynamics which have made Americans the richest people on earth. Freedom of religion! Freedom of the press! Freedom of person! Free enterprise! Indeed the Declaration of Independence is a stately chant of human freedom. We must hold on to this idea of freedom. What constitutes the bulwark of our liberty and independence? Is it our frowning battlements, our nuclear stockpile, our rocketry? These are important to deter any enemy, and our preparedness for defense must not lag, but our real strength lies in the determination in our hearts to remain free men.

Charity Agencies Deny Wastefulness—Dr. William L. Howell, President of Washington Heart Association, Inc., writes me that the expense of conducting money-raising drives for his organization does not exceed 12 or 13 per cent. Similarly, Mr. Louis G. Buttell, Washington Representative of the National Foundation, writes that in his organization the money-raising costs average only 10.5 per cent. Such percentages for fund raising are, of course, extremely low. The National Foundation holds that its president's travel and expense account, which had been under criticism, is reasonable, as he travels two-thirds of the time. Dr. Howell, on behalf of the Washington Heart Association, calls attention to the fact that their solicitors are volunteers—draw no salaries or commissions. I believe all the big national health agencies use only volunteer solicitors.

There are many fine people connected with the various charity drives. As a matter of fact, I know personally those who head up the drives in the District of Columbia and Maryland, particularly those who head the Heart Association in Maryland, and I know them to be public spirited citizens, noted for their charitable and humanitarian interests—men and women of honor and integrity who would not think of accepting charity dollars as payment for their civic interest and effort. In reporting, in a recent "Senate Cloakroom," some of the startling things the nationally prominent Look Magazine had said about our charity drives, I was doing just that: reporting what Look had said—not expressing personal thoughts or opinions. I object, of course, as do all honest citizens, to anyone's "using" charity for a personal profit—and I believe everyone would admit that there are some such persons. I did not, in the earlier "Senate Cloakroom", nor would I ever, intentionally cast any reflection on those public-spirited people who give unselfishly of their time and effort, with no thought of personal gain or glory.

Do You Like To Take Tests?—This being a presidential election year, how much do you remember about United States Presidents? Can you name those described below? (We'll list the answers, by number, right here in the "Senate Cloakroom" two weeks from now. You could jot down your answers, and then check them against the list.)

1. He was the only one to serve two terms not consecutively.
2. His is the most visited memorial in the United States.
3. He was sworn into office by his father.
4. He was awarded the Nobel Prize as the world's foremost peacemaker.
5. He placed the Federal Government on a budget.
6. With 14 children, he could boast of the largest White House family.
7. He was elected without a political party.
8. He was our only bachelor President.
9. He vetoed a bill while he was abroad.
10. He was shot after leaving office, while running for re-election.
11. He was a Bible student and authored a version of the life of Christ.
12. His epitaph reads, President of the United States, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.
13. He was the first President to live in the White House.
14. He was the only President of this century to serve exactly 8 years.
15. He served as President only one month — took a cold while riding bareheaded in the rain on Inauguration Day, leading to his death.

Operatic Jewelry Stages Comeback

UAR Tourist Office Director presents replicas of famous Aida jewels to Opera Star Irene Dalis at New York's Metropolitan Opera.

At the request of opera primadonna Irene Dalis, replicas of the jewels worn in the first performance of the opera Aida in Cairo in 1871 were recently sent to New York by the UAR Tourist Department.

The jewels, a crown and two amulets, were formally presented to Miss Dalis on Jan. 6 on the Metropolitan Opera stage by Mr. Ali Kamil, Director of the UAR Tourist Office in New York.

The replicas of the famous jewels are to be worn in future performances of Aida.

The American Way

COMMUNISM AMERICAN STYLE

By George Peck

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

Things have been going on in Cuba that have aroused the ire of most of the American people. The bearded Castro has confiscated private property, much of it owned by Americans, and in doing so has demonstrated his rank ingratitude to a country that liberated Cuba from Spanish oppression and which has contributed much since that liberation to the general welfare of the Cuban people.

Reprisals against Castro have been urged upon the U. S. A. Congress ranging from cutting off our sugar purchases to sending a squad of marines to Cuba to teach this revolutionary upstart a lesson. Fortunately, cooler heads have prevailed and no drastic action has been taken. Those cooler heads are convinced that Mr. Castro is digging his own political grave and that it won't be too long until the Cuban people bury him in that grave.

But while we have been castigating Mr. Castro for the socialist program he has launched in Cuba, perhaps we should take a closer look at some of the socialist programs we ourselves have launched right here in Free Enterprise America. It is high time that we take a gander at the beam in our own eyes before we so sharply criticize the mote in Castro's.

Now let it be clearly understood that we hold no brief for Castro. As previously stated we consider him to be an ingrate and a stupid one at that. But, at least the properties Castro has seized have for the most part been those of foreigners. He could even sincerely mistakenly believe that in so doing he is a patriot serving the best interests of the Cuban people. But what about confiscation of private property by Americans right here in America? That seems to us to be a much greater crime than Castro's.

Let us give you the story of one confiscation of private property. To do so we pass on an editorial which appeared in the February, 1960, issue of EMPLOYES' NEWS, published by the Kentucky Utilities Company. From here to the end we quote this editorial:

Recently, there has been a big "stir" in this country over confiscation of private property by the Castro regime in Cuba. Already losses by conservative estimates exceed a billion dollars. Heated protests have been voiced on the floors of the Congress of the United States labeling these acts as a shame and disgrace.

Yet this same Congress last year enacted into law an amendment to the T. V. A. Act, together with Tennessee law already in existence, which permitted a municipal agency to destroy our properties at South Fulton, Tenn. Weakley County Municipal System is now overbuilding our system having refused to pay a fair price for the property.

If it is Socialism-Communism—in Cuba, what do you call the same thing in the United States? Is such a philosophy in line with the principles of our Constitution and its Bill of Rights?

Is this the American Way bought and defended by the spill of blood and the loss of hundreds of thousands of our boys on battlefields almost all over the world?

Is it fair and honorable to grab off a successful business after 43 years of costly development? Well, that is what is taking place at South Fulton.

Our company started developing the uses and efficency of electric service there back in 1917 with about two dozen customers. Over the years we have developed the business to the point where we had nearly 1,000 customers—but our days there are numbered. We will be there no longer than the time necessary for the Weakley County System to overbuild and take over the last one of our customers.

If confiscation or destruction of business or personal property is permitted to continue by "so-called" legal or any other process, can we continue as a Nation of free people for another 200 years, or even half or one-tenth that long?

The fact that wholesale confiscation of private property is taking place in South Fulton, Tenn., makes a mockery of our pious indignation at Castro's lack of regard for the rights of property in Cuba.

Mine Rock Fall

to Kitzmiller for additional help, while Joe Harvey went to the mine where he rescued Lawrence Paugh. Harvey, observing water running into the fall, then diverted it in another direction. He and Lawrence then began removing debris. Marvin Paugh, meantime reached Kitzmiller and told Howard Shank of the accident, who immediately called Carl Schell and Chester Evans. They rushed the mobile rescue truck and fire truck toward the accident. Members of the Rescue team and Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire department assisted in the rescue work, besides a number of others.

Buckley said he learned of the accident as he was returning from Frostburg and went to the scene immediately. He estimated the fall of overburden at 15 feet in height and 10 feet thick.

Buckley said Dr. Ralph Calandrella was among the first on the scene and remained until the last body was recovered. State police and the sheriff and deputy sheriff, also were on the scene. They kept sightseers away, maintained radio communications and offered other assistance.

One of the men was found near the mine opening and the other two were found to the left of the center of the track, about three feet beyond the end of the mine car. The body of John Paugh Buckley said, had been driven almost straight down with his head buried in the chest of the third victim, Allen Harvey.

The mine opening is located only a few yards from the old Burrell mine in which five men lost their lives in a cave-in a few years ago.

Dr. James Feaster, deputy state medical examiner, said Harvey died of head injuries, John Paugh of a fractured skull and Charles Paugh of a broken neck and head injuries.

The rescue squad was headed by Carl Schell, president of the County Commissioners with other members being Chester Evans, James Droppleman, Michael Droppleman, Carl Paugh, Wilbur Burrell and Fitzhugh Burrell.

The results of the hearing by federal and state mine officials are contained in a separate story as well as the account of the funeral services which were conducted on Tuesday.

Asks For Continued Red Cross Support

A plea for continued support of the American Red Cross was issued this week by Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, county chairman.

The annual drive for funds has been under way for several months and the quota has been set at $3,000.

Mrs. Naylor outlined some of the work that the local chapter of the Red Cross performs every month throughout the year.

The Chapter year runs from July 1 to June 30 and because of inclement weather the drive is started in early fall and continues for several months. Those not previous solicited may hand their contributions to James C. Lemmert, treasurer, in the First National Bank.

Since last July 1 the Red Cross has aided over 50 service men. They are contacted at time of death or serious illness in their families, when their families are in want. The Red Cross succeeded in getting one service man home from Okinawa at the time of his father's death.

During the bus accident last September cablegrams came from Germany seeking information concerning the victims. All calls were answered. Many calls are received and all are answered.

She pointed out also that war veterans are cared for.

Veterans' hospitals ask the Red Cross to locate certain veterans who fail to keep their appointments at the hospital. Letters are received from foreign location inquiry service. Mrs. Naylor told of one man who had not been heard from since 1940. The chapter also gets many inquiries from parents asking about their sons. Other requests come from individuals who are disturbed and seek advice.

Mrs. Naylor stressed that all this work is rewarding but that it takes money. She said the drive would soon come to a close and that more contributions were needed to reach the quota. James McHenry is roll call chairman.

She called attention to an article in the February issue of Holiday magazine entitled "The Controversial Red Cross," by Richard Carter. The article received such high praise that the National office of public information has made it available to the public. Those desiring a copy may obtain one by contacting Mrs. Naylor.

he said no large teacher turnover was anticipated.

New Appointments Made

Several new appointments for the coming year were announced.

Stanley Sedmock, June graduate of Fairmont college will replace Robert Martin in indastrial arts at Southern. Mr. Martin will become full time transportation supervisor in June.

Robert Lancaster will replace Mr. Heyde at Grantsville. He is a recent graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mrs. Betty Louise Fox, June graduate at Frostburg, will replace Mrs. Nothken at Kitzmiller.

Mrs. Mildred Norman, a June graduate from Shepherd college will replace Miss Gladys Hamill at Kitzmiller.

Mr. Hawkins said he expected the vacancies in home economics and commercial at Southern would be filled within the near future. He said there also were applicants for the position of girls' physical education instructor at Southern, if the estimated enrollment for the coming year qualifies the school for the same number of teachers it has this year.

Mr. Hawkins said that while qualified teachers in some areas were scarce, the outlook in general for filling existing and anticipated vacancies was better than it had been for several years.

Approve Addition

Among other items on the agenda were the following:

Approved order for additional classroom furniture for Red House school from Baltimore company;

Approved plans for one room addition to Red House school, previously approved by State Department of Education and bids for contract advertised, returnable in time to place project under contract by May 1;

Approved request from Northern High principal for reimbursement of $100 for providing food for children who spent the night at school due to the snow storm.

Approved purchase of 13 new typewriters from Cumberland low bidder in amount of $1,642.50;

Purchases approved for summer maintenance materials from low bidders;

Secured used truck from Maryland Surplus Agency for $125 for maintenance department;

Approved payment for blackout curtains for cafeteria and several classrooms at Southern and purchase of blackout curtains to replace shades in cafeteria at Northern;

Approved placing of all schools on daylight time, beginning Monday, April 25;

Approved purchase of needed furniture for Kitzmiller school library;

Approved contribution of $50 to Swanton school to apply on duplicating machine;

Approved additional 30 passenger bus to serve route 40 school, beginning September, 1960.

Mr. Hawkins estimated the school about the same as this year.

enrollment for 1960-61 would be.

The board authorized Mr. Hawkins to commend principals and teachers of Accident and Northern schools for their care of snowbound children in March.

Commencement dates still will be held June 1 and June 3, with Northern High school, Wednesday, June 1 and Southern High commencement Friday, June 3. Mr. Hawkins said schools would dismiss Monday, June 13. He said Saturday make-up days proved satisfactory with no appreciable difference in attendance. Final Saturday make-up date is April 23.

Mr. Hawkins plans to attend a meeting of county superintendents in Baltimore April 27 and 28

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

We have just completed the research work for a sound-color filmstrip entitled "Communism on the Map." In our research we secured the best information avaiable on the extent of Communist control or infiltration in every country in the world. We went back to day-to-day history and studied the developments preceding the take-over in each nation now controlled by the Communist world conspiracy. It was a frightening experience.

As we dug out the facts of the astounding expansion of international Communism in its 40 years of existence on the world stage, there quickly appeared a very clear pattern or technique of Communist conquest. It has been repeated with amazing success over and over again, in nation after nation. It has just been successfully used in Cuba with devastating damage to the security of the United States. Without a notable exception, the United States has aided the Soviet empire in its piece-by piece gobbling up of the dwindling geography of the free world. This is dramatic testimony to the insidious power and influence of the fifth column within the U. S. A.

There have been four major turning points in international Communism's rise to power. At any of the four points, Lenin's basic plan for Communist world conquest could have been sidetracked and perhaps permanently blocked. At each point the United States gave decisive aid to the Soviet Union. At each point world Communism achieved a fateful victory. At each point the chances for survival for the United States diminished.

Point 1: November 16, 1933, the President gave official United States recognition to Soviet Russia. The Communist dictatorship under Josef Stalin hadn't yet consolidated its hold over Russia. The freedom-loving Ukranians were resisting collectivization, and Stalin's lieutenant Khrushchev was conducting the systematic man-made famine in which 7,000,000 Ukranians died. The Soviet Union was bankrupt. There was world-wide distrust of the "Bolsheviks." United States recognition gave respectability, monetary credit, and a wide-open opportunity for expansion.

Point 2: 1944-46 Great Britain and the United States became so anxious to maintain their wartime friendship with Stalin that, against the judgment of many sober minds, they permitted Soviet Russia, still a second-rate, primitive nation, to place its agents in the governments of all eastern European countries; and in a short time the Communists had total control of Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania, Yugoslavia — and were exterminating millions of people who might have resisted Communism.

Point 3: In 1948, China with its vast natural resources and half a billion people was literally handed over to World Communism. At the Yalta post-war conference, the U. S. permitted Russia to take-over Chinese Manchuria. Then, with the Moscow-trained Chinese Communists being supplied with Russian arms, the U. S. cut off aid to Nationalist China — and Communism established itself in control of much of Asia. This was one of the most remarkable actions in world history.

Point 4: In 1957-58, Cuba fell under Communist control —after the United States had withdrawn arms support to the Cuban government and otherwise aided Castro and his Communist cohorts. The U. S. State Department gave official recognition to Castro's military dictatorship before his bearded Bully Boys had reached Havana in force! Next week: Castro's Cuba — A danger!

Medical Mirror
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge
Meat Tenderizers
● Fissure or Fistula
● Wax Containers
● Rheumatism

Q. Would the frequent use of meat that has been treated with tenderizing powder have any harmful effects?

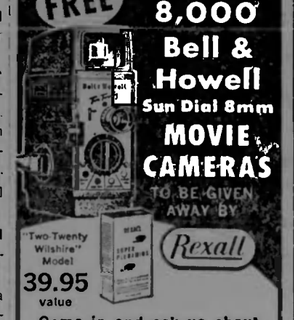
A. There seems to be no reason to believe that use of tenderized meat is harmful. The tenderizing powders, which are themselves harmless, partially digest meat (protein) and the products formed are those normally produced in the breaking down or digestion of protein.

Q. What is the difference between an anal fissure and an anal fistula?

A. A fissure is a slit-like, elongated, shallow ulcer. A fistula is a canal or tube-like abscess. Anal fissures often become infected and burrowing of the infection may result in formation of a fistula. Cure of a chrone anal fissure (or an anal fistula if one has formed) requires removal of all involved tissue and is mainly a surgical matter.

Q. Is it advisable to use food supplied in wax containers? I have heard that the wax causes cancer.

A. The Public Health Service and the Food and Drug Administration have studied this problem and the conclusion is that waxes used in milk cartons are harmless. Both federal agencies keep a pretty close tab on matters of this kind.



Q. I have heard that poke root soaked in whiskey is a sure cure for rheumatism. Please tell me all you know about this treatment.

A. So far as we can determine there is no scientific evidence that an alcoholic extract of poke root is of value in rheumatism (rheumatoid arthritis). The United States Dispensatory (1950 edition) states that poke root has been employed in chronic rheumatism but that there is "no satisfactory evidence that it is therapeutically useful and it is no longer prescribed by physicians."

Dispensing prescription is our profession. Prescription service is our specialty. Fair price is our policy. All recommend us to you.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be answered in these columns when possible.

B & O Lines Snarled By Two Derailments

Two freight derailments on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad within about four hours and within 16 miles of Cumberland yesterday caused east and westbound traffic to be re-routed over the Western Maryland Railway company tracks last night.

Twenty-five cars of a 104-car freight out of St. Louis derailed at 10 a. m. at Rawlings, 12 miles southwest of Cumberland. At 2 o'clock two diesel units, a loaded boxcar and a caboose derailed about a mile east of Cumberland near Oldtown road. Two men were injured in the latter accident.

A railroad spokesman said the cause of the accident east of Cumberland was the seat of the afternoon wreck. Both cases the tracks to buckle.

The track was reopened to traffic three hours after the accident.

After the accident at Rawlings the railroad maintenance crews worked to get at least one track open to traffic by midnight. The wrecked cars were being shoved aside in order that new track could be laid.

Among the derailed cars was a tank car filled with hydrocyanic acid, a deadly poison. The car was not ruptured and the liquid was not leaking from the car.

Westbound train No. 11 was re-routed over the Western Maryland as were several freights.

Efforts Renewed For Route 40 Approval

Western Maryland representatives were in Washington Tuesday to renew their efforts to have the 11,000 mile Federal Interstate Highway system include the portion of U. S. route 40 which are in Allegany and Garrett counties and in Washington county west of Hancock.

At present the interstate system in that area is routed along the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a parallel section of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The Western Marylanders had been told that reports had been circulated that federal funds would be sought for work on tunnels, bridges and roadbed along the section of the Pennsylvania Turnpike in question.

Under present legislation no federal funds can be spent for the Interstate portion of the Turnpike, the commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Roads emphasized.

Ellis L. Armstrong commissioner of the Bureau of Public Roads, said the road is ineligible for government aid for improvement programs. Commissioner Armstrong explained that the authorized mileage for the federal highway network has been allocated and that route 40 cannot be incorporated into it unless new legislation is passed by Congress.

He said that although the Turnpike was brought into the Interstate network under present laws, the same legislation keeps it from receiving federal funds for repairs because it is a toll road.

Armstrong suggested that they attempt to have the route 40 section that was bypassed, improved under the federal aid program for primary roads which are not in the Interstate network. Under this plan the federal and state governments split the costs on a 50-50 basis rather than the 90-10 per cent arrangement on the Interstate system.

Demonstration On Plow Adjustments Set for April 22

A how to do it plow adjustment demonstration will be conducted at the farm of Stanley Baker, Loch Lynn, on Friday, April 22, 10:00 a. m. according to Barry Carr, Assistant County Agent. This demonstration is open to the public and will be conducted by Guy Grenger, Extension Engineer of the University of Maryland. The event will be held regardless of weather conditions.

Farmers are urged to bring their tractor and plow to the demonstration. Each plow will be checked by Mr. Grenger and the proper method for hitching and adjustment demonstrated. A dynamometer, which measures pounds of pull, will be hitched between plow and tractor before and after it is properly adjusted. This device will show accurately how many pounds of pull have been saved by correct adjustment.

According to Mr. Carr, an improperly adjusted plow can be a source of many troubles such as hard pulling, difficult steering, rapidly wearing plow points and landsides and failure to keep the plow in the ground. All of these troubles can be eliminated when the plow and tractor are adjusted to operate together as a team, he said.

Forage Evaluation Program Announced

Livestock producers of Maryland will soon be able to feed their stock more scientifically than heretofore according to a new program announced by the University of Maryland.

The program will be called the Forage Evaluation Program. It will get underway officially on July 1. Thus this year's forage crops can be sampled, evaluated, and the results will be on hand for next winter's feeding period, according to Dr. James L. Cason, Extension dairyman, University of Maryland, College of Agriculture.

Actually, there will be two types of forage evaluation programs available to livestockmen. Program I will include a comparison of a producer's forage with similar forages of known feeding value based on the kind of plant, or plants, in the sample; date of harvest; number of harvests; maturity at harvest; and the method of preservation. Moisture will be determined for each sample of silage.

Program II will include everything in Program I plus chemical tests for protein and crude fiber content of the forage, Dr. Cason explains.

Under the program, forage samples to be tested will be handled through the County Extension Agents office. After the feeding value of the forage has been determined, feeding recommendations to be used by producers will also be handled by the County Agent.

To best use the program, Dr. Cason says, livestock producers should set up a record system now to aid in assembling information needed on the forage samples. Records should include fertilization practices followed; kinds of grasses and, or clovers in each crop harvested; dates of harvest; stage of growth at harvest; number of cutting; and where stored on the farm. Such information collected before hand will make the sampling easier and will aid at time of feed out, he adds.

The First State Road

Portion of Road Before Improvements

1789- 1959, a Contrast
Thekla Fundenberg Weeks

A dominant motivating force in the nations development has been the pioneering urge. During the latter half of the 18th century adventurous frontiersmen painted glowing but true word pictures of rich lands west of what then seemed endless mountains. The imagination of people nearer the seaboard was fired by the lure of new lands. A surge of migration began during the 1760s, and it was then that some of the pioneers began the settlement of our own area. Before long came incentives to pioneer in invention and industry. Today atomic power and outer space beckon

Temporarily checked by the Revolutionary War the urge again became pressing when peace came. It generated an imperative need for better transportation routes across the Appalachian Mountain barrier. Indian paths and packhorse trails were inadequate. Heavy equipment, essential tools and implements, had to be transported. Within ten years after its building the Braddock Road, built for a military purpose, had fallen into such disrepair as to be unsuitable for wheeled vehicles.

In 1781 the states of Virginia and Maryland took measures to provide a road fit for wagon haulage. It was to connect Winchester with Morgantown and Clarksburg General Washington, by then First in Peace, lent the weight of his enormous prestige toward furthering the project. Funds were provided and commissioners appointed to survey the route and supervise the construction. Virginia named Joseph Nevill. Acting for Maryland was Colonel Francis Deakins, a veteran of the Revolutionary war. The actual work of building got under way in 1786.

On May 13, 1789, Nevill reported to Governor Randolph of Virginia, "I have opened them a good Road through many mountains, a distance of seventy miles." This included a stretch of thirty miles across present-day Garrett County.

Road building standards of the time were not high. Trees were cut and their roots grubbed out below ground level. Rocks were removed from the roadway. Little attention was given to drainage, but in favorable seasons the road served its purpose many decades. Our society has a photostat copy of a fragment of the expense account of Deakins. Some of the expenditures seem today like small change. It is probable that the cost of the gas and oil used in a few days by today's ponderous earth moving machines would have paid for opening a mile of that road of the long-ago.

Road builders on this side of the ocean were just beginning to learn their trade. Among the civilized nations of Europe the art of making good roads had been neglected during centuries. The ancients, particularly the Romans, could and did build enduring roads. Some few sections of one of the most famous ones, the Via Appia, are still in use as orginally laid in 312 B. C.

A quarter century or so after 1789 the builders of the National Pike (the Cumberland Road now U. S. 40) followed the Roman pattern to some extent, paving the road with broken stone of two sizes.

Following the route as completed in 1789 that part crossing the county area begins at the 50 foot bridge spanning the Savage River. Then at Boorangton a new steel and concrete bridge over the double tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is crossed. It is 160 feet long, 30 feet in width with two side walks and 25 feet above the track level. The bridge and the large program of road improvements were provided for by legislative action in 1953. Now begins the ascent of "Allegania" Mountain. Formerly steep and torthous, it is now much straighter with a gentle gradient. The old road descended a steep incline, coming abruptly upon a dangerous railroad crossing at Bloomington. Only a few years ago auto drivers had to go up this hill "in second" Today any car can climb it at a speed exceeding the lawful one.

Atop the mountain the route is fairly level for six or seven miles, then descending the side of Backbone Mountain to Swanton. From there along the original route are the long-obliterated sites of Ingman's Tavern and its small burial plot. Next is the location of one of the early schoolhouses, a dwelling presently built on the old foundation. A landmark of today is the Steiding Church in the angle formed by the old road and a fork leading to Turkey Neck. Early families living along the route were the Hayes, Morrisons, and Hamills. More recently the Steidings and Fitzwaters own these farms. At a corner of the Truesdell property the First State Road descended into a deep ravine and ascended the other side to where two roads now meet. The old route is to the right to where it crosses the Deer Park—Sand Flat road (Rt. 380). Next early landmark is the Anchorage, known locally as the Perry Place. Here lived George de Calmes, a French Huguenot and Revolutionary War captain. Two ship's anchors still mark the site, brought there by Captain Roger Perry of the U. S. Navy, a grandson of de Calmes. At Broad Ford a road from the Deer Park Hotel and Village joins the old route. This was the main road from Deer Park until 1905, when a direct short route was opened to Mountain Lake Park. West of Broad Ford large farms were owned by Andrew Shartzer, and Henry and Joseph Shaffer. Lands of the Casteel family extended on both sides of the road to Wilson Creek on the edge of Oakland. In Oakland portions of the First State Road have been located following the hill above the Grammar School to Center and Liberty streets direct to the crossing of the Little Youghiogheny River near the Washington Spring.

Some few miles southwest of this, at a point where the McCullough Trail joined the Glades Path once stood the cabin dwelling of Charles Friend. The location is indicated by a "George Washington Slept Here" historical marker. In September of 1784, Washington with one companion spent a night at the home of the pioneer settler.

One mile beyond Friend's the old road crossed the Youghiogheny River (the "Big Yough"), and a few miles further on the Virginia (now W. Va.) state line.

In Oakland, Liberty street was a main road to the west until 1921, when the Oak street bridge was built and the highway rerouted through the valley used by the Baltimore and Ohio Company from 1875 until 1912 as the site of the Oakland Hotel.

Much reconstruction was in progress along the old route during the season of 1959, particularly near the western county line. An impressive array of giant earth movers and other modern machines were in evidence, inciting reflections on the breadth of the contrast between then and the axes, picks, shovels, and wheelbarrows of the long ago, as well as that beween the smoothly-paved highway of today with its long gradual curves and easy slopes and the road "opened" in 1789.

Time was when blacksmith shops were a great deal more plentiful than they are now. Our "Pictures Out of the Past" have contained photos of such shops which are no more, and today another is shown.

No indication is given on the picture as to the date or location, although it is believed the photo was snapped in the late 1900's. A careful examination of the original indicates that the building was located at the base of a steep, wooded hill. A sign over the entrance gives the only positive clue, "J. E. Deck, Blacksmith."

Readers recognizing the building or the name, or perhaps the two men seated on the step, can help us pinpoint this bit of history by sharing the information.

To Commemorate Last Supper With Service

On Good Friday there will be a service of the Penitential Office followed by the Holy Communion at 10 A. M. The church will participate in the community-wide observance of the Three Hours from twelve noon until three o'clock. The service will be held at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

The local Episcopal Church will follow the tradition of the ancient Church with Holy Baptism, Saturday-Easter Even, at 4 o'clock. Infants will be baptized at that time. The service is open to the public.

Easter Day will be ushered in with a plain celebration of Holy Communion at 8 A. M. The Church School will meet at 9:30 A. M. There will be a Choral Eucharist with sermon at St. Matthew's at 11:00 A. M., with the rector, the Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, preaching and celebrating.

Federal System Cuts Out U. S. 40 System

Any placement of U. S. Route 40 from Hancock to the Pennsylvania line into the Federal Interstate Highway System will have to be done in the future as a new route, and not as a part of Interstate 70.

U. S. Commissioner of Public Roads Ellis L. Armstrong informed U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall that the Federal Bureau of Roads cannot make any further designations due to the 41,000-mile limit placed by Congress.

The statement from Armstrong followed the passage of resolutions in the Maryland House of Delegates and State Senate in the 1960 session last month.

These requested the Federal Bureau of Roads and the Maryland State Roads Commission to place Route 40 as a part of Interstate 70.

Interstate 70 is U. S. Route 40 until it gets to Hancock then it veers north to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The resolutions were passed in the General Assembly after the Allegany and Garrett delegates and senators were approached by a number of labor and civic organizations from this section.

State Sen. Charles M. See received a copy of Armstrong's letter from U. S. Sen. Beall as an answer to the resolutions.

Armstrong declared Interstate 70 from Hancock north to the turnpike at Breezewood is an integral part of the interstate system and is essential to national defense as well as traffic needs.

He said that any consideration of interstate designation for U. S Ronte 40 west of Hancock would have to be based on its addition to the system as a new ronte.

"In this connection we have received a number of proposals for addition to the interstate system, including one covering this portion of U. S. 40.

"In each case we have advised that because of the 41,000-mile limitation placed on the interstate system by the legislation we can make no further designations.

"Should we be in a position to designate additional highways in the future, we will request all states to submit recommendations and supporting data for any new routes they consider meet the criteria for such routes," Armstrong said.

He pointed out that all recommendations on new routes will be considered from a national point of view and made in accordance with the importance of the routes and mileage able to be financed.

"At that time, should the Maryland State Roads Commission again recommend the addition of this section of Route 40, we would, of course, be glad to give consideration to the merits of that route

"The importance of U. S. 40 has been otherwise recognized. It is on the federal aid primary highway system, and hence is eligible for improvement with federal and primary funds and matching funds on the part of the state," he concluded.

Arnold Palmer won the Masters golf tournament by one stroke, over Ken Venturi.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Doerr, of Accident, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Jean, to Joseph D. Darst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Durst, of Grantsville.

Miss Doerr is a graduate of Northern High school, class of 1959. She is employed by the C. and P. Telephone company in Washington, D. C. Mr. Durst is a senior student at Northern High school.

Give Instruction On Safe Kite Flying

Following a near fatal accident as a result of kite flying in Monongalia county the West Maryland Power issued a list of rules to teach children how to fly kites properly.

The near tragedy occurred when a 13-year-old boy was flying a kite in the vicinity of electric transmission lines, using a metallic type kite cord. He escaped with burns about his hand. The high voltage burned the kite string in two, probably saving the boy's life.

Among the rules suggested—never use cord with wire of metallic strands, but use cotton cord, paper, plastic materials and wood for kite itself. Be sure kite string is dry as a wet cord will conduct electricity.

Stay away from power lines. If a kite is caught on electric wires do not try to remove it. Keep kite away from television antennas.

Citizens Urged To Fill Out Census Forms Promptly

Residents who had received "sample" questionnaires to fill out were being urged this week by George R. Hughes, Jr., district supervisor for the 1960 census of population and housing, to fill them out and mail them to the census district office promptly.

The sample questionnaires, printed on blue paper, were left at every fourth household during the first stage of the census which is now virtually completed. These questionnaires contained the detailed population and housing questions which are asked of a 25 percent sample of the population. By using only a sample of the population the Census bureau is able to collect important information about the nation's people at a fraction of the cost of a complete canvass.

The census enters its final stage on April 16 when a pickup group of interviewers begins a "mopping up" operation to complete the ten-year inventory of the nation's people.

The "clean up" interviewers will make personal visits to the households from which report forms have not been received and obtain the answers to the census questions. They will also seek, by telephone and personal visits, the answers to questions left blank or incorrectly answered in the report forms already received.

Fight Apple Scab With Early Spraying

Home gardeners and commercial growers should fight apple scab with early spraying, suggests Dr. L. O. Weaver, state plant pathologist of the University of Maryland. Apple scab appears in Maryland orchards each year. The spotting of leaves and fruit is governed by weather conditions. The distribution of the fungous spores and the amount of infection is favored by rain. Spores are released from wet leaves and infection occurs when green leaves are wet.

In Maryland, apple scab infection has occurred sometime in April during eight of the last 10 years. Where apple scab was present last year, many spores will have developed to start the disease cycle this year. When rains and mild temperatures prevail, infection may occur even when buds are in green tip stage. The danger is that scab infection may occur on the small leaves before any preventive sprays have been applied.

Growers are advised by Dr. Weaver, to apply fungicide in delayed dormant and pre-blossom sprays. A thirty-day outlook for April predicts above normal rainfall over the Eastern states. New growth is developing from apple buds and all fruit buds. Have sprayers ready to protect the leaves and fruit from this disease. Ask your County Agricultural Agent for a copy of spray calendar.

CHEVY! YOU CAN'T BUY ANY CAR FOR LESS ...UNLESS IT'S A LOT LESS CAR!

Anyone who's looked around knows the majority of Chevrolet models—6's and V8's together—list for less than comparable models of other low-priced cars. But the price tag alone is only one of a whole raft of reasons a Chevy does better by your dollars.

Nothing near Chevy's size and price can match the Full Coil cushioning of its ride, or the fine, finished workmanship of its Body by Fisher. That even applies to some cars that cost a lot more. You're up in the higher price brackets before you find a car that moves as quietly as a Chevrolet or offers the inner space that Chevrolet does.

Or look at the extras Chevy gives you—at no extra cost—that others in its class can't offer at any price. Shock-cushioned steering. Safety Plate Glass in every window. Keyless locking of all doors. Crank-operated vent windows. Chevrolet offers the widest choice of power teams, too. Drive a Chevy just once. You'll have a tough time settling for anything less.

It is not strange that someone chose this lonely spot to erect a reverent memorial. It was on a desolate hill that three crosses stood many centuries ago . . . the Cross of the Saviour . . . and of the penitent . . . and of the scoffer.

Always these crosses have seemed to belong to the desolate hills of life. When a man feels the crushing burden of worldly care upon him, when he trudges the steep trail lost and alone — then, either he will claim the Love and Strength of Christ as did the penitent, or like the scoffer he will let his unbelief destroy his soul.

But no man should wait for a time of desolation to make life's most joyous decision. It can be made today . . . and sealed with years of happy service in the church of one's choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Heaven Now

Lesson for April 17, 1960

THE CHRISTIAN life is not just a plus added to the same old life. It is not an ordinary life plus a set of good resolutions, or good intentions. It is not an ordinary life plus certain beliefs most people don't have. Tacking something new on a life which has never been changed, is not becoming a Christian. Christian life is new LIFE, new BEING. The whole thing is new, from the heart out.

Dr. Foreman

Living In Heaven Now

On the calendar we are in the midst of the Easter season. In our Bible study we are in the midst of the Sermon on the Mount. Have the two any connection? Apparently not, some would say. Easter celebrates something that happened to Jesus. The Sermon on the Mount is something for us to work out, a pattern for living. Christ ascended to heaven but we are here on earth. He lives above the sky, not in any world we could reach with a space-ship but in the spirit-world of heaven. We live under clouds, real clouds with rain in them.

In fact, living here on earth (we think) makes the Sermon on the Mount even harder to live by. If we were in heaven, now . . . But at that point the Apostle Paul breaks in. You are in heaven, he says. Oh, but I can't be, you say. I'm not dead even. Yes you are, he replies: "You have died, and your life is hid with Christ in God."

Life Without Sin

Paul's language is strange, but we can see what he means to say. First he was probably describing his own experience. He was a mystic by nature, and he had meditated so long on the death of Christ that he felt himself actually sharing that death. Later mystics in the history of the church have so contemplated the sufferings of Christ on the cross that [illegible] identified.

However [illegible] Christians [illegible] new [illegible] Paul describes the language of [illegible]. He is using [illegible] picture of [illegible] to describe [illegible] Christian's life. [illegible] using the [illegible] of heaven now. If you [illegible] with Christ, you can [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] right hand of God." You are [illegible] a citizen of that better land. Live as if you were already there. One of the features of the life of heaven is that no sin is there. Paul says to us, Sin doesn't belong in heaven, and as a citizen of heaven it doesn't belong in your life.

Another feature of the life of heaven, the "risen" life, is freedom from the barriers set up by society (rightly or more often wrongly) in this world. What is a Social Register doing in heaven? What meaning will there be in "salary brackets" beyond the grave? Do colored skins go with colored souls? Paul refers to the most formidable barriers of his day, those between Greek and Jew, slave and free man, barbarian and civilized, and says plainly "here there cannot be" those distinctions. The Christian life, if it matches the life of heaven, must be as free from such distinctions as heaven is.

Paul mixes his figures of speech, as he very often does. Along with this picture of the Christian life as a risen, heavenly life, he pictures it as a change of clothes. We can almost hear him saying, All right, if this heaven-picture seems far-fetched to you, let's try one you do understand. Everybody knows what it is to take off old dirty clothes and put on fresh ones. Very well; you have put off your old nature, and you have put on a new nature. (Dying and rising with Christ, he would have said, is laying aside a worn garment and taking on one that will never be worn out.) But — some one objects — does this mean we are already perfect in holiness? Not at all. Paul now puts as a command what he had just expressed as a fact: Put on compassion, kindness . . . and so on. And "above all these put on love."

Congressional Viewpoint

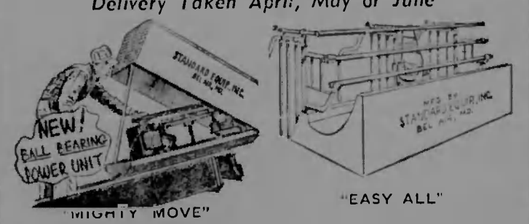
BY JOHN MARSHALL BUTLER
U. S. SENATOR, MARYLAND

"NOT A CRUTCH BUT A HELPING HAND"

The chairman of the House Foreign Operations Subcommittee on Appropriations has delivered to every member of the Congress a letter which is a plea for help. "Our committee," he admits, "is working against tremendous odds in an endeavor to write a reasonable bill . . . but will continue to resist the unwarranted propaganda and pressure for an excessive amount of foreign aid. . . With your cooperation, the Committee will report a bill that will provide adequate funds, one based on need and not on desire." The enormity of the task before this committee and the Congress is represented by the total foreign aid cost which nobody agreed on what could leave borrowed to give away, reported Michelson recently.

The administration request includes $12 billion from last year which have not yet been paid and $2 billion requested by the Administration for this year. These $8 billion are divided among 37 different programs ranging from military assistance to Yemen for Peace to the United States Children's Fund. Every one of these programs has its supporters determined to promote their project and their jobs.

In such an atmosphere waste is bound to exist and even flourish. Historically foreign aid has an insidious habit of "just growing". The Marshall Plan of 1947 was conceived as a temporary $15 billion program but it is still with us as the Mutual Assistance Program.



Billion Here

This is not to say that all mutual assistance is all bad for countries like Turkey, Greece, Korea and Formosa we have received an enormous return on our aid. But senior Washington lobbyists appear to be of the opinion that because we have brought us a certain measure of good will and security $168 billion will guarantee us twice as much.

Such a policy would lead to national bankruptcy and a deserved chance that America is trying to buy her way into the hearts of the people of the world. This Nation has always welcomed friends and allies, but not until recently have we begun to act as though we can no longer earn respect and friendship but must purchase them. It's a matter of form like buying drinks for the boys in the local saloon. If we spend wisely and carefully we will win due to just and solid character. If we pour bill after bill directly to people and governments without regard for reason we shall lose the friendship and the respect we have sought to secure or create.

The Senate killed the Civil rights package by a vote of 60 to 34. If the House of Representatives does not act on the bill before adjournment it will die.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there. It seems like Christmas was just a few weeks ago and here it's Easter already. I just hope that it's warm enough here Easter morning for all to wear their new spring clothes. It would seem like a real spring day to see everyone all decked out in their Easter finery without shivering. Wouldn't it be surprising if the temperature went up to, say, 78 and the spring outfits would seem too warm! But we'll drop that thought right now. Garrett county weather isn't that predictable.

Of course this being Holy Week there will be no Teen Age Club this Friday night or this week. Next week though I hope that we'll have a fine post Lenten hop. As Lent passes this will be starting my busiest season as a disc jockey and as a student.

I have been noticing that during the past few weeks many songs are becoming popular in this area that I first heard on one of the best rock 'n' roll stations in the country. This station is WLAC in Nashville, Tenn. I first became a fan of WLAC about two years ago when, late one night, I just by accident tuned it in. If you want to try and get it just find CKY Cincinnati, and turn your dial a fraction of an inch to the right. It seems that most of the sponsors on WLAC are mail order record shops and cosmetic firms. This station is, in my opinion, the best in the U. S. A. for real rock 'n' roll and true rhythm and blues. The disc jockeys on WLAC seem to feel the music they play and enjoy it. If WLAC ever needs a fan club they have a real true fan in me and I'll be glad to serve as president. I can't say for certain but I think that this is an all colored station. This I believe may account for the wonderful taste in r&r and r&b. The Negro people have a real fine sense of harmony and a real feel for the beat.

Again I'd like to mention the new talent that was brought to my attention by Mrs. Marge Best, of Pittsburgh. The talent's name is Chuck Wies and he is about fifteen or sixteen. He seems to have a lot on the ball from what I've been hearing. This week-end I'm going to Pittsburgh to hear him myself, but if Mrs. Best is any judge and I know she is, I'll come back brimming with good reports and maybe a guest for Teen Club.

You know, I kind of get tired of writing so why don't you all write some little thing that might be of interest to folks, it could be on music, the future, religion, or anything. Just drop me a letter in care of Teen Corner and we'll see if it can't be printed. If you don't want to write it maybe you could drop me a line and let me know what or whom you would like to read about. After all this is a column that is meant for the younger set so you tell me what you want to read and if I can comply I surely will. All rightee?

There is a new song out that I really dig the most. It's by Jimmy Jones who did "Handy Man," and it's called "Good Timin'." This is a sound I really go for. Jimmy Jones never fails to surprise me when he goes into the falsetto on his songs. You just kind of sit there and wait to see if he's going to hit the note.

Congratulations go out to Jim Callis, who took third place in the regional talent show in Hagerstown Saturday night. Edward Umstot also placed in this show. Ed came in sixth and I would have given anything to see him come in first. Edward Umstot is a guy whom I think could actually make me enjoy classical music. Ed gave one of the best renditions of "Deep Purple" that I have ever heard given by amatuer or pro. Some of you thought "Deep Purple" was a classical number but it is not. I am pretty sure you would class that under popular. Honest though, that Ed is really some pianist. He's a great fellow, too.

Do you all know who has cracked the recording biz? None other than old Grandpappy Amos McCoy, or as you might know him, Walter Brennan. Don't flip now, he isn't singing. What he is doing though is spinnin' a might fine yarn about "The Dutchman's Gold". He is backed up by a real great orchestra and does a fine job on the narration. The chorus on the wax is one of the best I have ever heard.

TV stars are really busting into the record making race. There is Connie Stevens from "Hawaiian Eye", who has cut one of the best discs of the year. It's called "16 Reasons" and is a real cute number. So is Connie for that matter.

Well it's time to give my two tired typing fingers a rest so I'll just say Happy Easter and I'll see you all next week. Hasta La Vista. If any one knows Spanish and can translate that phrase for me, I'd really appreciate it.

Fourteen Wrong Ways

Here are fourteen wrong ways in which people hope to make Heaven. (1) Trying to keep the Golden Rule. (2) Being baptized. (3) Joining a Church. (4) Trying to earn their way by doing good works. (5) Giving liberally. (6) Doing the best they can. (7) Trying to be a good neighbor. (8) Believing in existence of God. (9) Attending Church services. (10) Joining a Lodge. (11) Reading the Bible and praying (12) Shedding tears. (13) Believing in dreams and visions. (14) Asking God to forgive their sin. Listen! I have been studying the Bible for almost 25 years, I have read the whole Bible through a number of times, I have read the N. T. through many more times, but never once have I ever read where any of the above ways are roads that lead to Heaven. Believe me, for I am telling you the truth. Practically all of them are good but it is not the God-revealed way for a sinner to get right with God. In Acts 16:30 the Chief of Police of Philip asked, "What must I do to be saved?" Paul replied, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Believe that He died to settle the matter of your sin and accept Him as your Lord and Saviour. That's God's way.

HAD BEST DAIRY HERD—Simon J. Tice, on left, had the highest producing dairy herd in the state last year. He is pictured here with Edsel Gainer, extension dairyman, University of Maryland, who visited the Tice farm last week and commended the owner on his feeding, management and breeding program. Mr. Tice has a herd of 59 cows which averaged 642 pounds of butterfat per cow last year.

Local Dairy Herd Leads State in '59

The dairy herd of Simon J. Tice near Grantsville, led the state last year with a DHIA average of 642 pounds of butterfat per cow. This was announced by Edsel Gainer, extension dairyman for the University of Maryland when he visited Mr. Tice on his farm one day last week.

Mr Gainer said the conversation was lively between the two because of the unusual makeup of the Tice herd. Mr. Tice has been blazing a new trail in dairy farming through the use of crossbreeding. All but six cows in the herd have blood from no less than three of the major American dairy breeds. Mr Tice explained that since he first started crossbreeding, his herd average has continued to increase. His cows are large, vigorous, and refined. Each one would score very high for dairy character or dairy quality. Mr Gainer declared. The 59-cow Tice herd contains more than 75 percent daughters from Maryland Artificial Breeding cooperative bulls.

Mr Gainer pointed out that crossbreeding alone was not the reason for the state leader's success. Mr Tice also is following an outstanding feeding and management program. As Mr. Gainer explained it, "The first thing I observed when I entered the barn was the show condition of the herd. The cows were clipped, clean and in excellent natural flesh condition. His feeding program was evident as indicated by the high protein hay in the mangers. All cows were full but found it difficult to stop eating this high quality forage." Last year one sample of hay from the Tice farm tested 22 percent protein.

Mr Gainer said he had talked with no dairyman with more knowledge, interest or enthusiasm about his herd. Mr. Gainer commended Mr. Tice on his knowledge of feeding, management and breeding.

Wet Ground

Easter is here with all its glorious significance—Attending church services—Easter bunny—Easter parades—Display of fineries and lovely spring weather. During this festive occasion The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission requests every man, woman and child to please take a moment from his enjoyable pastimes and do a little soul searching, asking himself "Am I a good driver?" —"A good pedestrian?"—"Do I drive and walk in a safe, sane and courteous manner?"—"Do I obey the laws which were created for my protection?"—"Do I observe the traffic signs and heed them?"—"Do I display good motor manners on the highways and streets?"—Good motor manners are not only a mark of consideration for the other fellow—they also result in safer driving—fewer violations of the law—fewer accidents—and fewer traffic deaths. "Do I realize speed kills?"—"Should I be my brother's keeper, and help save his life and mine?"

Reflect on these your obligations to humanity and when the bells ring in the joyous Easter greetings—REMEMBER—LIVE DRIVE—and WALK in safety.

SO MUCH POP CORN !

In an Eastern city a minister of a leading denomination preached on the theme "Be Good". He said in part, "Good men and women are the Atlases of today holding up what there is of Heaven in this world . . . Be good. Amend your ways. Change from selfishness to unselfishness, from dishonor to honor, from hate to love. What a challenging call this is. For a good life, no matter where you find it is a blessing to the world of the greatest importance to civilization." Such pop corn from a man who ought to be trained in Scriptural knowledge. Jeremiah 13:23 says "Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the Leopard his spots? Then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil? It is impossible, apart from the Divine Work of God in the New Birth, for a sinner to change his ways and live pleasing to God. As one preacher said, "To invite the world of sin, corruption and filth to be "good" is like standing at the door of a hospital ward and saying, "Be well." It is a waste of time to preach Christian conduct to those who do not have Christ dwelling in their hearts. They could just imitate the Christian life and this would be a poor substitute.

1. Too much flexing wears out people... and tires!
2. The new "Low Profile" tire shape flexes less, reduces heat build-up, increases mileage!

Do a few quick, deep knee bends—and what happens? You heat up fast, soon feel real strain! Ordinary tires do 700 "deep knee bends" per mile . . . a flexing action that builds up heat, weakens rubber and fabric, increases blowout danger.

Now U.S. Royal drastically reduces the danger of tire failure with a revolutionary new tire—"Low Profile." These tires are lower, wider—flex less, run cooler, wear better.

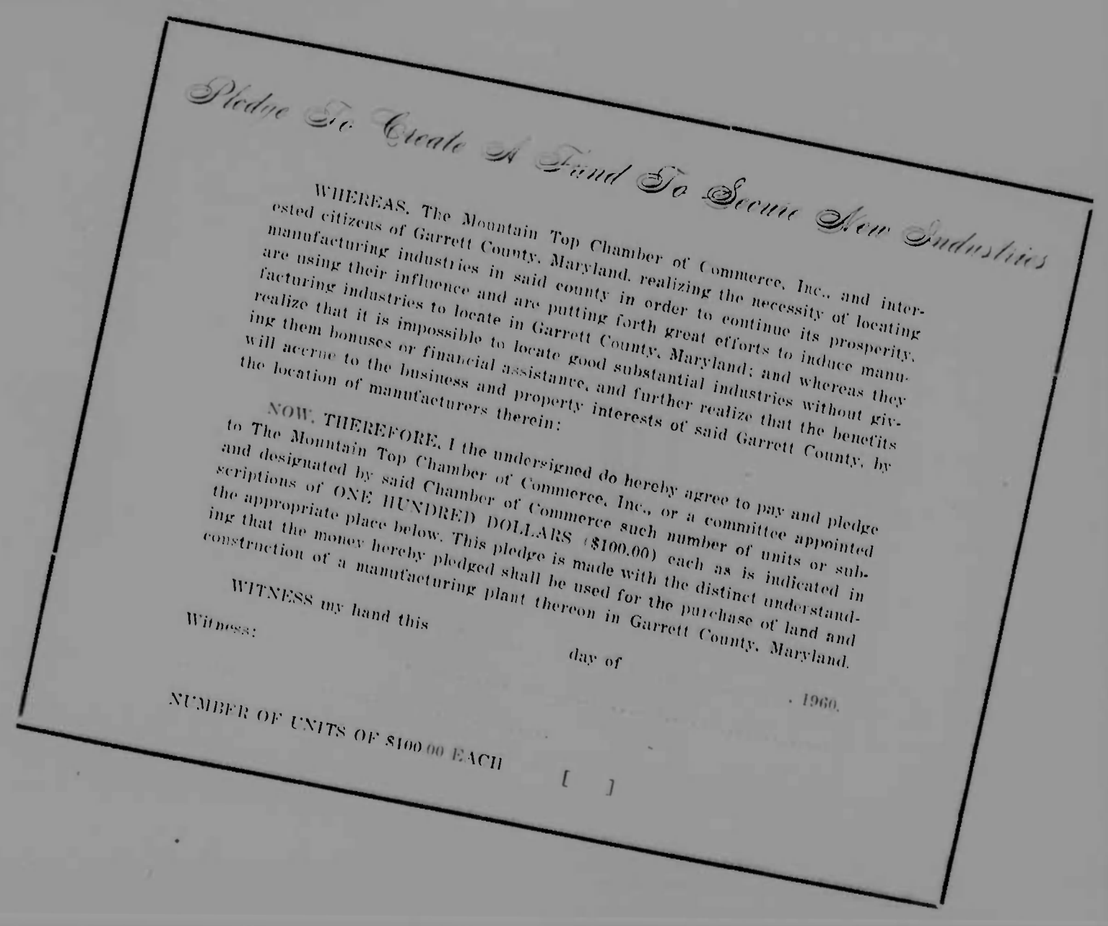
Mr. and Mrs. Garrett County



Here is an opportunity to invest in Garrett County, your future, and the future of your children!

A responsible hardwood milling company from the Carolinas has expanded its markets faster than its mills. A pilot mill operation has started in Garrett County and plans have been laid for a splendid expansion. This concern has capital for the accounts receivable, machinery, kilns, sidings and improvements to property. To accomplish the expansion, this company has asked the community to lend the capital for the land and part of the buildings. This is not a gift. The money requested from the community is $40,000. The loan will pay 5% interest until it is paid off. This is less than 20% of the total commitment, including accounts receivable, and less than loans scheduled with commercial loaning institutions.

Employment will be favorably affected not only at the mill but throughout the county and will raise the level of timber operations and timber prices.

How could an industry-starved county fail to meet this proposal? This is an eminently fair, bona fide propoal from responsible business men to our businessmen, farmers and professional men. Let us meet them.

Give this a forward push. Fill in one of the subscription pledges or call one of the committee listed below for details. Do it now. If we have no faith in the future of our community, it will be difficult to persuade others. This is step No. 1. Please act now.

Pledge To Create A Fund To Secure New Industries

WHEREAS, The Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce, Inc., and interested citizens of Garrett County, Maryland, realizing the necessity of locating manufacturing industries in said county in order to continue its prosperity, are using their influence and are putting forth great efforts to induce manufacturing industries to locate in Garrett County, Maryland; and whereas they realize that it is impossible to locate good substantial industries without giving them bonuses or financial assistance, and further realize that the benefits will accrue to the business and property interests of said Garrett County, by the location of manufacturers therein:

NOW, THEREFORE, I the undersigned do hereby agree to pay and pledge to The Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce, Inc., or a committee appointed and designated by said Chamber of Commerce such number of units or subscriptions of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00) each as is indicated in the appropriate place below. This pledge is made with the distinct understanding that the money hereby pledged shall be used for the purchase of land and construction of a manufacturing plant thereon in Garrett County, Maryland.

WITNESS my hand this day of 1960.

WHO ARE THESE MILLION MEN THEY CALL "KNIGHTS"?

Whether you are a Catholic or not, you should know the truth about the Knights of Columbus.

Is it, as sometimes rumored, a secret society with designs against our government? Do its members really take an oath to destroy non-Catholic political power?

If such rumors were true, the Knights of Columbus would not deserve the friendship and trust of non-Catholic citizens, which it invites and merits. Actually there is no more thoroughly patriotic organization than this fraternal order of Catholic men.

It is composed of plumbers and lawyers, farmers and doctors, business men and scientists—of Catholic men at every level of the social and economic scale. Some are rabidly partisan on political and public questions. They choose up sides with all the freedom of any other citizens.

The Knights of Columbus was formed in 1882, by a small group of the men of St. Mary's Church, New Haven, Connecticut. They had met, at the invitation of Father Michael J. McGivney, not to form a national fraternal society, but to render mutual aid to the members of the parish and their families."

In the years that since have ensued, the Knights of Columbus has grown into a fraternal order of more than a million members, spread over the United States, Canada and other countries of the Western World. But its purpose of "mutual aid" and its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism . . . remain unchanged after more than 70 years.

Millions of dollars have been spent by the order for the relief of victims of fire, flood and famine . . . for the support of Christian youth work . . . aid to Christian education. In both world wars, the Knights performed a service of ministering to the spiritual welfare and comfort of the armed forces regardless of creed, that brought sincerest thanks from a grateful nation.

Nearly one out of every six Knights served his country in World War II, and many laid down their lives.

Despite these and many other signal demonstrations of its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism, some people have the most absurd beliefs and suspicions about the Knights of Columbus, just as they do about the Catholic Church. Even today, misinformed people give publicity at times to a false alleged Knights of Columbus oath which has been proved to be fraudulent, and which scores of others have been forced publicly to admit is untrue.

This message . . . and others explaining Catholic beliefs and practices . . . are published by the Knights of Columbus so that our non-Catholic neighbors may judge us as we really are—not as we are often misrepresented to be. If you wish, we shall send you free, in a plain wrapper, an interesting pamphlet about this international society. And nobody will call on you. Write for Pamphlet No. KC-9.

...The Piastre that Paid off

Waiting for a plane in the sweltering heat of Cairo International Airport last year, Richard C. Kao, a Chinese-American traveler, idly watched a scrawny Egyptian newsboy at work. Although a persistent salesman, the boy seemed to be having no luck selling his papers. Touched by the boy's futile efforts, Kao decided he wanted a newspaper.

Newsboy Hefny whose good deed was returned a thousandfold.

He called the boy over and asked for a paper. Upon searching his pockets, however, Kao discovered that he had no more Egyptian money. He didn't even have the single piastre (about three cents) that the paper cost. He apologized to the boy and returned the paper.

Abdel-Razek Hefny, the newsboy, refused to accept the paper, "You can pay me the next time you're in Egypt," he said.

Kao got the boy's name and address and then boarded a plane to return to Los Angeles where he is a senior associate of a planning research corporation.

A month later Razek received a letter from Los Angeles containing a check and thanks for his generosity. In another letter, a short while later, Kao asked his Egyptian friend if he would like to come to the United States and study at an American school before going to a university. Razek replied that "There is nothing in the world I would like more."

Razek's English was not good enough, however, for immediate work in an American school. So Kao boarded a plane and made a 12 hour trip to Cairo where he enrolled the boy at an exclusive private school, paid all his fees, and outfitted him with American-made clothes.

"I did not lead the boy to think that everything was now taken eare of," Kao said. "His report eards are mailed to me. He has what I guess you would eall a fellowship. It will be renewed each year, as long as he earns it."

Although the program which Kao arranged for Razek is a tough one, the boy plans to earn Kao's approval through hard study and in two years, when his English eourse is eompleted, to leave for the United States.

Razek began making his own way as a newsboy when he was 12, shortly after his father died. He had been selling papers at Cairo airport for three years, earning about 75 cents a day, when one piastre changed the eourse of his life.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

"The Way of the Cross Leads Home"

Randall Prince, pastor
Bethel Methodist Church
Mountain Lake Park, Maryland

We wonder why it is that the cross exerts such wonderful influence upon the minds and emotions of men. Why do the generations move forward under the leadership of this instrument of cruel and agonizing death? We cannot find the words to explain, but somehow the living God in all His wonderful love meets us in that Man upon the cross as nowhere else. We are a loved people. God loves us; He gave His only begotten Son for us. In what happened there on the cross once and for all, and happens again as we confront it and respond to it with loving acceptance, we who have no hope in ourselves are given hope. Before, we may have believed in God quite vaguely, but now He becomes the real, commanding, and transforming power in our lives. We know that He must love the world to die for it, that He "loved us and gave himself for us." This "Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my soul, my life, my all."

Impelled by this love we will faithfully take up our crosses and follow Him.

The cross of Christ reveals sin as God sees it and shows God to be the real source of righteousness. The cross of Christ is the center of creation, the key to the solution of life's problems, and the divine law by which we all must live. We have said very little by way of explaining the power of the cross; however, the following story may shed some light on what countless numbers of men, women, and children know to be true.

One day in the heart of London, a "bobbie" found a small boy crying bitterly. "What's the matter, my boy? Can I help you?" asked the policeman. "Oh," said the child, "I am lost." "Well, don't cry. We can fix that. Where do you live?" "If you can take me to the hill where the white cross stands, I can find my way," answered the lad. During this Holy week will you venture to the "hill where the white cross stands?" Beginning there, it is not difficult to find one's way home. The truth is expressed beautifully in the old gospel hymn:

"I must needs go home by the way of the cross,
There's no other way but this:
I shall ne'er get sight of the Gates of Light,
If the way of the cross I miss.
The way of the cross leads home,
The way of the cross leads home;
It is sweet to know, as I onward go,
The way of the cross leads home.
Amen."

VALIANT LOWERS YOUR COST OF LIVING IT UP!

Valiant wagons look like they'd cost a bundle. But they just look expensive. They're really nickel-nursers at heart!

Take Valiant's inclined engine. Very open-handed with performance, tight-fisted with a gallon of gas. Or take its battery-saving alternator electrical system. Same with Valiant's rust-proofed fully unitized body. A perfect teammate for another Valiant feature—Torsion-Aire suspension. It takes the lumps out of bumps. Transmissions? Suit yourself. Pick a floor-mounted stick shift. Or a three-speed push button automatic, optional at extra cost. Both get great gas mileage.

And now let's give more thought to your family. Valiant wagons have lots of room for legs, elbows, hips, and plenty of headroom, too. All that plus: 72 cubic feet of wide open cargo space.

Like we said, Valiant wagons lower your cost of living it up. Just look at one. Then imagine yourself behind the wheel. Great, isn't it? That's nothing compared with getting behind the wheel for real—and for keeps!

...and we've got Valiant!

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 84 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., APRIL 21, 1960 | PER COPY, 8c | NUMBER 8.

New Water Supply - - - -

City council members and Mayor Russell Smith of Oakland, would like for the citizens to get inquisitive about how best provide an adequate water supply for Oakland, not only this summer but in the summers to come. They would like for the people to get just a little bit worked up about the problem--enough so that there would be a representative group at the public meeting at the Fire hall on Friday, April 29.

There is no doubt about it. Our present water supply does not seem to be adequate. The latest well appears to have plenty of water but surface water seems to keep creeping in. The other wells are not too plentiful in producing the quantity needed. The worst of it is that the water table seems to keep dropping, from one year to the next.

What is the best solution? Engineers say the best solution is to pipe the water from the Youghiogheny river, and run it through a filtration plant. The intake would be above where the Little Youghiogheny river empties. All tests show there is very little pollution in the river, but the very thought of using the water is extremely distasteful to many people. Snowy creek is one of the streams that feeds the Youghiogheny and Snowy creek receives the drainage from Hopemont sanitarium. The fact that the sanitarium has a filtration plant of its own and that water coming from there is said to be free of pollution, doesn't keep the mind from thinking thoughts. A strong stomach is needed to overcome one's thoughts in this regard.

Some say that by building some of these contemplated conservation flood control dams a few feet higher they could impound enough water to last for four to six months. This idea has merit, but what do the engineers say about this.

Another question for consideration is, can we pay for a half million dollar outlay that it would take for furnishing water from the Youghiogheny?

Truly, we had better get very much concerned about our water supply, and exhaust every possible source and resource. Attendance at the meeting may help to obtain the proper answer.

The leading characters in the play are: Harry Fox Dennis DeBerry, Sharon Gower, Brenda Phillippi, Eddie Poling, John White, Karen Sears and Jenny Gosnell. The play is under the direction of Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer; dances are in charge of Miss Jeanne Schmidt and Mrs. Delaine Travis; costumes, Mrs Virginia Ryan and Mrs. Rita Johnson; staging, Mrs. Barbara Flinn and Miss Mary Martha Friend; programs and publicity, Mrs. Eva Ream and Miss Lucille Mitchell; speaking, Mrs. Mary Jackson; Accompanists are Mrs. Helen Buchanan and Mrs. Delaine Travis. Census About Half Complete in County

The census of population in Garrett county is about half completed, it was announced yesterday by Carl Frazee, area crew leader. He said it should be finished by the last of next week.

Mr. Frazee was in Frederick two days this week undergoing training for the completion of the special forms needed.

Urges Attendance At Meeting To Air New Water Program

An appeal to citizens to acquaint themselves thoroughly with the problem of water supply for the town of Oakland, was issued this week by Mayor Russell L. Smith. He urged a full attendance at a public meeting to discuss the new water supply program for Oakland which was called by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for Friday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock at the Oakland fire hall.

Mr. Smith said representatives from the State Department of Health, the Chester Engineers and the Bond Counsel would be on hand to discuss the question and to answer questions.

The present plan is to obtain the town's future water supply from the Younghigheny river. Estimated cost is around one half million dollars.

Forestry Demonstration Given At 4-H Meeting

Kenny Steyer gave a demonstration on his forestry project at the April meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4-H club on Tuesday evening.

Steyer used a self-made demonstration board to which was attached different kinds of split tree branches. Each was labeled.

UNIQUE CROSS ERECTED—A unique cross was erected for the Lenten and Easter season this year by the special services committee of St. Mark's Lutheran church in Oaklnad. A cross nine feet high, with a span of four feet, was erected at the beginning of Lent. It retained unadorned until passion week when the inscription "Inri," "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews," was placed on it. During Holy Week it received the "crown of thorns." For Easter Sunday it had over 300 Easter lilies placed upon it, and these lilies will remain there the balance of the week. The cross has attracted much attention. It is planned to use the cross from year to year.

The turkey dinner will be served at 7 o'clock at the Southern High school cafeteria.

He is a member of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, the Finance committee and the Joint Economic commitee of the Senate.

Senator Butler is committed to a sound fiscal policy to insure and preserve the solvency of the nation. He is an enemy of paternalistic government, believing in the competitive initiative of the individual.

The subject of his address was not announced.

Pulls Lad from River

Russell Crosco, a pinsetter for the Oak Lanes recreation, had an early swim on Tuesday in the Little Yough river. However, if he hadn't a young boy might have drowned.

Several children were playing near the water and one of them fell or was accidentally pushed into the water. Crosco happened to be there at the right time and pulled the lad out. The water was eight to ten feet deep. Crosco didn't know the name of the boy.

Takes Appeal In Worthless Check Charge

Robert D. Nair, of Oakland, was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney last Saturday on a charge of issuing two worthless checks at the Englander pharmacy, with insufficient funds in the bank to cover them.

He entered a plea of guilty to the one charge, in the amount of $15 and was senteneed to serve one year in the House of Correction. The case involving a worthless check for $25 was nolle prossed by order of the State's attorney.

Nair prayed an appeal and was detained in the county jail in default of providing a cash bond of $500 or a property bond of $1,000.

Magistrate Maroney said he had served a previous term of three years in the House of Correction.

Steps Begun to End Pollution In Yough

Conservation enthusiasts are endeavoring to make the Youthiogheny river an alluring trout and bass stream once again.

A meeting was held Tuesday morning, April 19, in attempt to clean up the mine pollution. The meeting was held in the office of Stanley Ashby, president of the Stanley Coal company, Crellin.

The meeting was arranged by State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, Sr., after obtaining permission from Mr. Ashby.

Others attending included Leslie E. Savage, House of Delegates; Sylvin Belkov, district engineer for the state Water Pollution Control commission; Ernest A. Vaughn, director, Game and Inland Fish commission; George D. Walters, Commission member; Edwin M. Barry, chief, Inland Fish management; George B. Shields, chief game warden; Joseph Minke, regional game warden; William A. Harman, fish culturist; Leo Friend, game warden; James Close and Harry Buckley, district mine inspectors, representing the Mine and Water Resources of the state.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr.. Belkov, Mr. Friend and Lindsay Gonder, Oakland, made a complete check of the water from Crellin up Snowy Creek, making notes of all possible sources of pollution, so that when corrected the Youghiogheny river might become suitable again for fish life as it was many years ago before mine drainage ruined it.

Senator Gonder said the men were very enthusiastic about the possibility of reviving the fishing sport along the Youghiogheny. He said further surveys are to be made after which another meeting will be open to any interested person.

Mr Vaughn told the Water Pollution Control commission yesterday that the river "is without doubt the largest and potentially best trout stream in the state and could be one of the finest in the east."

The commission agreed to investigate the problem further, assemble data and then recommend a course of action to Gov. Tawes, who would also be asked to contact West Virginia officials.

Save Buildings From Fire

The Deer Park firemen were called last Wednesday afternoon, April 12, about 1 o'clock to the home of Dominic Terlizzi, near Deer Park, to prevent the spread of flames from a brush fire to several outbuildings.

Charles Hames, fire chief, said the Terlizzi family was burning brush in the area and lost control of the fire. The flames threatened the farm buildings. There was no damage.

Deer Park firemen also were called last Thursday evening to the farm home of Francis Wilt, North Glade, where fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn. The barn was a mass of flames when the department arrived. No estimate of damages was available.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Larrick and sons have returned to their home in Princeton, N. J., after residing in Cocoa Beach, Fla., for several months. Mr. Larrick participated in the launching of the Tiros satellite from Cape Canaveral on April 1st. He is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Mosser, of Mt. Lake Park.

Fashions and Foods Show Being Planned

Plans are under way for a fashions and foods show at Northern High school which will be presented Tuesday evening, May 10.

The show is being sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America Chapters at Northern. Miss Katherine Close, home service adviser for the Potomac Edison company, will present the Home Economics portion of the show, while the fashions will be presented by the girls of the home economics department. A number of the girls will model the clothes they have made during their classroom work.

Tickets will be available from any member of the Future Homemakers clubs or at the door, for 25 and 50 cents.

The program is being arranged by Mrs. Percy Lawton and Mrs. George Hanst, home economics instructors.

Time Will Change On Sunday Morning

Oakland and a number of other Garrett county towns will follow most of the Eastern United States on Sunday morning at 12.01 o'clock and turn up their clocks just one hour.

Oakland will remain on daylight time for the summer months. Also preparing to observe daylight time are Accident, Friendsville, Mt. Lake Park, Crellin, Grantsville and Bloomington. The public schools also will operate on daylight time.

Official county business will be conducted on standard time and the railroad schedule will hold to standard time, but a summer schedule will go into effect. Only one change is noted.

Eastbound train No. 12, now running at 6:15 p. m., will run at 5:55 p. m., standard time.

Other Eastbound trains: train No. 4, 8:15 a. m.; train No. 30, 9:38 a. m.

Westbound trains, No. 23, 2:56 a. m.; train No. 11, 1:03 p. m.; National Limited will continue to run at 11 p. m., all standard time.

The County Commissioners decided to make no move about changing time, so officially the county will remain on standard time. Court house business will be conducted officially on standard time. Beer taverns will be regulated by standard time in unincorporated areas.

Daylight time ends officially the last Sunday in September with a few places remaining on that time until the final Sunday in October. This has been termed inconvenient for schools.

Additional Camp For Boys Located Along Deep Creek

There will be an additional camp for boys in the area this summer. Known as Camp Deep Creek, it is located on the 50-acre woodland campsite, formerly known as Camp Paradise.

It was obtained early this year by Mr. and Mrs. George McGill, of Bethesda, operator of the Travel Camps which include The Alaskan Safari, Camp Limberlost and Camp Tallyho. The organization is in its fourteenth year of operation in the Washington area.

Mr. and Mrs. McGill now make it possible to bring the youngest camper all the way from winter travel camping through summer day camping, to resident camping, to Safari camping, to leadership status through progressive stages under a competent staff.

Director of the Deep Creek camp is Robert Franklin Merrell, an instructor in physical education in Montgomery county. He is considered one of the strongest coaches in the area. In his present assignment he teaches all seasonal sports to both boys and girls at the elementary level.

The tuition is $475 for eight weeks or $250 for four weeks. Activities include all kinds of aquatics such as swimming, sailing, canoeing, life saving, motorboating, rowing and water skiing; also horsemanship, rifle marksmanship, gymnastics, tennis, archery, golf, photography, handicrafts, campouts, fishing, etc.

The camp is located along the main body of the lake south of the Glendale bridge.

Will Have Little League Ball Here Again This Year

Decision to conduct a Little League for young baseball enthusiasts was made at a meeting of interested persons last Friday night at a meeting in the court house.

Another meeting has been set for Tuesday, April 26, at 8 o'clock, also at the court house, at which time the organization will be completed and new officers elected. George Stuck was named chairman of the nominating committee.

Heading the field committee will be Ralph Felton, while heading the equipment committee will be Dick Travis. Bob Orr was re-elected as player agent.

There will be four teams in the league with a maximum of fifteen players in each team. Games will be played on two nights of each week.

Interested persons are invited to attend the next meeting.

Two Buildings Burn

Two buildings, one a barn and the other a four-room house, were completely destroyed by fire during the past week.

The barn was that of Francis Wilt, of the North Glade section. The fire occurred last Thursday night about 9 o'clock. The Oakland department traveled to the scene but the barn was down on arrival. It was designated as an assist call to the Deer Park fire department which also was on the scene.

Tuesday morning about 5 o'clock the Oakland department was called to the area of the Bray School near Swallow Falls where a cottage owned by Mrs. Homer L. Bennett, Oakland, was completely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin. The house was being prepared for occupancy.

Oakland firemen also were called yesterday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire at Sand Flat. There was very little damage.

Egg Rolling Held

Approximately 100 children took part in the Easter Egg hunt held at the American Legion home last Saturday afternoon under sponsorship of the Legion Auxiliary.

Soft drinks, lollypops and balloons were given to all children. Prizes were contributed by merchants and business places in Oakland.

First prize, an 8 by 10 hand colored picture enlargement, contributed by Oak Dale Studio, was awarded to Johnny Forman. Two dollars in cash went to Herbert Bittinger as second prize and a silver dollar went to Dana Liller as third prize.

Among those contributing were the International Garage, Bargain Center, Firestone, American Legion, Rudy's Department store, Faulkner's restaurant, Gortner's, Jackson's 5 and 10, Ward's restaurant, The Fair, Coca-Cola Bottling, Orange Crush Bottling, Music shop, Englander's, H-P store, Oakland Pharmary, Miller's, Hamill's, Oakland Electric, Glotfelty's restaurant, Smouse's, Rolyan's, Hinehaugh's restaurant.

Band to Inaugurate Rotary Circus Acts

The Southern High school band will participate in a grand entry parade which will officially set off the Oakland Rotary club's annual indoor circus, scheduled to be presented in the high school gymnasium on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

This sixth annual show will feature the University of Maryland Gymkana troupe, with added attractions being the southern high school chorus and band. Arranging for the program were Maurice Brookhart, Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Russell Brown, Aza Stanton, Baity Ridder, Willard Hawkins and Harvey Winters.

Feats combining the skills of strength, timing, coordination and endurance will be witnessed. Added attractions will be juggling, comedy, and musical numbers. The band will play "The Big Cage," prior to the first number of the Gymkana troupe. There will be some fifteen separate acts by the "tumbling Terps," an organization that came into being fourteen years ago.

It was formed to provide healthful recreational activities for its members during leisure hours, to promote gymnastics and to entertain. The troupe has made trips to entertain members of the armed forces in the Azores, Iceland, Bermuda, Idaho, Montana and a number of southern and east coast states.

Admission to the performance is $1 for adults. Proceeds will be used for community projects sponsored by the Rotary club.

Fair and Moderate

All days of the past week, with the exception of Monday, were mostly fair and moderate in temperature. There were a few drops of rain in the atmosphere on Sunday but the rain actually did not materialize until Monday when it turned colder and those with sharp eyes were able to detect a few snow pellets. However the weather cleared later but remained cool the balance of the day.

It has been progressively warmer since that time with the skies mostly clear.

Bus Operators To Meet

Members of the Garrett County School Bus Operators' association will have their semi-annual meeting at Northern High school on Friday evening, April 29 at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Rodger Bond, secretary.

Group Threatens Law Suit Over Drilling Payment

The County Commissioners on Tuesday morning, said they would stand by their decision of February 3, 1959, in which they approved payment of $16,206 to John J. Brenneman, for drilling work done in 1957, and over which there had been some litigation in the courts.

The decision was in the face of the possibility of a suit being brought by a group of some dozen taxpayers in an attempt to compel the funds paid to Brenneman to be restored to the county.

Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., attorney to the board, was the spokesman for the Commissioners while Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., was spokesman for the group.

Mr. Hamill explained that a demand for payment had been made and suit threatened if payment was not made. He said the Commissioners had made a thorough investigation as to the merits of the claim and that he had investigated the court proceedings when Aubrey Brenneman, as a commissioner at that time, had been brought into court on the charge of doing business with himself.

Hamill declared there was never any evidence or testimony that the work had not been performed or that the price was not reasonable. He said the county had received the benefit from the Brenneman company's labor, that it was in accordance with an agreement with the company, and that there was nothing in the Court of Appeals record which indicated the claim could not or should not be paid, or that the company was not entitled to be paid.

Mr. Whitworth pointed out that the money paid to the Brenneman company was subject to litigation in 1957 and that it was his understanding that the claim was to be determined by further proceedings in a court of law and would not be paid until the court decided upon the legality of the claim.

He claimed the alleged contract with the company was void because it was not put out on bids, that the contract had been made illegally, and that it was void because a county commissioner at the time was in partnership with a son, and that the merits of the claim had not been acted upon by the courts.

He said the question was "Should the money be restored to the county treasury?" He said his group felt it should and he asked that the commissioners join in attempting to get the money returned.

He intimated that if they didn't the group possibly would bring suit in an attempt to compel restoration of funds from Mr. Brenneman.

Mr. Hamill said the approval of payment had been made February 3, 1959, and that the claim was paid February 4th, 1959. He added that he felt it was inconceivable that any person would object to payment of a bill which the court had considered fair and just.

Whether or not suit would be brought, was not announced.

Rankin Lusby Speaks At Civic Club Meet

Rankin Lusby was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Oakland Civic club Tuesday afternoon at the William-James hotel.

Mr. Lusby, assistant county agent, was introduced by Mrs. Paul B. Naylor. As a background for the talk which was on Hawaii, Mrs. Naylor was dressed in Hawaiian costume with flowers around her neck and a flower in her hair. She placed leis of daffodils around the necks of Mrs. Henry W. McComas, president; Mrs. Earl Wise, Mrs. Paul Riley and the speaker.

Mrs. McComas conducted the business session. Mrs. Meade Foster was received as a new member and Mrs. Fulcher Smith was re-instated as a member. Guest was Mrs. Annabel Williams, daughter of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. H. W. Meese was elected secretary and Mrs. Wesley Schaible was named treasurer.

The club is sponsoring "Ring the Bells for Mental Health" on May 9.

Mrs. McComas was named as representative to the state meeting in Baltimore next week.

Mr. Lusby showed pictures of the Hawaiian islands, the 50th state, and spoke briefly about each place shown and the costumes of the island.

THE AMERICAN WAY

LIVE AND DEAD CATS

By John T. Flynn

EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author lecturer and radio commentator.)

The debate over federal aid to education rages on and on. We get all sorts of figures about the terrible plight of our public school systems, the need for new buildings, money to pay teachers' salaries, etc., etc. But the figures often turn out to be phony. Somehow or other, the states and local communities, as they have always done, manage to go on supporting the schools.

However, there is one aspect of this debate which has not been stressed sufficiently. What will happen to our schools if we ever get the federal bureaucrats get their hands on them? We now have a hint—merely a hint—of the answer.

First, it is necessary to remind Americans, no matter what the federal-aiders say, that there is no such thing as federal aid for anything without federal control. In fact, honest and frank socialists admit openly that they want federal education under the control of the national government.

But to get back to that hint of what federal control would mean. A while back Congress passed a law known as the National Defense Education Act. It put the hand of the federal bureaucrat into education at the college level. But maybe it will turn out to be a good thing—because it is in the [illegible] that we get a hint of what to expect from further bureaucratic meddling with education.

Congress let itself be conned into passing the act by the Soviet putniks. The idea was to pep up American scientific and engineering education so we could compete with the Russians. One thing the act is supposed to do is to award scholarships to students who specialize in subjects which will help us out-sputnik the Reds. Note that the act is called the National Defense Education Act. It has been in operation now for two years, so let us see how the bureaucrats have been doing.

They awarded five scholarships at one university for advanced study in—chemistry, physics, engineering? Oh, no—in folklore! Another college got two scholarships in child development. Remember, this is your money the bureaucrats are handing out — in the name of national defense.

Five other scholarships were awarded for adult education, a number of others for guidance (and that does not mean guidance of missiles either).

There were a whole batch of scholarships to other colleges for such necessary defense objectives as ceramics, studies in theatre, dramatic arts, and home economics!

Another project of the federal bureaucrats — again with your money—is a nationwide "talent" test. It is given to nearly half a million high school students in an effort to turn up talented college material. At one high school after taking this test dreamed up by the federal bureaucrats — the kids declared that it was such a snap they didn't have to use their brains at all. In fact, they couldn't figure out what it was all about, and one girl remarked that now she did not even know what a high school is for. No wonder. Here are a few sample questions from this test:

"What is a comb used for?" Then three answers are given, the student being asked to mark the correct one: "The teeth, hair, or toes?" This is designed, mind you, to turn up future scientists.

Another question: "In London, what is a bobby? A police officer, a baker, or a soldier?" What, no pins?

Still another question: "Which of these is alive? A blackboard, a shoe, a cat?"

The cat in that so-called test may be alive, but this will give you just a small hint of what we can expect if we allow our schools to fall into the hands of the dead cats in the federal bureaucracy.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkaop

General Sherman Tree

A famous tree, the General Sherman, stands in Sequoia National Park on the western slope of the Sierra Nevadas in California. The estimated age is between 3,500 to 4,000 years or almost back to the days of Noah. The base of the tree is 101 feet in circumference and towers to a height of 272 feet (as tall as a 16 story building). The trunk contains enough wood to build 40 five room houses. This is a wonder that would be ordinary had man not sinned. Sin has ruined God's creation and shortened lives of trees as well as man's. God has probably left a few trees like the General Sherman to serve as examples of what this earth could have been. However, God is planning a new heaven and a new earth from which sin and sinners will be barred. God is at present recruiting people from among the present population of this earth to inhabit the new earth. (See Acts 15:14.) These people will never die. Little is told us about God's plans for this future new earth, but we are told how we can enter into it. It is through repentance of our sins and faith in the person and work of Jesus Christ. Read of God's promise in John 6:47.

A New Tourist Attraction

Adrian Pelt street is a refreshing palm lined promenade along the Mediterranean which greets visitors to Tripoli, Libya.

Tourists in search of a reasonable, pleasant, and different place to vacation have recently discovered Libya. This intriguing land on the sunny North African shores of the Mediterranean Sea is within easy reach of southern European countries. Tripoli and Benghazi, the principal cities, are reached by regular air service from the United States by way of Cairo, London, and Paris.

Amidst orange groves, date palms, and olive trees the visitor finds small, comfortable hotels and guest houses where good food and accommodations cost remarkably little.

Bargain hunters will be delighted by the out-door markets and bazaars—the handsome rugs woven by hand from locally dyed wools are an especially good buy. Delicate fabrics embroidered with gold and silver, leather goods, and engraved copperware are very inexpensive and of the best quality.

Richter's Hand Made Leather

by W. W. Price

The tanning of animal hides to make leather was an industry in Garrett County until 1928 when the Richter tannery at Accident shut down after operating for fifty-six years. Two others, Boyer and Hinebaugh, had preceded the Richter tannery at Accident; the Boyer having started around 1800 where the community swimming pool is located. William Hinebaugh built his tannery before the Civil War and ran it until about 1884.

Before John L. Richter, son of Henry, built his tannery in 1872, he had worked in the Hinebaugh tannery and at the Meyers tannery in Meyersdale, Pa. His son, Adam John, became a tanner, working in the family plant as a boy, and gaining added experience at a large commercial tannery at Dubois, Pa. We are indebted to Mr. A. J. Richter, who still lives on the family farm, for the following source material on the making of leather by hand.

Mr. Richter and tannery interior showing tools.

Hides were tanned by the vegetable tannin method at Richters. This tannin was obtained from ground rockoak bark, furnished to the plant by local farmers before World War I for $4.50 per cord. Toward the end of their business, Richter had to buy tracts of timber to get their tanbark and substituted hemlock for the rockoak bark they preferred.

The raw animal hides, even some buffalo hides before 1900, were obtained from wholesale hide dealers, meat packers and local farmers. Sheepskin and lambskin required only about one-fourth the time in tanning as haired hides.

Workers laid the fresh hides flat when received, heavily salted their raw sides and left them stacked for as long as four months. The salted hides then went into fresh water vats and were soaked at least two days. Tannery vats were built of two-inch lumber, fitted closely together and buried to ground level with the spaces between the vats closely tamped with good clay.

Workers hauled the hides from the fresh water, threw them over wooden beams, a device built like an inverted V and movable over the floor to flesh them with curved knives. These knives were about two feet long with wooden end grips for use with both hands.

Adam J. Richter with tar-pot at old Drane house.

Resoaked in fresh water, the hides came out in two days and were split down the line of the spine to make two "sides". Leg and neck portions were cut off, but not discarded, as these "findings" made leather for a number of uses.

Eighty sides were then pinned end-to-end with wooden pegs. These long strips were then "reeled" through vats of limewater, over a wooden drum hand-cranked that pulled the hides into and out of the limewater daily for six days. This hydrated lime solution loosened the hair and the hides had to be returned to the fresh water for another soaking before dehairing.

Hides were dehaired on the beams with the curved knives. Then they were "bated". Bating was soaking the hides in a solution of chicken manure and water, creating a vigorous fermentation for two or three days that removed the lime and softened the fibers of the sides. After another fresh water soaking, the hides were ready to tan.

Tanning began with "hanging", wherein the sides were hung over wooden racks in a weak solution of tanning liquor. This "hanging" lasted only a few days and the hides had to be hauled out and laid flat in the vats for complete tanning. Between each layer of hides the workmen sprinkled shredded rockoak bark to keep them separated and assure the liquor reaching all the surfaces. The hides remained in the tanning vats up to six months. During this time the tanners increased the strength of the liquor. They judged the concentration with a "barkometer", which was a simple hydrometer.

For the early years of operation, Richters ground their bark in an upright roller mill powered by one horse. The horse pulled a pole that turned gears on the top of the machine as the horse walked round and round it. Strips of bark were fed into the inward-turning rollers and crushed. After the boiler was installed Richters used steam to power the bark mill and also to heat water that speeded up the process of extracting the tannin from the ground bark. Steam also replaced the laborious job of pumping water to the soaking tanks and pumping the liquor back by hand to the vats.

When tanned, the hides were shaved to uniform thickness, on a beam with its working surface of lignum vitae wood; a wood imported from Central America and of exceptional weight, hardness, and workable to a surface smooth as glass. Mr. Richter was an expert shaver with the straight-bladed shaving knife held in both hands which was an operation requiring accurate judgment and skill to avoid ruining the side of hide being dressed for the market.

After shaving, the hides were thrown upon scouring table and thoroughly scoured with fresh water, bristle brushes and stone-bladed hand tools. This operation was finished with the "slicker", a tool with a steel blade that removed worthless organic tissue that had been loosened in the tanning solutions.

Now the hides were moved to the second floor of the tannery and "set out". Working their surfaces with various tools, workmen squared each side and removed any curvature remaining from the animal body. Then the squares were "dubbed". A paste of cod-fish oil and tallow was worked into the surfaces and assured pliability in the finished leather. The dubbed hides were stretched their full width on square nails projecting from the overhead joists. Partly dried, the hides came down onto the heavy maple and walnut worktables again and received another coat of Newfoundland codfish oil.

After drying a week, each square was laid with the hair side up on the tables and "blackened" with a solution of iron oxide, given a light coat of fish-tallow grease and rehung for complete drying.

Sometimes a full year had passed since these hides had entered the tannery. When dry, each side was degreased with the slicker tool on the worktables, and polished with clean bristle brushes and woolen rags. They were ready for shipment.

Ten sides of hide were rolled in heavy shipping paper. This hand-made leather from Richter's tannery supplied local users, and was shipped into Ohio, Missouri, Nebraska and as far west as Oklahoma. It was quality leather. Before the tannery shut down, production had reached a yearly volume of between two or three thousand finished hides.

We asked Mr. Richter, who has spent his life on the farm and in the tanning business, why the tanneries shut down. He explained that it was difficult to keep skilled help, to obtain tanbark and other supplies, and that New York financiers cornered the market, pushed the price of raw hides, after World War I, to unreasonable and unprofitable heights. Then these same interests, having bought enormous quantities of war surplus leather from the army, threw it upon the market and made it impossible to operate independent tanneries at a profit. As a result of this market manipulation, common cowhide that had risen to 38 cents per pound was forced down to 3 cents per pound. Such a situation made it completely impractical to run a small tannery.

The Richter tannery was originally 24 by 72 feet, of hand hewn timbers, and stood two-story on its fieldstone foundation. It was a scene of hard work and is the oldest tannery building in this area. Mr. Richter has many of the hand tools of his trade, and showed us samples of leather he had kept for thirty years. This leather, which Grandfather Richter might well have described with pride as "Richter Handgearbeiter Leder", for he came from Germany to make Maryland his home, showed its careful preparation and its fine quality.

Among men who once worked in their tannery, Mr. Richter remembered Mr. S. F. Matthews, father of the late Oakland attorney and a Mr. Tom Bennie, of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Among the objects of interest shown us by Mr. Richter, was the cobbler's bench used by his grandfather; a pair of calfskin boots made for his father by Mr. Mortimer Smouse, of Grantsville, with their fine soles pegged to the uppers with wooden shoepegs; soft, rich-colored sheepskin and lambskin tanned with their wool left on; and a wooden tarpot.

The wooden tarpot with a leather thong for its handle was found by a friend of Grandfather Richter and given to him. It had fallen from some wagon or stage-coach on the National Road. It held pinetar and tallow to lubricate the axles of those vehicles and was made from one piece of wood. Mr. Richter took it along on our short walk from the tannery to see the Drane house, oldest frontier house in this region, in which his grandfather first lived when he came to the Accident community and later purchased as a homestead.

The thong on the tarpot reminded me of the thongs used on sandals in ancient lands, of sandalled Roman workmen from whose language came the word "tanare" and our "oak bark" wholly essential to making good leather by hand.

Fatal [illegible] accidents in Maryland

RURAL SURVIVAL $50 to $500

Safe in their shelter under three feet of protecting earth, this farm couple could survive the most severe radioactive fallout from a nuclear attack on this nation.

Most rural Americans, like this couple, could gain protection against fallout if they built inexpensive basement or underground shelters. Radioactive fallout from enemy H-bombs could be carried by the wind onto the remotest farm hundreds of miles from attacked cities.

THIS WELL-DESIGNED underground shelter would cut radiation to 1 5000th of what it would be outside. Ordinary basement shelters with added shielding would save most of their occupants outside target areas.

This shelter, built for $500, includes running water and sanitary facilities, a gasoline-operated generator, and facilities for feeding and sleeping eight people. The farmer hired a bulldozer to dig the hole, then built the shelter himself from used timbers and concrete.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization provides specific information telling farmers how to protect their families and livestock from fallout, what to do before an attack, how to build a fallout shelter, and what food to store.

After an attack, civil defense authorities would broadcast frequent fallout forecasts to the surviving population and advise farmers how long they could safely emerge to perform essential tasks in maintaining the production of food so vital to national recovery.

Fallout shelter information is available free by writing to OCDM Rural Civil Defense, Battle Creek, Mich.

Promises Full Support Of Police On Auto Insurance

Full support of the state police force in tracking down persons who falsely stated on their applications for 1960 license plates that they were properly covered by liability and property damage insurance, was promised by Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent.

John R. Jewell, commissioner of Motor vehicles, is authorized to suspend or revoke registration plates issued to any motorist who made a false statement on his application for plates and who has failed to pay "the fee."

Only 4.6 percent of total applicants have indicated that they do not have insurance. It was anticipated the total would be 9 percent, which makes the situation of maintaining the fund a serious business.

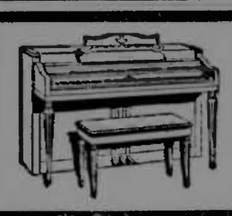
Pictures Out Of The Past



Band of 1901 Is Shown This Week

There were no volunteers this week to identify the picture out of the past which was published last week. Nobody seems to know where "J. E. Deck, blacksmith," held forth.

This week we show one of Oakland's many bands, this one taken in 1901. We are indebted to Mrs. Lucille Shorb, daughter of Joseph Wolfe for the picture. It was taken in front of the present Episcopal church at the corner of Second and Liberty streets.

Mrs. Wolfe was able to identify only two in the picture, Mr. Wolfe and Charlie Liller. Bill Lawton was identified by Donald Sincell. But when the picture was shown to Lee R. "Ted" Mason, he immediately said, "I can name every one of them," which he proceeded to do. They are, left to right, bottom row, Perry Kimmell, Wallace Mason, Lee "Ted" Mason, Leo Rasche, Thomas Gonder, Bill Lawton, Walter Morrison, Ernest Harne, John Weber, John Barlow, Roy Hamill. Back row, Andrew Gonder, Joe Wolfe, Bruce Collins, Charlie Liller, Frank Browning, Dennis Rasche, Carl White, and Harry Rasche, band leader.

MARRIED

Selman-Conneway — The Reverend Charles N. Geisler, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Mansfield, O., officiated for the double ring, open-church service Sunday afternoon, April 10, at 2.30 p. m. when Miss Patricia Louise Conneway became the bride of Mr. Ahmad Nazif Selman of Cincinnati, in the Seventh Day Adventist church in Mansfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Tefik Selman are the parents of the bridegroom. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Vaught A. Davis, of Mansfield, and the late Raymond Daniel Conneway. The late Mr. Conneway was a resident of Garrett county for many years. Her mother is the daughter of Mrs. Blanche Cooper, of Red Oak, and the late Brown Cooper.

Following the musical prelude by Mrs. Joseph Beach, organist, and Miss Sylvia Warne, soloist, the bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by Mr. Davis.

She wore an original gown of pure silk organza and Alencon lace styled with a sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves, and a very full skirt, which extended into a chapel train. The skirt and neckline were enchanced with Alencon lace triomed with seed pearls and a iridescent sequins.

A double crown of pearls, sequms and lace held her very full illusion veil of fingertip length. She carried a modernistic bouquet of white roses and daisies centered with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Her adult attendants were her sister, Miss Donna Jean Conneway, as maid of honor, and her cousin, Miss Alene Arnold, as bridesmaid. They both wore waltz-length gowns of misty green pure silk organza featuring portrait necklines, short sleeves and very full skirts accented with embroidery.

Little Lisa R. Davis, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink nylon dress and carried a miniature bouquet of pink roses and daisies.

Larger modernistic bonquets of the same kinds of flowers were carried by the adult attendants.

The bride groom was attended by his brother, Hysen Selman. Little Michael J. Davis, brother of the bride, carried the rings. Usher duties were shared by Fred Rentschler, Hamilton, college roommate of the groom, and Yusus Selman, Cincinnati, brother of the groom.

Knights of Columbus hall was the scene of a reception for 200 guests immediately following the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Mansfield Senior High school and attended Ohio university. She is employed as a secretary at Peoples hospital in Mansfield. Mr. Selman also a graduate of Mansfield senior high school, presently is majoring in electrical engineering at the University of Cincinnati

Study Tractor Care In County Workshop

"Safe Fun and Trouble Through Tractor Care" is the theme of a series of 4-H tractor care workshops being held throughout Garrett County.

Four area workshops have been conducted for the 4-Hers interested in tractors. They learned to care for them by doing and by demonstrating. In the Grantsville area two 4-H Clubs, Grantsville and Negro Mountain met at Miller Brother Garage, Springs, Pa. The Bittinger Club met at the farm shop of Russell Teets. Green Mountain Club, north of Oakland, conducted its meeting at the Garrett Truck and Implement Company garage. Shatter Ford Sales Inc. garage in Oakland was the location of a workshop held on April 13 for the Ryans Glade and Potomac Highlanders 4-H Clubs.

The 4-H tractor care program has four parts or units. The A and B units are on care of the tractor or other power equipment. The C units cover tractor and cost records while the D units are concerned with adjustment and care of farm machinery.

Beginning officers like Unit A for the entire year. Topics they study and work on with a tractor are safety, general lubrication and oil and check up for the engine, ignition, cooling system and what makes an engine run.

Classes for the project in the tractor unit are held at the Garrett County Fair at Accident. Here each participant is given competition in the "Tractor Rodeo" and knowledge in tractor care and operation.

Seek Control For Tent Caterpillars

The appearance of the tent caterpillar is shown up in certain sections of Garrett County, says County Agent Harry A. McHenry. For those people desiring to control the tent caterpillar now is the best time to take action to avoid it. The first signs of the caterpillar are being noticed by very small webs in the crotches of trees. These webs will envelop the very small caterpillars which have just hatched from the eggs. These caterpillars will feed for about six weeks, then they will go into a cocoon stage and later hatch out into moths which will lay the eggs for next season's crop.

According to Agent McHenry there are several methods of control. For people not desiring to use chemicals, the caterpillars can be controlled at this early stage by burning the webs pulling the webs out of the trees and crushing the caterpillars, or if located immediately, the egg masses can be located, pruned out and burned.

For people desiring to use chemical methods the most widely used chemical is DDT. This is used in a 50% wettable powder form at the rate of two pounds per 100 gal. of water or 5 teaspoons per gallon of water. Other chemicals that can be used are Toxaphene, Methoxychlor, Malathion, and Chlordane. Lead Arsenate is recommended however this is a poisonous chemical and should be used with extreme caution. The above chemicals are available at various stores throughout the county, and people are advised to follow the directions on the label as to the dosage.

County Agent McHenry advised now is the least costly time to control tent caterpillars. When using the chemicals, spray the webs and the immediate area around the web.

PICTURE PRETTY

Pretty as a picture, isn't she? She looks "downright" angelic. Yet, five minutes from now, she may be a little bundle of fury!

Children change faster than the wind. They haven't learned to hide their feelings. But while grown-ups may present a better camouflage to the world, there are few of us without inner conflicts. And these conflicts can be serious.

It would be a lonely world if we had to keep all our problems to ourselves. We don't. God never intended that we should have to solve all our difficulties single-handed. Remember, He established His Church on earth for us. In that Church we will find understanding fellowship, and the faith to work out our own destinies.

Take your problems to Church. Pray that you will find a solution to them. Talk them over with your minister. And what seems a maze today may become a straight road tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Hungry Heart

Lesson for April 24, 1960

NOT EVERY heart is hungry. Some hearts are not hungry because they are sick, they are not normal. A heart that feels the need of nothing, a mind that has not enough imagination to perceive its own hollowness, not enough sensitivity to detect its own emptiness, is a human heart that is less than human. It has sunk to the level of the brute. No pig, no cow—or for that matter, no humming-bird feels any longing for anything except food and an occasional mate. This is not heart-hunger at all, it is what all beasts and even many plants experience.

Dr. Foreman

They Shall Not Be Filled

The heart of man, by the Creator's design, is made for deeper and more difficult hungers than food and sex can supply. Some of these are insatiable. Let the heart hold all that it can, it is still never enough. The hunger for recognition, for attention, for fame—when does it say, Enough? The actor never finds the applause loud enough, the critics never rave enough, there never are enough newspaper notices, one Oscar calls for more . . . The hunger for power knows no limits. The old story of the fisherman's wife who first began by wanting a cottage and finally ended by wanting to be God, is a parable of the human heart that never cries, Enough! The hunger for power is never satisfied till above one's head one sees no greater Power—never till beneath one's feet one sees every living thing . . . and that time never comes. The heart hungry for power shall never be filled.

An Appetite for Righteousness

So some hungers of the heart make for unhappiness. One almost envies the contented cattle or the silent stones. They may not be happy but they are not unhappy, they have no heart at all. No, this is a wrong envy. The way to happiness is not to live without a heart. The way to happiness is one which Jesus has shown us. "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they shall be filled." Desire to have brings frustration, desire to be brings fulfilment.

Yet this can be misunderstood. The men whom Jesus most often condemned, the Pharisees, desired righteousness. But the trouble with them was that the righteousness they sought set them apart from their fellowmen. It led them to pray, "I thank thee that I am not as other men." It is no accident that next to the blessing on those who hunger for righteousness comes the blessing on the merciful. The heart that hungers for goodness in the manner of the Pharisees merely wants to be good. The kind of goodness Jesus meant—since he practiced it in his life—was the kind that is good to others. The Pharisees' righteousness shut mercy out; Jesus righteousness began with mercy and compassion.

They Shall Be Filled

A hungry man does not need to be told he is empty, he knows it; it is a painful fact. Hungering for righteousness begins with a feeling of emptiness. A person at death's edge from starvation may refuse the food that would save him. So those who are empty of goodness and even spiritually starved for the lack of it, may not hunger for what they most need.

Why do you want to be good? There are poor reasons and better ones. Do you want it for the sake of a better reputation? Do you want it so as to have something to be proud of? Or do you hunger for goodness in order to be of more help to others along life's way? Do you desire it as a ladder for climbing into heaven, or as a loaf to share with those in need? There was a man who did not know how to swim. He always rather wished he could, especially when he saw other people swimming. He wanted to do what they could. But then one day he saw a tired-out injured swimmer at the point of drowning before his eyes. Then he really hungered to know how to swim. And then he began to learn. Those who hunger and thirst to be the kind of person Jesus was, shall be filled.

Water Conservation Stamp Goes On Sale April 19

Whether you're a town or city dweller, you'll be interested in the Water Conservation Stamp that goes on sale April 19 at your post office, says University of Maryland Extension Soil Conservationist, Fred L. Ball.

This new stamp points up the fact water today is one of our most valuable resources. Virtually every community in the country has a water problem of some sort—too much during floods—too little during droughts—or too poor a water supply due to pollution, he says.

The new Water Conservation Stamp pictures these problems in one panel showing a close-up view of a drop of water falling from a leaf, which symbolizes the influences of land and vegetation upon water supply. The rest of the stamp shows a city with a rural watershed in the background, thus depicting how people and industries are dependent on upstream water sheds and their good management. Use of the new Water Conservation stamps will remind everyone of the importance of water conservation, Mr. Ball suggests.

U. S. NAVY - OLD TRADITIONS AND NEW CONCEPTS

Since the beginning of this Republic Americans have been going down to the sea in ships because of the long coastlines and excellent harbors with which this country is blessed and because our leaders have always understood that to be a great world power a nation must be a great naval power.

However, since World War II, the United States has had an inadequate ship replacement program, resulting in a present active Navy of approximately 800 vessels which represents a decline of 200 ships in the last two years alone. Even more disturbingly 75 of the vessels are of World War II vintage or even older. If present appropriation trends continue we will have an effective Navy of only 400 ships by the late 1960's.

This program of near abandonment contrasts most peculiarly with the consistently high performance of the Navy, which contributed heavily to the most decisive setbacks the Communists have recently suffered—Lebanon and the Off-Shore Islands in the Formosan Straits.

It is important to understand that as the word of Mao Tse-Tung, Chinese Communist leader, East and West are engaged in a "protracted conflict." America and every other free nation must gird themselves to meet totalitarian thirsts on the land, on the sea and even in the stars. We must not expect a quick end to tension or challenge. Communism with its boast of inevitability must be decisively defeated which it will be but not easily. In such a sustained struggle a strong multi-purpose Navy will assume a considerable part of the burden that America has taken unto herself since 1947.

Therefore, we cannot limit the development of ultimate deterrent weapons nor can we curtail the production of limited warfare instruments. As in the past there will be times and places when the presence of a limited American force will be a better solution than the threat of an atomic bomb. Appropriations for more ships, particularly aircraft carriers which have both a limited war capacity and an atomic delivery potential, are not funds to maintain an attractive American tradition but an investment in world peace. Through a constant display of American power the Communists may at last comprehend that we are every bit as unrelenting in our pursuit of freedom as they are of tyranny.

Refueling Means More Than Filling The Tank

When and how you refuel the tractor is important, says Guy W. Grenger, Extension Specialist, Agricultural Engineering Dept., University of Maryland, in keeping out moisture and dirt and avoiding fire hazards.

Most operators' manuals suggest filling the tank at the end of the day or whenever you are finished using the tractor. This keeps moisture from accumulating in the tank above the fuel level.

Most water in fuel comes from moisture condensing in the fuel tank because as fuel is used out, air is drawn in. Much of the time the air contains considerable moisture, he explains.

At the end of the day the fuel tank is full of warm, moist air which cools at night, depositing moisture on the sides of the tank. It collects it runs into and under whatever fuel is left in the tank.

Water doesn't do much damage to the tank but in a carburetor can run any moisture that gets past the exhaust head in the feed line from the tank moves into the fuel pump if the tractor has one and then into the carburetor. Any sulfur present in the fuel combines with the water and attack the metal parts, Grenger says.

Fire hazards exist when handling any kind of fuel. Only a small amount of gasoline or LP gas mixed with air will explode if exposed to a spark, flame or red-hot manifold. Since the vapors are heavier than air they settle to a low spot and remain there unless ventilated out. For this reason, it is unwise to refuel a tractor while the engine is hot, he warns.

Always keep fuel containers closed and stored away from building, if possible. All portable fuel containers should be painted a bright color with the name of the fuel printed on the outside of the can, Grenger suggests.

CORVAIR BY CHEVROLET DRIVE IT! GET OUR DEAL!!!!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,001.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't:

Practically flat floor . . . real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction . . . that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

Questionnaire Returns--A total of 1,572 of our questionnaires were filled out and sent back to us. The questionnaire was sent to our regular mailing list of 6,000 citizens of Maryland. The list includes doctors, lawyers, ministers, engineers, teachers, farmers, white-collar workers, clerks, carpenters, bricklayers, steelworkers, laborers—people of every profession and trade, of both political parties, in every part of the State--on a fairly proportionable basis. In addition to our mailing, numerous newspapers over the State carried the questionnaire, and many of these were clipped, filled out, and sent in, and these too were counted. I believe the returns furnish a true cross section of how the people of Maryland feel about these various matters. The tabulation of the 1,672 answers to each of our 48 questions gives us the following results, by percentage:
